Porthcawl, Glamorgan, Wales, Bristol Channel. 1st September 1956. Saturday. Police saw a blood red object with a jagged black streak across its centre rise up out of the sea and head out across the Atlantic. The object was larger than a fullsized Harvest Moon and it joined up with two other streaks of light above and below it. All three stayed at Sealevel for some time. This was before it took offover the Atlantic. In 1905,1909,1913 and 1916 flying objects were regarded as quite common around here. Why not have them rising up out of the sea as well?

Dayton, Montgomery County, Ohio. 2nd September 1956. 4.30 am. A Night-watchman at the Dayton Country Club saw an oval object eight to ten feet thick hovering five to six feet above the ground. It came slowly towards the witness and lit up an area of five to six metres around it and resembled two saucers glued together. Yawning!

Chosi City in Chiba, Japan. 7th September 1956. Friday. A circular flying machine was seen in the sky. From it was pouring a flood of Angelhair that was found to be shreds of Aluminium with traces of Magnesium and Silicone. Is all Angelhair a composition of Magnesium, Aluminium and Silicone? At least we know that Aluminium does not occur freely in nature but has to be extracted from Bauxite using electricity. Where did this lot come from then?

Twin Falls, Twin Falls County, Idaho. 7th September 1956. Friday.A glowing ellipse was watched by three farmhands as it landed in a field near an isolated steer. When the ellipse took off shortly after the steer was gone. Carnivorous Extraterrestrials or an Interstellar Jellyfish with a liking for beef? Previously there had been UFO sightings here on 4th July , and August 13,1947, during a large flap in the area.

Crows Nest, Queensland. Australia. 24th September 1956. A lady noticed a silver grey bullet descending towards the ground which flew slowly up her driveway at a level of three metres. The object was solid and had no wings or landing gear and was six metres long with a cabin and attachment at the back. There had previously been a seal-like Lakemonster seen near here at Dalby in 1873 and in 1955 three farmers saw a landing light trailing flames land five times in succession at Smithfield nearby. Meteors only land once. But let us not assume that everything that falls down and then flies off in the sky is an Alien craft. It might well be an energy form that we have not quite come to terms with yet.

Loup, near Moneymore, Londonderry, near Lough Neagh, Northern Ireland. September 1956. Mr and Mrs Thomas Hutchinson found an egg shaped craft on the ground in a bog 200 yards away from their front door. The egg was 13 foot long by eighteen inches in diameter and was bright with two dark marks and three dark stripes. The male witness kicked it over and it levelled itself. The witness got onto his knees to examine it closely and the egg began to spin. At this Mr Hutchinson put it in a hammerlock and with his wife they began carrying it to the Police Station in Loup.On their way there they put the craft down for a few seconds near a hedge so that they could get their bearings. At that moment the object rose up on its own and took off into the sky almost pulling up the male witness. This would not be the first or last Alien object that had escaped from the hands of man.

Holloman Air Force Base,12 miles from White Sands, Otero County, New Mexico. September 1956. 8.00 am A discshaped craft landed fifty yards from Highway 70 in plain view of dozens of commuter witnesses including two Airforce Colonels, two Sergeants and dozens of base employees. Radio and ignition systems of the nearest cars went dead and the sighting lasted ten minutes. The craft then took off with a whirring sound. Did it have an interest in Holloman Air Force Base?

Wilson Lake, near Chester, Plumas County, California. September 1956. An off duty Deputy Sheriff hunting Deer in a wilderness area came face to face with a Hominoid that was four feet tall and of Human appearence that wore a gold cap, closefitting tight, green boots with no fasteners and a gold long sleeved jacket. After one minute the little Hominoid ran up the gravel Road and vanished. A wandering Gay dwarf? A pixie?

During Autumn October 1956 a one hundred foot long carcass of an unknown type of aquatic animal that was covered with reddish-brown hair was found washed up on Dry Harbour or Dry Bay in Alaska.

Trenton, Mercer County, New Jersey. 2nd October 1956. Tuesday. Mr Harry Sturdevant, a night watchman, saw a 60 to 100 foot in diameter craft shaped like a cigar with no wings or fins and making a hissing noise swoop out of the sky. At first it appeared to be a light in the sky. There was a strong smell of Sulphur and Brimstone that was quite nauseating and made Harry the witness sick. Harry had lost his senses of taste, hearing and smell and could not swallow properly for a while after the attack. He reckoned that it was worse than mustard gas. Harry collapsed in pain and lay on the ground for half an hour. Brimstone is literally burning stone or Sulphur stone. What connection is there to many of our Phenomena and the smell or the presence of Sulphur? Sulphur is usually associated more with Hell and the Devil.

On 3rd October 1956 at Sagetown in Chemung County in New York State there was a fall of foil or tinsel from the sky. The same thing had previously happened here on 27th August that same year of 1956.

Broadmoor, San Francisco County, California. 26th October 1956. 8.05 am. Mrs Faye Swanson of Stonyford Drive found the body of a small furry animal like a Monkey in her yard. The small Hairy Hominoid appeared to have fallen out of the sky and had struck the clothesline with such force that a solid four inch by four inch post had been shattered. Falling Monkeys? All the way from the planet of the apes? Did Cornelius send a probe? Through time? And Fantasy?

Harvey Lake, Tobyhanna, Monroe County, Pennsylvania. 29th October 1956. Monday. Four adult witnesses saw a silvery cigar vanish into Harvey Lake that afternoon. It had been seen flying around prior to this. Meteors just love lakes.

Falls City, Richardson County, Nebraska. Autumn. October 1956. Afternoon. The single witness was next to his pickup truck when he saw what appeared to be a kite. It came closer but was not a kite. It was a winged creature eight to nine feet tall and was flying only fifteen feet up and had wings that were like polished Aluminium. There were coloured lights along his underside and were attached by a shoulder harness with a breastplate with dials which Hominoid manipulated with its hands. The face was demonic with large watery blue eyes and leathery wrinkled skin. The witness was temporarily paralysed as it passed over making a hissing noise whilst flying.We spoke of the Devil earlier. Was this a technologically advanced one?

Aberdeen, Harford County, Maryland. 23rd November 1956. A civilian Pilot out flying was passed by a rocket shaped object which went down towards the ground. It was seen in flight for five minutes. Other witnesses saw glow like fire on the ground where the object seemed to have landed. They said that it seemed to have landed but did it?

Off Venezuela, Caribbean Sea. 13th December 1956. Thursday. The Captain and crew of a Swedish ship saw what appeared to be a cone shaped UFO that was brilliant and gave off strange glares that fell into the water. There was a brilliant colour change to the sea and an explosion was heard. The sea became very disturbed with a boiling motion for some time after the colours subsided. Obviously a cone-shaped Meteor.

Derry, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 15th December 1956. A Dwarf Hominoid was seen that had a green colour, wrinkled skin like elephant hide, a high domed head and ears like a bloodhounds. The eyes had a film over them like a snake and there were two simple holes for the nose. It had short arms and legs and hands like stumps and feet lacking toes. It wore no clothes and the witness was gathering Christmas trees in the wood when they first saw it. Watched it for twenty minutes. Tried to catch it. It made a screeching noise. Witness fled. It certainly wasn't Santa. Was it one of his elves? Certainly a busy area this one if you look at its history.

Honolulu, Hawaii, Oahu Island. December 1956. The next door Neighbour found Mr Young Sik Kim, 78, covered with little blue flames. The fire was too much for her to approach and all that she could do was watch in horror as Mr Kim and the overstuffed armchair that he was in were reduced to ashes. Mr Kim's feet were still in his wheelchair undamaged though and nothing else in the room was burnt. The heat needed for the uncontained cremation should have razed the building. It seemed that Mr Kim was using the wheelchair as a footrest. He was completely crippled. They call it Fire from Heaven.

Shortly before 14th December 1956 there was a fall of hot aluminium onto Little Oakley in Essex in England.

Wichita, Sedgwick County, Kansas. 1956. Mrs Ola Godfrey, 76, her body fully clothed, died of burns. Her clothing was unscorched and her hair was unsinged. But in many cases it is more like Fire from Hell.

Pleasantville, Fairfield County, Ohio. 1956. There was a report of Spontaneous combustion from here.

El Reno, Canadian County, Oklahoma. 1956. A black catlike animal was seen by a farmer harvesting wheat. Here Kitty!

Emmaville, New South Wales. Australia.1956. A Panther was seen near here. Kitty!

Uralla, New South Wales. Australia.1956. Mr Clive Berry, a Grazier on 4,600 acres called “Pretty Gully” west of town saw a large black cat which killed 340 sheep that year and the next. It avoided touching the wool and had a habit of cleaning the meat off the neck bones similar to a domestic cats habit. It also left obviously catlike though large tracks. Kitty, Kitty!

Ozenkadnook, The Wimmera, Victoria. Australia.1956. Mr Howard Hinch, a rabbit trapper and Grazier caught glimpses of a Thylacine as well as heard its eerie cry. He had lost fullgrown sheep in the scrub and later found them torn to pieces. Strange striped doglike animals and large doglike tracks were seen mainly on the fringes of a 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swamp. Many witnesses said that they were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The creature was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger as well as also called the Tantanoola Tiger. Kitty? Not so sure about the last one though.

In 1956 Mr. Max Anderson was spotlight shooting near Sassafras in New South Wales in Australia when he saw a strange animal moving about. He soon realized that it was moving around upright upon two legs and was 2.3 metres tall. The creature soon disappeared into the bush.

Between 17th May 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity in this area centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. Whe these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were sent to fall and sometimes inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Bloomington, Monroe County, Indiana. 1956. 3.00 am. A group of four boys fishing in an abandoned stone quarry were awakened by a great buzzing noise with a blinding white light. The boys jumped up in time to see a circular object moving overhead very slowly that landed in the Sycamore trees near a stone mill. The boys followed it. It was hovering fifteen feet above the ground and directly above the convergence of two Railroad switch tracks. The boys felt heat but heard no sound. Suddenly the craft started to hum and whine and two of the boys said that it buzzed and rose straight up until it was out of sight. the boys ran to a Police Station two miles away to report the sighting. The odd object was also seen by the Nightwatchman at the mill. Trees were seared on the side facing the clearing. How did it land in a tree? Or did it?

Wilburton, Latimer County, Oklahoma. 1956. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. Something normal at last.

About thirteen miles from Wilburton, Latimer County, Oklahoma, sometime in1956 a long-armed Bigfoot was seen walking by a pond near a house. Later it was seen hanging over a neighbors fence.

Wilburton, Latimer County, Oklahoma. 1956. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. A female witness saw a huge hairy leg whilst berry picking.

Blackforest, Clinton County, Pennsylvania. 1956. Arthur Wiseman disappeared off the face of the Earth leaving behind a new Jeep, a $3,000 gun collection, clothing and a large stock of money at his campsite. He was an experienced Hunter and knew the area well. No traces were ever found. This is not at all unusual for this particular area known as the “Blackforest”! People have been reported disappearing from here for many years, in fact since 1865 when a strange as well as strange-looking man vanished from the main street of Hammersley Fork.

Ai-Yu-va, near Pechora, Komi. Siberia.1956. Just west of the Urals. Mr and Mrs Kharalampov, tourists, saw unusual creatures that were tall, manlike, magnificently built, naked and covered in long black hair. They made a ringing inhuman call and had at first been observed swimming in a river before emerging and making noise on the other side. Something normal.

Edison, Calhoun County, Georgia,1956. A three foot tall small Hairy Hominoid was seen with claws and long pointed ears. Is this normal too? For the area around Edison this year it might well be. Was it the "Gloop" from "Lost in Space", even more lost? Sorry, I forgot that the "Gloop" was fantasy. Isn't everything that I have recorded so far fantasy though?

Three Springs Ranch, near Edison, Calhoun County, Georgia. 1956. Mr Tant King saw a three foot tall small Hairy Hominoid walking along the top of a fence in the woods. Tracks were found as well as strips of white curly hair that were three inches long. This was an unknown type of Hominoid hair. The creature was seen for twenty-five minutes. Just not often seen? Does Earth have a far bigger Zoologica than we care to admit? What is normal around Edison is not necessarily normal anywhere else.

Three Springs Ranch, near Edison, Calhoun County, Georgia,1956. A three foot tall small Hairy Hominoid was seen with claws and long pointed ears by Mrs. Alberta Donnell and her son Toby.

Three Springs Ranch, near Edison, Calhoun County, Georgia,1956. A three foot tall small Hairy Hominoid was seen with claws and long pointed ears by Martha Donnell Sometime during 1956 a seven foot tall Bigfoot was seen along only one particular road by numerous different witnesses near Columbus, Chattahoochee County, Georgia.

Hughendon, Queensland. Australia. 1956. Late in year. Miss L, age 12, was crossing a paddock when she felt a strange force upon her and heard a soft hum. She then felt as though she was being lifted off the ground and fainted. She awoke in a large room.

Two male Hominoids in silver-white ski suits there and the room had a coloured Galaxy display on one wall. The Girl felt enormous pressure and fainted. The room was unfurnished and there was an arched doorway leading to a corridor as well as porthole like windows. She then found herself back at the farm though in a different paddock. There was a huge saucer shaped object hovering above her before it took off to the west. Two hours had been lost. One of our earliest Contactee cases?

Skien, Vestfold, Norway. 1956. Mr Trygve Jansen and a Neighbour in a car were paced by a UFO. It was early evening and a shining disc with wings circled the car. The disc then hovered directly over the road in front of them and Mr Jansen felt compelled to stop the car. Both witnesses suffered a burning sensation and Mr Jansen's watch was damaged from exposure to a strong magnetic current. The car changed colour from dull beige to shiny and greenish and the following day it changed back to dull grey. Some say dull brown. Cars that colour change after contact with UFOs? We would meet more.

Hebgen Lake, Madison County, Montana. 1956. There were strange lights in the sky during an earthquake. Tourists or natural piezoelectric Phenomena?

Lough Dubh, Suck River, near Glinsk, Galway, Ireland. 1956. A Lakemonster was seen by three men working on the Suck River. Another Old Faithful. Why then if these are illusions, why and how do we get collections of "Old Faithfuls"? Collective area-specific hallucinations? The scientific explanations should never get weirder than the Phenomena themselves, but so often they do.

Mount Macon, Catamarca, Argentina, Atacama Desert. 1956. There were reports of giants in the area. Massive Human footprints were found at 20,000 feet and there were many dead Condors and Eagles in the area as well as something unknown destroying their nests. There was a report of a huge cigar shaped craft crashing into the Cordilleras. No wreckage was found and it is a very wild and desolate area. Hominoid prints.

Northwood, Middlesex, England. 24th January 1957. Near London. During a hailstorm a spherical ice mass fell that was 5.5 by four inches and weighing 13.5 ounces. Did any others fall with it?

Mansfield, Nottingham, England. 11th February 1957. Monday. Thousands of witnesses, all of region, during an earthquake. There were five tadpole like objects in the sky over Leicestershire and Nottinghamshire. They were luminous and seemed to keep in formation. The flying luminous sperms were back again.

Mansfield, Nottingham, England. 12th February 1957. Tuesday. There were five tadpole like objects in the sky over Leicestershire and Nottinghamshire. They were luminous and seemed to keep in formation. They had also been seen the previous day. What were they to do with earthquakes? Were they actually earthquakes or shockwaves from something bursting into that part of the sky from what we would term as nowhere else.

Conceicao do Almeida, near Santo Antonio de Jesus, Bahia, Brazil. 24th February 1957. 3.05AM. Dr Carlos Jose da Costa Pereira, Mr Manoel Mendes, a Lawyer, and Mr Antonio de Araujo, were driving between Nazare and Salvador when their car began coughing and missing. The engine died and the trio decided to sleep at the side of the road. They then saw a huge luminous sphere hovering overhead that was a silver blue fluid colour. It looked like two hemispheres joined together by a luminous disc or a spinning ring and it descended silently towards the car until it was only 240 feet away and 90 feet above the witnesses. It had descended like a falling leaf and steadied at nine to ten feet. The bottom was smaller than the top and slightly flattened and it lit up the ground below. Mendes got back into the car as the other two investigated. As the witnesses approached the UFO took off vertically and stopped at 600 feet making a tight circle in the sky. It then made odd lightning fast manoeuvres in the sky before it made another near landing and then left at 4.35AM. It reappeared at 6.30AM at low altitude. It was showing off? It certainly was not being subtle.

Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. 20th March 1957. Five foam objects were seen drifting in the sky. One of them came to Earth 60 feet from the witnesses and looked like thick liquid or ice breaking up. It was shiny and cool when touched and numbed the fingertips and had a faint smell like burnt matches. Don't burnt matches smell phosphory or slightly sulphury? Weird.

Devils Gate, near Altadena, Pasadena County, California, Angels National Forest. 23rd March 1957. Saturday. Tommy Bowman, 8, and his family. Tommy went around a corner with six members of his family virtually in tow behind him. This comprised a sister, his father, an uncle and two cousins. Tommy vanished in full view. He went nowhere to be seen. No traces were ever found of him. Little Tommy went into nowhere. Like several others in the same area before him.

Lake Maracaibo, Merida, Venezuela. 23rd March 1957. Low level nocturnal lights were seen frequently over the lake. A glowing object was also seen to plunge into the lake. The light was known as the Faro or Taro. A light so regularly appearing that you give it a name? And it always plunges into the same lake?

Renovo, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, Blackforest. 27th March 1957. Wednesday. Mr M. Cranmer and a friend saw a Bigbird at an altitude of 500 feet. It was light grey with a twenty-five to thirty foot wingspan and it flapped its wings and looked like a gigantic blue Heron. Remember the Blackforest? Where people have disappeared since the 1860s! Odd though that the only other majority of unusual reports that come from the same area are of gigantic, possibly very hungry, birds! Is there a connection?

Westport, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, Blackforest. 27th March 1957. Wednesday. Several individual witnesses saw a Bigbird at an altitude of 500 feet. It was light grey with a twenty-five to thirty foot wingspan, flapped its wings and looked like a gigantic blue Heron. There were quite a few sightings in the following few weeks as well that were not reported to the Authorities. A big month for big birds!

Westport, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, Blackforest. 27th March 1957. A male witness saw a Bigbird fly low over the town and down Fishdam Run and then fly up Twomile Run. The bird had a wingspread of twenty-five to thirty feet. Are they native to this part of the Allegheny Plateau?

Ciudid Bolivar, Bolivar State, Venezuela. 28th March 1957. Thursday. A bright object fell into the Orinoco River. The light became very strong once in the river. This was not a Meteor. Meteors tend to dim when they cool down in the water.

Pumphreys, Western Australia. March 1957. Pebbles and rocks fell for several days. They also fell 150 miles away. Shades of Oroville in California. Stones, pebbles and rocks together? Nothing Meteoric about this lot.

Westport, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, Blackforest. First week April 1957. A Bigbird was seen flying down over the town and down Fishdam Run and then fly up Twomile Run. The bird had a wingspread of twenty-five to thirty feet.

Westport, Clinton County, Pennsylvania, Blackforest. Second week April 1957. Bigbird seen near town.

South of Yokohama, Pacific Ocean. 19th April 1957. Friday. The Captain and all four crew of the fishing boat “Kitsukawara Maru” saw two metallic discs ten metres long with no fins or wings vanish into one of the deepest parts of the Ocean on this planet at 10,000 metres deep. There was much turbulence of the surface after the double immersion. They were not Meteors and the ship searched for wreckage though none was found. Meteors tend not to fall in pairs though they can cluster.

Big Cypress Swamp, Collier County, Florida. Everglades. Spring April 1957. Two hunters were sleeping in hammocks when they noticed a Bigfoot standing and watching them. The creature was tall and dark with glowing eyes and after two minutes is walked away.

Pajas Blancas International Airport,15 kilometres from Cordoba, Cordoba Province, Argentina. April 1957. There was a report of a being five foot eight inches tall taking a witness on board a massive UFO. The witness on a motorcycle saw a huge disc 60 feet wide by fifteen feet high that was hovering above the ground level ahead of him. It was silent except for the noise of a faint hiss of air escaping from a valve. In terror the witness alighted and hid in ditch. When disc came down to height of seven feet a sort of lift descended from its base with a Hominoid in it who came over and gently coaxed the witness out of the ditch and stroked his forehead to calm him. The Hominoid was in a plastic divingsuit which fitted closely and the witness was taken aboard the craft via the lift shaft. Inside the craft were five or six men seated around an instrument panel. An extraordinary light filled it and a there was a series of large square portholes that were visible only from the inside. The witness was escorted back to the motorcycle. The Hominoid placed his hand on the witnesses shoulder as a farewell gesture and re-entered the craft via the liftshaft. The shaft then rose rapidly into the disc which was made of an iridescent blue-green metal. The craft then ascended to 2,500 feet and vanished to the northwest. A disc was seen in six or seven places along the same course over the next hour. Early competition for the Airlines?

Pajas Blancas International Airport, fifteen kilometres from Cordoba, Cordoba Province, Argentina. April 1957. A huge disc 60 feet wide by fifteen feet high was seen hovering above ground level. Another disc or the same disc was seen in six or seven places along the same course over the next hour. One cannot say that all of the witnesses are hallucinating. Maybe only some of them.

Miraumont-Beaucourt, Somme, Picardy, France. 10th May 1957. 10.45 pm. Michel Fekete, whilst riding his bicycle home was rounding a bend in the road when he was blinded by a light. There were four silhouettes around it who were less than five feet tall and were barring the road. The witness thought that it was an ambush and ran to the home of Mr and Mrs Rene Lepot. Mr and Mrs Rene Iklef were there as well. All of them saw the Hominoids fifty yards away. They had huge heads that were nearly black and wore greyish beige costumes. They were tottering around for twenty minutes. The witnesses were joined by Mr Demanchaux. After a while a car approached and the objects' light went out but the Hominoids were still clearly visible in the car's headlights. The car continued on and the objects' light went back on. It finally took off at 11.15 pm. A fifteen foot wide circle of asphalt like material was found at the site and iron fence posts along the road were now strongly magnetised. Unusual aftereffects? Bitumen, from Hell, and very strong magnetism? Bitumen, Sulphur, Brimstone?What century were we in again?

West Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. 18th May 1957. Saturday. The charred body of Mrs Martin was found with part of the torso and one shoe, with the foot in it, still intact. Nothing else in the room was burnt including a pile of newspapers sitting next to her. The heat needed for this would have been at least 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Goodbye. The body had been discovered in the basement by the victim's Fireman son.

Charlotte, Mecklenburg County, North Carolina. 20th May 1957. Mr. W. B. Brown and his wife saw five strange foamlike objects in the sky. One of them fell from the sky and landed sixty feet from them. A light flamelike liquid fell from the sky. It was slimy, numbing to the touch and vaguely sulphury in odour. Did we say Sulphur earlier? Remember, Sulphur cannot fall from the sky and if it could it would burn up in the atmosphere during its descent being quite inflammable. The object or matter that resembled ice breaking up was cooling or numbing to the touch. Do we actually fall very far at all? How close to us are Heaven and Hell? Just past the tip of your outstretched finger. There had also been a report of a fall of foam here on 20th March the same year that smelt like burnt matches. Another sighting of bad scrawling on the part of another researcher who cannot tell the difference between March and May in their notes?

Zhejiang, China. 23rd May 1957, Thursday. Many witnesses. A 13 year old girl and others saw a four foot nine inch tall Hairy Hominoid. It grabbed the 13 year old village girl and struggled with her. The girl's mother attacked the Hominoid with a stick and it got stuck in a paddy field. The crowd of women who had gathered then beat it to death. It was a young male Hairy Hominoid and they cut it into pieces. It had been 88 pounds in weight with dark brown hair with a big chest. The nose was sunken and the teeth were white as was the skin under the hair. The villagers cut off the hands and feet and these were sent to the Authorities. I wonder if there were recipes for Randy Hominoid swapped in the area over the next few days. Or whether they just got out Nanna's old recipe.

Milford, Pike County, Pennsylvania. late May 1957. 6.00 pm Miss Frances Stichler, 62 years old, was doing chores her in yard when she heard a whirring noise. Frances then saw a UFO fifteen feet above her barn hovering 35 feet above ground and fifty feet from her. The craft was a flat bowlshaped object, twenty feet across with a three to four foot wide rim. There was a Hominoid wearing grey coveralls and a helmet sitting on the rim with its legs and feet in the bottom part of the saucer. The Hominoid had deep set eyes, a very long face and well tanned skin. The Hominoid and the witness stared at each other for the entire duration of the sighting and Frances began to feel disturbed though the Hominoid had a calm to quizzical look on his face. the Hominoid resembled a slim eighteen year old male and had normal hands wearing gloves. Then the whirring noise the craft was making got louder and it took off to the southeast. It literally streaked out of sight Sometimes the reports get sillier and sillier but as I explained before this could in fact give greater validity to the sighting in many of the cases.

Kent, England. 31st May 1957. A British airliner bound for Holland encountered an oval UFO. Within seconds the planes' radio had become inoperative and they had circuit breaker difficulties which stopped immediately once the UFO had left. Electrical interference again. Usually only happens with large electromagnetic fields.

Mississippi River, New Orleans, Orleans County, Louisianna. 1st June 1957. Saturday. A UFO that looked like a blue streak fell into the Mississippi River. I said that they love water.

Queensland, Australia. 5th June 1957. Wednesday. A large wild cat like a Leopard was attacking Blue Heeler cattle dogs. It was not afraid of them and was five foot long and twenty inches high and had a long tail as well. the cat had a tawny colour with great fangs and used its front paws to fight the dogs. There are no native wild cats in Australia and the only wild ones are domesticated ones gone feral and none would get this size and they would still be very fair game for Blue Heeler cattle dogs which are very strong and can be very fierce. Here Kitty, Kitty, Kitty!

Rye, Long Island Sound, Westchester County, New York State. 22nd June 1957. Saturday. Two Police Patrolmen saw a large object with two white lights and one red light plunge into Long Island Sound and then rise up again. This was not a meteor. When was the previous fall anywhere? It was on 1st June that year in New Orleans and prior to that south of Yokohama on 19th April . Not that rare at all.

Thomasville, Clarke County, Alabama. 1957. June. There was a fall from the sky of thousands of fish which covered the Magnolia Terminal.

Lower Long Lake, Oakland County, Michigan. 10th July 1957. A 57 inch long alligator was seen. There msut be a breeding colony of alligators in Oakland County.

Socorro, Socorro County, New Mexico. 17th July 1957. Wednesday. The Passengers and crew of airliner flight 655 saw a UFO as big as a B-47 that came to within fifty feet of the top of the airliner over Socorro County,100 miles northwest of El Paso, Texas. There were no other aircraft in area and two passengers were hospitalised in El Paso with mild injuries. When was our last aerial swoop of an airliner? It was over Kent, England, on 31st May seventeen days before.

West Texas Plains. July 1957. The Passengers and crew of a four-engined Constellation Aeroplane. A Transworld flight had to dive out of the path of a rapidly descending UFO with a red and a green light on it at 18,000 feet. They had been on a collision course. The UFO passed above the Constellation which had to make an unscheduled landing at Amarillo Airport where one badly hurt passenger had to be hospitalised. A bad month for falling near-colliding objects over Texas and New Mexico. These were documented separate sightings.

Ilha de Sao Sebastiano, Bela Isle, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 25th July 1957. Thursday. A luminous hat-shaped UFO came in from the ocean side of the island and landed on the beach. Two beings with shoulderlength fair hair came from it. They were five foot eight inches tall and wore greenish one-piece suits. A landing line with spheres on it came out when the hatch opened. The witness entered the craft and his watch stopped working. Using telepathy the Hominoids stated “Danger threatening our species(man)”. They appeared youthful and had wise and understanding eyes. They then took the witness for a ride in their craft. The Contactee was Professor Joao de Freitas Guimaraes, Lawyer and Professor of Roman Law in the Catholic Faculty of Law at Santos University. He had seen a potbellied craft with a metallic stairway thrown out and two Hominoids five foot eight inches tall wearing greenish one piece suits that fitted tightly at neck, wrists and ankles came out. The witness leapt to his feet asking in Portuguese, Italian, Spanish, French and English whence they had come from. There was no response. The witness then received a telepathic invite into the ship. The Hominoids jumped up the stairway lightly, holding on by one hand whereas the witness had to use both. The illuminated compound in the saucer contained a circular seat and the witness sat with the Hominoids. During the UFO trip the witness felt pain and cold in his genitals. The witness had been walking along the beach when initially a jet of water rose up and a potbellied craft moved toward the shore. How do UFOs effect your genitalia? They sure seem to have an interest in them.

Galt, Perth County, Ontario. 30th July 1957. Ted Stephens,15, saw a round silver object hovering for 40 minutes. It then landed 300 yards away and after it took off a burned circle was found as well as two impressions. The ground was almost rockhard in a cornstubble field. The impressions were pressed and not dug. We have no idea if there was any effect on Ted’s genitalia. This was a long duration close range sighting.Had Ted forgotten anything at all? Such as what he was doing for 40 minutes? Maybe he can’t remember?

Bernville, near Reading, Berks County, Pennsylvania. 30th July 1957. Tuesday. Mr Edwin Gross, also referred to as Groff, and his wife. A whistling noise attracted the attention of Mr Gross shortly before a fifty pound chunk of ice two feet in diameter crashed to the Earth near him. He had initially heard a whooshing noise and saw a large white round object sailing out of the southern sky. He called his wife and as they were looking at the first chunk a slightly smaller one fell nearby. Maybe it was big icemasses that the airliners were avoiding? They were avoiding them expertly for none could be seen in the sky, either of the airliners or the ice blocks. Mr. Matthew Peacock, a meteorologist from Reading, had a colleague Malcolm J. Reider, who examined the ice mass in detail. It was cloudy and white as if it had been frozen rapidly and was permeated with dust, fibres, algae and sediment. The ice masses were also put together like a popcorn ball that was composed of numerous one-inch hailstones frozen together in a single mass. Analysis of the ice water revealed that iron and nitrate were totally absent unlike normal water and the water had excess amounts of salt and dissolved minerals and was alkaline. Reader and Paul Sutton, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, stated that the ice was not formed by any natural process known to meteorology.

Piacenza, Italy. July 1957. There was a fall of multitudes of eels that were four inches long. Were planes avoiding giant airborne eelballs? These writhing masses of eels have also been used to explain away a number of sea and Lake Monster sightings. Are they also the answer to UFO sightings as well?

Casper, Natrona County, Wyoming, North Platte River. Summer July 1957. Shirley Moyer and Hugh Puljo in a car ten miles north of town saw a round shiny object as big as a house on the road ahead of them. It was only 250 feet away and as the car attempted to U-turn it's engine kept failing. When it had finally succeeded in turning around it still kept stalling until it hit the main Highway after which there was no trouble. There had been no trouble beforehand though. The craft was described as having a glowing portion around its upper half. The shape was indeterminate. More electromechanical interference. How does an electric field effect a petrol-driven engine though?

Gagan Sanctuary, Jurmut River, Daghestan, Caucasus Mountains. late July 1957. Professor V.K. Leontiev was camping at the head of the Jurmut River. At night he had heard a strange cry. the next day a seven foot tall hairy Hominoid was seen crossing a snowfield. It made a noise like a cross between that of an animal and a bird, almost whistling. Its hands did not touch the ground as it walked and it had wide shoulders and a body covered with long dark hair. The witness fired at it and it took off at an incredible speed. At its closest it was only 150 feet away. Large footprints were found. The main thing is that the creature walked upright like a man, not an ape or a bear which the Hunter would have easily recognised. The footprint was unknown and not that of a bear though it was different to a Human heel. It was called a Kaftar by the locals. We really know how to make them feel welcome. Shoot first, autopsy later.

During July 1957 UFOs were seen over Katoomba in the Blue Mountains of Australia. The objects were described as oval-shaped, very bright and with flashing lights.

Fedchenko Glacier, Pamir Mountains, Baliand-Kijk River Valley, Uzbekistan. 2nd August 1957. Noon. Dr. Alexander Georgevitch Pronin, the Senior Lecturer at the Geographic Institute of Saint Petersburg, heading a Hydrological Survey, saw a Hairy Hominoid that was stooping on two feet though was standing upright. The creature was naked and covered with reddish hair and had overlong arms and was watched for ten minutes and was not a Bear or an ape of which there are none in the region. The locals called it the Galubyavanna, the Snowman and it was first seen standing on a rocky cliff 500 yards away. It kept its feet wide apart when standing. Three days later the Hairy Hominoid came back.

Susan Lake, Oakland County, Michigan. 4th August 1957. Another alligator was seen. They had been rumoured to be in Susan Lake earlier that year. This one was 42 inches long and killed.

Fedchenko Glacier, Pamir Mountains, Baliand-Kijk River Valley, Uzbekistan. 5th August 1957. Dr Alexander Georgevitch Pronin the senior lecturer at the Geographic Institute of Saint Petersburg saw a Hairy Hominoid at sunset. It was walking upright and vanished into a rocky hollow. Was this the same one seen three days earlier. Unreal or real?

Gowen City, Northumberland County, Pennsylvania. 14th August 1957. Wednesday. Formidable chunks of ice fell from the sky.

We know that they have hit the Earth. Where they come from is the mystery.

Ahu Passage, Bismarck Archipelago, Papua-Niuginea, Melanesia. 24th August 1957. Thursday. The Captain and crew of the Trawler “Eros” in the Ahu Passage off Ninigo Island saw a yellow Star which turned red and then green and then crimson. It hovered over them for twenty minutes turned back to green and dived into the sea. This was not a meteor. The colour-changing Meteors especially like landing in the water.

Between 8.15 pm and 8.30 pm on 29th August 1957 three people saw a UFO over Jetty Road in Glenelg in Adelaide in South Australia. The UFO followed their car along Jetty Road and Dunbar Terrace to Fifth Avenue in Helmsdale. The object looked like a quarter moon and they watched it for three minutes and it got bigger and bigger as it approached the vehicle. Then when they witnesses got out of the car the object stopped momentarily and then veered off in a westerly direction. As the illumination on the bottom faded small lights like little windows were seen across the bottom. There was no sound.

Zeballos Arm, Vancouver Island, Canada. August 1957. Noon. A man walking on the shore saw a head on a powerful eel-like neck protruding twelve feet above the water. The creature was moving steadily through the water and leaving a small wake and was obviously attached to a substantial body underwater. Had we seen it previously? There had previously been Hairy Hominoids seen in 1901, twice in 1907, once at Bishop’s Cove, in 1915, and a Seamonster in 1926 at Esperanza Inlet. In 1928 an Indiancalled Muchalat Harry was kidnapped by a family of Hairy Hominoids and in 1952 another Seamonster was seen at Esperanza Inlet.

Brown Station Road, Upper Marlboro, Prince George’s County, Maryland. August 1957. Mr and Mrs Revety Garner saw a hairy ape in the area. It was called Goatman and was scaring couples in a local lover’s lane. There were many sightings. Enter Goatman to our menagerie. Now you don’t see them and now you do. Why the fascination with lovers lanes though?

Runcorn, Cheshire, England. 7th September 1957. Saturday.2.00 am. A witness met the occupants of a saucer and was taken for a ride and was returned at 10.50 pm on Sunday. What can we say? Short and sweet.

Grenoble, Isere, France. 16th September 1957. 5.15 pm. Two engineers saw four black craft high in the sky that were immobile. They had stopped and were not planes or helicopters. They were circular and seemed to be swinging and had nothing in common with balloons. Suddenly one of them dived vertically and vanished in complete silence. Then a white object detached itself from one of them and floated for five to seven minutes. Abruptly another craft dashed to the west followed by this satellite which seemed to want to catch up with it. Finally the last two objects vanished vertically. As the witnesses exchanged observations a fifth object approached from the east at high speed and was lost to sight over Saint-Eynard. The sighting lasted five minutes. Erratic Meteorites?

Ubatuba Beach, Bahia, Brazil. September 1957. A UFO was seen descending in a fast dive towards the waters edge. Suddenly it made a sharp right-turn to correct its course and then exploded with a light so bright that though it was day it resembled a fireworks display. There was then a shower of particles from it that were pure Magnesium. In the natural state this is very rare. It seemed as if the craft was trying to avoid a collision with the beach. The Magnesium fragments had been forged by a directional casting technique not even invented by 1957. Magnesium again?

In September 1957 a spherical object was seen flying over Noviye Sochi in the Bessarabiya Region of Moldova near the Black Sea. It was an almost white spherical object with many multicoloured lights and there were many witnesses including Soviet scientists among whom was Mr. N. Sochevanov.

Penn Valley, Montgomery County, Pennsylvania. Autumn October 1957. There was a fall of Aluminium out of a clear sky. There were no aircraft and there were many masses. Some were shredded and some were the size of a mans' fist. They fell in great masses near Philadelphia. And Aluminium also falls as well as Magnesium?

Sao Francisco de Salles, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 5th October 1957. Saturday. Antonio Vilas Boas, 23, with his brother had seen a UFO from his bedroom window . It was like a headlight jumping downwards for over an hour and there was a bright flourescent light sweeping upwards. This was a moving light that was to change young Antonio's life forever!

Nawaca, 8 miles from Nabuwalu, South west of Vanua Levu, Buanhas Province, Fiji, Polynesia. 8th October 1957. Tuesday. 3.00 pm. Four witnesses in a boat at first thought an airliner was in trouble. They then realised that it was not an airliner but a UFO that was seen to descend from the sky. The craft hovered twenty feet above the surface of the sea and seemed to be revolving. There was the figure of a man standing on the outside of it and the man shone a blinding light at the people and they suddenly felt dazzled and weak. As the boat drew closer the man vanished.The UFO rose straight up into the sky and also vanished. Another Hominoid on the edge of a craft?

Quebracocco, near Ceres, Goias, Brazil,300 miles from Sao Francisco de Salles. 10th October 1957. Thursday. A Spanish naval Officer, Mr Miguel Navarette Fernandez and Mr Guido Espanol were in a truck going to Ceres which suddenly stalled for no apparent reason. Nearby the two witnesses noticed a UFO hovering above the ground about 150 feet up that bathed the region in light.The craft was 500 feet wide by 130 feet deep and standing in the open hatchway were seven small beings with long hair that were staring at them. The UFO lit up a massive area. The Hominoids wore luminous suits and the craft was hovering above the ground. The beings were childsize. The Hominoids watched for three minutes. The UFO then flew off. As this happened a smaller ship was thrown off by the larger Mothership and as the larger ship went south the little one went north. The UFO was oval or saucershaped and had a long aerial on a dome topped by a light. the UFO had suddenly switched off all of its dazzling lights before the Hominoids were seen in hatchway. It is almost as if they are deliberately calling attention to themselves.

Sao Francisco de Salles, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 14th October 1957. Monday. Antonio Vilas Boas,23, had seen a UFO late at night in one of the farm fields. It was so bright that it hurt his and his brother's eyes. Antonio tried to approach it but it moved off and he chased it from field to field until he grew tired. The light that would change his life.

Sao Francisco de Salles, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 16th October 1957. 1.00 am. Wednesday. Antonio Vilas Boas,23, previously on the 5th Antonio with his brother had seen a UFO from his bedroom window. It was like a headlight jumping downwards for over an hour. On 14th October there was a light in the sky whilst he was ploughing a field with his brother that hurt his eyes. On the encounter of the 16th of October Antonio was ploughing and the UFO returned. It looked like a bright red Star and was eggshaped and had three metal spurs in front that made it look like a bird. There was also a flourescent light on top of the ship which was revolving at great speed. Then three ten foot high legs came down as it landed and Antonio tried to drive off on his tractor. The engine spluttered and died and the headlights faded out. Antonio then attempted to run away but was caught by a Hominoid. Three other Hominoids then arrived. They were well built and as the four Hominoids carried Antonio to the craft he began to scream for help and to curse them. They stopped and peered attentively at his face and every time he spoke they made barking noises. Once inside the craft the Hominoids stripped Antonio naked. One washed him with an oily liquid that made him shiver when it dried. Antonio kept fighting back. A minor operation was performed on his chin that left a visible scar and blood was taken from his side, and then blood was taken from his chin. The scars were burning and itching and Antonio was then left in the room. A grey smoke then entered and smelt like burning painted cloth that made him so nauseous that he vomited in a corner. Eventually began to adjust to the smell and a naked female Alien came in. She was extremely fairskinned and freckled with high cheekbones and a very pointed chin. She had vivid slanted blue Chinese eyes and four foot eight inches tall with bleached blonde head hair and blood-red pubic hair. She hadhigh very pointed breasts with a flat stomach and large thighs.Antonio found himself responding physically to her frank advances. They entered into rapid sexual union twice and then she left.The Hominoids gave Antonio back his clothes and let him out. The next day Antonio became ill. His eyes began to burn and a series of sores broke out on his arms and legs. In the middle of each sore was little lump that was very itchy. Two weeks later his face became speckled with little yellowish spots. It was radiation sickness. He had been in contact with high radiation. Where? The Hominoids wore coveralls of thick grey cloth and black bands with a joined sort of helmet at the neck. Only the blue eyes were visible through two windows like the lenses of spectacles. The silvery helmets were double the size of a Human head and from the centre of the head three tubes ran down the back and down to the ribs. They wore five fingered gloves. At chest level there was a round shield the size of a slice of pineapple that gave off a luminous reflection. There were thick soles to the boots with no separation from the trousers that were arched up at the front. They were five feet tall. The craft was 35 feet long by 23 feet wide. Antonio returned to his tractor at 5.30 am. Antonio's life was now definitely not the same. Is this a new variation on the theme of the incubus and the sucubus?

Petropolis, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. 25th October 1957. Friday. The family of a bedridden girl with cancer was gathered around her when two Hominoids appeared whilst a UFO hovered over a courtyard. They were four foot tall with yellow hair and bright green slanting eyes. They shone a bluish light onto a victim's stomach which removed the cancer. The beings used telepathy to communicate this to the family. The peaceful Venusians are visiting Brazil? Or are they Angels?

Wonoga Butte, Deschutes County, near Bend, Oregon. October 1957. Mr Gary Joanis and Mr Jim Newall saw a nine foot tall being with long hair on its arms. It picked up a fallen Deer that had just been shot and carried it off under one arm whilst walking off quickly in tremendous strides. Mr. Joanis fired his 30.06 repeatedly into the creatures back as it walked away but it gave no sign that it had been injured. The Hairy Hominoid made a noise like a strange whistling scream and initially was only nine feet from the witnesses. An opportunistic Hairy Hominoid?

Gaydon, Warwickshire, England. October 1957. A UFO and a RAF, Royal Air Force, fighter had a near collision. There was no other air traffic in the area and the UFO was also seen by the ground crew who could not recognise it. These are experienced witnesses of different types of aircraft. This was not one of the aircraft that the ground crew had been trained to identify?

Clovis, Curry County, New Mexico . 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 8.00 pm. A UFO was seen in the sky. Something was about to happen in the area.

Amarillo, Potter County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 11.20PM, Amarillo Air traffic Control Tower saw a blue UFO hovering in the sky. And it was apparently on its way to Levelland.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Pedro Saucedo and Mr Joe Salaz were in a truck four miles west of town on Route 116 when they suddenly saw a blinding radiation on a collision course with them. The object passed over the truck with a great sound like thunder and a rush of wind. The truck was rocked back and forth by the blast. The object had originally appeared from a field and was a bluish green torpedo 150 to 200 feet long that was seen flying close to the ground for two to three minutes.It changed to a red colour and the headlights and motor of the witness's truck died and the interior of the truck had got very hot. Saucedo got out to investigate as the UFO passed directly over him. There was intense heat coming from it and Saucedo threw himself to ground. Both witnesses fled from it.UFO was doing 600 miles per hour to 800 miles per hour . This was the start to a very busy period around and above Levelland.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Jim Wheeler was in his car four miles west of town. When he almost drove into a blazing egg shaped object that was 150 to 200 feet long on the Highway! The headlights and the engine of Jim's car died and he got out of the car. At the same time the UFO ascended into the air as the glare was swiftly decreasing and then vanishing. The car headlights and the engine then came back on again. These may seem to be standard symptoms of UFO contact.

Witharral, Hockley County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Jose Alvarez was driving his car on Route 51 twelve miles north of Levelland when a blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long was seen by him on the Highway. The headlights and engine of Jose's car died. This was the second sighting on the same Highway. A lot of it was going around.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Newell Wright, 20, a Student at Texas Tech was driving on Route 116 ten miles east of town when he found the lights and motor of his car fading to inoperation. he got out and lifted the hood to check the wiring and battery, slammed the hood down and turned around. Before him and occupying the centre of the road was a one hundred foot wide vessel of a luminous greyish blue tone. Startled, Newell got back into his car and attempted to back it away. There was no response. Soon the UFO took off silently and was gone and the car started and Newell drove home. Midnight madness around Levelland.

Canadian, Hemphill County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. Three miles west of Canadian civil and Military sources reported the landing of a submarine shaped object eight foot high and three times longer than a normal car in a field. There was a Hominoid standing near it who flashed a light in the direction of the witness and the UFO then took off into the sky.

Midland, Midland County, Texas. 2nd November 1957. Saturday. A large flying object with blue light seen in the sky.

Deming, Luna County, New Mexico. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. A UFO was seen over the town.

Abilene, Taylor County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. There was a report from Dyess Air Force Base of the landing of a UFO in the area.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 12.05AM. The driver of a car saw a blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long on the Highway. The headlights and the engine of the car died. The UFO looked like a glowing loaf of bread on the road ahead and vanished after a few minutes. The vehicle disrupting Phenomenon kept on occurring.

Witharral, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 12.15AM. A man driving nine miles from Levelland came upon a hovering UFO which banked its radiance rising to intense brilliance and then subsiding to complete invisibility. The car headlights fluctuated to this pattern and after a while the UFO gave off a thunderous roar and the car started again.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 12.45AM. Ronald Martin in a medium sized truck on Route 116, four miles west of town saw a large bright rustcoloured object on the road before him that blocked the road. The electrical system of the truck then died. The object became bluish green on landing and changed to the original rust colour when it took off. Meanwhile back in Levelland as well as Witharral all was normal.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 1.15AM. The witness was in a car when the car died. A blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long was seen on Highway. The headlights and engine of witnesses car had died. The object was as bright as a Neon sign.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 1.15AM. James Long was in a car on a secondary road north of town when he found it blocked by an ovoid UFO on the road ahead. When the UFO took off the car started again.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 1.30 am. Sheriff Clem and Deputy McCullough were in a Patrol Car on Oklahoma Flat Road four miles from town when they saw an enormous egg of light like a brilliant sunset across the Highway 1,000 yards ahead of them. The light lit up the area for two seconds. The car did not stop though.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 1.30 am. Fire Marshall Roy Jones was in a car which wavered but did not stop on sighting a UFO.

Fort Itiapu, Sao Vicente, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 2.03 am. The two sentries on duty at Fort Itiapu saw a brilliant light larger than a DC-3 rapidly descending onto the fort. The light stopped at 150 feet. and was circular and 100 foot in diameter. A hum came from the disc and a blistering heat suddenly struck as an orange glow came from the machine. The electric clocks in the fort stopped at the time of the occurrence. The two sentries felt like they were on fire and one collapsed in pain. Both men were seriously burnt and hospitalised with heat collapse and burns. There were many witnesses as a blackout occurred as the machine hovered and before the heat began. Both sentries received first and second degree burns mostly on areas protected by clothes. 3rd November 1957, continued its' hectic pace even in South America. A blackout and aheat-attack at the same time as the appearence of a luminous lightsource in the sky? Were the two sentries exposed to a massive electromagnetic source? How did they manage to get burnt underneath their clothes? Was it a microwave source?

White Sands Missile Base, Otero County, New Mexico. 3rd November 1957. Sunday. 3.00am. There was a report of the landing of two UFOs at White Sands Stallion Missile Site. Two military police, Corporal Glenn H. Troy and Private James Wilbanks, were on patrol of the northern part of the missile base when they spotted a very bright object high up in the sky. They watched it descend until it appeared to be only fifty yards above the A-bomb bunkers. The light then went out. A few minutes later the object flared up bright as the sun and then fell at an angle to the earth and again lost its luminosity. The men described it as being seventy-five to one hundred yards in diameter. It was egg-shaped and appeared to have been only three miles from the witnesses. Even above places where normal air traffic was never allowed to go they appeared with apparent immunity.

Eighteen hours later another two man military patrol at White Sands Missile Base at 8.00 pm on 3rd November 1957 saw a luminous hovering object only fifty feet above the same A-bomb bunkers. This was by Specialist Forest R. Oakes and SP/3 Barlow. Oakes stated that the light suddenly took off at a forty-five degree angle, went up into the sky and started blinking on and off and then vanished. It was not a helicopter.

Abilene, Taylor County, Texas. 4th November 1957. A UFO landed at Dyess Air Force Base and was seen by Sergeant Jack Waddell. Do we have showers of electromagnetic forces or forms that continue periodically like Meteor showers? Are they random if we postulate that they exist? Christopher Illert's periodicity testing of the data from 1800 to 1977 confirmed my theory that there certainly was periodicity to the occurrence of Phenomena even if we are unsure as to what the Phenomena are.

Orogrande, Otero County, Nevada. 4th November 1957. James Stokes and several other people were in a car. They halted the car as a huge pearly object passed over Highway 54. There were massed sightings of luminous electromagnetic objects moving around in the sky as well. These Phenomena indicated that they could move down as well as up therefore indicating that they could equalise or neutralise gravity. These Phenomena were normalised by the witnesses so as to make sense of them. This is a feature of the Human brain that attempts to adapt the occurrence of Phenomena into recognisable forms so as not to distress the observer completely. It does not work satisfactorily all of the time.

Elmwood Park, Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 4th November 1957. 3.12 am. Police Patrolman Joseph Lukasek, Police Patrolman Clifford Shau and Fireman Robert Volt were in a Patrolcar investigating an open store window when they saw an object 250 feet up. They turned the spotlight onto it and the object puffed out and went 200 feet to the west. The witnesses tried to follow it with the lights off until it stopped by a dead-end street. They lost sight at 3.22AM when the object seemed to fold inward on itself and then vanish. These energy sources even travel sideways.

On 4th November 1957 at 7.00 pm Mrs. Dale Van Fleet of Albuquerque in New Mexico saw an object hovering in the sky for five minutes at forty-five degrees elevation in the west. It was larger than a full moon and was gold in colour.

At 12.15 am on 5th November 1957 two Santa Fe residents, Joe Martinez and Albert Gallegos saw an object in the sky with red and green and yellow lights and which gave out a great glow all over. The object was reported to have come down over the witnesses car in Santa Fe in Santa Fe County in New Mexico.

On 5th November 1957 Erwin de Oliviera of the Tucumcari Police was informed by an unnamed tourist that at 6.15 am he had seen a huge red object in the sky just outside Vaughn on Highway 54 in Guadalupe County in New Mexico.

Lake Baskatong, Labelle County, Quebec, Canada. 6th November 1957. 9.00 pm. North of Ottawa. Mr Jacques Jacobsen and three friends discovered that there was strong interference with their battery powered radio. They then noticed a brilliant yellowish white sphere larger than the Moon that hovered over a hill three miles away at an altitude of only a few hundred feet. Conical beams of light fanned out from it, illuminated trees and the undersurface of clouds and the short wave radio cut out except on one signal that was heard. This signal was very strong, modulating, and saturating all the other signals and was like Morse code but was not. By 9.30 pm both radios were working again after the UFO took off. And we have reason to believe UFOs can also effect radio waves as well as other energy sources.

House,15 miles northwest of Meridian, near Dyersburgh, on Mississippi State Highway 19. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. 7.25 pm. Mr Malvan Stephens, 48, was on his way to Memphis in Tennessee when he saw a large egg shaped UFO drop out of the sky and land directly in front his truck on the Highway. At first he thought that it was a weatherballoon though there seemed to be propellers on either end of the machine as well as on top. Malvan left the truck and was confronted by two men and a woman who were 4.5 feet tall, had pasty white faces and wore grey coveralls. They seemed friendly and they tried to communicate in a rapid fire language with Malvan. One even tried to shake his hand. They then got back into their craft after having finished their onesided conversation and it took off into the sky. The contact lasted two minutes and the witness was visibly shaken and white as a sheet. Did Malvan see anything other than a large energy source? Did the truck stop on its own or as a result of proximity to the energy source?

Knowing as we do that these energy sources can influence electric fields then could it also be possible that the very fine electromagnetic tuning and configurations in the Human brain and sensory organs can be effected as well? We have seen paralysis in association with many of the Phenomena which cannot be directly attributed to the energy sources physical appearence. By this I mean that Klieg Conjunctivitis and sunburn can be directly attributed to very high energy sources but not necessarily paralysis. Recent research into schizophrenia and other brain disorders indicates some malfunctioning of electrical circuiting in the brain which has a tendency to induce hallucinations both auditory and visual, and possibly tactile. Are some of our witnesses prone to disassociative disorders prior to the witnessings or does the Phenomenon trigger these episodes in witnesses that have never had the problem before? Or is it both?

Merom, Sullivan County, Indiana. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. Eve. twenty-five miles south of Terre Haute several witnesses including Mr Rene Gilham saw a UFO hovering 200to 300 feet up. It was silent and thirty to 40 feet in diameter and beams of bright blue light started projecting down from it. All of the witnesses went inside except for Rene who stood in the light for ten minutes. The UFO then made a whizzing noise and took off. By Friday Rene's face was swollen and itchy. By Saturday the top of his head was swelling and reddening and he went to a Doctor and eventually recovered. Rene was literally sunburnt through exposure to a high energy source. The whizzing noise could well be as prosaic a thing as an electromagnetic hum.

Vista del Mar, Playa del Ray, Los Angeles County, California. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. 5.40 am. Mr Richard Keyhoe was in a car on a Highway when the engine stopped as did the engines of the other three cars that were also on the same stretch of the road. The drivers then noticed a strange eggshaped, tan or cream coloured object with two metal rings upon which it rested in a blue haze on the beach. Out of it came two yellowish-green skinned figures onto the Highway. They wore black pants, white leather belts and light coloured jerseys. They then spoke to the three drivers in broken English asking questions such as “Where were they going?” “What time was it? ”. “Who were they ?” and so on. Mr Ronald Burke of Redondo Beach was one of the other drivers as was Mr Joe Thomas of Tarrance who called the Police. When Hominoids got back into the craft the cars started again. Can we have simultaneous schizophrenic attacks resulting in the same hallucination? Or hallucinations that are similar? Or one person hallucinating a sighting into reality? Is this as far fetched as it seems? Maybe not. Earlier on we discussed the preponderance of Phenomena to assume culturally and Technologically recognisable forms. The data had already been shown to have periodicity rather than random sourcing. We indicated that the Phenomena are indeed cyclically recurring in most parts and the sightings were possibly influenced by the cultural and symbolic interpretation of the witness. This was not necessarily the interpretation of the actual sighting but the actual sighting itself which possibly took on a recognisable form to the observer.If we have totally chaotic atomic structure coming out of a Quasar Vacuum can the Human observer influence this atomic electromagnetic bond-free anarchy to the degree where the hallucination assumes a temporary reality? This is where reality might well still be an illusion. If this be the case then an observer such as Mr Keyhoe could well have had a schizoid episode triggered by the electromagnetic field and through the Quasar Vacuum hallucination Amplification effect created that vision or hallucination into a temporary reality that others could make sensory contact with as well. This would also explain why sometimes in a group of witnesses to the one assumed Phenomenal event there are a variety of descriptions and some witnesses who do not sensorily react with anything at all. The reality is still literally an hallucination and still possibly prone to witness re-interpretation so as to normalise the event at the same time as it is triggering off parts of the electrical circuiting of the brain of the observer so as to create sensorily reactive appearences of reality. To some people it might not do anything. Some might not even see the colour spectrum of the electromagnetic Phenomena in the first place yet the electromagnetic event might be what triggered everything off in the first place.

Montville, Geauga County, Ohio. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. A large UFO was seen to land in a field. It was circular with a pointed dome. The site was later found to be highly radio-active. There were also six strange footprints in the field as well as two strange fresh holes three foot in diameter. Mr Olden Moore was driving from Painesville when he saw a blue-green flaming object fly over the Highway at Midnight. It was as large as a house and loomed up in front of the witness. It then split apart and one section vanished into the sky as the other landed in a field. The witness pulled over and turned off the ignition and watched the object for five minutes. He got out of the car and walked towards the craft but heard a ticking sound. He then went back to the car to get his wife. Suddenly the UFO was gone. It had been fifty foot in diameter and shaped like a saucer with an inverted saucer on top of it. The dome was coneshaped and came to a point on top. The dome also glowed brilliantly. Was the manifestation of the Phenomenon so strongly created by Olden that it even left landing marks and footprints? Whose footprints though for Olden did not recall meeting anyone? Is part of the Schizoid event missing or blacked out? Or is it still in continuous creation and reinterpretation?

At 9.20 am on 7th November 1957 Mr. and Mrs. Trent Lindsey and their twenty year old son Byron were driving south on Highway 54 when they noticed that the speedometer on their 1954 Mercury was weaving wildly back and forth between sixty miles per hour at which they were travelling and one hundred and ten miles per hour. Then they spotted a strange object in the sky to the southsouthwest that had sharply defined edges , no glow, no tail or visible means of propulsion and seemed to be made oh highly polished metal. The object was viewed for three minutes on an arcing course in the southwest after which it vanished behind the Organ Mountains. This was in the White Sands Proving Ground area and was only twenty miles from where Mr. Stokes had his previous sighting.

Everittstown, Delaware Valley, Hunterdon County, New Jersey. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. Mr John Trasco, a farmer, went outside to feed his dog named “King”. He then saw a bright glowing eggshaped object hovering near his barn and from it a three foot tall being with frog like eyes and wearing a green suit and a green cap approached him. It had a putty coloured face and communicated to John. “We are a peaceful people. We don’t want no trouble. We just want your dog”. John, taken aback, snapped “Get the Hell out of here!” The little man scurried off to the object which ascended rapidly into the sky. John’s wife saw the UFO and not the Hominoid. Before the Hominoid left John tried to grab him and got green powder on his wrist and under the nails. The Hominoids suit had shiny buttons, the cap was Medieval and the Hominoid also wore green gloves with a shiny object at the tip of each.Aliens or Pixies? Aliens or Pixies with 1950’s modern American inflexions and linguistics? Whose hallucination is this anyway? It is Mr John Trasco’s and it was possibly shared with his wife. What “King”thought of it we do not know. Remember at the start of this book we agreed that nothing was real in it anyway.

Kearney, Buffalo County, Nebraska. 6th November 1957. Wednesday. Mr Rheinhard Schmidt’s car stalled on the Highway. He then saw a UFO parked in a nearby field. Four Aliens glided over to him and spoke to him in fluent German and then took him over to the ship and gave him a tour. The UFO was cigar shaped and the Aliens walked as if on rollerskates. There were two men and two women on board and they appeared normal. There were glowing tubes of coloured liquids in the craft and overall it was stark and simple. After thirty minutes the witness asked to leave. The repairs to the craft had been finished. There was purple liquid on the ground where the UFO had been as well as imprints of landing gear. Within 24 hours the witness was locked up in nearby mental Institution. The purple liquid was Silicone. Thank God Mr Schmidt could speak German or another witness might have thought that it was Venusian, or Martian. A very person-specific sighting. Too much so? Silicone again?

Seoul, Korea. 6th November 1957. Military personnel saw a white luminous object hovering above the ground that suddenly vanished like a light-bulb being turned off. Something normal again and we have only made it to November 6.

At 9.10 pm on 6th November 1957 people in Torrensville and Kensington Park which are suburbs of Adelaide in South Australia saw a bright object in the sky that had a tail and was travelling fairly highup from the western horizon in a southwest to northwest direction.

Dante, Knox County, Tennessee, near Knoxville. 7th November 1957. Thursday. 6.30 am. Everitt Clarke, 12, got up to let his dog “Frisky” out. He saw a strange glowing object in a field 300 feet from the house and went back to bed. He thought that he was dreaming. A few minutes later he went out again to call the dog. The object was still there as well as several of the neighborhood dogs as well as “Frisky” barking at it. Two men and two women were also there. They were trying to grab “Frisky”. “Frisky” growled and backed away and the Hominoids sounded like they were talking in German. A man did catch one of the dogs but let it go after it snarled and snapped at him. Then the four Hominoids seemed to walk right through the glass wall of the oblong craft. One of the Hominoids saw Everitt watching and beckoned him over. Everett refused and was hysterical for several days after the incident. The grass in the area was flattened in an area 24 foot by five foot . The elongated impression was found in a field by a reporter. The grass had been pressed down in a 24 foot by five foot area. Everitt had called his grandmother immediately after incident as both parents were at work. This is a compilation of Mr Schmidt’s German-speaking Aliens and Mr Trasco’s dognappers just one day after the event! How then do we hallucinate strikingly similar themes the following day, before even the media could disseminate the information, even if it bothered to? Could it be that the incoming visitors from through the Quasar Vacuum are manipulated into recognisable form by the observers? If this were the case then the visitors could not return to whence they had come from for their technology would have changed to that of the observers’ expectations both culturally and symbolically. Or does it appear to change to fit the observers’ cultural and symbolic expectations? Are we talking camouflage at a cerebral level where electrical stimulation from the electromagnetic field that has travelled via the Quasar Vacuum stimulates the observers’ brain so as to cloak the actual event into that of what one would assume that the observer would assume to be occurring. Do we have very advanced chameleons that use our own cultural and symbolistic expectations as their own camouflage? God is always unknowable, that is why one cannot look at the face of God, for it is always changing. Maybe there is something to these old myths and legends after all? But who creates whom?

Waterloo, Blackhawk County, Iowa. 8th November 1957. Friday. A glass topped UFO was seen hovering over Mr Paul Rutledge's garage. There were two humanoid shapes walking around in it. It was thirty feet long and had a shiny bottom. Did anyone else see the same thing?

Edinburgh, Lothian, Scotland. 8th November 1957. Friday. Fourteen witnesses in the back of a truck saw a green light that swept in from the direction of the north sea. It grew larger and hovered over the group of 14 people in the back of the truck as a high pitched humming noise started up and the back of the truck was filled with a green glow. The people shouted to attract its attention. The craft then sped off leaving two vapour trails. The craft was round with a red top and a green bottom. There was also something like a cupola on the upper side. Previously unknown type of electromagnetic field?Alien craft? All of the above?

Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 8th November 1957. A luminous object was seen hovering over a Cemetery. It interfered with radio transmission and the electrical system of the Police Patrol Car pursuing it as the object headed south. Strange radio signals were picked up by Richard Gerdes of Joliet, Illinois, at the same time, like several channels of communication open at once that was like a telemetry signal. Several times we have observed radio-like emissions coming from the UFOs. We know that these emissions can interfere with radio frequencies and with some motor vehicles. Possibly even with aeroplanes. Is this intentional or nonintentional?

On 8th November 1957 four astronomers at the Commonwealth Observatory at Mount Stomlo near Canberra in the Australian Capital Territory observed a bright pink object in the sky. The object moved across the western horizon for about eight minutes after 3.30 am and then disappeared. No planes were in the sky at the time. Dr A. R. Hogg the assistant director of the observatory stated that it was the first time the observatory had seen something that was an unidentified flying object. The object was calculated to be not more than 1600 miles above the Earth and was moving too slow to be one of the Taurid Meteors that normally fall at this time of year. Was the Taurid meteor shower perfect camouflage for an aerial visitor?

Lake City, Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. 9th November 1957. Saturday. 1.00 am. A UFO appeared fifty feet above the ground and the motor of the car of the witness died. When the UFO vanished the car started again. The UFO was elongated. Over and over the same electromagnetic effects. The previous sighting around here had been a dog-killing Hairy Hominoid at Sedalia in 1946 preceded by a fall of frogs onto Kansas City in 1873.

At 7.20 pm on 9th November 1957 a housewife in Tularosa and several others observed a large rapidly approaching light which approached their car. As this occurred the car's lighting system failed and the incident took place near the junction of the White Oaks Road and U. S. Highway 54, near White Oaks in Lincoln County in New Mexico, twelve miles northeast of Carrizozo.

Crownsville, Anne Arundel County, Maryland. 13th November 1957. Wednesday. A UFO was seen hovering above the State Hospital grounds. A burned piece of metal was seen to fall from it and was found in the Hospital grounds. We still haven't left the first part of November yet. Now there is another fall, this time of metal. Had a temporary window opened up in this part of the month of this particular year for things to come through? Like an Intergalactic Wormhole that is only open for limited periods for particular places. This particular Wormhole was moving South, starting on 2nd November , from 103w34n through 102w33n to 100w35n and on 3rd November , still centering on 102w33n its left axis was now on 107w32n across to 99w32n crossing over 106w32n and 102w33n. On 4th November , it had moved down to 106w32n as its Major focus and stretched to 99w 32n. Another axis was appearing at 87w41n on 4th November , which by the following day stretched from 118w33n (a continuation of the previous days axis?) through 99w40n, 88w32n, 87w39n,81w41n,75w46n to 75w40n. 88w 32n might have been the far right axis of the previous days sightings. 99w40n to 75w40n being a new axis. The following day this had enlarged to 92w42n at its left and 87w41n at its right and was heading for 93w38n. Does it all sound and look like gobbledegook? It certainly does. But that did not stop it or them to keeping to appear to be moving. In fixed directions, like southwards moving hurricanes rotating to the left. The opposite to the Coreolis effect for the northern Hemisphere.

Kermit, Winkler County, Texas. 13th November 1957. 12.15 am. Mr Frank Williams saw a bright eggshaped object on the road ahead as his car died at the same time. Do we have electromagnetic energy storms that though forming spirals tend to travel contrary to the Coreolis effect?

Tamaroa, Perry County, Illinois. 14th November 1957. Thursday. Whilst there was a UFO hovering over the city there was a blackout that covered an area of four square miles for ten minutes.And these storms are periodic as illustrated by the my sine waves?

Alamogordo, Otero County, New Mexico. 16th November 1957. Wednesday. Many drivers and passengers of vehicles on Highway 24 saw a 500 foot long UFO that was hovering above it. It was an elliptical shape and was between White Sands and the missile centre. The radios and ignition systems of the cars cut out and then a wave of heat hit the witnesses in the cars.One of the drivers received a severe sunburn yet the event happened at night. Any coincidence that during this energy storm or shower we had concentrations of sightings near missile testing centres?

Maracaja, Matto Grosso, Brazil. 18th November 1957. Monday. 10.30 am. Mr Joao Ernani and Pedro Zilli heard a strange hum and then saw a pair of Aluminium discs hovering just above the ground. They also saw six medium sized men whose dark grey suits seemed to be glued to their bodies. The Hominoids were of a slim build and returned to their discs which were hovering ten feet off the ground. The discs were ten foot wide and rose with a whistle which bent the Palm trees double. Three other UFOs appeared as well and all four took off over the South Atlantic. They were only 700 feet from the witnesses. And now they were occurring in South America and we still had not left November November had always been a Major month for Phenomenal showerings.It was coincidentally the same time as the biannual reappearence of the Taurids Meteor Shower that also appears between 24th June and 6th July . The Loveland sightings started on 2nd November, just before the Taurids usually appear. Maybe they were early or the Phenomena were travelling with them?Are these periodic Meteor showers used as camouflage for Visitors from Space? Are we misinterpreting natural Phenomena? Is it both and do we have energy storms when these showers occur that are normally invisible to normal human senses?

Mogi Mirim, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 25th November 1957. Monday. Whilst three UFOs were hovering over the city all of the city lights failed. The three UFOs were heading southeast. The Taurids are over-extending themselves.

Between Tonopah, Nye County, Nevada and Las Vegas, Clark County, Nevada. November 1957. A soldier in a car saw four discs on the ground and observed them for twenty minutes. The UFOs took off with an unbearable humming sound when the witness approached too closely. We do not have exact dates in November for these but we are pretty sure that they would fit in for they are in the same general area as the events of 3rd November to 4th November . Random events are not supposed to fit into patterns! These appear to.

Amarillo, Potter County, Randall County, Texas. November 1957. An auto engine failed as something hurtled overhead.

Seminole, New Mexico. November 1957. A car stalled near the town when a light dived at it and then vanished into the distance.

At 6.50 pm on 1st December 1957 an aerial object with a curly tail was seen by the postmaster at Overland Corner in South Australia. The object was twice as bright as the brightest star and leaving a luminous red tail that resembled a parabola. By 8.03 pm the light had faded away and it had changed shape. Residents at Kadina in South Australia said the object left a trail like an aircraft trail but it was curled like a cats tail in the northwestern sky around 7.45 pm. At Loxton, also in South Australia, witnesses described the object as a bright start with a trail shaped like a question mark that alternately faded and glowed a bright pink. At Port Pirie in South Australia the object was seen as two bright lights that were leavinga red vapour trail.

On 6th December 1957 scores of people rang to report a fiery rocketlike object that plunged from the western sky just after 9.30 pm over Spencer Gulf in South Australia. The object exploded with two blinding flashes that lit up the sky and many witnesses stated that it fell into the gulf.

There were strange sightings in the sky on the night of 7th December 1957 over two areas near Adelaide in South Australia. At Gawler Mr. B. Lake and Mr. R. White stated that they saw a yellow ball of fire travelling northwest towards Gawler. When it dropped below the horizon it was followed by a small bright light. Over Osborne during the afternoon a group of thirty-five men had watched a strange object directly over the Osborne powerhouse for forty-five minutes. The craft was described as silver-coloured, circular and was at an altitude of ten thousand feet. Eventually it moved westwards against the wind.

Western Districts, Victoria Australia. 7th December 1957. 10.00pm. Saturday. A bright light hung motionless in the sky. It was not a Meteorite. Suddenly the light plunged towards the Earth but before it could strike it exploded with a vivid flash. There were also several blackouts of western district towns at the same time. Blackouts again? The same as in Brazil?

On 9th December 1957 about thirty people in Yankalilla and Gladstone in South Australia reported seeing a fiery rocketlike object that plunged down from the sky at 9.30 pm. The witnesses said that the object lit up the surrounding areas and was so bright that it hurt the eyes to look at. Residents in Bordertown in South Wales stated that the luminous object was quite large and blue in colour and it seemed to burst into a bright orange splash.

Langdon, Cavalier County, North Dakota. 14th December 1957. Saturday. Mr Edward Waslashi, a farmer, saw a lighted green object land in a haystack and burn it to the ground. The object was metallic and when recovered it was light, porous and mostly Magnesium Oxide. It was not a Meteorite, clinker or any ordinary fuel. Magnesium Oxide? Why if we are all using our imaginations are the same metals and minerals mentioned over and over? There should be a huge variety of them, as varied as our imaginations. In 1928 a large metallic soupbowl was seen in the sky over Milton nearby.

Ponta Paran, near Porteiro Ortiz, Matto Grosso do Sul, Brazil-Paraguay border. 21st December 1957. Saturday. 6.30PM, Mrs Ivonne Torkes de Mendonca, her three children, a servant and her driver Mr Marcio Gonclaves in Jeep on overcast evening saw a ball of light the size of the Full Moon. It was actually two objects side by side that oscillated in a wobbling motion. They were spinning on their axes and were like the planet Saturn on top. The bottom was silvery white and one of them dived at the Jeep and was only 60 feet away. It flew in circles above the Jeep and shot beams of intense light at it. When the Jeep stopped once one of the craft dived at it as if to land. The other was still hovering and shone a beam of light at the ground as if about to land there. The light dimmed. The craft was metallic and fifteen foot in diameter. There was no sound, heat or colour now. When the Jeep stopped for petrol the UFOs closed in again. One seemed to land for fifteen minutes. Then both vanished as the Jeep drove into Ponta Paran. Metallic balls that appear to dive and land and then soar off into the sky again? A new and previously undiscovered Aerial Phenomenon?

Schooleys Mountain, Morris County, New Jersey, near Drakestown. 30th December 1957. Monday. Mr George Chowanski,36, and his wife heard the dogs around their place start to go crazy. George heard a whirring noise for one minute and then saw a saucer-shaped glow hovering two feet off the ground 100 feet from the back porch. It was five foot high by fifteen foot long. George was chopping at the time wood and called his wife to have a look. The wife took one look and ran inside the house terrified and locked the door after herself. Three Hominoids came out of the craft and walked around the clearing. They then bent over to pick up something that appeared heavy and went back to the craft. This lasted two to three minutes. The craft then spiralled upwards and flew off into the distance What was it that appeared heavy to the Hominoids? Was it only heavy to them or to us as well?

Charnwood, Leicestershire, England. 1957. There was an earthquake preceded by tadpole shaped lights in the sky flying in lines. The flying sperm are back again.

Warrandyte, Victoria, Australia.1957. Late in year. Hundreds of witnesses saw eerie lights and immense quasi-Human figures as well as balls of light that were swooping and buzzing. Some of these lights ran some witnesses' cars off roads and two students had seen a white glowing manlike figure that was so tall that it snapped the branches off trees as it approached.Another witness saw huge pink sphere that glowed steadily and made the witnesses head ache and their dog in the car terrified. The Hominoid floated towards the car and the witness was petrified as it drifted up close to the window. There was also a phenomenon that seemed like music turned up too loud that suddenly exploded and the witness fled. It seemed like music turned up too loud? A reference to sound or vibration?

Between 17th May 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity in this area centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. Whe these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were sent to fall and sometimes inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Coon Rapids, Anoka County, Minnesota. 1957. This area had had numerous giant kangaroo sightings from 1957 to 1968. Coon Rapids is a suburb of Minneapolis and the kangaroo was often seen near the Anoka County Fairgrounds.

New Bedford, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 1957. A Seamonster was seen. Was this vibrating as well?

Arun Valley, Nepal. 1957. Peter Byrne and Bryan Byrne of the Slick expedition saw a Hairy Hominoid in the Arun Valley. There were three sets of tracks, excrement and hairs traces found at three widely separated locations. Was this vibrating as well?

Pamir Mountains Tadzhikistan. 1957.A seven foot tall long armed greyish brown hairy creature was seen. It was more Human than ape or bear like.

Sometime during 1957 there was reported to be a crash of a UFO in the area of Kyshtym in the Chelyabinsk Region of the former USSR. There is a report that a strange gnomelike creature was discovered by an elderly woman. The creature was humanoid, had no ears, a giant forehead, white ligquid eyes and no sexual organs. The arms were like claws. The police became involved after the creature apparently died and its body was put in a freezer until it was given to Galina Semenkova, a researcher who has since vanished.

Between Soldiers Key, and Key Biscayne,Dade County, Florida. 1957. Craig Philips, a Biologist, Captain W. B. Gray and his assistant Emil Hanson, all of Miami Seaquarium, saw Angelhair that fell for two hours in two to three foot long strands. They were not spiderwebs. What is real and what is not and what is only occasionally?

Near Jackson, Madison County, Tennessee sometime in 1957 James M. Meacham, fifteen years old, shot repeatedly but with no effect at a small ape.

Acapulco, Guerrero, Mexico. 1957. Thousands of witnesses, all of City. There were yellowish searchlight like beams of light in the sky during an earthquake. And what is barely real at all?

Uralla, New South Wales. Australia. 1957. A large black cat killed 340 sheep since 1956 on the property of Clive Berry, a Grazier, west of town. Unlike non-existent giant Australian cats.

Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. 1957. Louis Betcher and Eddie Nipanik,working on the shore saw Manipogo, the lake Manitoba Lakemonster.

Quilino, Cordoba Province, Argentina. 1957. The witness, a member of the Argentine Airforce, was in a tent when he heard a strange loud highpitched hum. Dashing out he saw a disc that was slowly hovering and making grass and plants flutter wildly. In a panic the witness tried to draw his revolver but was unable to attack. The gun seemed to be glued into the holster. Is the paralysis intentional or unintentional? In this case it was ideal timing for it to be unintentional! What sort of electromagnetic field or beam is capable of doing this and how much energy would it require to power it?

Niagara Falls, Niagara County, New York State, Niagara River. January 1958. 1.30 am. A female witness was driving along the New York State Thruway during a violent snowstorm and was looking for an exit when she saw what appeared to be plane-wreck on the centre parkwayle. It was actually on the median strip. There was a large shape visible and a slim rod fifty feet high was illuminated and getting shorter as if sinking into the ground. the motor of the witness's car slowed down and stopped and the witness panicked. The car lights went out and the witness thought of getting out. She then saw two shapes rising up around the illuminated pole. Several creatures had come out of the landed UFO. They were animals with four legs and a tail but two feelers under the head like arms. Before the witness could gasp in amazement the Animals vanished and the craft rose from the ground. It was a saucer and it spun and zoomed ten feet up and then shot up into the air. The lights of the car came on and the witness pulled over to the landing site where there was a large hole melted in the snow. The grass was warm and nothing appeared dug up. Giant insects from UFOs? Why not? Can we merely assume that Hominoid shapes are the only ones capable of intelligence?

At 8.50 pm on 8th January 1958 Mr. B. Welstead of Punchbowl in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia was looking for star clusters, he was an amateur astronomer, when he saw a luminous yellow-reddish object in the sky that was travelling in a northerly direction when it suddenly swung almost at rightangles in a curve to the east. The object was observed for thirty seconds.

Curitiba, Parana, Brazil. 10th January 1958. Captain Chrysologo Rocha was sitting with his wife on the porch of their house overlooking the sea when they saw an unfamiliar Island. He focussed on it with binoculars. The strange island was growing and Chrysologoa cried out to other witnesses of which there were soon to be eight. The object was in two parts, one in the sea and other suspended above it. Suddenly both parts sank out of sight soon after a steamer hove into view near the point where the objects were seen. Fifteen minutes later the objects rose up from the sea. The upper section was attached to the lower one by a number of quite bright shafts or tubes. Up and down the shafts small objects like beads in a necklace passed up and down in disorderly fashion for several minutes. Then the two parts closed up and the object started to sink. One of the witnesses, the wife of another Army Officer, telephoned the Forte dos Andrades Barracks and the Airforce was alerted. Nothing was found. This was January tenth in Curitiba, Brazil. Previously here in 1954 a group of small Dwarfs were seen that ran into a landed UFO and took off into the sky.

Glendive, Dawson County, Montana. 10th January 1958. Friday. Several witnesses, King family. The daughter was burnt by spontaneous combustion. The husband was overcome by smoke and there were nine separate fires in the house in one week. There was no cause for each fire. After the 4th fire the electricity had been disconnected. This was in the home of Mrs C. King. And this was January tenth in Glendive, Montana.

At 6.30 pm on 13th January 1958 at Casino in New South Wales in Australia Mr. Cecil Manning saw a huge dome shaped object in the sky above Casino in New South Wales in Australia.

Casino, New South Wales. Australia. 13th January 1958. 11.45 pm. Monday. Mr Brian Crittenden, 21, a local butchery worker, saw a dome-shaped light that followed him for five kilometres. He had seen it as he had left his girlfriends' house at Farm Hill. It was only fifty metres away and only ten metres off the ground and was a dome-shaped light with a long and narrow light underneath it which was bright and glowing. It came over the hill from the east and straight towards Brian and followed him for three miles along Benns Road. The craft was flying at thirty feet and practically reaching the telegraph wires on the side of the road. The car's radio suffered interference as the UFO swooped the car and occasionally overtook it at up to 65 to 70 miles per hour. At times swooping low over the roof of the car. He was chased for seven miles. There is nothing quite like a quiet drive in the country. The car did not stop at any time that we know of though.

Hammersmith, West London. England. 29th January 1958. The calcined remains of a Widow, 69, were found dead of preternatural combustibility or spontaneous combustion. The lower legs and shoes were singed only a little though the rest of the body was calcined and lying with the upper torso in the fireplace. Upholstery nearby was unburnt. London, the undisputed spontaneous combustion capital of the World.

Near the end of January 1958 J. R. Sutherland saw two strange lights in the sky at 8.00 pm at Culburra, fifteen miles east of Nowra Naval Base. They were two bright golden lights that stopped about four miles away over the ocean. Their apparent size was fifty feet in diameter and they arrived form the direction of Crookhaven Lighthouse to the witnesses left and then moved to the right before vanishing near Beecroft Head. One of the lights stayed stationary but the other swayed slightly. The weather was stormy and the wind was very strong but the two lights stayed where they hovered. Soon after the objects disappeared jets and other planes suddenly appeared in the sky. Where they looking for the golden objects? There was a distinct difference between the lights and the aircraft.

Paradise, Warrick County, Indiana. January 1958. Pumas seen. There was a flood of reports. Sheriff Robert Shelton stated that it seems that there is more than one cat in the vicinity. There had been a sighting of a black Panther in the area in 1951 as well as a varied history of other sightings. What this cat's colour was is unknown but it was referred to as having a big mane.

Ica, Arequipa to Lima, Peru. 2nd February 1958. Senor Jose Valencia was driving on the Pan-American Highway with his wife and nephew when suddenly a strange mushroom-shaped object appeared in the sky overhead and all of the cars lights started to go on and off. Senor Valencia stopped the car.The UFO was fifteen feet in diameter and a luminous red glow surrounded the bottom of the craft and the top had another red light of a darker shade. More peaceful country driving?

West Meath, Moneymore County, Leinster, Ireland. 7th February 1958. Friday. A number of people saw a strange light that was passing over that landed in a field. A mass of "Bog Butter" was found at the spot where the object fell. This was a sort of jelly highly prized in Ireland for treating scalds and in folklore was always attributed to coming from the sky. A large number of people had rushed to the impact site. There was no trace of any Meteor unless it was the foetid mass of jelly. Either falling jellylike masses were becoming rarer or their reporting was yet there is even a folk history in connection with them and even a particular name, Powdr Swr, the Rotten Star.

Naples, Napoli, Italy. 7th February 1958. A shell casing fell from the sky. It bore the date of 1942. Had the shell casing been falling for sixteen years or had it just recently been dropped? By whom or what?

Miami, Dade County, Florida. 8th February 1958. Police Detective Faustin Gallegos saw the body of a ball composed of thousands of minute cells resembling honeycomb drop into his backyard. It was white whilst falling but clear like glass, translucent, pulsating and with a glittering surface. His wife was with him and he bent over to touch the ball. He could not. the second attempt at touching the ball gouged a furrow in surface yet there was no sensation of touch though and there was nothing on his fingers either. The object was rapidly shrinking and Faustin grabbed some of it and it put in a pickle jar. On arrival at the Police laboratory there was nothing in the jar. The rest of the odourless blob had spread out over the lawn and disappeared. “Bog Butter” again? One day after Ireland?

Coolatai, near Emmaville.New South Wales. Australia. 19th February 1958. A black cat attacked stock. It looked like a black Panther. Shame that they don’t exist around here. Let alone even on the continent.

Ica, Peru. February 1958. A man sighted a strange glowing globe in the sky while he was driving. Suddenly the car refused to operate and the motor stopped and the lights went out. The UFO was a bluishgrey colour and very large. Somebody was very curious around Ica that month. First a reddish UFO and now a bluish one.

Sometime in February 1958 two men were on the property “ Springfield” of Mr. F. S. Heard near Tarcutta in southern New South Wales in Australia. It was a cloudless day when they heard a noise like thunder reverberating up and down a gully and the tops of trees along the gully were waving in the wind though it there was not a wisp of wind at the time. On investigating the gully they could not find the cause and there was also an odour like something burning in the vicinity. The next day chunks of clinkers ro burnt out rock materials were found on the property, even on a well used sheep track with another balancing on a log. The material smelt burnt and looked like honeycomb. Samples were sent to the CSIRO for testing.

Seaford, Nassau County, New York State. February 1958. The James M. Hermann family went under paranormal torment after two burning objects, one resembling a giant bird, fell from the sky over the Hermann’s neighborhood. No wreckage of any type was found but shortly afterwards bottles and jars began to pop off their caps and jump and rotate around. Later heavier objects floated around the house. This included a large religious statue and a radio. The Phenomena continued to April Any connection between psychic Phenomena and other Phenomena? Can all or most of these Phenomena be due to the power of the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Amplification Effect?

During February 1958 a seamonster was seen in Rio Bay in Brazil off Governador Island in Guanabara Bay. Several fishermen and the military saw a monstrous green serpent in the water with a head as big as a barrel. Another described it as a large beast with a giraffe's neck, a humped back and a long tail. Another fisherman described it as being the size of a whale but shaped like a snake. It was apparently asleep on the surface less than thirty feet away. A special detachment of police arrived armed with machine guns and dynamite and patrolled the bay to the amusement of thousands of bathers. On 10th February 1958 the police saw a dark mass near Governador Island and opened fire on it. The seamonster was not seen again.

Savannah, Chatham County, Georgia. February 1958. Possibly even seedfalls? Once again like most falls, content specific with no variation or exceptions. By this I mean that there is never if rarely anything else coming down in the fall. Only fish and no pond scum or weed. Or only frogs. Or only seeds, no stalks or other harvest related material.

Van Nuys, Los Angeles County, California. 6th March 1958. Navy beans fell during a hailstorm. Chilled beans indeed.

Moscow, Russia. 19th March 1958. Near the city a large saucershaped object was seen on the ground. After a spiral ascent it vanished. Going up anyone?

At 10.00 pm on 25th March 1958 Mr. Percy Briggs was working on his car near Woomera in South Australia when he suddenly caught sight of two shimmering discs performing intricate manouvres in the sky. He called his wife and children who ran out of the house. Together they watched the two discs dart about for more than half an hour during which they changed colour from red to blue. Technical experts from the Woomera Rocket Range questioned the family about the matter.

Bouahmama, south of Constantine, Algeria. March 1958. 12.30 am. A French Legionnaire, 28, on sentry duty heard a whistling noise coming from the sky. He looked up and saw a large object one thousand feet in diameter coming down 150 feet away from him. There was an intense conical beam of emerald-green light coming down from its underside. The witness remained staring at the UFO for the next 45 minutes and did not fire a gun or alert any of the others.The UFO took off with a whistling noise and rose to an altitude of 300 feet and climbed rapidly northwest. The witness felt happy watching it and turned sad on its leaving as he regarded it as beautiful. He then reported the affair to his superiors and he was sent to Paris for tests. He was normal. He regarded the pale gren and emerald colours as the most beautiful, relaxing and fascinating colours that he had ever seen. There were no landing marks . If a one thousand foot in diameter flying object were hovering one hundred and fifty feet away from you, were you under its' span which would engulf you or was the outermost edge of the object that distance away from you? Wherever it was in these two contexts it would have filled your horizon. How come in a fort, obviously occupied by others as well, there were no corroborating witnesses? These anomalies keep occurring.

Elyria, Lorain County, Ohio. 8th April 1958. Tuesday. Hundreds, crowds of onlookers, saw a fiery object with two horns and with sparks like molten metal falling from its front and sides fall into Lake Erie. Probably just a horned Meteor! They like Lake Erie.

Napa, Napa County, California, Napa Valley. April 1958. Mr and Mrs Leo Kozlowski found big jagged pieces of ice two inches to twelve inches in diameter which fell from the sky into Leo's yard. Some were half buried into the ground and there were no planes in the area at the time.The ice was too sheetlike to have been hail. We have met fragmenting ice-sheets before several times.

Keta, Volta, near Accra, Ghana. 8th April 1958. 3.30 am. Commander J. O.S. Wilde, R.N. Retired, was awakened by the loud barking of dogs.Birds were alarmed as a bright light rose up into the sky from the sea. It had a bobbing motion and he watched it for over one hour. It happened at the same time the next night. Twice in two days.

Keta, Volta, near Accra, Ghana. 9th April 1958. 3.30 am. Commander J.O. S. Wilde, R.N. Retired, was awakened by loud the barking of dogs. Birds were alarmed as a bright light rose up into the sky from the sea. It had a bobbing motion and was watched for over one hour. This happened at the same time the previous night.

On 14th April 1958 a mysterious large mass descended suddenly into Sydney Harbour in New South Wales in Australia. The fall occurred around 9.00 pm and a tremendous explosion was heard that shook hundreds of waterfront homes and was heard for miles around. Water police searched the area but no traces of wreckage were found.

Moscow, Russia. April 1958. Spring. A disc shaped UFO was seen to fall with a spiral motion. This was Moscow's second sighting reported for that year. Not that many reports ever made their way out of the Soviet Union as it was called then. Or did someone just mix up the months?

At the end of April 1958 several people including Reverend John Oosterhoff of Mount Vernon Presbyterian Church saw Caddy the seamonster which they described as twelve feet long and one foot thick off Whidby Island in Puget Sound, Washington State. It undulated as it went through the water.

Mr. John Smith who was employed at the Caltex Refinery at Kurnell in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia saw two unusual aerial objects directly above the refinery at 1.30 am on 4th May 1958. At first he saw a brightly burning object four hundred feet up that went over at an angle of forty-five degrees. The object had a long tail or orange flame shooting out of the back and the object was ten feet long. It passed right over the crude oil refining plant for fifteen to twenty seconds. Suddenly the light at the rear went out, came back on and then went out again. It was travelling too slow for a meteor and was on a flat trajectory and was not lobbing like a meteor. One minute later a second rocket appeared but was only in view for a few seconds. John raised the alarm with his supervisor because he was frightened that the rocket might fall into the plant it would blow them all up.

That same night 4th May 1958 Mr. Harry Edwards was working night shift at the Chullora Power plant saw a reddish-gold object travelling from east to west and observed it for five seconds. Chullora is twenty kilometres west of Kurnell in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia.

That same night 4th May 1958 hundreds of residents of Lithgow which is west of Kurnell and Chollora saw a mystery luminous aerial object. Were all of these three sightings of the same object? Lithgow is 65 miles from Kurnell.

Grand Bend, Ontario, Canada, Lake Huron. 24th May 1958. Saturday. A UFO like a flare arched into the sky leaving a trail of light. It then plunged into Lake Huron not very far from Elyria, Ohio, where on April eight that same year, a similar object crashed into Lake Erie. Coincidental or a window of opportunity opening? There had previously been a sighting near here at Charleston, Michigan, of an Airship from which distinct Human voices were heard by Mrs Wyngate at 10.00 pm on 31st March 1897.

Cape Elizabeth, Cumberland County, Casco Bay, Maine. 5th June 1958. Fishermen cruising five miles off the coast saw a long necked Seamonster that was more than 100 feet long. It turned its head towards the sound of the lightship foghorn and was watched for 45 minutes. It's all pretty ordinary.

On 5th June 1958 a strange object roared low over Marrickville in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. Near panic was caused amongst the residents. The Civil Aviation Authority stated that there were no jet planes in the area at the time.

On 8th June 1958 numerous people across Sydney in New South Wales in Australia were waiting for the overflight of Sputnik II. At 6.45 pm the switchboard of the "Sydney Morning Herald" was jammed with reports of a mysterious light with a tail which travelled from west to east, made a U-turn and went back east. As if this was not enough at 8.51 pm, one minute before Sputnik II was due to pass over a mysterious light approached from the north , suddenly made a wide left-hand turn and then went back towards the north. Neither of these lights was Sputnik II and we did not have any other of our space craft around in this period. Mr. Jack Greentree, a civil aviation air traffic controller, and his wife saw a pink-white light as bright as an average star over their house in Kensington going north to south. There was no noise at all.

In the Blue Mountains near Sydney in New South Wales on the night of 8th June 1958 numerous holidaymakers saw an aerial display by a cigar-shaped object that streaked across the sky at intervals.

Dallas, Dallas County, Texas. 18th June 1958. Wednesday. Martha Brumley,9, and Barbara Williams,10, scooped up 40 fish that were three to four inches long that fell onto Pentagon Parkway. There was a fall from the sky of fish that were dark grey with red and gold spots and tails. Over 40 were collected and nothing else fell. There were red spots as well. Ho-hum.

Prabamulih, Sumatra, Indonesia. June 1958. A five foot tall completely haircovered Hairy Hominoid was seen.The natives called it a “Sindai”. It was captured and found to be a female Hairy Hominoid about 16 to seventeen years old. Her captors took her back into the jungle and released her after the Government would not pay a bounty. So much for scientific interest at Governmental levels.

Lake Gardiner, South Australia. 17th July 1958. 9.15 am. There was a rushing noise followed by a tremendous double bang as a blue ball with a brilliant white tail was seen in the sky. The area was checked and an unusually hot piece of ground was found. No actual crater was discovered though. Don’t unnaturally hot areas of ground just occur on their own? They don’t?

On 19th July 1958 there were several reports of a strange object in the sky above Sydney in New South Wales between 7.30 pm and 8.00 pm. The object appeared to be illuminated by an orange light.

On 19th July 1958 a jagged dorsal crest was seen one hundred yards away cutting through the rocks by a family from Victoria that were fishing. Jamie Cameron, his two sons Alan and Griffith, his nine year old grandson Greg and his son in law Bud Johnson were fishing in two boats when they saw what they thought was Caddy near Race Rocks in British Columbia.

On the night of 20th July 1958 Mr. John Hickey, his wife and his son saw a UFO over Katoomba in the Blue Mountains near Sydney in New South Wales in Australia which was corroborated by a police officer. The object appeared to be a very bright oval shape about half the size of the moon. It had two horizontal beams and two narrower ones pointing downwards at an angle. There was also a smaller light which was like a torchlight going on and off. The object was bluish in colour and gave off a vapour. The sound it made on approaching was like that of a jet and the sound ceased as the craft slowed down to a stationary position where it was observed for six minutes. It moved across Katoomba form south to north and then turned north-east.

Richmond-upon-Thames, Surrey, England. 24th July 1958. A large block of ice several pounds in weight fell through the roof of the house of Ronald Phelps of Manor Road. I thought that hot ground spots were a common Phenomenon like icefalls.

Platte River, Hall County, near Grand Island, Nebraska. 28th July 1958. Monday. An animal like a six foot tall Kangaroo was seen around a cabin by Mr Charles Wetzel. Mr Wetzel saw what he thought was a deer chasing some dogs which was unusual. When he got to within ten yards of it he saw that it was not a deer but a kangaroo bounding away with ten foot leaps. The creature was brown, six feet tall, with large hind legs and small forelegs that barely touched the ground as it jumped. Normal kangaroo's paws are not used in jumping at all, only the back legs.And giant Kangaroos in Nebraska are common as well?

Rome, Lazio, Italy. 3rd August 1958. Thousands, much of population. Whilst a luminous round UFO was seen in the sky another part of the city was blacked out. After the craft left everything returned to normal. Previously in Rome there had been earthquake Phenomena in 1892, UFOs on 20th October 1954 followed by more UFOs on 6th November , and 7th November that same year at Tuscolano.

Between Unusae and Bolivar, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 8th August 1958. 1.27 AM. The witness was an Officer of the Provincial Senate. The engine of his car stalled and the clock stopped. The witness got out to find the cause but nothing was wrong. He then saw a machine approaching him slowly from 300 to 400 metres away. The witness turned off his headlights. The object was flattened on the rear part and cast a weak phosphorescent light. There was a soft whistling noise like the sound of a fan that varied with the revolutions the craft made. The object also had a dome which emitted a blinding bluish light. The craft finally took off at staggering speed to the south and the car started again. Pretty ordinary by now. If it is all imagination then why aren't the witnesses using any?

Bluff Creek, Korbel, Mad River Valley, near Eureka, near McKinleyville, Humboldt County, California. 27th August 1958. Mr Jerry Crew, a bulldozer driver, and a road building crew found footprints left by a Hairy Hominoid around their camp. The footprints were seventeen inches long with a fifty inch stride and were eight inches across at the ball of the foot. The second toe was longer than the big toe and Mr Crew made a plaster cast of the footprint. The Hairy Hominoid was also found to have picked up a 700 pound tyre and wheel of a tractor and carried it several hundred yards as well as a 300 pound oildrum which it threw into a ravine. Natural or unnatural Phenomena, the Woodsy equivalent of the UFO?

In August 1958 Ernie Stolz and the crew of the coaster "Golden Flame" saw a huge brown seamonster off East London in South Africa. The creature reared up, stretched its neck and then looked at the coaster after which is slowly sank down into the sea and swam off. When it came out of the sea it looked like a giant lion sitting up on its haunches. Nor was it a sealion.

Minduri, Brazil. August 1958. Dawn. Three witnesses on the side of a hill saw a pair of giants twenty-five feet tall and wearing clothing that were walking up the hill. The three witnesses only had a rear view before the giants vanished. We don't get many giant reports. They have always been rare though.

During August 1958 Mr. O. Chistovsky and a team from the Lengiprokommunstroy Institute were conducting a topographical survey of "the Tsarinas Mountain" near Shapki in the Tosnenski District near Saint Petersburg. Chistovsky and his assistant were looking for the remains of a prison for one of Ivan the Terrible's wives whilst doing their official duties of improving forest tracks and planting trees. Suddenly they saw a big, cigar-shaped silvery object that was flying noiselessly to the north at a high altitude. Numerous members of the expedition saw it as well and described it as having a well polished exterior with no wings, doors, windows or antennaes. Suddenly it veered off to the right and disappeared to the east.

Off Grillone near Copanello in the province of Catanzaro in Calabria in Italy a group of foreign tourists were spearfishing from a boat during August 1958 when they came face to face with a seamonster only eighty yards from shore. It resembled a gigantic moray eel which shook them up.

Old Bridge, Middlesex County, New Jersey. 2nd September 1958. Tuesday. 9.00 pm. Mr and Mrs P. Bacagalupo. Mr Dominick Bacagalupo went into the kitchen to get a cup of coffee. As he went back into the lounge where he was watching T. V. and sat in his chair there was a shattering roar from the kitchen. A small flying iceberg had crashed through the ceiling after crashing through the roof and the attic leaving a three foot wide hole in the roof as well as the ceiling. The fallen iceberg weighed seventy pounds. The incident happened at 336 Greystone Bridge. Just in the nick of time.

Chester, Delaware County, Pennsylvania. 8th September 1958. Monday. A massive block of ice roared through the roof of a warehouse at 510 North Third Street. Icy weather lately? And not that far from Old Bridge.

Loch Morar, Highland, Scotland. September 1958. Dr George Cooper, a distinguished scientist with his family, was painting in watercolours on the west end of the Loch when he saw the Lakemonster unknowingly. He painted it in watercolours and it looked like a large log with one end higher than the other. It quite suddenly vanished after one hour much to the astonishment of the artist who was using it as part of a lakescape. A most unobliging log!

Wasco, Kirklin County, Indiana. 3rd October 1958. Friday. 3.00 am. Crew of goods train #91. The Monon to Kirklin train had just passed the village of Wasco when four strange lights appeared in the sky one quarter of a mile ahead in a Vee formation. The lights vanished to the east at a low altitude and scarcely missed some trees. Less than a minute later they reappeared and were heading straight for the train. The Fireman in the engine radioed the caboose as one of the two men in the caboose saw four blobs of light above the engine. Lights swung over them heading north as if they were heading south and only flew one hundred feet above the train. After a while the formation went away from the caboose to where it had travelled after hovering over the engine. The UFOs were investigating the train. The discs were 40 feet wide, phosphorescent and the edges were funny. The four lights travelled along for half a mile and then paused as they assembled into a bunch one quarter of a mile away. Next all four lights formed a procession one behind the other and flew east. They picked up speed and got brighter. Then they started flashing in sequence. First 1, then 2, then three and then four and changed colour from a bright glowing white to an orange yellow. A few minutes later the procession appeared again coming right down the length of the tracks behind the freight cars and overtaking the train at high speed. Two were now flying on edge. One man in the caboose grabbed a flashlight and directed its rays on a moving saucer they were that close. The moment the beam hit the disc it jumped away. Itresumed formation and followed the train again. The torch was played at them again and the saucers scattered, pulling away to the northwest and vanished near Kirklin,38 miles northwest of Indianapolis. Very well documented and detailed but of what?

Portales, Roosevelt County, New Mexico. 11th October 1958. Angelhair fell like gossamer strands up to fifty feet long or strands of dust held together by static electricity. A pretty strange sight either way.

Bluff Creek, near McKinleyville, Humboldt County, California, near Eureka, before the 12th October 1958. Roy Wallace, a construction worker was asleep in a shed when he was woken by a commotion outside the shed. He opened the door and an immense hairy manlike Beast was standing right there in front of him. In a split second gesture of appeasement the man gave a chocolate bar to the Beast which took it and left. A Bigfoot with a sweet tooth?

Elk River, near Bluff Creek, near McKinleyville. Humboldt County, California.Near Eureka. 12th October 1958. Sunday. Mr Curtis Mitchell, an Indian, found the bodies of four dogs and saw a tall Hairy Hominoid that ran upright like a man that was eight to ten feet tall and wore nothing. The bodies of the four dogs were found that evening and had been ripped apart by some unknown animal. One had been slammed against a tree. The dogs bodies were found five miles south of Eureka. Maybe the dogs had no chocolates to offer.

Bluff Creek, near McKinleyville. Humboldt County, California, near Eureka. 12th October 1958. Sunday. Mr Ray Kerr and Mr. Leslie Brezeale saw a tall Hairy Hominoid that ran upright like a man and was eight to ten feet tall and wore nothing. The witnesses were in a pickup truck and saw the Bigfoot cross the road ahead in two strides at night. Was the Hairy Hominoid running towards some Chocolates? 1958 was a very busy year for one or several Hairy Hominoids near McKinleyville.

Wayne County, New York. Lake Ontario. 13th October 1958. Monday. A fiery object like a burning plane crashed into Lake Ontario. This was not a meteor. Isn't this getting boringly repetitive? First Lake Erie then Lake Huron and now Lake Ontario? And this is only for 1958?

Bluff Creek, near McKinleyville. Humboldt County, California, near Eureka. 17th October 1958. George Smith saw an eight foot tall Bigfoot crossing the road ahead. Was it after chocolates as well?

A fourteen inch long crocodilian was seen in Mount Clemens, Macomb County, Michigan before the 18th October 1958.

Loch Raven Dam, near Baltimore, Maryland. 26th October 1958. Sunday. 10.30 pm. Mr Philip Small,27, and Mr Alvin Cohen. The car of the two witnesses stalled and the headlights went out as they turned a corner eighty feet from the bridge. The two men then saw a 100 foot long big white egg 150 feet above the bridge near the dam. The witnesses got out of their car and watched for a minute. They were 75 feet from the craft and it began to glow and the witnesses felt an intense heat as the UFO shot straight up into the air accompanied by a loud sound like an explosion. The car then started again with no trouble and the headlights worked. Several individual witnesses saw a similar object that same night in the same area. One side of Mr Small's face was bright and hot as was Mr Cohen's. A Doctor found that both witnesses had radiation burns to their faces and both witnesses were scared to death when making reports. Nocturnal sunburn again?

Pont-La-Dame, Hautes-Alpes, near Behlon-de-Montmeur, on Grand Buech River, France. 28th October 1958. 7.55 pm. Jean Boyer saw a hovering UFO that was 600 to 700 metres away. It was a sharply defined oblong object like a luminous disc that was swaying gently. Jean stopped the car and got out when he was under the object which was circular with a second smaller object underneath that was it giving off sparks. Jean then went back to the car to turn off the headlights and as he reached the car the object emitted a massive stream of blinding sparks like burning Magnesium and vanished. The object resembled two plates glued together and was 200 to 400 metres above him. After two to three minutes object emitted sparks and took off vertically leaving a fiery trail and at the same time a current of air rocked Jean's Station wagon. There were independent witnesses driving along the road as well. The famous double saucer is back. Imagination alone is responsible for copying Phenomenal reports?

Pont-La-Dame, Hautes-Alpes, near Behlon-de-Montmeur, on Grand Buech River, France. 28th October 1958. 7.55 pm. Several individual witnesses saw a hovering UFO 600 to 700 metres away. It was a sharply defined oblong object like a luminous disc that was swaying gently. The independent witnesses were viewing the UFO from the Boyer sighting. Previously there had been a sighting of flying objects travelling in a straight line in front of the Moon in 1820 over Embrun. These objects had performed a ninety degree turn over the city without breaking formation.

Maryland Nike Base, Maryland. U. S. October 1958. Seventeen miles away from Washington D. C. Private Jerome A. Scanlon was on guard duty when he saw a UFO hovering one hundred yards above his head. The UFO had green and white trimmings but no markings and skidded over the treetops and in the process breaking branches and then landed. It sent up a shower of sparks and cast a weird glow over the area. Scanlon alerted Sergeant Riney Farriss and several other G. I. S who got to the landing site where there were broken branches strewn around as well as a scorched strip of ground for half a mile. What happened to the UFO or bolide or meteor or whatever it was that caused the devastation is not known. Sometimes they just don't know how to land those things. But where did it go?

Emmaville, New South Wales. Australia. October 1958. A large black cat like creature was seen bounding across roads. The creature was seen by Mr. Wallace E. Lewis who was a businessman from Sydney and described it as many times larger and more ferocious than the largest feline known to the continent.

Riverside, Riverside County, California. 8th November 1958. Saturday. Charles Wetzel was in a car when it was attacked by a six foot tall Hominoid with long arms and no ears. The creature had flourescent shining eyes, a round head and protuberant lips on its mouth and all over the body it was scaly like leaves. Gurgling sounds came from it and Charles was unsure if he hit it with the car originally as there were long sweeping scratchlines on the windscreen found afterwards. The witness was in the car at the time of the attack. At the same time the radio Station dissolved into static. The Hairy Hominoid clawed Charles who had reached for his pistol and accelerated the car away. The happening was on the north end of Main Street crossing the Santa Anna River. Suddenly it was Riverside's turn for Phenomenal events. They don't just creep up, they tend to explode into the situation.

Riverside, Riverside County, California. 9th November 1958. Sunday. A six foot tall Hominoid with long arms and no ears and a scaly body like it had leaves on it was seen. It had flourescent shining eyes, a round head and a protuberant mouth and made gurgling noises. The creature had also been seen the previous night when it had attacked a man in his car and was on the north end of main Street crossing the Santa Anna River. Was it merely visiting or had it always lived there? Or at least nearby.

Alexandria, Rapides County, Louisianna. 11th November 1958. Tuesday. 12.00 pm-2.45 pm. Dozens of witnesses as well as Mrs R. Babington.There was a fall of water from a cloudless sky and only onto a ten foot by ten ten foot section of Mrs Babington's yard.

The rain was visibly coming from an area a little over tank top height and was a soft shower with little velocity. It was thoroughly investigated and all the time the sky was sunny and cloudless. There were many witnesses and lawn sprinklers, burst pipes, leaves of trees and other sources of water were ruled out. Cloudless rain? On again, off again.

Deeside, near Braemar, Grampian, Scotland, Balmoral. November 1958. Two young soldiers of the Territorial Army on manoeuvres were left guarding a small hilltop in the early hours of the morning. They heard a strange gurgling noise that was found to be coming from a pair of seven foot tall Hominoids who were approaching the witnesses from a small grove of trees 200 yards away. The clothing of the Hominoids seemed to be impeding their progress and the witnesses were overcome with terror and ran away looking back over their shoulders as they fled. The witnesses suddenly heard a swishing noise and then saw a shining disc coming down the road after them. It was one foot above the ground and it swooped over the witnesses and pulsated away with a shower of sparks. The witnesses were by this time in a state of shock. Had the gurglers left Riverside and gone to Scotland?

Domsten, near Halsingborg, Sweden. 20th December 1958. 3.00 am. Mr Hans Gustavsson,(Gustafsson) aged twenty-five , and Mr Stig Rydberg,30, were driving home from a dance when they spotted a strange light off to their right. They stopped the car and got out and saw saucer standing on three legs on the ground. It was 16 feet across by three feet high and illuminated from within. There was a dark core at the centre of the light which was neither fierce nor warm. After a few minutes four grey creatures that were three feet tall and with a sickening smell rushed the witnesses. They were also described as four feet long by 14 inches wide with no extremities. They had no limbs yet seemed to grab the witnesses and drag them towards the craft by wrapping their bodies around the men. Gustavsson grabbed a pole so he could not be dragged to the craft and Rydberg pushed them away from him. The creatures resembled giant slugs and both men struggled hard but found it hard to get a hold on the grey jellylike creatures. Rydberg’s arm even sank up to the elbow. The creatures then concentrated on Gustavsson whereupon Rydberg ran to the car and sounded the horn to attract attention. At the blast of noise the creatures ran off and boarded the craft. They looked like Amoebas. Intergalactic Amoebas? We had already met them before in Lima, Peru, in 1947, where they gave the witness a tour of their craft.

Portglennone, Antrim, Northern Ireland. 30th December 1958. Tuesday. Joseph Bennet, a local farmer, had heard a strange noise like the rush of wind and saw a big black thing seven foot across and twenty feet up crash straight into a thirty foot high oak tree. The object had come from the south and had split the tree in two. There were no burn or scorch-marks though and the object continued north. It was all over in a matter of seconds. Who was not watching where they were going? Was this the same driver of a UFO that had grazed the ground as well as a few trees at Maryland Nike Base only that previous October?

Paris, Bourbon County, Kentucky. December 1958. There were 13 separate attacks of spontaneous combustion of objects in the house of the C. Johnson family over a period of three days. It was mainly bedding and clothing and there was one attack for each of the 13 people in the house. Boring.

Bella Coola Valley, British Columbia, Canada. December 1958. George Robson and Bert Solhjell, a pair of hunters, saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot watching them that ran off when they stared back at it. There's Bigfoot in them thar hills and valleys.

Lough Ree, Galway, Ireland. 1958. Two English tourists were towed around the lake by a powerful underwater creature until they cut their fishing lines. Probably the ride of their lives.

Wind River, Skamania County, Washington State. 1958. A Hairy Hominoid was seen that was very big. In 1932 Caddy the Seamonster had been seen in the sea near here.

Nepal. 1958. On the second Slick expedition two Sherpas with Gerald Russell at a low altitude met a "The-Ma", a pigmy type small Hairy Hominoid by a river. There were numerous footprints as well as other Hairy Hominoids seen by Russell.

Rome, Floyd County, Georgia. 1958. A black Panther leapt against a car leaving muddy pawprints on the bodywork. Odd cats with attitude were seen in many and varied places that year.

Atlanta, Fulton County, Georgia. 1958. A black Panther like creature was seen in the forest by two Police Patrolmen who were searching the woods for a black Panther. They were confronted by it and it had yellow eyes and was charging directly at them. Both witnesses emptied their revolvers at it as it flashed by like a bullet at pointblank range but did not hit it. Both men did not know how they could have missed it at such close range. They're hard to kill even when you do find them.

Emmaville, New South Wales. Australia. 1958. A large black cat like creature was seen bounding across roads. It was larger than a greyhound and was killing sheep.

Between 17th May 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity in this area centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. Whe these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were sent to fall and sometimes inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Swinney Switch, Neuces River, Texas. 1958. Mr James Rowe, a grocer, fishing, saw a man sized bird that had fur as well as feathers. Initially the creature had grabbed the hook initially and then taken off downstream and took almost all of the line before James turned it around. James had not seen it yet. The creature then headed upstream and was fighting all the way. Then the Bigbird just climbed out of the river onto a sandbar across the river, took the hook out of its mouth and climbed a tree as James started shooting at it with a pistol from his tackle box. The bird just flew away. Sometimes there were even more varied sightings than normal, that is if we can describe any of this as normal.

Near New Hazelton, Prince Rupert County, British Columbia, Canada. 1958. Two women saw a Bigfoot crossing the road in front of their car.

On 3rd January 1959 at 1.30 pm two men independently reported seeing two strange objects in the sky over Adelaide in South Australia. The objects were described as a six foot long cigar giving off a red glow and the other was a six foot square box shaped object that was spinning and shining brightly.

On 7th January 1959 at 3.30 pm a sausage shaped silvery object was seen at Port Pirie in South Australia by two youths who saw the object in the western sky heading over Spencer Gulf at one hundred miles per hour.

Risdon, near Hobart, Tasmania. Australia. 8th January 1959. 9.20 am. The day after Adelaide two Hydroelectricity employees saw a three metre object vanish between some buildings. At the same time three other objects were seen in the sky. A fourth one like an inverted skittle with a ball on the end of the handle eventually appeared and then dived into the Derwent River. They like crashing into the water.

Lake Pymatuning, Greenville, Mercer County, Pennsylvania. 13th January 1959. Tuesday. 7.00 am. Mr Robert Collins, a truckdriver was on the spillway road over the lake when he thought that he saw the emergency lights of an aircraft heading for straight down for the lake which was ice covered at the time. The truck slowed down for better look as the lights approached the road from the east. It resembled one bright light like an arc that then hovered over the truck for three to four minutes. The trucks whole electrical system then died, the radio turned itself off and the engine died. The area for 100 yards around was bathed in brilliant light from an object hovering 2,000 feet up. As soon as the craft shot out of sight the trucks engine roared back into life, the radio turned itself on and everything electrically-speaking returned to normal. Though this object did not descend into the water though it appeared that it could have.

Above Sydney, New South Wales in Australia, on 24th January 1959 at 11.30 am Ken Armstrong and George Montgomery saw a cigar shaped object metallic object glistening in the sun. The object was stationary in the sky for five minutes and then turned at rightangles and flashed away at terrific speed without making any noise. The sky was cloudless. Three mysterious explosions were reported to have occurred in the air above the city just prior to the sighting.

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. 31st January 1959. Mr Jack Larber , a patient in a home, was given a glass of milk. Five minutes later someone looked into his room and found that Jack was covered in blue flames. He neither smoked nor carried matches. Milk may be hazardous to your health.

On 2nd February 1959 ten well trained mountaineers led by Igor Dyatlov went on an expedition to the Otorten Mountains to climb Kholat Syakhel, the “Mountain of the Dead” according to the Mansi natives in this area of the northern Ural Mountains in Russia. The team had set off from Yekaterinaburg in Sverdlovsk in the eastern Urals. Allegedly this was a place where spirits congregated. A search and rescue team discovered the bodies of the team, one of which had died of exposure whilst the other nine had died from unknown injuries and were an unnatural orange colour. Their clothing was radioactive and the surrounding tree branches were scorched. The strange orange colour was attributed to an unknown type of radiation. The police were informed by the locals at the time that fiery but noiseless spheres were seen hovering over the mountain.

Gdynia, Gdansk, Poland, Baltic Sea. 21st February 1959. Saturday. A radiant object was seen to fall into the port area. The excavations of it were hindered by a thick layer of mud. After a while a piece of metal was found with no traces of rust on it at all in the exact spot the object fell.Rumour had it that several days later a Hominoid was found wounded next to the water and that the Hominoid died in Hospital after a strange armband was removed. The Hominoid was internally different to humans. Was the armband a life support system? Was the Hominoid a red herring? Sightings and rumours, smoke and mirrors. Which is real?

Cedar City, Iron County, Utah. 28th February 1959. 8.00 pm. Private First Class Garry Irwin was driving from Nampa, Idaho to Fort Bliss, El Paso, Texas. He first thought that he saw a plane crashing nearby and wrote a note stating “Have gone to investigate possible plane crash. Please call Law Enforcement Officers” and put it on the steering wheel of the car. He then wrote “Stop” in shoe polish on the side of the car. Gary was found at 10.00 pm that night unconscious on ground and there was no trace of a plane crash. Gary was hysterical and when he was checked out his respiration and temperature were normal. He could not be awakened and his jacket was missing. He woke on March 2, asking “Were there any survivors?”. He was flown back to Fort Bliss Hospital for four days and then returned to duty. His security clearance was revoked. Several days later he fainted in camp and then fainted again on Sunday. 15th March in El Paso. He woke on Monday asking “Were there any survivors?” and was told that it was now March 16 and not 28th February .He remained in the Military Hospital for one month and discharged on 17th April. The next day he left Fort Bliss without leave, caught a bus to El Paso and arrived in Cedar City on Sunday, 19th April . He then went back to the hills where his jacket was still lying on a bush. There was a pencil in the buttonhole with a piece of paper tightly wrapped around it. Gary burned it and it was as if he had come out of a trance. He did not know why he had come there and turned himself into the Sheriff who gave him details of the first instance. On 1st August Irwin disappeared off the face of the Earth and was never seen again. The sightings can indeed have very odd effects on people.

Cincinatti, Hamilton County, Ohio. February 1959. A Hairy Hominoid was seen in and around the Ohio River. It is like a great carnival. See the Hairy Hominoids and the incredible flying discs. What other wonders are there to behold?

Cincinatti, Hamilton County, Ohio. February 1959. A trucker saw a great hulking creature climb up out of the Ohio River on a colkd windy night. There were several sightings of Hairy Hominoids in and around the Ohio River.

Covington, Kenton County, Kentucky, just across the Ohio River from Cincinatti. Sometime in February 1959 a motorist saw a large two legged creature on a bridge.

Umiat, Alaska. February 1959. Trappers saw a disc shaped craft that was moving up and down, nearly touching the ground, and which then circled and flew away.

Digeliotica Aigion, Akhaia, Greece, Patra. February 1959. 9.20 pm. Many villagers heard a humming noise as a luminous disc was seen circling the town of Digeliotica Aigion for ten minutes. The disc then flew towards Agiou Apostolou.

Agiou Apostolou, Akhaia, Greece, Patra. February 1959. 9.30 pm . Papa Costas, the local Priest and the villagers heard a humming noise from a luminous disc which had been circling the nearby town of Digeliotica Aigion for ten minutes. The disc then flew towards Agiou Apostolou. The roof of Father Costas' house was struck by it and a mass of tiles fell down. The Priest thought it was an earthquake. At the same time all the radios in the village died as well as the electricity in one house. There are very sophisticated hovering andflying UFOs as well as incredibly unco-ordinated clumsy and accident-prone UFOs.

Purnong Landing, South Australia. 12th March 1959. A young boy was preparing for bed when he saw a man that was two metres tall, crimson faced and wearing a jacket and trousers with white trimmings, standing by his bedroom door. An Intergalactic pervert?

Purnong Landing, South Australia. 13th March 1959. 2.10 am. On cresting a hill two men, Mr Towill and Mr Briggs in a truck, came upon a dome illuminated by coloured lights. In the headlights it was ten metres wide and making a regular sequence of colour changes. When the craft was only 100 metres away the men stopped the truck. The lights on the craft went out as the men got closer and suddenly the UFO took off at an angle of 45 degrees and was seen for twenty minutes in the Southern sky before vanishing. Was the appearence of the flying craft and the lone Hominoid in the doorway purely coincidental or related?

Purnong Landing, South Australia. 13th March 1959. Some nurses had seen a coloured dome like object in the sky.

Over Willoughby in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia at 9.30 pm on 15th March 1959 Mr. W. Dietz and his wife saw two very bright orange lights in the sky that remained stationary for three minutes then in two seconds the northernmost one moved straight across and stopped vertically over the second light. After two more minutes an orange glow came through the cloudbank and a third light took up position above the other two and then a fourth one did the same thing above the third. The lights remained like this for two minutes when light number three blacked out for a few seconds. After a few more minutes light number one moved south and disappeared behind cliffs followed by nuber 2, three and four at regular intervals at intervals of one quarter of a second.

Between Inchnacardoch and Glendoe, Loch Ness. Highland. Scotland. 22nd March 1959. Mr Dennis Tucker, a lecturer at Oxford University, saw a large hump travelling across flat calm water. He thought it was a Plesiosaur. So do many others. But it could be a giant Amoeba as well.

Adelaide, South Australia. 23rd March 1959. Two men saw strange object first in the sky and then on the ground. This was ten days after Purnong Landing. Previously there had been a sighting by Sir Charles Todd of the Adelaide Observatory in 1902 of a large Fireball here that took four minutes to cross the sky. This is very slow for a normal aerial object.

Mansfield, Richland County, Ohio. Charles Mill Reservoir. 28th March 1959. Michael Lane, Wayne Armstrong and Denny Patterson, teenagers, saw a strange creature rear up at them off the ground directly in front of them. It had glowing green eyes and no arms were visible. The creature left strange tracks at the site. How do you rear without raising your arms? There had been a Hairy Hominoid report from near here at Gallipolis in 1869. In 1909 and 1916 there were numerous UFO reports. All these and more would return as the years went by. Why the big gaps though?

Port Elliot, South Australia. 31st March 1959. 11.30 pm. Barry Neale,15, was driving home from Goolwa. On the ground 100 metres off the road he saw a glowing reddish orange object with row of portholes. The object illuminated the trees and was two metres wide. Barry got to within 300 metres of it and drove around a wooded area in time to see it take off at high speed. South Australia was quite busy early that year.

So was Poland. Kolobrzeg, Szczecin, Stettin, Poland. March 1959. The sea became agitated and a machine resembling a cube four metres in size rose out of it. The cube was described as triangular though and it buzzed the town and flew around in circles and flew off at great speed. Why not flying cubes? How is a cube a triangle though?

Lawrence Hopkins saw a strong smelling Bigfoot in the brush on Aristazabal Island in British Columbia during March 1959.

North Seattle, King County, Washington State. 1st April 1959. 7.00 pm. A series of mysterious explosions had shaken the area. There were independent witnesses of UFOs in the same area as well. Whoever heard of explosive sounds and strange lights during an Earthquake?

Seattle, King County, Washington State. 1st April 1959. 7.20 pm. UFO. The entire City area was shaken by a mysterious explosion. Some damage was reported and there were independent witnesses of UFOs in the area.

Graham, Pierce County, Washington State. 1st April 1959. 7.45 pm. Mr and Mrs Sam Snyder and a guest saw a brilliant glow through the timber in the direction of Orting. The glow was followed by another flash. There were independent witnesses of UFOs in the same area.

Orting, Pierce County, Washington State. 1st April 1959. Wednesday. 8.19 pm. A C-118 transport plane from McChord Air Force Base radioed “We have hit something " or “Something has hit us!”. The plane crashed near Rhodes Lake. Witnesses saw two glowing lights following the plane which was shredded beyond belief and seemed to have been slammed straight down as if it had been thrown. Earthquakes and lights in the sky at the same time as a mysterious plane crash where the plane was actually shredded? We have met this shredding before and it could be accountable by Micrometeorite bombardment. Over Pixley, California, on 22nd July 1953, at 119W35N, a twin-engined Convair plane was struck by an invisible. The tail section and elevator control sections were shredded completely and only 5/8 of the plane was left.

Seattle, King County, Washington State. 1st April 1959. 10.00 pm. The entire City area was shaken by a mysterious explosion. There was some damage reported and there were independent witnesses of UFOs in the area. But does the impact of Micrometeorites cause earthquake like sensations? Generally not. Are the Micrometeorites only physical expressions of a larger blast field or energy field that accompanies them or that they accompany? Are they remnants of an explosion that continues travelling through Space unhindered long after it has occurred until it meets something in its path? Why do only clouds colliding cause lightning, though we now know that lightning is also seen rising up from the ground, why then cannot different pressure masses cause explosive sounds and lights as they collide? This is after all how sound travel works!

Woodlands, near Invercargill, New Zealand. 11th April 1959. Two businessmen saw a forty foot long object hovering above the woods. There was a balloonshaped affair on the underside and it was twelve miles out of town and glowed brilliantly as the witnesses approached in a car before it took off in a northerly direction.Ho-hum.

At 11.30 pm on 12th April 1959 a fifteen foot long object with lights shining from eight or nine portholes was seen rapidly rising into the sky at Goolwa in South Australia. The rising object was seen near Graham's Castle by Mr. B. Neale who was driving home to Goolwa. The object rose at an angle of forty-five degrees towards Hindmarsh Island.

Svendborg, Denmark. 15th April 1959. A man on a bicycle saw a disc shaped hovering UFO. It was luminous and seemingly made of glass and was spinning at ground level and chased the witness at a height of twenty feet. Some of our visitors aren't very friendly at all but if it were serious I'm sure that it would have caught him if it had intentions to! Maybe it is a bit like a Whirlwind or Vortex Wind wherein it may appear to be chasing us but in fact it is not sentient and it is merely incidental that we may end up in its path. Lots of theories. Lots of Questions.

Piata, Bahia, Brazil. 24th April 1959. Friday. Senor Helio Aguir saw a silver disc with a number of windows on top of it He photographed it and as he was doing this he then began to feel a pressure in his brain and became confused and blacked out. When he woke from his faint he was holding a piece of paper in his hand. In his own writing, which he had no recall of doing, was written "Put an absolute stop to all atomic tests for warlike purposes. The balance of the Universe is threatened. We shall remain vigilant and ready to intervene". The photos showed markings on the underside of the craft. Epileptic seizure? Divine rapture? Direct communion with God? Schizophrenia? All of the above?

Grassy Plains, British Columbia, Canada. 360 miles north of Vancouver. 29th April 1959. Mr Alex Gillis and Mr Jerry Monitham saw an eggshaped UFO on the road. It was 14 feet long and the upper part radiated a bright light. After few minutes object silently took off. Boring.

At 7.30 pm on 29th April 1959 a saucerlike object with a row of flashing lights was photographed in the western sky by Mr. R. Lightfoot of Blackwood Park in South Australia. The main body appeared to be spinning but the row of lights was steady and had been watched by his wife as well for two and a half minutes in the eastern horizon before it rose vertically and disappeared. It was a spinning saucer shaped object with a row of steady lights and was seen for two and a half minutes. It rose vertically and vanished. A ten second time exposure photograph was taken as well. South Australia is still very popular.

Woodburn, New South Wales. Australia. April 1959. There was a fall of fish here. Still boring. Its only the selective whirlwind again. Winds again?

Rockford, Winnebago County, Illinois. April 1959. Spring. Ricky B. Pruitt, four months old was found consumed by fire in his crib. He died of severe burns and had obviously been cremated there yet the crib itself showed no signs of fire or scorchmarks. Nor did the bedding. Yet the body could not have been moved to the crib after cremation elsewhere or it would have been unable to reconstruct in the new site and would appear obviously tampered with. Funny how so often the Fire from Heaven does so little or no damage to everything around it.

Bluff Creek, Humboldt County, California. April 1959. A Husband and wife in a Private plane spotted great tracks in the snow and followed them. Eventually they saw an enormous Hominoid covered in brown hair that was making the tracks. They were experienced woodspersons and it war no Bear, Ma!

Rocky Hill, Saint Louis County, Missouri. 15th May 1959. Mr Wallace Baker saw an eighteen inch length of chain fall from out of a clear and empty sky onto the bulldozer that he was driving. Mr Baker looked up and saw a vague something streaking away high in the sky. The chain was very hot and made his gloves sizzle when he picked it up. The thirteen links were white hot. Do we get much chain hanging off aeroplanes? I believe not.

Cooktown, Queensland. Australia. 17th May 1959. 4.30 am. Three men crocodile hunting heard a piercing humming noise and then saw a huge circular object at tree top height one hundred metres away. The object was fifty metres across and football shaped with a band of half Moon shaped windows on it. The craft was issuing some sort of vapour and two of the men stood up to observe it. The sighting lasted twenty minutes before it took off in a semi-circle and then rose slowly and vanished at high speed. Later one witness allegedly suffered severe physical defects and another, who had stood up during the sighting, died. The other man who had stood up suffered loss of use of his legs, severe headaches, sporadic loss of vision, speech deterioration. Its not nice at times. Exposure to illusion or to extremely strong electromagnetic or radiation waves?

Tres Lomas, La Pampa, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 20th May 1959. Two men out hunting saw a disc on the ground only 150 metres away from them. It had an aluminium looking body with a silvery sheen and was 2.5 metres tall with a dome on top that had a radius of one metre. Afterwards the grass was found flattened at the landing site. ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ.

Columbia Station, Lorain County, Ohio. May 1959. 8.00 pm. A giant cat was seen that had a large head and a huge light brown body. The cat ripped six sheep to pieces on the property of Mrs Iva Witteman. The missing sheep had made no sound at all during the attack and the witness's husband and friends were in the house only 250 yards away. Haven't we met giant cats around here before?

On 29th May 1959 two youths saw four yellow lights travelling parallel to the horizon for ten seconds over the sea at Port Elliot in South Australia.

On 31st May 1959 a bright red object with a tapering tail was seen moving from west to east at an elevation of twenty-five degrees in the southern sky over Adelaide in South Australia by Mr. G. Priest. There were several reports of this object sent to radio stations.

Lorain County, Ohio. May 1959. A giant cat with a large head and a huge light brown body killed dogs, cats and sheep. The cat is back.

On 20th June 1959 another hovering luminous object appeared over Adelaide in South Australia between 5.15 pm and 5.20 pm. It resembled a cluster of three lights with an illuminated tail. It was also described as a greenish light with a tail and white lights around it. This same cluster of lights was seen across the state until 10.30 pm.

Two days later on 22nd June 1959 another bright object was seen in the sky over Moonta in South Australia for three quarters of an hour in the western sky. The light changed colour from bright white to an orange colour before disappearing at 8.45 pm. Other described it as a bright orange about five inches across with a white light on top of it.

Boianai, Papua-Nuigini. 26th June 1959. Friday. 6.45 pm. Reverend William B. Gill, a Missionary, and students at the Mission School. The crowd, 38 in total, who were on the ground saw a disc appear and hover nearby at an altitude of 300 feet.The craft was circular with legs under it and portholes in the sides. A blue light shone upwards from it at an angle of 45 degrees. There were four beings on the top of it who seemed friendly and waved peacefully at the onlookers. Sometimes only one, two or three Hominoids were visible. A Halo outlined them though they seemed to be illuminated themselves. There was also a smaller erratic object alongside the larger craft that moved sometimes quick and sometimes slow. This appeared to be a friendly visit as there were no ill effects.

Boianai, Papua-Nuigini. 27th June 1959. Saturday. 6.00 pm. The UFO of the previous night's sighting had returned and was first seen by Annie Laurie Borewa, a medical assistant who called Reverend William B. Gill over to see. Several dozen other mission people came as well. The four Hominoids again appeared on the rim of the ship and two of the Hominoids were bending over and appeared to be doing something. A third Hominoid was standing as if on guard. Two smaller craft appeared. One hovered over the hills and the other one overhead.Reverend Gill then stretched his hand above his head and waved. The Hominoids waved back. Again there was contact. Ananias Rarata, a Teacher, then waved both hands. The waving continued. When it became really dark Reverend Gill sent for a torch and directed a series of long dashes toward the ship. After a while the saucer acknowledged by making several wavering motions back and forth before the craft then left. The UFOs are light sensitive Are they still illusions though for it seems beyond belief that illusions can be shared? From our research illusions might be quite shareable. Was it a light source responding to another light source and a movement source responding to another movement source? Are some of these reactions automatic rather than intentional?Were the craft aware of the observers or the lightsource or both?

Rio Pardo, Matto Grosso, Brazil . June 1959. Three crocodile Hunters were hunting crocodiles at night in a boat when suddenly a large circular object appeared hovering over the opposite bank. A long tube protruded from it and pointed in the Hunters direction. The tube came from the centre of the underportion.All three Hunters felt that they were being watched. The most unusual thing that the Hunters can recall though is that the jungle became dead quiet for the duration of the event. This was totally unnerving to them as it was unnatural in the extreme for all the noise to be completely blotted out. As they say, the silence was deafening.

Lorain County, Ohio. June 1959. A giant cat with a large head and a huge light brown body killed dogs, cats and sheep. The cat is back.

Some time in June 1959 between Weed and Macdoel in Siskyou County in California, a parked witness heard a walking noise and turned on his lights to see a bigfoot.

Burren Junction, New South Wales. Australia. 7th July 1959. 7.00 am. Two local lads reported seeing a grey object shaped like a triangle with a dome on top sitting on the side of the road. At first they thought that it was a big grey cattle float but became frightened when the dome on top vanished followed by the bottom as if by magic. Now you see them, now you don't! Not the first time for this either.Was the grey craft meant to be seen in the first place?

Burren Junction, New South Wales. Australia. 7th July 1959. 9.30 pm. A Police Constable who was patrolling a stock route twelve miles due southsoutheast of town noticed a bright red object hovering over the trees at close range. The red object travelled very slowly and was reddish on top and from the bottom shone a very bright blood red light which came out in a cone shape. The craft was moving over the trees, backward and forward and sideways in a slow manner for fifteen minutes. Was this just coincidental with the morning's sighting?

At 6.30 pm on 8th July 1959 Dr A. Quayle, Dr C. Renou, Mr J. Horn and Mr Green saw a disc about half the size of the full moon near Karumba on the Gulf of Carpentaria in North Queensland in Australia. The object was a mixture of red, yellow and green with an exhaust-like tail and was travelling at an altitude of 2,000 feet travelling faster than a jetfighter.

One hour later at 7.30 pm on 8th July 1959 the same aerial object that was seen over Karumba was seen over Prince of Wales Island off Queensland in Australia crossing the sky at fantastic speed and causing the native witnesses to run for their lives.

Blenheim, Marlborough, New Zealand. 13th July 1959. Monday. Mrs Eileen Frederick Moreland was on her way to do the morning milking and noticed that there was a green light amongst the clouds though there was no Moon. She then saw two rapidly descending green lights which bathed her in a horrid green colour as they swooped her. Mrs Moreland made a dive for a stand of pines to get away from the saucer shaped glow with two green lights in its bottom. The air became warm and two rows of jets around the middle of the craft shot out multicoloured orange-green flames that revolved in opposite directions. The craft was twenty to thirty feet in diameter and a light came on in the transparent dome. The bottom of the machine was greyish and overall it was a flattish cylindrical objectAs it hovered twenty to thirty feet above the ground there was a faint hum that became a loud humming noise. Two beings were standing in the dome wearing close fitting shiny coveralls and opaque helmets which fitted on their shoulders. They also wore skintight metallic suits with large silver helmets. One looked down and the jets started again and the UFO shot up vertically and vanished whilst it made a highpitched whine. There was a smell like pepper in the air. Mrs Moreland then went off and did the milking. Several days after the encounter her hands began to swell and get puffy. Her wedding ring was painfully tight and had to be cut off. The swelling gradually subsided. Brown pigmented areas also developed on her face. These persisted for some time and the last blotch over her right eyebrow washed off six years later. A row of fruit trees that were under where the craft had hovered died and had to be pulled out. Dead fruit trees? Swelling hands? Brown pigmentation on the witness's face? Are we talking exposure to massive electromagnetic forces? Previously there had been sightings of strange Airships over D'Urville Island on July 24,1909, 2nd August that same year as there were at Blenheim and Nelson that same day and Marlborough a few days later also in 1909.

Prince of Wales Island, Queensland, Australia. 14th July 1959. Several Hunters saw a landed UFO. Others saw a similar object. This was the day after New Zealand.

Lismore, New South Wales. Australia. 17th July 1959. There was a fall of fish from the sky. Lismore is quite a fair way inland as well. I suppose that not everything might be connected.

Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 17th July 1959. Friday. Mr and Mrs R. Miller, the Editor of the "Vernon Advertiser" and Mr and Mrs Pat Martin and their son Murray Martin were cruising in their boat at ten miles per hour when they saw Ogopogo cruising past even faster. Ogopogo had a snakelike head and five humps and a blunt nose like a snake and was a large creature of a dark green colour. The head was nine inches above the water and the witnesses watched the Lakemonster through fieldglasses after spotting it 250 feet behind in the wake of the boat. Ogopogo came within 175 feet of the witnesses. Some datings of Phenomenal sightings might merely be coincidental. Or they might not be if you allow for the hypothesis on periodicity of Phenomena both in time as well as in Space.

Over Woomera in South Australia just before 10.30 pm on 20th July 1959 a UFO was seen hurtling across the sky over the Woomera Rocket Range.

That same day 20th July 1959 at 10.30 pm four strange luminous objects appeared over Broken Hill in New South Wales in Australia. This was shortly after the Woomera sighting.

Salta, Salta Province, Argentina. 22nd July 1959. Wednesday. Whilst there was a UFO seen in the sky a blackout occurred. Summer might merely be busier though because more people are outside. If that is the case then should we exponentially enlarge the number of sightings for the rest of the year if the Summer sightings are in reality the closer to actual sightings due to the greater availability of witnesses out for longer in the much longer days? We also might have to allow for witness misinterpretation of the Taurid Meteor Shower that occurs twice a year, between the 24th of June and the 6th of July And later in the year between the 3rd and the 15th of November We have already discussed various theories concerning the Taurids. There are also other regular Meteor showers that collide with the Earth's Atmosphere, and occasionally with its surface. Do we have invisible to the human eye energy showers arriving and then departing at the same times?

Tenmile, Douglas County, Oregon. Near Roseburg. 24th July 1959. Friday. Two boys, Wayne Johnson, twelve , and Walter Stork, 17, saw a 14 foot tall Hairy Hominoid that walked upright and had human characteristics near a saw mill. The same two boys saw it again on Wednesday. July 29.

Tenmile, Douglas County, Oregon, near Roseburg. 29th July 1959. Wednesday. Two boys, Johnson and Stork from the previous sighting, saw a 14 foot tall Hairy Hominoid that walked upright and had Human characteristics. The same two boys had already seen it the previous Friday. During the second sighting Walter fired five shots at it with a 30.06 gun from fifty yards as it approached them, though occasionally falling forwards onto its knuckles. Later it ran off screaming like a cat. This was not a bear and left 11.5 inch long Human like tracks that were eight inches wide. Now you see him and now you don't. Never again! Especially if you are going to keep shooting at him every time he makes an appearence. I would lay low too.

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. Summer. July 1959. Skyblasts occurred over a three day period over San Francisco as well as at Roswell, New Mexico and Amarillo, Texas. Invisible explosions occurring in the sky but resonating down to Earth? Coming from our dimension where the sources cannot be seen in our dimension or coming from another dimension still invisible but momentarily sending shockwaves to us? From San Francisco to Roswell to Portales to Amarillo and to Pampa the invisible aerial explosions kept occurring. What was I saying about invisible energy forms that travel with regular meteor showers?

Roswell, Chaves County, New Mexico. July 1959. Summer. Skyblasts occurred over three day period. Same time as San Francisco and Amarillo.

Portales, Roosevelt County, New Mexico. July 1959. A series of severe explosions rocked the area. They originated in the sky.

Amarillo, Potter County, Texas. July 1959. Skyquakes shook area. Same time as Roswell and San Francisco.

Pampa, Gray County, Texas. July 1959. Skyquakes shook the area though were not registered on any seismograph. The blasts were so strong that they cracked the wall of one building in downtown. Pampa is 55 miles from Amarillo.

And on to Henderson, Warren County, North Carolina. July 1959. Summer. This was after San Francisco. There were two unexplained detonations in a 29 hour period over Henderson in North Carolina? This rules out the incidence of the Skyquakes in a straight line stretching from San Francisco in California to Pampa in Texas. We have a cuckoo in the nest. Henderson is not on the straight line though the others are.

Townsville Airport, Queensland, Australia. July 1959. Fish up to ten centimetres long were found on the tarmac of Townsville Airport after a storm. More Australian fish.

Hundreds of witnesses saw a bright light with a tail sweeping low over Sydney in New South Wales in Australia on the night of 1st August 1959. The light was seen as bright white, blue and red and some witnesses saw red sparks coming from it which seemed to have eight jets. The UFO was travelling faster than any aircraft of the time.

Uberlandia, Minas Gerais, Brazil . 17th August 1959. Monday. All of the City witnesses a massive UFO that was seen hovering over the city for the exact duration of a blackout of the entire city. Four keys at the Power Station that were designed to automatically turn, and not manually, had been turned cutting off the power to all of the trunk lines. There was nothing wrong with the instruments as they all worked after the UFO left. At first the personnel at the substation rang the Chief Engineer at the main Station 45 miles away. He personally switched on the automatic keys by flipping two. Nothing happened! They turned off again. At that same moment there were shouts outside the building. The Power Station was on a hill above a valley and the whole valley was illuminated by an eerie glow coming from a bright circular object in the sky. The Engineer at the substation who rang said that a Flying Saucer was heading in the direction of the main Power Station. The UFO was following the trunkline from that particular trunkstation.The craft made no noise and vanished over the horizon. The keys then automatically turned themselves on. The entire incident lasted two minutes and the speed of the object was assumed to be 1500 Miles per Hour considering that the trunkstation was 45 miles away and the time travelled was two minutes. Was the UFO investigating the power system or was it an infrequently sighted byproduct of it? A large example of ball lightning drawing power out of the system? Maybe some of our UFOs only respond to electromagnetic sources and /or movement and are oblivious to other things?

An eighteen inch long alligator was seen in Fall Creek, Indianapolis, Marion County, Indiana before 10th September 1959.

Isle of Soay, Hebrides, Scotland. 13th September 1959. Tex Geddes, a Fisherman, and James Gavin, an Engineer, were fishing for Mackarel when they saw a Seamonster 60 feet from their boat. The creature had come up to breathe and had a Tortoise-head and a humped back with a jagged serrated appearence like the teeth of a saw. Inside the mouth was a reddish two foot wide gash and there were no teeth though it appeared to have lips. There were large flaps of flesh hanging down the inside of the mouth which was in a head two feet six inches high with protruding eyes. There was eight to ten feet of Seamonster visible with a serrated ridge on it and it was seen for five minutes before it dived and came up a quarter mile away. It looked like a giant turtle and was also seen by lobster Fishermen in the area. The giant turtle has been seen in this area since 1808 when it was first reported.

Isle of Soay, Scotland. 13th September 1959. Lobster Fishermen saw a Seamonster with a Tortoisehead, a humped back with a jagged serrated appearence like the teeth of a saw. Reddish inside of mouth. No teeth. Large flaps of flesh hanging down inside of mouth. Looked like giant turtle. This was merely an infrequent visitor?

Isle of Soay, Hebrides, Scotland. 1959. Two men in a dinghy saw a loud breathing reptilian head suddenly appear above the water. The head was 2.5 feet high and perched atop a neck like a mast that was eight to ten feet high. The creature had a large gash for a mouth and no nose and the mouth seemed to cut the head in half. It also had distinct lips and a scaly body. The head was a darker colour and the top of the back was covered with a saw toothed ridge. There were no teeth visible in the mouth. It was watching the two men in the dinghy. A return visit or the same visit reported from a different source?

Redmond, Deschutes County, Oregon. Before 24th September 1959. Police Officer Robert Dickerson who was surveying the edge of town saw a glowing disc drop from the sky and then level out at a 200 feet altitude. It was a clear disc shape and it passed Redmond Airport, stopped and then hovered over the Airfield. Dickerson reported it to the Airfield Authorities and several Federal Aviation officials watched the disc for several minutes. Aerial visitors or unknown rare electromagnetic Phenomena misinterpreted?

Redmond, Deschutes County, Oregon. 24th September 1959. Thursday. Many witnesses saw Jets intercepting a large disc that was seen covered with tongues of flame. The intercepting jets dived towards it but suddenly a fiery exhaust shot out from the bottom of the disc and the disc shot straight up and vanished over 14,000 feet almost crashing into the jets in the process. How does an electromagnetic field know if it is being approached? Is it a similar Phenomenon to that of magnetic poles moving away from each other or is it the intelligent use of electromagnetic fields as forms of transport ?

Knoxville, Knox County, Tennessee. 24th September 1959. Thursday. Mr Earl Taylor and Mr John Rosenbaum, on Clapps Chapel Road. An eight to ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid came up to the window in the front porch of Mr Taylor’s house. Mr Rosenbaum helped Mr Taylor in fighting it off. After this they heard distinct Thumps on Mr Taylor's car and later found two long scratchings on the car hood. These could have only been caused by it. It has never been seen in the area before and then it disappears forever. Is this unusual or not?

East Indian Archipeligo. 28th September 1959. The ship S. S. "Stanvac Bangkok" saw white caps on the sea here and there though the wind had not freshened up. Flashing beams of light then appeared over the water and the Officer on the watch thought that fishing boats were using a powerful searchlight. The beams of light became more intense and were parallel,8 feet wide and coming from the right at half second intervals. There was a swishing noise as they passed and at height appeared as if huge seas were dashing towards the ship. The Seas were calm though. And what do we make of Lightwheels? Are they electromagnetic resonating waves that occur at the surface of the sea?

Buffalo, Leon County, Texas. 29th September 1959. Tuesday. Major R.D. Braswell, AF, the Pilot of a C-47 plane heading for Lufkin, Texas, at 6,500 feet as well as hundreds of others saw a flying fire like an atomic cloud in the sky at an altitude of 15,000 feet. An object emerged from this cloud and there was a sudden flash of bright light. The object was a Braniff Airways Lockheed Electra Airliner with a crew of six and 28 passengers on board which disintegrated completely into thousands of pieces which made an eerie whistling sound as they plummeted to the ground. There were no indications of a fire or a bomb and the pieces showed evidence that they had been exposed to great heat. There were many witnesses of the UFO and at the instant of the explosion every dog for miles around Buffalo started howling. The crash occurred 68 miles southeast of Waco and the Pilot witness stated that it was like a small atomic bomb going off at 15,000 feet. Was the airliner shredded? The report does not say but it was disintegrated. We have had shredded planes before. Was it related to the Redmond, Oregon sighting only a few days before? Were we under electromagnetic bombardment or an unknown type of energy pulse bombardment that could well be cyclical and indeed capable of answering many of our unanswered questions?

Sandbank, near Dunoon, Strathclyde, Scotland. September 1959. Black and white and round and silent UFOs with tapered points at their bottoms swooped down very low, at telegraph pole height, over two girls. The UFOs were following and diving at Patricia Murchison,14, and Linda McCullough 13th ,who stopped a car on the road driven by Mr Henry English with his wife who also saw the UFOs when they got out. The two UFOs made no noise and went round and round.The girls were hysterical and frightened. There are all types of them. We just don't know what they are even though we see them everywhere.

Euramo. Queensland. Australia. September 1959. Mr Max Mencel reported that whilst driving a tractor he saw a brilliant large conical object ten metres long hovering just above the cane tops. Its vivid red colour and orange coloured lights illuminated a nearby house.

Hidden Lake, east of Enderby, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. September 1959. A seven to nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen by Mrs Bellevue who had been collecting wood at dusk. The six foot tall Bigfoot ahd been watching her. We are not even sure what these are or where they in fact come from as well.

Glen Ora, British Columbia, Canada. 5th October 1959. Monday. An object like a brilliant light was hovering above a girl and illuminating her and her horse. She rushed home for her father who observed her with the brilliant light which seemed to be an orange object producing a high, loud noise that was painful to the ears. We have many reports at many sensory levels from sight to hearing to smell.

On 13th October 1959 a building was struck by a falling meteorite in Hamlet in La Porte County in Indiana.

On 20th October 1959 many residents of Oodnadatta and outlying areas in South Australia around 10.10 pm saw an aerial object with a fiery reddish tail and a long yellow flame coming from its head travelling from the south to the north. It made an incredible roaring noise was was visible for half a minute before it suddenly exploded in the sky. There were some reports of two explosions three minutes after it burst into a brilliant yellow-orange light.

Two days later on the night of 22nd October 1959 there was a flood of calls to radio stations and newspaper offices from Adelaide in South Australia concerning an aerial object covered in red and green flashing lights an flying at terrific speed and did not even slow down when it abruptly changed course.

The same object was seen again the following night on 23rd October 1959 over Adelaide and was described as a large white light with a smaller red light on top.

Cumberland, Allegheny County, Maryland. 25th October 1959. Sunday. Two brothers and the younger brothers Fiancee were in a car which suddenly stopped for no apparent reason. The lights, radio and engine died. Overhead there was a bluish green humming object that resembled a Mercury light. It seemed to be a circular metal disc and a humming vibrating noise was heard as soon as the car died. After a while the UFO flew up at a 90 degree angle and the car came back to life. The UFO flew away edge on. Another visitor? They even effect our machinery?

On 28th October 1959 a brilliant white light the size of the moon was seen over Parndana on Kangaroo Island in South Australia around 4.10 pm. This light faded over half an hour as it moved eastwards and was so bright at first that it was visible through clouds.

Mariannelund, Smaland, Jonkoping, Sweden. near end October 1959. 6.55 pm. During a blackout Mr Gideon Johannson, an electrical fitter, and his son Mr Rolf Johannson,25, saw a blinding light crash into the top of a Maple tree. They initially thought that it was a helicopter. Gideon had originally run out to check on a blackout. There was a crackling sound an they saw a UFO hovering half a metre above the street level. The craft had a transparent dome and there were two Hominoids inside with high crowned heads, big eyes and long thin noses with small nostrils. They seemed friendly and also had small mouths, pointed chins and small lower jaws. They wore white uniforms with belts crossed over their shoulders and were the size of 14 year old boys. One Hominoid was working on an instrument panel. Gideon waved and smiled and the other Hominoid stared at him for a few seconds as the craft floated away. The witnesses were only thirty feet from it. Then the interior lights blinked out while the UFO stopped for a second and then vanished in a flash. The witness felt the air pressure return to the vacuum where the craft had been. Later one kilometre south of the town glassy deposits were found hanging off powerlines. They extended for ten feet and seemed to have greyish powder stuck on top of them. Gideon later felt terrible prickling pains from his waist down and was nervous and could not sleep. His glands became sore and swollen as did his testicles and had difficulty urinating. His skin emitted a foul odour and he lost his appetite. This was all as if the witness had been exposed to a massive electromagnetic power source. Electromagnetic power sources again! Some believe that electromagnetic sources can produce all types of sensory hallucinations from visions to voices to feelings. Can they swell up your testicles? Hallucinations mightn't but very strong electromagnetic fields can.

Walnut Grove, Etowah County, Alabama. October 1959. Autumn. Several people saw an animal resembling a bear that made curious sounds at night like a woman in distress whilst it ranged up and down Walnut Creek for an area of ten miles. The creature was larger than a full grown bear and bears do not make noises like women screaming. Where had the creature been in the preceding years? Had it just appeared from nowhere like most of our Phenomena? Would it just disappear back into nowhere after its limited duration spent on Earth?

During October 1956 there were falls of Angel Hair that quickly vapourized onto Washington in Wilkes County, Sharon in Taliaferro County and Crawfordsville also in Taliaferro County in Georgia.

Monticello, San Juan County, Utah. October 1959. Deer Hunters saw a creature around four feet tall with smoky black short hair covering its body only 40 feet away. The juvenile Bigfoot then went out of sight into the sage brush. Now you have never seen them, now you do and now you don't.

Hidden Lake, Okanogan Valley, British Columbia. During Autumn 1959 Mr. and Mrs. Bellvue were camping. At dusk when Mrs. Bellvue was collecting firewood she felt as if she was being watched. Then she saw a humanlike creature six feet tall about fifty feet away. It was covered with rust coloured hair except for parts of its face, a slit for a mouth and a flat area with two holes in it for a nose. The forehead sloped back.

Shurad Mountains, near Kandahar, Afghanistan. 8th November 1959. A huge luminous object moving at great speed was seen over Kandahar and flying in northwesterly direction at a downward movement. Soon after it was seen to blow up with a loud roar on the Shurad Mountains. This caused slight earth tremors in the area. At least we know that the Talibaan did not blow it up for they were not around yet.

On the morning of 20th November 1959 two police officers near Blackwood in the Adelaide Hills in South Australia were patrolling around 4.15 am when they saw what they thought was an unusual cluster of stars and later resembled a flat object with a bubble on top. The cluster reflected moonlight and as they looked out over the city of Adelaide they saw a bright long shape with a bubble on top travelling across the face of the moon for a period of thirty seconds. Then it disappeared.

West Virginia. 26th November 1959. A Mothman or Batman landed on the front lawn of Mrs Ruth Foster that evening. The giant bird stood beside the porch and was described as having big eyes that popped out of its funny little face with no beak. Meanwhile in West Virginia something was stirring.

West Virginia. November 1959. A flying Hominoid six feet tall like Batman was seen by several individual witnesses. The big bird had big eyes and wings six to eight feet wide and had not been seen here since 1895. Ask Landy Jenkins, that's when she saw it! Where had it been for sixty-four years? The locals would eventually call it Mothman.

Wooloware Golf Course, New South Wales. Australia. November 1959. Fall of fish. 1959 was a good year for Australian fishfalls.

Orchila Island, Lesser Antilles, Caribbean Sea. Near Venezuela. 13th December 1959. A cone shaped craft giving off strange flares descended from the sky and entered the sea north of the island and left the water turbulent and brightly coloured. The witnesses were on a Swedish ship. Boring.

Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan. 13th December 1959. Sunday. Billy Peterson, aged 30, was depressed and tried to commit suicide by Carbon Monoxide inhalation. The exhaust pipe of his car was bent to go into the closed car whilst the engine was running. Stranger things happened though. The right front seat was found smouldering yet Billy was in the back and Billy's body had 3rd degree burns on the back, legs, arms and his nose, throat and lungs were seared. His clothing including his underwear was not even singed. There were even unsinged hairs sticking up through the charred flesh. The interior of the car apart from the smouldering patch on the front seat was totally unmarked or singed in any way yet the body had obviously been cremated there. Billy was not planning on being cremated. Especially in his car.

Ravenna, Buffalo County, Nebraska. 13th December 1959. A boy out hunting saw a white Bigfoot with black hands and face. Also seen same day by individual witness. Now you never see them and now you do.

Ravenna, Buffalo County, Nebraska. 13th December 1959. A white Bigfoot with black hands and face was seen. Also seen same day by boy out hunting. And then they are gone again.

Skomsvoll, Namsenfjorden, Nord-Trundelag, Norway. December 1959. 10.00 pm. Mr Lorentz Johnson was going home to Skomsvoll when he saw a cigarshape hovering at 150 feet. The craft had two windows and gave off a reddish glow and suddenly dropped two long objects into the Fjord. Another witness was across the Fjord and saw nothing strange but had heard odd splashing noises. Five years afterwards a Fisherman snagged something in the area on the bottom of the fjord. Sonar revealed an object twenty feet long at the depth of 300 feet. Divers could not reach it. Meteors do not lay eggs though.

During December 1959 there was a fall of fish onto Edmonton in Alberta in Canada. On May 7th 1967 a UFO was seen hovering over a cemetery here.

Brisbane, Queensland, Australia. 1959. Fall of fish. More Aussie fish.

Pottawatomie Indian Reserve, Pottawatomie County, Kansas. 1959. The witness saw a real hairy man standing beside a house so he drove across a ditch to escape. Another Bigfoot.

Pottawatomie Indian Reserve, Pottawatomie County, Kansas. 1959. At the same time a woman saw a wildman running into trees beside a field where she was working. The same Bigfoot?

Carroll County, Maryland. 1959. A policeman saw a Bigfoot crossing the raod and yelled out “Halt!”. At this the Bigfoot started walking towards him so he fired his gun at it but it kept coming. The policeman then drove away as fast as he could.

Emmaville, New South Wales. Australia. 1959. A large black cat like creature was seen bounding across roads. The big cat was back.

Emmaville, New South Wales. Australia. 1959. A large black cat like creature was seen by Mr Wallace E. Lewis who said that it was larger than a greyhound, jetblack with a feline head and had a long tail.

Between 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity in this area centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. Whe these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were sent to fall and sometimes inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Wind River, Washington State. 1959. A startled Deputy Sheriff of the Dalles Sheriff's Department stood transfixed as a towering hairy thing approached him through the trees as he was fishing. When it caught the witness's eye it turned and plodded away. A Hairy Hominoid had been seen here the year before.

Bahia Blanca, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 1959. A businessman in a car in front of a Hotel got into his car and started it. As he put the car into gear he was momentarily blinded and nauseated by clouds of ugly smoke that suddenly appeared from nowhere. Suddenly he found himself not in his car but standing on a dirt road near Salta, 1,000 miles away to the north. The businessman went to the Police from where he rang the Hotel that he had been staying at in Bahia Blanca. The car was still there with its engine running. Teleportation. Argentinian myths? Aren't all of these reports meant to be types of myths as well?

Seeley Lake, Missoula County, Montana. 1959. Mr. R. W. Rye, a bear Hunter, saw an eight foot tall Bigfoot in the woods but did not shoot at it. Hairy Hominoids appearing and then disappearing.

Licking River, Nicholas County, Kentucky. 1959. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. They are not just limited to the American northwest.

Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 1959. A Snakelike watermonster was seen. Hairy Hominoids, like watermonsters, even ones like Ogopogo, can be found anywhere.

Early in 1959 Ken and June Jeffcott were driving with their daughter Vicki towards Katoomba in the Blue Mountains in New South Wales in Australia. To the south of the town near the turnoff to Victoria Falls as they rounded a bend they saw a huge hairy manlike creature about three metres tall crossing the road ahead of them.

Finally in 1958 there was a report by the British anthropologist Myra Shakely of a drowned Yeti found near the southern Tibetan village of Tharbaleh near the Rongbuk Glacier. The creature was described as a small man with a pointed head and was covered with reddish-brown fur. Was it an Alpine Orang-Utan?

Between La Victoria, and El Vigia,Venezuela. January 1960. Mr Adolpho Paolini Pisani was driving a Jeep when suddenly a truck overtook the Jeep at high speed. Adolpho continued on ahead for a few minutes and later, like a bolt from the blue, a brilliant metallic disc like polished blue steel swooped out of the sky. It was incredibly fast, crossed over the front of the truck and then vanished. As the disc rose over the hood of the truck, the truck also rose. Adolpho saw the truck wheels in the air after which the truck then overturned in the direction of the object. There were only minor injuries to the driver as the truck fell into a sandbank. Was the UFO trying to catch the truck? Why didn't the UFO stop the truck like they usually do? Was it a diesel truck? There might be a difference.

Trinity Alps, Shasta County, California. January 1960. An eight foot long Salamander was allegedly caught here. Why not giant Salamanders? Are a lot of the north American crocodile reports actually of giant salamanders? Salamanders can live in colder climates, but eight foot long?

Cape Ferrat Beach, Bordeaux, Gironde, France. January 1960. A 13 foot long by ten foot wide by three foot thick creature with six flippers and thick black hair that was up to six inches long was washed up onto Cape Ferrat Beach. The carcasse was stinking so it was towed out to sea and dumped. The Globster, usually an inhabitant of Southern waters, was back.

Invermoriston, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 28th February 1960. Sunday.Mr Torquil Macleod saw a grey and black mass with paddles on the sides and a trunk or neck at the front on a slope next to the Loch. The trunk or neck was moving from side to side like a snakes head. The creature was seen for eight to nine minutes before it flopped up over the edge and back into the water. It was clearly seen through binoculars and was 45 feet long. The tail was never out of the water. Loch Ness Monster number 346 and counting. Sometimes the descriptions tally as well. A good number of sightings for something that does not exist. Then nothing in this book exists according to science anyway.

Lough Ree, Galway, Ireland, Lakemonster. February 1960. Two net Fisher-men, Mr Pat Ganley and Mr Joseph Quigly felt their net holding something huge and heavy. While trying to draw it up the net broke and the something in it got away. Was in middle of Lough where it is 60 feet deep. Must have been very strong. As strong as a horse. Number five for Lough Ree.

While digging clams on Price Island in British Columbia Mr. Joe Hopkins saw a small Bigfoot walking up the beach and into the trees. This was in February 1960.

Gulfa Nuevo, Chubut, Argentina. February 1960. Tens of thousands of witnesses. For two weeks the Argentine Navy tried to track down two unidentified submarines in the area of the Gulfa Nuevo. The area was twenty by 40 miles in size. The submarines stayed submerged and could outrun surface ships. Initially there had been only one but then a second joined it several days later effortlessly running the blockade around the first one. No nation claimed ownership of either and no power of the day had submarines that could stay underwater for two weeks. Thousands of tons of explosives were dropped onto them but to no effect. There were tens of thousands of witnesses in the international effort to try and trap the two craft. They never caught them either.

Labuttendorf, Austria. Between Leibnitz and Radkerburg. 2nd March 1960. Mr Edgar Schedelbauer saw a hovering UFO and photographed it. The UFO moved in a semicircle and resembled a spider. It gave off immense heat and made a low humming noise that suddenly changed like a deafening roar like a jet and took off. For three days after great spots appeared on Edgar’s face and hands. They did not itch or hurt. More facial blotches in connection with a UFO sighing?

Strait of Juan de Fuca, Clallam County, Washington State. 9th March 1960. Two separate truckdrivers twenty-five miles east of Port Angeles saw a large flaming object half the size of a barrel going down into the Strait. No remains were found and no planes were reported missing. This was independent of the other truckdriver report. Was it a Meteor? Prior to this there were only sightings of Caddy, the local Seamonster here, starting in 1881, then in 1912, five times in 1933, twice in 1934, once in 1941 and again in 1950. Caddy doesn't exist either.

On 17th March 1960 the people of Forster in New South Wales reported seeing an aerial object that resembled a huge pencil shaped object or a huge candlestick. Mr. A. Meillier stated that he saw a red and gold pencil shaped thing in the western sky at 6.15 pm. The object travelled south and had a three hundred yards long with a bright light at the front.

That same evening of 17th March 1960 at around the same time Miss Judith Storey of Waitara, a suburb of Sydney in New South Wales in Australia, saw a bright light like a huge candlestick moving slowly across the sky.

Lough Dubh, Suck River, near Glinsk, Galway, Ireland. March 1960. Mr Alphonsus Murray, a Teacher, and his son, also called Alphonsus Murray, were working on a bog after School. They went fishing in the evening and there was a sudden tugging of the line which then snapped. The father extracted the line when the lad screamed. The father then saw a Lakemonster and it was not a seal. The creature in the Lough had short thick legs, a Hippo like face and was as big as a cow or an Ass. It was square faced with small ears and a white pointed horn on its snout. The body wasdark grey and covered with bristles or short hair like a pig. The creature had taken the bait and attempted to mount the bank and assault the boy whose barking Spaniel had driven it away. The witnesses ran away. Coldwater Hippopotamuses? After all we have freshwater seals and Dolphins and some very odd Coldwater alligators in North America. Sorry, the first two are scientific fact, the third group are merely common but not scientifically verified.

Lacamp, Vernon County, Louisianna. 18th April 1960. Monday. Mr Arnold saw a round fiery UFO come charging in from the south at high speed. It touched the ground 300 metres from the witness with flames and a loud explosion and continued bouncing in a westward direction for 300 metres before finally rising up into the sky again and turning west and vanishing. The ground was scarred in nine places where the object had impacted with the Earth. There were also traces of an unknown type of metallic paint. Wasn't there a learners permit displayed on the craft? It is reassuring to know that higher civilisations, if we allow for them, drive as badly as we do. They might be Human-like after all. Previously there had been a fall of fish at Marksville in 1947 and a cloudless point rainfall at Alexandria in 1958.

Foyers, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 23rd April 1960. Mr Timothy Dinsdale filmed the Lakemonster on 16MM film. It was a strange object moving across the Loch and leaving a sizeable wake and averaging ten miles per hour. It was six foot wide on the surface and was an animate object, namely a large creature. The creature resembled a single hump crossing directly away from Foyers. Then it turned right, then left and then parallel to the opposite shore. The body was a reddish brown colour with a back like an underfed horse. Nessy again.

Beira, Sofala, Mozambique. April 1960. Hundreds of villagers saw a whistling orange object land in a field. From it leapt and scrambled tiny little men who ran for their lives into the forest. There was good reason for this as the craft then exploded violently leaving no traces. There were no sightings of the little men afterwards. More and more Human in their actions and responses. It is reassuring that they do not appear infallible.

Syracuse, Sicily. April 1960. Spring. Mr Salvatore Cianci, a jeweller, was driving home when a small being in shining clothes and wearing a diving helmet appeared in his headlights. The little being had no arms but little wings instead. The witness suffered nervous shock. An Angel with a trainer helmet? A learner Gargoyle? A demon?

Paracuru, Ceara, Brazil. 13th May 1960. Friday. 7.00 pm. One hundred witnesses saw a 60 foot wide dark grey circular disc hovering in the sky. It had a very powerful light on its apex and it hovered over the centre of the city. The craft was a smooth dark grey with a strong blue light on its top.

Paracuru, Ceara, Brazil. 14th May 1960. Saturday. 4.00 am. Mr Raimundo dos Santos, a farmer, was on a beach when he saw two silvery discs land on it. Pale skinned Hominoids appeared from the the landed craft and tried to beckon the witness on board. The Hominoids seemed to be conversing. The witness turned and fled. The witness returned later with other men and they found marks in the sand that appeared to have been under a lot of pressure and could have only been left by the discs. Nothing else could have left them. Slightly more interesting than usual.

At 6.50 am on 14th May 1960 police in Mount Gambier in South Australia investigated a report that a brilliant red light about ten feet in diameter had been pacing the car of Mr. E. Lewis and his family who were driving towards the Victorian border. The object had just suddenly appeared and then stayed in front of the car for fifteen miles.

Holly Point, Lough Ree, Galway, Ireland. 18th May 1960. Wednesday. 9.30 pm. Three priests were in a boat out fishing that evening. They were down for the Mayfly season and there was no wind. Fathers Matthew Burke, Daniel Murray and Richard Quigley saw two humps and the head of something black, large and strange in the Loch 100 yards away. They rowed towards it and the the Lakemonster went down and then surfaced elsewhere in the form of a loop where it stayed in view for five minutes. The creature had a six foot long neck that was sticking up out of the water with a serpentine head eighteen inches long like a goodsized Salmon perched on top of it. The head was flat and snakish and eighteen inches out of the water and was coiled. The creature was watched for several minutes and had an eighteen inch high bulge four foot behind its neck and it showed two sections above the water. It left little to no wash. The witnesses knew the lake well. Eventually the animal went northwest towards the shore and seemed to be propelled underwater. It submerged again and reappeared thirty yards from the shore before it vanished. The Lakemonster likes Quigleys or are they are common in the area?

Arauco Peninsula, Chile. 22nd May 1960. There were a large number of aftershocks of a major earthquake that was spread almost over the length of the country. The cities of Concepcion, Biobio region,73.04W,36.50S, 73W36S, and Valdivia, Los Lagos region, 73.19W,39.50S,73W39S, were badly shaken. During the aftershocks mysterious bluish-green lights were reported in the sky at the time.

Two days later Puyehue Volcano in Chile, erupted on 24th May 1960. This was the first time since 1905 and was four hundred miles south of Concepcion. Natural electromagnetic Phenomena or Interdimensional? A byproduct of earthquakes and piezoelectricity or the Quasar Vacuum opening? Or all of the above?

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 27th May 1960. Friday. 6.00 am. Mr Peter O'Connor and a friend were camping when Peter photographed the Beastie. Peter had come out of his tent and saw the Lakemonster riding high in the water near the shore. He saw a low curving back in the Loch. It was 16 feet long by 2.5 feet high and the neck was three foot long by one foot thick. The head was not easily distinguishable and overall the creature was a dark grey colour. Watched by his friend Peter waded out into the Loch and took a flashlight photo from twenty-five yards. It was a good year for preserving images of Nessy for posterity.

Jerez de La Frontera, Spain. May 1960. Mr Miguel Timermans Ceballos was motorcycling from Prado del Ray to Jerez when he saw a tall Hominoid 500 feet on the road ahead. The hominoid had suddenly appeared on the edge of the roadway and was . 6.5 feet tall and appeared to have trouble walking. It was like a mechanical doll or robot with stiff arms. Then another entity appeared and followed the first entity. The second one was four feet tall and dressed similar to the first except it was wearing one black boot and crossed the road at an angle. The little one must have been a young child considering that it had lost a boot. Don't they all when you take them anywhere?

Globe, Gila County, Arizona. 9th June 1960. 12.15 am. Fifteen miles east of town the female witness, her husband and their two children were driving in their Cadillac when their headlights hit a three foot tall figure on the right edge of the road one hundred yards ahead. The creature had long arms, was dark in colour, had a pumpkin like head, yellow glowing eyes and no nose, mouth or ears. It was hairy as well. The small Hairy Hominoid was facing left and appeared about to cross the road. The witness slowed the car and the hominoid looked at it and then ran back into brush out of range of the lights. Light was beaming out beyond the face. Seems that there are Desert Hairy Hominoids as well.

Mackay, Queensland, Australia, Pioneer River. 10th June 1960. Friday. Mackay Meteorological Office tracked an unidentified object in the sky the same night that an airliner crashed in the area. The object was over the crash site at 10.30 pm and again at 11.30 pm. Was an unidentified stationary aircraft twice over the one spot? What is a stationary aircraft? Amazing coincidences.

Quebec City, Quebec County, Quebec Province, Canada. 12th June 1960. A sonic boom was heard. A fiery object fell out of the sky splitting into two pieces that both fell into the Saint Lawrence River. The object was recovered and examined. There was one mystery though. There was insufficient Nickel for a Meteor and the object seemed Terrestrial in origin though did not react like Terrestrial metal. Are there rules as to what can and cannot fall out of the sky?

Mooney Village, near Kopperl, near Lake Whitney, Hill County, Texas. 15th June 1960. There was a clear sky though lightning flickered and it was a 75 degree temperature. Without warning the roof blew off the Mooney Village shop. This was a massive gust of wind at Midnight when the temperature suddenly shot up to 140 degrees Fahrenheit! The newly planted cotton field of Pete Burns was found charred black. This was one odd and sudden and very localised heatwave. Or an energy burst exploding at or near ground level?

Foyers, Loch Ness Highland, Scotland. 22nd June 1960. Dr Maurice Burton and his son saw a pattern of ripples half mile away in the loch. The ripples varied from side to side and then the movement changed direction. A dark object two feet long appeared and left a series of concentric ripples with fifteen feet between them. Whilst Dr Burton was momentarily distracted his son saw the black object give way to two dark humps. The first one was one foot long and the second one was two foot long with one foot of water between them. Must be turtles swimming in tandem. This is a logical answer is it not?

Kapuskasing, Cochrane County, Ontario, Canada. June 1960. An African lion was seen by many individual witnesses. Suddenly they appear.

Kapuskasing, Cochrane County, Ontario, Canada. June 1960. A maned lion was seen by farmer Leo Paul Dellaire. It was three feet tall by five feet long with a four foot long tail with a bushy end. And then they disappear! Most things have continuity, not spontaneity. This was our second Leo meeting a Leo. In 1948 in Pennville, Jay County, Indiana, Mr James Leo almost fainted when he discovered a large catlike animal on his back porch.

Leefe, Lincoln County, Wyoming. 1st July 1960. 10.30 am. Four witnesses saw a flying object land in a slag dump. The craft was 185 foot in diameter by 14 feet high and had five transparent bubbles on its underside. The craft rocked gently and it had approached from the south and hovered so close to the Earth that it almost landed. Then it took off. It looked like a big flat Pitta bread.

McHenry County, Illinois. 2nd July 1960. Saturday. A 218 pound rock fell from the sky. It was not Meteoric rock but Dolomite, a rock of Terrestrial origin. Was it part of a long-since destroyed planet? Dolomite is merely Calcium Carbonate, or limestone, that has been exposed to marine brine over long periods. It also can contain fossils though the process of Dolomitation can destroy fossil traces. What Interstellar sea did it fall from? Was this sea very close indeed?

Kankakee, Kankakee County, Illinois. 2nd July 1960. Saturday. A man and his wife were awake and their daughter and her husband were asleep in their car when it the car was suddenly bathed in an intense blue light. A ball of fire with a blue tail slowly passed over it. The inside of the car at the same time became unbearably hot and the witnesses could hardly breathe. The sleeping ones woke up. The object vanished to the north and the heat was turned off. Haven’t we met this same scenario before and if so could we then rule out overactive imagination due to the consistency of stories worldwide? We might not quite know what is doing it but we are getting a better idea of what it can do. It certainly does produce heat.

Tor Point, near Dores, Loch Ness. Highland. Scotland. 4th July 1960. The Lakemonster surfaced on the opposite side of the Loch from a group of students. It was too far to photograph and was viewed for two hours and sketched. It was a busy month for Nessy.

Tor Point, near Dores, Loch Ness. Highland. Scotland. 10th July 1960. Mr Bruce Ing saw a single hump five to ten feet long rising two feet out of water for twenty seconds that moved across wind leaving a small creamy wake. This was only six days after the previous sighting by a group of students.

Devils Gate Reservoir, Angels National Forest, near Altadena. California. 13th July 1960. Bruce Kremen, six years old, disappeared on a YMCA hike whilst still within sight of the main camp. Bruce, who was suffering from the altitude, was told to go back to the camp and the Group leader walked Bruce back to only a few yards from the camp. Bruce was told to report to one of the leaders visibly standing only a few yards away in a clearing. Bruce was never seen again though. It was only a few days before his seventh Birthday. Where did Bruce go? This was the fifth child to vanish here in four years. Was there a Terrestrial Monster here or an opening to somewhere else?

Alden, McHenry County, Illinois. 14th July 1960. Charles Wissell, a farmer, was weeding his corn field when he found a large rock in middle of corn row that he had never noticed before. The rock was not there when the corn had been planted. There was a small crater around the rock and it was possibly a meteor and had fallen from a great height. The corn had grown around it and there were no truck tracks. The rock was 26 inches long by 14 inches wide and 218 pounds in weight but was not Meteoric in origin though. So many of our Meteors are described as non-Meteoric. How can we define what is Meteoric or not if we only have Meteors to use as our reference? Certainly by definition this should include all large stone or rock masses that come hurtling out of the sky and not just selected ones? This is similar in scientific outlook to the pre-Nineteenth Century viewpoint on Meteors wherein they did not exist as rocks do not fall out of the sky. Now it is only selected rocks can only fall out of the sky.

Loch Lochy, Highland, Scotland. 15th July 1960. Friday. 7.25 pm. Mr Eric Robbins, his wife and a friend saw what at first seemed to be two stationary waves moving across the Loch. They then realized that it was the broad, rounded back of an animal with paddles rolling over it. The body rose up out of the water and formed a broad back with an underside lighter than the top. The creature was thirty to 40 feet long and the back alone was at least fifteen feet long. The creature was 250 yards offshore and viewed through binoculars and was rolling over and over in the water. It made waves which broke on the beach at their feet. Eventually there were nine witnesses watching. The Loch is connected to Loch Ness via the Caledonian Canal and the Garry River. A busy Summer for Nessy.

Hudson River, Manhattan County, New York. 15th July 1960. Friday. The witnesses of this event were the crew of the 24,000 ton Tanker “Alkaid” which struck a metallic USO which tore a massive gash in to the side of her hull on the Starboard side. The tanker was beached near the United Nations Building. There were no submarines in the area as it is very busy and far too risky for submarine traffic. A metallic something Manipogo Beach, Lake Manitoba, Saint Rose du Lac, Manitoba, Canada. 22nd July 1960. Mr A. R. Adams saw a creature resembling a large snake with a serpentine diamond shaped head eight inches wide and swimming at fifteen miles per hour. It threw up an eight foot wake. Mr A. R. Adams ran alongside the creature keeping pace with it from the shore. There were three distinct humps and almost six feet of its back was seen. The top of the head was flat like a snake’s. Manipogo was back too!

Manipogo Beach, Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. 22nd July 1960. Friday. Twenty witnesses on a beach saw a large reptile in the water. Whatever it was it must have been a big Lakemonster according to the witnesses. It is funny how when analysing data from many reports that in the cases of areas with histories of Phenomenal activity most references cite the same incidences over and over again to verify a history. When you look for other references they are in the vein of local legend mentions, no detail, or someone possibly saw one but they cannot remember when. Usually it is only the original few dated reports that are the basis of the histories.

On 24th July 1960 a giant object glowing like the sun and travelling at tremendous speed crashed into the sea with a terrifying roaring noise off Mount Drummond on the Lower Eyre Peninsula. Five minutes later the previously quiet surf was heard twelve miles away roaring and pounding the shore. The house of Mr. K. Ashman at Kapinnie was shaken by the blast and he had seen the object originally streaking across the sky from the northeast to the southwest and trailing a brilliant white light a minute or two after sundown. Mr. Ashman estimated that the object hit the sea about fifty miles out to sea and seventy miles from his farm.

Niagara River, Niagara Falls, Niagara County, New York. 26th July 1960. A flying object was seen crashing into the water. They love water don't they? And they love particular areas of water, such as Niagara Falls. Amazing coincidence, a basis for Interstellar paranoia or just a particular place at a particular time? Funny, that sounds like a familiar theory? This was the sixteenth phenomenal event in this area since the first one recorded in 1833 when oddly enough a luminous flying object was seen in the sky with a searchlight coming from it.

Parsons, Tucker County, West Virginia. Summer. July 1960. An eight foot tall hairy fiery eyed Monster was seen several times. The eyes shone like balls of fire and the creature also smelt off. Giant footprints were found as well. The Hairy Hominoid would appear four times that Summer and then not reappear until 1974. It had never been seen before in this area. Is all of this starting to sound too familiar?

Davis, Tucker County, West Virginia. July 1960. Summer. A group of boys who were sitting around a campfire at the time saw an eight foot tall Hairy Hominid in the woods. It had been poking one of the witnesses in the ribs who thought it was one of the other boys until he turned around and saw that he was face to face with a monster that had eyes like balls of fire and shaggy hair all over its' body. The eyes were set far apart and the creature was eight feet tall. Gigantic footprints were also found and the witnesses did not feel like following them. Where do we get eyes like balls of fire from?

Davis, Tucker County, West Virginia. Summer, July 1960. An eight foot tall fiery eyed hairy Monster was seen several times. The eyes shone like balls of fire. The Hairy Hominoid also smelt off. Giant footprints were found as well. Was a hairy Devil visiting West Virginia?

Saint Rose du Lac, Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. July 1960. Mr Christopher Stofle, his wife and his sister-in-Law saw a reptile-like creature surfacing thirty feet from their boat. It was huge and for fear of it the women waded ashore through the Marsh. Such is the case here. One verified sighting in 1948 and another few in 1960 equals a long history of Lakemonster sightings.

In summer July 1960 as Louise Matthews of South Philadelphia in Philadelphia County in Pennsylvania was lying on her couch in the living room when she looked up and saw a huge red ball coming through a window though the venetian blinds were closed. The ball incidentally did not damage the venetian blinds in any way. The ball of light passed by Louise it made a sizzling noise and she felt a tingling on the back of her neck and put her hand on the spot but felt nothing. The ball then went through the living room and into the dining room and left through a closed window without damaging it. Louise called her husband who came from work to find the back of her hand burned. The hair at the back of her head soon fell out leaving the skin there as smooth as her face.

Left Hand Canyon, Boulder County, Colorado. 11th August 1960. Thursday. 3.10 pm. Ray Hawks whilst driving a tractor with a shovel loader attachment heard a detonation in the sky and looking up saw a disc in the sky. The electrics of the tractor suddenly died and the UFO dropped vertically out of the cloud. The craft hovered 650 feet from the witness and 200 feet up and wobbled as it stabilised itself. The craft looked like two concave discs joined at the rim and it was one fifth deep as it was wide. It was a dull Aluminium colour and the surface appeared velvety. There were a series of shiny metal plates with caps around the perimeter and one of these was giving off dark blue smoke around the edges. There was an intermittent hum like an electric motor phasing and idling and the smoking plate began to tilt from within. This was replaced by another one that clicked as it locked into place. The hum became highpitched and the disc became surrounded by a shimmering field, elevated itself and vanished. The tractor then worked again. The disc was 200 feet in diameter by twenty thick in the middle and was seen two miles south of Buckingham Park and seven miles North and two miles west of Boulder. Quite a standard sighting actually.

Manipogo Beach, Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. 12th August 1960. Friday. Seventeen witnesses on the Beach saw three large and one small reptilians in the water. Two of the animals were swimming side by side whilst the third was trailing behind. They were all of identical shape and Mr Thomas Locke, the Government land Inspector, started filming them with a movie camera. Unfortunately he had run out of film.Another witness Mr Steve Rehaluk stated that they resembled three large, dark-brown snakes. Even famous cases such as Manipogo have very few documented reports, mainly hearsay.

On 13th August 1960 at 10.05 pm Clarence Fry, the deputy sheriff and jailer at the Red Bluff Prison in Tehama County in California saw an oval, pale-yellow glowing object with a flashing red light at each end and squarish white lights along the side come out of the westsouthwest.

Red Bluff, Tehama County, California. 13th August 1960. 11.50 pm. Police Highway Patrol Officers Stanley Scott and Charles Carson were eastbound on Hoag Road east of Corning searching for a speeding motorcyclist when they saw a huge airliner dropping out of the cloudless night sky. What appeared to be an airliner was very low and directly in front of witnesses who stopped and leapt out of the car. Unusually there was absolute silence as they continually watching the craft descending. When the airliner was one hundred to two hundred above the ground the airliner stopped, reversed suddenly and rose to an altitude of 500 feet. Now it was recognisable as an unknown craft and not an airliner. It was a football shaped craft that was 150 feet long by 40 feet high which was surrounded by a white glow making the round or oblong object visible. At each end were definite red lights and at times five white lights were visible between the red lights. The craft then performed fantastic manoeuvres similar to the first at high speeds. Radar confirmed that an object was visible on the Radar. Each time the two witnesses attempted to get closer to it the craft retreated. When it came towards the Patrol Car there was electrical interference. The object was sweeping the ground and the sky with a red light beam. When Scott turned the red light on the Patrol Car toward the UFO it immediately moved away and eventually it began moving eastward and the Patrolmen followed it. As they reached the Vina Plains Fire Station they saw a similar object approaching from the South. It moved near the first and both stopped, remaining in this position for some time whilst occasionally emitting the beam of red light. Finally both craft vanished below the eastern horizon. The lights in the sky were also seen by two Deputy Sheriffs, the night Jailer and several prisoners who had been marched out onto the roof of the jail to witness the event and the sighting lasted two hours and fifteen minutes. Other sightings lasted till the eighteenth of that month. The bigger craft had swept the area seven times. They like playing cat and Mouse. Come here, go there.

Capitola, Santa Cruz County, California. 18th August 1960. 2.30 am. Police Officer Ed Cunningham saw something flash in the headlights of his Patrol Car. The object then fell into the Street and bounced few inches. Then there were a multitude of falling things which were actually large, dead birds. The area from Capitola to Cliffside to Westcliff Drive was littered with them. Powerlines were festooned and many birds were impaled on TV aerials.they were all sooty shearings, a type of petrel with a thirty inch wingspan and a 1.5 foot body. Four thousand of them fell and died and two thousand were injured and could not get off the ground. All of the birds were killed by the fall. There was no other findable cause of death. Did they all suddenly forget how to fly? Did a huge number of birds crash into something enormous in the sky? Did anyone check for Micrometeorites? For a glass wall up in the sky? They would not be the first to crash into an invisible unknown.

Near Prospect, Jackson County in Oregon, during August 1960 Mr. Sydney Morse saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot running beside his vehicle on a logging road.

Temma, on Sandy Cape, on the west coast of Tasmania, Australia. August 1960. After a storm Mr Ben Fenton, Mr Jack Booth and Mr Ray Anthony who were rounding up cattle found an eight foot long by three foot wide by ten inches thick something washed up onto a beach. The creature had no bones and was made up of tough fibrous material and was lying on the beach for two years and incidentally did not rot. An axe could not cut the skin and the Beast was a circular shape and was covered with short, soft fur and resembled Globsters found elsewhere. Are there Northern and Southern Hemisphere varieties of the Globster as it is called? This is not the first creature described like this in the world.

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. August 1960. A witness saw a terrific commotion in the water and then half a mile further east a great black hump was seen crossing the Loch from north to south. Does this suggest two Beasties in the Loch? Sometimes we wonder?

Belmont, New South Wales.Australia. August 1960. 1.30 am. Mrs Aldridge was awakened by a buzzing noise and when she looked outside she saw a bright light coming from a round object. Mrs. Aldridge then saw a little man 1.2 to 1.5 metres tall of average build and of normal humanoid appearance wearing a dull olive green skin-tight suit with a helmet and white-grey footwear. The little hominoid was only three metres from the witness opposite her house and connected approaching. Mrs. Aldridge went off to get her son and when they came back the Hominoid and the craft were gone. Mrs Aldridge was game going off to get her son. Most people would stand and watch. When you have a hallucination do you go off to get someone else to look at it?

Saginaw, Saginaw County, Michigan. 7th September 1960. Wednesday. Evening. Mrs Victor Mietans left her house to go shopping when she was hit on the head by a large perch that had fallen straight down out of the sky. The perch had fallen from the sky and was still alive. There were no marks of a birds beak or claws on it. Catch the fish! Oops, missed! If Mrs. Mietans needed a fish then she didn't need to go shopping at all.

Labrador, Newfoundland, Canada. 23rd September 1960. Off the North coast of Labrador a cylindrical UFO with lighted portholes was seen to hit sea and sank. A lot of aquatic Falls this year.

Polson, Flathead Lake County, Montana. September 1960. Friday. The Zigler family were on the lakeside at Polson Country Club and went to investigate why the waves were crashing against the shore where they then saw a Lakemonster rubbing itself against the pilings of the pier. Mr Zigler went off for his rifle whilst Mrs Zigler moved closer. The Lakemonster then raised its head above the water and a black head the size of a horse's head and one foot of neck showed above the water. Mrs Zigler screamed and it then swam away at a great rate of speed. Later the same creature was again seen by the Zigler family six weeks later near the same spot. Had she scared it or had it scared her?

Lake Ontario. September 1960. It was a clear day and two CF-100 Canadian Armed Forces jets streaked across the north shore of Lake Ontario. The trailing jet had the lead jet in sight as they went through some wispy clouds and suddenly the lead jet vanished. The blip of the jet vanished from the Radar screens at the same time and no wreckage was ever found. Only the contrail was still there in the sky and it suddenly ended over Lake Ontario. Is Lake Ontario in the habit of swallowing things? This is its first plane that we know of but it has had its fair share of ships as well as illuminated things falling from the sky and down into it. Strange how things repeat at particular places.

Walnut Creek, Chilton County, Alabama, near Clanton. October 1960. Autumn. Many witnesses saw a tall Hairy Hominoid that the locals called a "Booger" and that made a sound like a woman screaming. The creaure had been seen several times in peach orchards sampling the peaches and it was covered with long hair and left huge manlike tracks. The Reverend E. C. Hand saw it near Liberty Hall and grabbed his shotgun and pursued it. Dogs though would not go near it. The Hairy beast was said to live in a Swamp. Footprints were found and the Booger had only been reported the previous year and would disappear never to be heard from again after the following year. Just passing through?

Cressy, near Launceston, Tasmania, Australia. 4th October 1960. It was Tuesday Evening and the Reverend Lionel Browning, an Anglican Priest, and his wife saw five or six UFOs and their Mothership near their home. Another woman was an independent witness. Other residents heard loud explosions. The craft was three to four miles away and they saw a grey, cigar-shaped object emerged from a rainstorm. The grey object was 300 feet long and appeared to have a dull surface. The object travelled at less than fifty miles per hour which is well below stalling speed. Eventually it slowed down even more and stopped after a minute. Then out of clouds, above and behind the grey object, five or six small discs appeared, travelling very fast and moving like stones skipping on water. They were flat underneath with domes on top and they stationed themselves around the Mothership and all of them moved back into the cloud that the first ship had appeared from and vanished. Is the cloud so often seen a part of the UFO or part of the process of materialisation and dematerialisation through the Quasar Vacuum? Is the cloud creation in motion?

Gulf of Oman. 14th October 1960. The crew of the S. S. "British Energy" saw a Lightwheel at 11.30 pm. There were three very fast outward moving rings of light which were seen emanating from three separate vortices which were spaced about three cables apart in a straight line parallel to the ships fore and aft line and five cables distant on the Starboard. Positions of vortices remained unchanged. The first two had appeared suddenly producing circular rings at a frequency of one second or slightly less whilst the third produced elliptical rings which were moving much faster than the others. What had been the Gulf of Oman's only other Phenomenal sighting? It was another Lightwheel seen here in 1953. What are Lightwheels though? Are they purely electrical? Or slightly more?

Melbourne, Victoria. Australia. 16th October 1960. Two icemasses the size of footballs fell from a cloudless sky during 85 degree heat and narrowly missed two golfers. Obviously left-overs from Winter.

Three weeks after the original Cressy sighting in Tasmania at 10.30 pm on 25th October 1960 there was an earsplitting ground-shaking explosion in the sky. Mr. J. Metcalfe who was watching television at the time stated that he felt a sensation of airlessness just before the explosion and the windows started to rattle and it felt as if the house was being lifted off its foundations. Mr. Metcalfe went outside where he and his neighbor Mr. Saltmarsh observed a fading red glow to the northeast. Mr. and Mrs. K. Woodwards saw an orange coloured ball hovering above Western Tiers to the south of Poatina. As soon as the ball of light disappeared the Woodwards felt that there was pressure all around them. Then came the explosion.

Nelson, Kootenay County, British Columbia, Canada. October 1960. Mr Bringsli saw a seven to nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid that left 16 to seventeen inch long footprints. At least you expect to see Hairy Hominoids in British Columbia.

Marlington, Pocahontas County, West Virginia, Monongahela National Forest. October 1960. W.C. "Doc" Priestley was in a car when the ignition of the car failed all of a sudden and it came to a halt. "Doc" then saw an eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid on the side of the road. The manbeast had a pair of eyes like balls of fire and shaggy hair which was standing straight up like a porcupine's quills. The two of them stared at each other for a while and then the Hominoids hair stood down and the car started again. The Hominoid then vanished when the bus came back that "Doc" had been following. For the rest of the journey the car kept faltering and sparks flew from under the hood like a bad short and then the car stopped again. The Hominoid was again seen on the side of the road. The bus backed up again. The Hominoid again vanished. The points were completely burnt out of the car this time. Was the Hairy Hominoids hair an antenna array? Or just a bad case of static cling?

Residents of Dorothy near Mays Landing in Atlantic County, New Jersey, during October 1960 complained of strange noises during the night and saw strange animal tracks. The Jersey Devil had been reported from this area before.

Price County, Wisconsin. 3rd November 1960. 4.30 pm. Two boys, one of them the Sheriffs son, were near a gravel source when they heard a highpitched humming noise and the air felt very warm. Looking around the boys saw an Aluminium-coloured object on the side of a hill. Both of the witnesses ran towards it and found that the ground of the landing site was quite warm. The boys felt the warmth through their mittens. The craft was described as a disc with a domed top and was twenty to twenty-five feet in diameter. Pretty standard. What happened though between seeing the craft and the boys finding the warm landing site? The boys did not describe the craft leaving.

Cressy, near Launceston, Tasmania, Australia. 15th November 1960. A USAF RB57 aircraft Pilot noted an approaching object while he and the navigator were flying at 12,000 metres. The object's altitude was 10,000 metres and its speed was high with a closing rate greater than 800 knots and it was seen for five to seven seconds before it was lost under the left wing. The diameter was 21 metres and there were no sharp edges. The object appeared fuzzy and undefined. Is this lack of definition also a feature of having traversed the Quasar Vacuum, the same as the clouds and the fog so often reported? Even the Angelhair? Was it still part cloud?

On 18th November 1960. a three foot long alligator was seen in Hines Park, Detroit, Wayne County, Michigan. Not really alligator country and not the right season either.

Pikeville, Pike County, Kentucky. November 1960. The charred bodies of five men were found sitting in a car on the side of the road. The coroner was baffled by the casual relaxed positions of the bodies as if they were totally unaware of the fire consuming them. There seemed to have been no desire to escape. It was as if they were all cremated instantly in the middle of a conversation. Group spontaneous combustion? Far too fast for the burning pig explanation.

Durango, La Plata County, Colorado. 24th December 1960. Saturday. A dozen witnesses including Mr Polson and his neighbours saw a huge intensely lit object landing on a peak. The craft had a dome in the middle and revolving lights on it. The next day the Polson's pet dog ran into the house and died at their feet. At the area the UFO landed there were many overhanging tree limbs that were broken as well as many strange footprints. Some were Human but they were fifteen inches long. There were other tracks and they were only five inches long. The tracks went to a deserted cabin and circled it and then went back to the landing site. The Polsons Neighbour's dog which had disappeared on the night of the landing was never seen again. They like dogs. As pets or lunch I'm not sure though.

On Boxing Day, 26th December 1960, a couple from Sydney in British Columbia in Canada saw Caddy half a mile from town heading southwards. The seamonster was raising his head eight feet out of the water and the witnesses were originally attracted by a cloud of gulls which seemed to be diving at it.

Hickory Flats, near Sutton Reservoir, Braxton County, West Virginia. 30th December 1960. Friday. Mr. Charles Stover was driving a bakery truck when he was stopped bu a six foot tall Hairy Hominoid that was standing in front of him. The manbeast was standing erect and had eyes like balls of fire. Charles drove to a Filling Station restaurant and brought back a group of men with him. They found strange marks on the ground as well as huge boulders that appeared as if they had been thrown around. Unusual cries that could not be identified had also been heard in the vicinity for several weeks. A strange area indeed, West Virginia. Actually the east coast of the United States is pretty weird all over.

Watson Bay, Roderick Island, British Columbia. During Winter December 1960 Timothy Robinson and Samson Duncan shot at a small Bigfoot on a beach. They found blood on the snow where the creature had been but were afraid to follow it.

Lake Atsion, Burlington County, New Jersey. 1960. Five students out camping heard unearthly screams after finding Bigbird claw prints eleven inches long. There were four distinct tracks in the underbrush. The heel was dug in and the toes were spread out.

Nothing else could make the tracks and the bird must have been the size of the mythical Roc. Many animals were vanishing in the area including two dogs. Jersey Devil tracks? Was the Jersey Devil loose again?

Ruby, Cariboo County, Frazer River, British Columbia Canada. 1960. Mr Paul Peters, an Athabascan Indian, saw a Hairy Hominoid on the north side of the river near his fish camp when his dogs started whining and acting strangely. Paul then saw a hominoid 100 yards away that was manlike, very tall, covered in black hair, with a very stocky build and very muscular. The Bigfoot was 6.5 feet tall. There had been Hairy Hominoid sightings here previously in 1941 and 1949.

Lough Dubh, Suck River, near Glinsk,Galway, Ireland. 1960. Mr Mahon saw three Lakemonsters. One larger one and two smaller ones were swimming in the Loch. Was this a family outing? Ho-hum.

Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 1960. Mr Hans Gerade, the German Vice-Consul in Vancouver, and Mr Philip Daum from Bacon Beach visited the lake and saw a spoil of waves with white foam like the wash of a boat moving swiftly from north to south except that there was no boat. Whatever was making the large wash was under the water. This was too big for a Salmon. Inside the foam Mr Daum saw a creature that appeared to be twenty-five feet long with humps which rose up and down. Ogopogo was his name. Sorry, he doesn't exist.

Emmaville, New South Wales, Australia. 1960. A large Pantherlike creature with stripes had been seen killing sheep. There are no felines or members of the cat family native to Australia. I don't know if we would call this one Emma or Kitty or Tiger.

Patyah Forest, near Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1960. There were reports of strange animals living in the dense forest that resembled Thylacines, Tasmanian marsupial Tigers, that are now extinct. The area is roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The odd creature was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger as well as the Tantanoola Tiger. The thylacine had stripes and that was why it was called a marsupial tiger.

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1960. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals in the area and the newspapers went to investigate. Large doglike tracks were seen mainly fringes of a 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swamp. The witnesses said that they were Thylacines or the now extinct Tasmanian Tigers. The area is roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The animal was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger or the Tantanoola Tiger who seemed to be very busy.

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Southwestern Victoria. Australia. 1960. Mr Cyril Tucker, a farmer, armed with a .22 rifle tracked one animal until he came within twenty yards of it. It gave forth an unearthly scream and Cyril stopped. The creature was larger than a German Shepherd with a kangaroo-like face with a piglike muzzle. The colouring was grey with black stripes on its rump. The body was lowslung and the tail was Kangaroo-like, thick at the butt and tapering towards the end. The creature was rather high in the withers and had a peculiar loping movement. When it moved the hind legs appeared to move in unison. Mr Tucker met it several times again and the dogs would go it and attack it. When the dogs did this the animal would rear up on its back legs and cover several yards in one stride as it ran away. On the third occasion Mr and Mrs Tucker were in their car on the way to Edenhope. They saw the animal in the headlights and reported a strange red glow to the eyes.

Between 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity around Boyup Brook centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. When these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were seen to fall and sometimes even inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Chief Cornstalk Hunting Grounds, Ohio River Valley, West Virginia. 1960. Ten miles south of Point Pleasant near Southside many individual witnesses saw a flying Hominoid or Bigbird. This was a five to seven foot tall bird with grey plumage and glowing eyes. The head was set near the shoulders and the bird resembled a winged man who was gliding. Grey figures were also seen on the road that spread their wings when approached and flew away. The wings were huge. A Lady driving with her father near the Ohio River on Route two saw tall manlike figure on the side of the road and when she slowed down it took off into the sky. The big bird was much bigger than a man and was grey and stood in the middle of the road. Then a pair of wings unfolded from its back and practically filled the entire Road. It was the size of a small aeroplane and took off straight up in few seconds. Both witnesses were terrified, stepped on the gas and sped away. Mothman as John Keel would call him years later, had officially appeared though we seem to have recalled him from before.

Long Beach, Los Angeles County, California. 1960. Mr and Mrs Trucker heard a heavy thump followed by a long pained grunt outside their home. Stepping into their yard they found a five foot alligator that appeared to have just fallen out of the sky. The poor animal weighed sixty pounds and fell into the backyard of the Trucker house at 2525 Quincy Avenue. You just can’t take alligators anywhere. Put them on a plane and all they want to do is get off.

Gloucester, Essex County, Massachusetts. 1960. The crew of the “Julythna” saw a Seamonster that looked like a dinosaur. The aquatic creature was a 70 foot long Serpent. Did somebody say Gloucester? Is it our old friend, or at least a descendent of the famous Gloucester Seaserpent? Who else could it be?

Near Oroville in Butte County in California sometime in 1960 Mr. Leonard Mack saw a Bigfoot near a spring.

Hoopa Valley, Humboldt County, California. Leroy Dolittle saw a Hairy Hominoid standing in a meadow in 1960.

Conser Lake, Linn County, Oregon, near Albany. 1960. There were many sightings of a Hairy Hominoid that was supposed to have webbed feet and was seen near the lake. This is an interesting combination. A web-footed Bigfoot that lives in the water. Didn't we meet him on the banks of the Neuces River in Texas in 1958?

Conser Lake, Linn County, Oregon, near Albany. 1960. A Hairy Hominoid that was supposed to have webbed feet was seen near the lake. The creature once kept pace with a truck traveling at 35 miles per hour.

Benjamin, Knox County, Texas. 10th January 1961. 9.12 pm. Mr W.K. Rutledge, an Attorney, and Mr George A. Thomas, a drilling contractor, were flying over King County, Texas. Suddenly at 1,500 feet above their altitude of 6,500 feet they saw something that was not an aeroplane. It was a large round luminous craft that was surrounded by a brilliant glow. The craft was stationary and as the witnesses approached it the object began to descend. Dozens of witnesses on the ground saw an orange zigzagging object in the sky. These included King County Sheriff Dub Holler in Guthrie and the wife of Knox County Sheriff Homer Melton, west of Benjamin. After six minutes the UFO landed west of the town. Rutledge radioed Wichita falls to know if any aircraft were having trouble in the area and the answer was negative. Sheriff Melton organised a posse. Rutledge continued circling the landed craft. The glow from the craft so bright that it cast light on the witnesses plane that was 4,000 feet above it. At 10.00 pm Rutledge had to fly to Abilene due to lack of fuel and shortly after the UFO took off quickly. There weren't that many luminous vertical take-off aircraft around in 1961. in fact there were none.

On the night of 10th January 1961 numerous witnesses saw mysterious lights flashing above the city of Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. Naval, Air Force and Weather Bureau authorities could not identify what they were. Photographs had been taken of them at the Belfield Tracking Station and star trails for stars were normal. The objects were like stars moving around the sky , first seen in the north and then moving slowly across the sky to the south and then moving north again. They resembled flashlights being turned on and off.

About January 1961 two young women were frightened by a hairy hominoid which suddenly appeared out of the scrub near the top of Minne Ha Ha Falls near Katoomba in the blue Mountains in Australia. The creature was seven feet tall with a sloping forehead, thick eyebrow ridges and a very muscular build with long arms and big hands. the creature also had very big feet. The girls ran off screaming in the direction of the car park.

On 23rd February 1961 a loading dock was struck by a falling meteorite in Ras Tanura in Saudi Arabia.

urley, Iron County, Wisconsin. 24th February 1961. Friday. A B-47 bomber mysteriously crashed 60 miles northwest of Eagle River. Are mystery air crashes tied in here as well?

Karelia, Russia. February 1961. A fairly large crater was found on the edge of a frozen lake by Mr Vasili Bradski, a forester. The crater was thirty metres by fifteen by three metres deep and had a smooth bottom. There were chaotic heaps of grass and soil at the sides of the hole yet there was no trace of the soil removed found except at the bottom of the lake. Pellets resembling buckwheat were also found and they had a metallic sheen and were of an unknown type. A gully 100 metres long was found at the bottom of the lake and there was a hillock 1.5 metres high at its end. The cause of all this excavation was unknown. It appeared as if something had landed, caused the destruction on its impact and then flew off again. The ice had turned green. The traces and holes had not been there two days before. Into the water they go and out they go again.

Loch Seaforth, between Harris and Lewis, Western Isles, Outer Hebrides, Scotland. 27th February 1961. Monday. The crew of the steamer “Boston Gannet” and others saw a strange twisting and turning object fall into the sea at the mouth of Loch Seaforth. Several ships raced to the rescue but there was nothing to be found there. No planes were missing and the object did not travel like a Meteor as it twisted and turned as it fell. Meteors do not twist and turn as they fall. Nor are they mistaken for aircraft very often either due to their short viewing time. Previously there had been sightings around here of turtle-like Seamonsters in 1808 near Soay, off the Isle of Skye in 1900, another near Rhum in 1901, and the giant turtle reappeared in 1959 near Soay again three times in September This was not a rapidly descending giant turtle, was it?

Admiralty Bay, Antarctica. 16th March 1961. 6.15 pm. Brazilian Meteorologist Mr Rubens J. Villela and five other witnesses on board the “Glacier” taking part in U. S. Navy’s “Operation Deep freeze” saw a sharply defined egg-shape travelled slowly from the northeast to the southwest at fifty degrees above the horizon on a straight horizontal trajectory. It was the size of small aeroplane and straight multicoloured rays flashed back backward in a Vee formation from the front of the object. The colours changed continuously but were predominantly green, red and blue. The object itself was reddish and left behind an orange trail. Suddenly the front and rear split apart forming two separate objects, each one identical to the original. As they changed from red to blue and white they increased in brightness and suddenly they vanished. The cloud was overcast at 1500 feet and the lights were under the cloud cover. That rules out Venus and the Moon. Anywhere on Earth, at almost any time.

Craig County, Oklahoma. A tourist from Ohio saw an African lion here in March 1961.

Vinita, Craig County, Oklahoma. Mid-March 1961. Two nurses at the Eastern State Hospital saw a lion going in and out of shrubbery. Locals told the authorities that the lion had been seen for two months and was heard roaring. The lion had also been eating local chickens

Bowna, near Hume Weir, near Albury, New South Wales. Australia. 16th March 1961. On Thursday at 8.45 pm Mr F. Reynolds and his son Mr Lloyd Reynolds, fifteen years old, as well as at least six people in a caravan (trailer) Park saw something like a large caravan (trailer) with four windows and a light at one end at the edge of the weir 300 yards from the witness's trailer. There was a strange fire that seemed to flash rather than burn near it. There were also four Hominoids moving quickly between the trailer(caravan) and the fire. Through binoculars the trailer, light and fire all seemed to be moving together in a jerking manner that was taking it sideways. After 45 minutes the odd trailer vanished. Nobody could have parked a trailer there though for it was all mud flats. There were no traces at all of anything having been there. The same day as the sighting at Admiralty Bay, Antarctica we have an illuminated ghost trailer near Albury, in Australia. In the immediate area there were numerous sightings of UFOs in the sky around the same time.

At Barnawartha on 16th March 1961 in Victoria, 32 kilometres west of Bowna, Mr. D. Anderson saw a yellow type of light which moved east towards Beechworth around 10.00 pm.

At Tallangatta in Victoria in Australia also on 16th March 1961 Mrs. Saw saw a very bright light descend behind the mountains to the east shortly after dusk.

Mrs. Woodcock of West Albury in New South Wales in Australia on 16th March 1961 stated that at 9.25 pm she saw a peculiar light like fine rain coming down which changed from red to pink and then faded away as it headed towards Beechworth.

Still that same night on 16th March 1961 Mrs. Burns of Wangaratta in Victoria in Australia saw an unusual pink light in a narrow beam which extended for some miles in the sky. This was about 10.00 pm. This colour was commented on in the West Albury sighting that same day.

Whitstone, near Oamaru, Otago, New Zealand. 24th March 1961. Friday. A metal cube fell from the sky. It was reddishbrown and eighteen millimetres by eighteen millimetres in size and struck a tractor. The object exhibited signs of stratification and had a specific gravity of 6.3. The specific gravity of a Nickel-Iron Meteorite is 8.5.

You never know what is going to come plummeting out of the sky next. Or where!

Puget Sound, Washington State. March 1961. A Mother who was a trained Biologist and her two sons and a relative were walking on a Beach near theentrance to Puget Sound, the shipping Route to Seattle, and were watching a freighter far away moving down the channel.They then saw something strange and closer to them. This something had a large flattish head that turned away from the witnesses and towards the ship. The witnesses distinctly saw three humps behind the long neck. The seamonster sank and then reappeared shortly after. It had a long floppy mane. Her son cried out and began to clutch her in fear and the Seamonster noticed them for the first time and sank and then reappeared again close enough to see any details. Puget Sound is quite a popular place as well and not just for Seamonsters.

Eagle River, Vilas County, Wisconsin. 18th April 1961. 11.00 am. Mr Joe Simonton, 60, saw a silvery, metallic, humming machine after hearing a loud noise above his house. The machine landed and a hatch slid open in the upper part and three Hominoids who were five feet tall, darkskinned, and twenty-five to thirty years of age came out. They wore what appeared to be knitted headgear and dark blue uniforms. None of the hominoids spoke and one of them handed Joe a shiny bucketlike affair with a handle on either side and indicated that he wanted water. Joe gave the hominoid water. Joe saw the interior of the craft and it was like black wrought Iron. There was one hominoid busy at an instrument panel and another hominoid working at what seemed to be a stove. A pile of pancakes sat nearby and Joe gestured at them and then received four pancakes from the man with the bucket. The hatch slid shut and the UFO took off to the south. The Pancakes were analysed and were composed of hydrogenised fat, starch, buck-wheat, soya bean hulls and wheat Bran. Joe ate one and it tasted like cardboard. The type of wheat was unknown. One of the pancakes went to NICAP in Washington and the third went to Dr J. Allen Hyneck and the witness had one left. Sounds like modern health food. Especially the cardboard part.

Lake Onega, Russia. 27th April 1961. A group of Hunters watched the approach of a UFO. It was early morning and an eggshaped flying object the size of a commercial aircraft that was travelling very low and very fast struck the ground. There was a tremendous noise and it appeared to cause considerable damage. The egg then regained its forward and upward motion and vanished from sight. There was no sound during the event. Three gouges were left in the vegetation as well as unusual green ice that was left over. The ice was analysed and contained Aluminium, Calcium and Barium, and also an unknown organic material. Metallic particles that were found were resistant to temperature and acid though they were not radio-active. The foil-like substances were of considerable strength and were recovered by Major Anton Kopeiken who sent the material to the Leningrad, now the Saint Petersburg, Technological Institute. Meteors do not hit the ground and then ascend into the Heavens again. But this one did. Neither do crashed aircraft.

Bailey's Beach, Long Island, New York State. 29th April 1961. Saturday. A spherical object was seen bobbing up and down in the waves 200 yards, from shore. Suddenly it rose to 60 feet above the sea and took off in a straight line out to sea at at least 100 miles per hour. Nor do Meteors hit the water and then ascend either.

In the spring April 1961 Mr. Thomas Morse reported that he had seen what appeared to be a monstrous eel with white teeth that raked rearwards in its mouth that was resting on the shore of North West Bay in Lake Champlain. North West Bay is in Westport in Essex County in New York State.

Lough Crolan, linked to Lough Derrylea, Connemara, Ireland. April 1961. Mr Tom Connelly saw a horse-eel in the Lough. It was an Eel-like creature with velvety skin and it was at least twelve feet long and was rising and sinking repeatedly in the one spot for over half an hour. There were many legends of the waterbeast and children were warned to stay away from the place. The creature was also called a Piast or Peiste and was said to travel across land at times. Is it more amphibian than true fish? Another salamander? A very big salamander?

Hurley, Iron County, Wisconsin. 2nd May 1961. Tuesday. The Pilot of a B-47 plane felt no gravity and stated "I felt this weightlessness-I was hanging by my straps".The plane crashed. This was at the same spot as another crash that had occurred here previously on 24th February of the same year. It's weird when accidents repeat in the same spots. Especially accidents with the unknown.

Between Eagle Bend and Osaks, Todd County, Minnesota. 10th May 1961. Wednesday. Mrs R. Vogt whilst driving her car ran into a three foot wide ball of fog which caused the interior of her car to heat up quickly. Mrs Vogt braked and got out. The windscreen was cracked and the bodywork was too hot to touch. The fog sounded like flying gravel when hitting the car. A ball of Micrometeorites surrounded by water vapour? Was the heat produced by the falling micrometeorites actually producing the fog in the damp air?

On 22nd May 1961 an ovoid aluminium coloured object flew over Santa Teresa del Tuy, sixty kilometers from Caracas in Venezuela, and landed on the site of earth moving operations in the Paraiso del Tuy area. Twenty witnesses, including engineers, topographers and police stated that it wove a path in and out of the hills, dodging trees and flying at low speed. It stopped in the air over some gamelote grass and one of the observers, Dr Rino del Negro, leaped into his jeep and followed it, catching up with it just before it diched behind a hill. As he reached a bend in the road he saw it vanish in the distance. On pulling up he saw that the tall gamelote grass had been flattened towards the ground in a circular patch sixty feet across. The same object had been seen three times in the previous day and it was described as moving in a sort of white cloud with fuzzy edges.

At 8.35 am on 26th May 1961 a UFO resembling a long white cloud or a fluorescent tube was seen over the sea off Devonport in Tasmania. It was moving slowly against the wind in a north northwest direction and was watched for a few minutes by the Young family. There was also another independent witness of the same object.

On the night of 29th May 1961 a strange object was seen in the sky over Gundagai in southern New South Wales that was watched for two hours. At one stage it eclipsed four fifths of itself as if a black curtain had been spread over it. The object was itself a bluish light and there were five witnesses and it was five times as bright as any star. Astronomers at Mount Stromlo Observatory did not know what it was. Stephen King took a four minute exposure of it with a high quality camera. The witnesses first saw the light at 4.20 am and it was last seen at 6.25 am. The photographic print, processed by a professional photographer in Canberra, showed three separate glowing areas of the strangest shapes that he had ever seen. Under a powerful microscope the shape was generally circular with a nose effect pointing earthwards.

Hudson River, Manhattan County, New York. May 1961. A Businessman piloting his own plane, saw a Bigbird like a huge Pterodactyl that swooped his plane though scarcely moving its wings. The Bigbird buzzed the witness like a fighter plane making a pass. We could easily disregard this sighting if it were not the only one to ever be reported. Maybe the Bigbird was visiting from Texas?

Savona, Italy. 3rd June 1961. A UFO emerged from the sea and shot up into the sky. Ho-hum. Another ascending meteor. There had been a lot of them this year.

Anchieta Highway, near Cubatao, Brazil, Santos. 5th June 1961. Monday. 2.30 am. The occupants of twenty cars plus Police including Patrolmen Jaime de Miranda and Astrogildo de Madieros as well as Marshall Jose Otavia Leite were all watching a glowing disc moving in the sky over the immediate area. Two Patrolmen called to the scene attempted to signal the UFO by projecting white from the Patrolcar spotlight. No results though. They then tried to signal it with a light which was focussed in the direction of the UFO. The Patrolmen turned it on and immediately the UFO swooped them. Marshall Juat then arrived and was about to shoot the craft with a rifle when he was stopped by a Patrolmen. After three hours of this the object began to lose its glow and started to fade and was gone by daybreak. The incident happened 48 kilometres from Santos. Light response! Intelligent recognition or luminous reaction?

On 8th June 1961 five people observed a UFO over Cairns through a telescope. It was oval-shaped and glowing bright red with three shining triangular fins and they observed it for twenty minutes. Several other residents of Cairns also saw “the Thing” at the same time with the naked eye.

On 29th June 1961 a mysterious flying object trailing red and white jets was seen over the Northern Territory in Australia. It was seen over Tennant Creek ten minutes after it was seen over Darwin.

Leakin Park, Carroll County, suburb of Baltimore, Maryland. June 1961. Mr. and Mrs. Fergeson saw huge eyes staring in at them through their car window. Mr. Fergeson got out of the car and followed the tall Bigfoot but ran back to the car when it began to growl.

Beulah, Benzine County, Michigan. 7th July 1961. Five miles from town two youths in a car saw a bluish white light travelling southeast to northwest at jet speed. The UFO then stopped and came lower and then rose to twenty degrees elevation, came closer to the ground and vanished behind some trees. A reddish glow appeared. The two youths drove back to town to get two other witnesses who all saw the object illuminating the countryside like the Full Moon would. The sighting lasted fifteen minutes. The object had been seen on Zimmerman Road and had a light like a rotating Beacon inside the light. Five minutes later the object came from the Forest followed by a white one. Both were close to the ground and interchanging positions. Then four objects appeared from behind the car and took part. The witnesses then drove back to town to get two more witnesses and they all saw it. Then the witnesses went back to town and three men came back but the object was now gone. It was not light responsive but certainly unusual.

Marshall, Harrison County, Texas. 11th July 1961. Mr Troy Peterson was watching a Meteor shower when he saw a blazing ball of fire streak in from the west and bury itself ten feet from him. Troy called the Sheriff and Deputy Lee Anderson came over. The object was too hot to handle even thirty minutes later.the object resembled a piece of charred petrified wood that sparkled and glinted and weighed 16 pounds yet was buried only four inches down. Troy said that it fell slowly. The Meteor shower was not reported anywhere outside of the locality. Nothing quite like a localised Meteor shower.

Shreveport, Caddo County, Louisianna. 12th July 1961. Wednesday. The roof of a house at 2065 Lovers Lane was hit by a hail of green Peaches which fell from the sky onto carpenters working on the roof of at the time. The peaches were the size of golfballs and there was no wind. The Carpenters had to evacuate from the roof. The majority of the Peaches fell there except for four which fell onto the adjacent property at 2062 Shadywood Lane. There was no cover in the area for anyone to hurl them from. The selective whirlwind strikes again. If there are other dimensions up there then anything can fall from them.

On 12th July 1961 two stationhands at Millmerran in Queensland in Australia saw an object the size of a kerosene tin with long flames pouring out of one end diving down towards them. Assuming that it was about to crash they went to where they projected that it would occur. There was nothing there when they got to the crash site.

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 21st July 1961. Evening. Miss Helen Stitt, her mother, father, sister, uncle, aunt and girlfriend Sandra camped beside the Loch only eight or nine miles from Inverness. The loch was silent and calm and Helen noticed quite a large disturbance in water. Then a large oval shaped object rose from the spot which formed slowly into four distinct humps which then swam across the water nearly to the edge and vanished. The humps were the same shape and dark grey or black with a total length of fifty feet. Had this fallen recently or was it always there?

Alstead, Cheshire County, New England, New Hampshire. 23rd July 1961. Sunday. At the home of Mrs Mabel Metcalfe the walls became hot after a violent storm. There was no fire or smoke and the heat was not fiery. There was no short-circuiting either. No one was hurt. The local fire brigade sprayed water on the walls and the water quickly evaporated and the walls remained hot. The fire brigade came back, sprayed the house again and left some men there. The house cooled down by midnight.Was Mrs Metcalfe’s home capable of holding lightning induced heat for quite a long period?

Loch Urabhal, near Achmore, Isle of Lewis, Western Isles, Scotland. 27th July 1961. Thursday. Mr Ian McArthur and Mr Roderick Maciver were fishing when they saw a creature with a hump swimming in the Loch. The creature had a small head or fin six feet from the hump and swam up and down in undulations. It was much bigger than a Dolphin and was only 45 yards away in shallow water. The creature appeared three times and swam like a Dolphin and not like an Otter. And Dolphins do not swim like fish. So we can rule out giant Otters or giant fish. What had been reported from here before? Mixed Lake and sea Monsters. In 1808 it was a very busy year. On the coast of Coll a huge Seamonster was seen by Mr McLean, the Parish Minister of Eigg, as well as the crews of fourteen different fishing boats and in 1821 five Gentlemen saw a Lakemonster in Loch Suainbal on the Isle of Lewis which was seen again by others in 1846 and 1856.

On 28th July 1961 dozens of people saw a saucer-shaped glowing object over Darwin harbour in the Northern Territory of Australia. It glowed with bluish light and had a long white flashing tail and was at a height of 2,000 feet. The object made a wide circle over the harbor and then flew southwards. A few minutes later a big ball of fire chased after a train on its way to Darwin. The train driver Mr. D. Clark and his fireman Mr. G. Fomin both saw it chasing after them.

Ten minutes later on 28th July 1961 a UFO was seen over Tennant Creek. Shortly after this sighting a UFO was seen over Wonora in the Northern Territory in Australia at an altitude of ten thousand feet, 8,000 feet higher than at Darwin.

Stanley, Gaston County, North Carolina. July 1961. Summer. Thousands of small toads fell during a rain shower onto the home of Mr and Mrs Cecil Moose on Norwood Road. They were the size of dimes and covered one acre of ground. They carpeted the ground even on the following day. Toads do not live in ponds or in groups and could not all have been sucked up by a selective whirlwind or waterspout unless it was very selectively scouring the countryside.

In a small town near Wilmington, Clinton County, Ohio, during Summer July 1961 a woman saw a nine foot tall Bigfoot being chased from house to house by a man with a shotgun.

Port Aransas, Neuces County, Texas, Gulf of Mexico. July 1961. The crew of the “Ruby”, a 67 foot Shrimp boat, hooked onto the unknown. The unknown submerged moving object was metallic and ripped the vessels stern off. The crew were saved by another fishing boat nearby. No submarines were in the area at the time. Not that any submarines might be admitting it. There have been similar collisions with the metallic underwater unknown. Just ask the crew of the “Hattie D” in 1964.

Meekathara, Western Australia. 6th August 1961. 3.30 pm. Mr Edwin Payne on “Mount Hale” sheep Station with twelve other witnesses saw twelve metallic white discs flying through the air. The discs gave off a fibrous, substance like snowy white mush and as it slowly fell it rapidly crumbled and vanished. The sighting was between 3.30 pm and 9.30 pm. The UFOs were travelling in pairs and there were no aircraft in the area at the time. Is the production of Angelhair part of the transmogrification process as an object passes through the Quasar Vacuum? Can an object only be capable of passing through the Quasar Vacuum if it is in the form of pure energy and the Angelhair is part of its reconstruction into hard matter again?

Smiths Ferry, Valley County, Idaho. 6th August 1961. Fifty-nine miles north of Boise a falling object from the sky struck a tree and burnt down through the trunk. After cutting the top of tree at thirty feet the object started a series of small Forest fires. The object was never found though it had burrowed down leaving the tree trunk hollow. Was this a bouncing exceptionally hot high velocity Meteorite that took off again?

What? Meteors don’t do this? It certainly looked like they do! What else does then?

Inverness, Highland, Scotland, Loch Ness. 11th August 1961. Friday. Mrs Stanley Hill and 13 others from the lochside Hotel “The Clansman” saw the Lakemonster loping along through the water only twenty-five yards from shore and only 75 yards from the witnesses. The Loch was calm and it was a fine day. There were three humps that were six feet long as well as two nearside flippers that came out of the water whilst paddling. The beast was a dark grey Charcoal colour and was seen clearly for five minutes. No head or neck was seen though and there was a shadow of the submerged part in the water. The creature traveled as fast as a rowing boat and left no wash. The humps rose two feet above the waterline. How unusual. The sighting of a Lakemonster in Loch Ness.

Twin Beaches, Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. 19th August 1961. Saturday. 8.30 pm. Seven witnesses including Mr Patrick Rakowki and Mrs Blanche Konecki saw a Lakemonster that was 40 feet long with a single twenty-five foot long hump though it also had a short hump on the rear end. The creature was yellowy brown and looked slimy and was swimming between five and seven miles per hour. The lakemonster was seen for four to five minutes. Unusual for Lakemonsters to be seen here as well as in Lake Manitoba. Was it a giant slug?

Sunland, Los Angeles County, California. 24th August 1961. Hot metal fell onto a vacant lot scorching a circle ten feet across. The falling metal fell too slowly for a Meteor and was too hot to handle. Haven't we had other slow Meteors recently? This one did not go back into the sky either.

Moscow, Russia. 31st August 1961. Several cars became stalled on a Highway thirty miles from the city of Moscow in Russia when a UFO hovered over them for a few minutes. The cars were unable to restart their engines until the object flew away. It is not a question of draining energy but of actually stopping the vehicles for limited periods. They could start again so the energy had not been drained nor had the starters been burnt out so as to render them inoperative.

Springfield, Hampden County, Massachusetts. August 1961. Over one hundred randomly selected automobiles had only their rear windows shattered by unknown projectiles. Were these Micrometeorites? Were the vehicles all facing in the one direction so as to be so selective or were other window reports conveniently overlooked for the sake of a good story. Much of our Phenomena details are based on witness interpretation as are possibly many of our sightings themselves so we cannot rule out misidentification or rearrangement of data by witnesses or secondary corroborators including journalists and Authors. That is why my priority has been dates and places and the patterns, if any, between them, not the Phenomena as such. Dates and places generally only get changed due to error or sloppily hand-written notes when scrawl gets misinterpreted and dates or figures are misinterpreted.

On 6th September 1961 a falling meteor struck the roof of a house in Bells in Grayson County in Texas.

On 10th September 1961 RAAF service policeman Corporal J. W. Smith was patrolling Laverton Air Force Base at 10.00 pm when he saw a flying flat disc in the sky that was visible for five minutes hovering over the base. The dsic gave off dull amber light and was spinning all of the time. Then it went slowly straight up into the sky for a minute and a half until it was out of sight. Later the disc came back still spinning and hovered in the same position again for a few seconds before departing again. Laverton is near Melbourne in Australia.

Indian Ocean. 18th September 1961. Monday. The Captain and crew of the “Queensland Star” were watching a UFO through cloud formation. The UFO was white and vanished into clouds and then reappeared again dropping down towards the sea. The UFO entered the sea only after the water in the surrounding area grew intensely bright and particles of white matter fell to the sea after the object had vanished. This did not behave like a Meteor. The sky and water were illuminated for several minutes afterwards. Angelhair? Entering the sea? Not acting like a Meteor?

Lancaster, Coos County, White Mountains, New Hampshire. 19th September 1961. Mrs Betty Hill and Mr Barney Hill, a mixed race couple, were driving on Highway three in the White Mountains near Lancaster between 10.00 pm and 3.00 am. Betty noticed a bright Star near the Moon and several times they got out to look at the Star, several times with binoculars. Barney saw red, amber, green and blue lights rotating around the bright star. There was no sound and suddenly the bright star swooped them and paced the car. Betty watched it through the binoculars. They stopped the car in the middle of the road and Barney looked through the binoculars. The bright star was a large disc and both witnesses walked to fifty feet from the craft which was has hovering just above some trees. There was a double row of windows and six Hominoids inside. One that Barney thought was the leader wore a black leather jacket. The UFO descended and as it did this fins holding red lights spread across the craft and landing gear lowering from its belly. Barney looked at the face of the only Hominoid looking at him and felt that he was going to be captured and he ran back towards Betty and the car yelling out that they were going to be kidnapped! They took off in the car. They then heard beeps and both felt drowsy. They arrived home at 5.00 am. Later under hypnosis events unfolded. Barney had inexplicably driven up a dirt Road to a roadblock and the engine quit. Several men appeared around the car and they guided the witnesses to the craft. The men had Mongoloid , broad and flat faces with large slanting eyes that wrapped around to the sides of the head. The Leader had large almond shaped eyes and the mouth was a slit. There was a vertical line on either side of the mouth and they had bluish grey skin. Barney was put on a table that was too short for him and Betty was examined medically. Unusual instruments touched her body in various places and samples of skin and fingernails taken. Some hair was pulled from her head and a long needle was pushed into her navel. The Aliens told her that this was a pregnancy test. She screamed when this occurred. Barney had a device put onto his genitals to collect semen. Betty communicated with the leader. They did not speak out loud and the Leader showed her a map. The hominoids were from another Galaxy. The Hills were then escorted from the ship. In a nutshell Betty and Barney Hill saw a UFO landing whilst driving at night and had been taken aboard for a medical examination. A classic Contactee case with all of the traditional features. Lost time, strange creatures from far away, an obsession with genitalia, the witnesses being unable to recall many of the details. Generally a dreamlike state. Was it a dreamlike state? A shared dreamlike state? How do you share a dreamlike state? Would you have to be hypnotised and fed a story? By whom or what? This is far more believable than synchronised dreaming.

Lake Lebsko, Stupsk, Baltic coast, Poland. 24th September 1961. It was a Full Moon and at 11.35 pm. Mr Czeslaw K. Kawecki who had been fishing with a friend suddenly heard the noise of rushing water in the sea 300 metres away. The sea surface was rising in one spot like a round hill and splashing water was rushing up like Fountains. A mysterious black Unidentified submarine object was then seen that silently rose a few metres into the air. There was a whirlpool in the water now. Next there was a sudden bolt of steady white light around the lower part that was segmented by convex dark streaks. The hovering object resembled a huge upside down funnel. The thin end of the funnel had a rounded top with a bent aerial like a stump on it. A second light appeared under the object after one minute and the object tilted northwards and showed its underside for thirty seconds. Then the craft glided fifty metres East making rotating movements in its bottom. The light then went bluish and more intense. At an angle of 45 degrees the craft took off into the sky. There were four other witnesses on the shore as well as the two Fishermen. Meteors always rise up out of the sea don't they? And they are always funnel shaped and rotating.

Neamt Monastery, Romania. September 1961. Mr Emanoil Manoliu was in the Monastery when he was suddenly dazzled by a bright light and then saw something like an upturned boat above the little hill by the lake. After a few seconds the object raised itself vertically and took off over the Mountains. The UFO was very quick and looked like a disc with a length of six to seven metres and a breadth of three metres. The craft vanished like a tornado in the air and caused a rush of wind. There was no sound. Next day witness went to look at the landing site. The grass had been singed and there was a light imprint in the soil as if made by a hard object. Ho-hum, in and out of the water they go.

West of Ross Lake in Whatcom County in Washington State in September 1961 a man saw a Bigfoot from a distance of only four hundred feet.The creature eventually walked away.

During September 1961 an odd metal ball that was larger than a soccer ball fell onto Reading in Berkshire in England.

On 2nd October 1961 Mr. Waldo J. Harris, a pilot, was preparing for a routine takeoff from Utah Cental Airport near Salt Lake City in Salt Lake County in Utah at noon when he noticed what he thought was another plane to the south which was still in the same position when he was airborne. Waldo decided to fly towards it and investigate it and realized that it was a large disc hovering with a rocking motion at an altitude of 6500 to 7000 feet. Waldo radioed the control tower and told them of it and that he was going to get a closer look at it. The craft was five miles away and seven other witnesses on the ground also saw it using binoculars and agreed that the object hovered with a rocking motion. It eventually moved at fantastic speed as Waldo attempted to close in by suddenly stopping and rising vertically. The object resembled sand-blasted aluminium, was fifty feet wide and five to ten feet thick in the centre and had the appearance of two shallow dishes joined together at the rim.

Sunset, Davis County, Utah. 14th October 1961. Saturday. 5.30 pm. Mr and Mrs Michael Burson independently of each other as well as several other independent witnesses saw four strange clouds that were seen heading east. These four particular clouds were travelling much faster than the other clouds in the sky and there were a pair of smooth discs seen as well. All four clouds seemed to be joined together by long strands of sticky stuff. The clouds looked more like fluffy blobs of cotton other than clouds. Angelhair in motion?

Two Harbours, Lake Superior, Lake County, Minnesota. 14th October 1961. Saturday. 5.00 pm. Several witnesses saw a UFO about a mile from shore which appeared from the sky and skidded into Lake Superior. The UFO was the size of a bulk ore carrier and it bobbed on the lake surface for several hours and then ascended into the sky and took off to the southeast. The same day as Sunset, Utah. Is there a linkage? What about Lake Superior? Lake Superior has a long history of unexplained disappearences dating back to 1897.

At 4.10 am on 20th October 1961 a large UFO that was 180 feet long with two bluish jetlike lights at each end hovered over Bankstown Airport in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. The object was visible for ten seconds and was 5,000 feet up. After the craft disappeared Mr. E. Vine stated that he smelt a strange exhaust gas.

Between Datil, Catron County, New Mexico and Pietown, Catron County, New Mexico. 23rd October 1961. A brilliant ball of flame flashed across the front of a car and then veered into the sky. Later as the same witnesses approached a dark Canyon the object suddenly reappeared and was travelling along in front of them. The object then broke into four smaller lights which followed alongside the car until they got to small Motel and Service Station. The car stopped and the objects took off. How does one bright light divide into four. If it was an energy flare it could. Is there a form of energy magnetism in which one of our strange energy flares gets attracted by another energy field such as a car and is attracted to or repulsed by it?

On 30th October 1961 at Wollongong in New South Wales in Australia several people saws a bright iridescent aerial object in the sky. At 6.25 pm the object was seen flying north at very high speed but with no sound and was described as a round, incandescent disc with a ling silver-green tail travelling parralel to the ground.

That same night of 30th October 1961 over Sydney in New South Wales in Australia a bright ball of fire was seen hovering over the city by dozens of people who telephoned newspapers and radio stations about it. The light moved very quickly northwards and travelled horizontally before disappearing into a cloud. Meteors do not travel horizontally.

Kokanee Glacier Park, British Columbia. October 1961. John Bringsli, a Bigfoot hunter stated that he saw an apelike creature on the trail at night.

Vukovar, Croatia. 10th November 1961. Broadcasts of the Vukovar Radio Station were interrupted suddenly and the electric lights failed or flickered for thirty to 40 seconds. The instruments recorded an appreciable rise in the level of static electricity around.

At the same time as the electrical interference a dark grey cloud drifted down over the town but was soon blown away by the wind.At the same time several Sodium lamps on a shelf completely isolated from any electric apparatus or electric cable began to glow. Can we have remote energy transfers or interferences? It is all theoretically possible. If you have enough electrical energy floating around through the air you certainly can. As an experiment stand under a high tension energy line with a thirty six watt fluorescent tube and pretend to be Darth Vader. The tube will glow and it will not need to be plugged into anything. You might glow as well if you stay there long enough.

North Dakota. November 1961. The two witnesses thought that a plane was in trouble. They got to the site to see a grounded UFO with several Hominoids moving around it. One of the Hominoids boldly waved the witnesses away. The witnesses went. It was raining at the time. Would you go too if an Alien waved you away? Sometimes you just don't get much detail but you still get recognizable themes.

Pinhal, one hundred miles from Porto Alegre, Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. November 1961. 9.30 pm. Mr Cavaleiro Mendes in his beach house had a strange urge to go outside for a walk on the beach. As he was walking Mr. Mende saw a huge light 900 feet away and had a strange desire to approach light which looked like a glowing disc. Then Mr. Mendes saw two Hominoids appear from behind it who wore helmets like football players wear. Mr. Mendes was unnerved and at the same time heard a message saying . "Don't resist because you can't. It's hopeless. If you doubt us, try to move your body". Mr. Mendes was paralyzed and he blacked out before coming to at 11.30 pm back at the beach house. He had a vague memory of someone scratching the skin of his forearm with an instrument. Sound familiar? More memory loss? More time loss?

Tobelak, 80 miles from Sverdlovsk, Siberia. 1961. A missing mailplane with four passengers and three crew was found intact on the ground in a small clearing in dense Forest. The Plane could not have landed there and looked as if it had been put down gently from above. The plane had been flying from Sverdlovsk to Kurgan and there was still fuel in the tanks and no structural damage or any apparent reason for the plane to come down at all. There were no signs of the passengers or crew either. An apparent saucer nest was nearby. The grass was scorched in a thirty metre wide circle and the Earth was depressed. Something very heavy and circular had landed there. No traces were ever found of the plane or its passengers and crew. The plane vanished from a Radar screen just after the Pilot communicated with ground control. Completely intact. When engine was tested it started first time. All mail intact. The Moscow Aviation Institute report stated that an unidentified object was tracked on Radar at the Control Tower and strange radio signals were heard at the time. There were no landing marks or footprints at the site.

Austin, Travis County, Texas. 1961. A radio report from an airliner stated that it had made eye contact with a UFO. The airliner then crashed. Something helped the plane to land in an unlandable Space and then left no traces of itself behind. Normal aircraft do not take off and land vertically as they are not designed to do it. Hadn't this just happened near Sverdlovsk?

Pitt Lake, Westminster County, British Columbia.1961. Near Vancouver a nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen. Ho-hum.

Between May 1955 and 1961 there was massive poltergeist activity in this area centering on the property of Bill and Ellen Hack. Over six years there were numerous stone falls as well as falls of other objects. Some witnesses were pulled along the ground by unseen forces. Strange lights were seen hovering around and eerie sounds were heard. Whe these dull torch lights appeared showers of stones would fall. Pieces of wood, iron, soap and even potatoes were sent to fall and sometimes inside buildings. On one occasion a thirty-five pound stone landed on the roof of a watertank but so gently that it did not dent it. Numerous witnesses, both white and Aboriginal, saw the phenomena which seemed to cover an area of 1.6 kilometres or one mile. Sometimes stones were seen rising up from the ground and clods of earth were found that were dry and dry underneath though it had been raining. There were no footprints in the wet ground either. At other times flying objects hit people as if intentionally yet whenever any of these objects dropped they never rolled or bounced but stayed where they landed even on slopes.

Alpine, Benton County, Oregon. During 1961 Larry Martin went with friends one evening to pick up a deer that one of them had killed when they found that it had been dragged away and they heard thrashing noises in the wood. Suddenly Larry saw a tall hairy creature in the torch light that he knew was not a bear because of its humanlike features. Martin was five feet ten inches tall and had to shine the light up into the beasts eyes. The men turned and ran and got into their car which at first would not start, but eventually did. The Bigfoot was standing close to the rear of the car and Larry could see it in the rear view mirror. The creature did not appear to want to chase the men.

Near Moricetown, British Columbia, sometime in 1961 a man and a woman were sitting at breakfast when they saw a black eight to nine foot tall Bigfoot walking across a field and then across a road.

Swedes Pass, Stevens County, Washington State. Near Columbia River. 1961. Near Bossburg a man and his wife saw a Hairy Hominoid.

Mount Everest, Nepal, Himalayas. 1961. Mr A. Kram, a Scotsman from Nairobi in Kenya, saw a Hairy Hominoid at nineteen,000 feet. Even more Ho-hum.

Clanton, Chilton County, Alabama. 1961. A Hairy Hominoid was seen and footprints were found in Peach orchards three miles south of Clanton near large swamps. The creature was supposed to head for the swamps at night and left large footprints that looked like hands and was seen by many individual witnesses. Sound like someone we think we know? So familiar and yet so mysterious. Common as muck as the English say but impossible to catch. Isn't that rather odd?

Ohio River Valley, West Virginia. 1961. A grey figure with huge batlike wings was seen standing on the road. It flew away when approached. A Moth who? Give it any name. A Flying Hominoid. Mothman. We've met him before too.

Big Cypress Swamp, Collier County, Florida. Everglades. 1961. A bird like a big Vulture but with a 55 foot wingspan was seen in the Big Cypress Swamp. It swooped a woman. A very big bird and not the one from “Sesame Street”.

Hollister, San Benito County, California. 1961. Many residents of area, witnesses, during earthquakes which were 2.5 minutes apart, saw that there were many flashes of light on the side of a hill. The flashes were like electrical discharges but there were no powerlines in the area. They were like small sequential flashes at random. Randomly generated Earth electricity? Energy from the sky?

Gulf of Siam. 1961. The crew of an unnamed ship saw a Lightwheel in the sea. An unknown ship but a known area for Lightwheels which had been seen here before in 1908 and 1953. Once again, familiar unknowns.

Huixtla, Chiapas, Mexico. 1961. Late in year. Rain fell and when it touched Human skin it produced blisters that later became dark stains that resembled hot oil burns. The raing eventually killed several children. Deadly pollution? Something else?

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1961. Numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Newspapers went to investigate. Large doglike tracks seen. Mainly seen on fringes of 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swampland. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. Area roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. Called Ozenkadnook Tiger. Also called Tantanoola Tiger. Tiger, Tiger, burning bright to borrow a phrase. But no matter how brightly burning still impossible to illuminate us as to its actual existence.

Irkutsk, Russia. 1961. A woman Doctor photographed a landed saucer with two beings which had emerged from it. The craft was shaped like a rocket on four legs and was a Buck Rogers style of Space ship.

Helensborough, Strathclyde, Scotland. January 1962. A thirty to 40 foot long Seamonster with a three foot long head.

disturbed Mr Jack Hay's dog on the beach. The creature was last seen slithering away into the water and leaving a single foot or flipperprint behind. A long snake with flippers? They are notorious around Scotland in the middle of Winter!

Aston Clinton, West Midlands, England, near Birmingham. 9th February 1962. Friday. 3.00 am. Mr Wildman whilst driving in his car saw a white oval object in the sky twenty feet above the road. The luminous object had portholes and evenly spaced black markings around it and was 40 feet wide. The car engine then suddenly failed when 60 feet from it though the headlights did not go out. Then the UFO was suddenly surrounded by a blaze of white haze like the Moon and it veered off to the right and vanished. It was a brand new car and the UFO was flying so low that it brushed frost off the tree tops onto the car as well. The frost nearly covered the windscreen. There was no heat coming from the craft and unlike some other sightings the paint was undamaged. How do we stop the engine and not the lights? Do we disable the points or the carburetor system and not the battery?

Santa Barbara Channel, Santa Barbara County, California. February 1962. Mr Forrest Adrian, a photographer, was using a remote controlled T.V. Camera to check where an oilwell casing entered the seafloor when he was startled by the appearence of a giant snake on the screen. The whole crew rushed in and also saw it. The snake was ten to fifteen feet long and had a knobby ridge running around like a spiral on the body. The creature swam bywhilst rolling around and around.Then several more giant snakes were seen and they seemed attracted by the camera lights. The depth was 179 feet and that is too deep for snakes. The witnesses christened the Seamonster "Marvin", friend of the sea. what they named the rest of them I do not know. There was a writhing nest of Seaserpents 180 feet down and they were all ten to fifteen feet long. Were they hatchlings? Oarfish, quite rare though, have been sighted on the California coast. Was this an oarfish community? Oarfish have a long single fin running down their backs, not spiral knobs!

In February 1962 Mrs. Maclean was at her country house on the Campbell River on Vancouver Island when she saw a seamonster. When her husband Alan came home he saw it too and telephoned a friend who arrived too late to see it. Mrs. Maclean stated that the creature was about eighteen feet long and about four feet from its snakelike head there was a big bulbous lump on its back which appeared above the water. The body was creamy yellow with a pattern of red like veins that ended at the rear in a darker ball. Both witnesses stated that the creature wallowed among the floating seaweed for quarter of an hour. Two fishermen had shot at it and initially thought that it was a sealion.

Fort Bragg, Mendocino County, California. February 1962. Mr Robert Hatfield, a logger, and Mr and Mrs Bud Jenkins were four miles from town. Robert was visiting the Jenkinses and they thought that they had heard a dog howling in terror. He went outside and saw a Hairy Hominoid only 60 feet away from them. It was huge and had a nearhuman black face, stubby bristles around its' mouth and cheeks and almost Human eyes and was peering over a fence that was six feet high. The head and chest were clearly above the fence. Bob's first thought was that it was a bear and her ran into the house to get e tothers.Both men dashed outside but there was nothing there. Then Hatfield ran around the corner of the house and ran straight into the Hominoid which sent himself sprawling. Hatfield yelled out "It's half man, half Beast!" and raced back for the door with the Bigfoot on his heels. Hatfield just got in and both men held the door shut as the Bigfoot kept pushing on it. They could not shut the door and Jenkins got his rifle and loaded it. The strange visitor then vanished. Later huge footprints were found that were sixteen inches long with one toe missing. A handprint was also found that was eleven inches across. A Hobo on the loose? I think not unless it was a very big hobo.

Pensacola, Escambia County, Florida. 24th March 1962. Five witnesses were in an Airforce rescue raft heading for a sunken ship when a storm hit. They ended up in thick fog and heard loud splashing noises around them as well as the overwhelming stench of dead fish. The noise came closer and they identified it as a hissing sound. Suddenly a neck like long pole that was ten feet high appeared. There was a bulb-like form on top of it and the pole seemed bent in the middle though it was sticking straight up. The neck went under the water several times and for an unknown reason all five witnesses abandoned the raft in terror. Mr E. B. McLeary survived. He had heard the screams of his friends one by one and saw the Seamonster before his last friend went under. The neck was twelve feet long and it held an elongated sea-turtle head of a brownish green colour. The eyes were green and it had oval pupils. McLeary made it to the wrecked ship and stayed there till dawn. Patches of brown crusty slime lay over the water surface. They're not nice at times. Previously there had been the fall of a sulphurous Meteor at Pensacola in 1952. Sulphur is only produced by volocanoes though and there are none in the area.

Bribie Island, Queensland, Australia. March 1962. Mr Robert Duncan saw two sightings in a fortnight of a Seamonster. Robert saw a whitish grey twelve foot long creature with a swan's neck and a whale's body as well as a fish's tail and fins on the island. A fortnight later a second Seamonster was seen which was nearly twenty feet long and had a long neck with a hairy crest. How Lucky to see two in one week in an area with no other Phenomenal history.

Rivoli, Torino, Italy. 12th April 1962. Monday. A young couple stopped in a car near a hill called the Pozzetto saw a lense shaped object coming down from the sky and land nearby. They then saw two Hominoids get out of the craft which resembled a light that was fifteen metres in diameter with green and clear lights. The object had been pulsating but stopped when the craft touched down. The Hominoids walked around and one pointed to the nearby wood and went into it. The other Hominoid jumped onto the UFO and went inside. The green light started once more and the machine rose unsteadily into the sky. On 9th April a furious fire broke out in that particular area during a torrential downpour. A coincidence with the fire? Previously there had been sightings of the Chariot of Herod here several times in 1808. This was an aerial light that could hover with amazing force. In 1872 an earthquake devastated Moncaliari whilst a blazing light was seen in the Constellation Orion. Red Fireballs were also seen in the sky and in 1937 red rain fell in Piedmont. Any connections? If the Phenomena are periodic then there is!

South Nevada, Nevada. 18th April 1962. Wednesday. 7.30 pm. During an earthquake there was a brilliant flash of light in the sky followed by rumbles of noise. There were no clouds in the sky. In one spot we have the earthquake and a strange flash of light. This odd UFO was first seen over Oneida, New York State, where it was seen as a glowing red object traveling west at high altitude. It was too high for a plane, too slow for a missile and it was not a meteor as it had been tracked on radar which cannot track meteors. It then moved across the states of Kansas, Utah, Montana, New Mexico, Wyoming, Arizona and California. Then it landed in Eureka, Nevada.

Shortly before the sighting at Eureka, Sheriff Raymond Jackson of Nephi, Juab County, Utah, noticed that the photoelectric cells on the streetlights were tripped by the bright object and he also heard a kind of roar as he saw a yellow-white flame going west. He then heard a series of booms and saw that all the lights went out. The lights in a doctor's office also went out at the same time as well as other lights in buildings that were not effected by photo-electric cells. There were several other witnesses who described that the light lit up the area like day.

Eureka, Juab County, Utah. 18th April 1962. Wednesday. 7.30 pm. Thousands of people, in fact the whole town saw a large UFO that landed near a power-station. It was unidentified and circular and there was a blackout lasting thirty minutes whilst the craft stayed near the powerstation. NORAD Radar had tracked it all the way from Canada and the UFO had landed during the earth-quake. Meteors cannot be tracked on Radar. And in another nearby area we have a large UFO hovering over the area at the same time as the earthquake for the duration of an electricity blackout. Any connection?

Initially the object came in over Cuba, Utah, and apparently landed to the west of the town of Eureka. The object was bright enough to trip the photo-electric cell that controlled the city street lights. The meteor or UFO possibly fell into the Wasatch National Forest.

Also on 18th April 1962 there were numerous witnesses of a strange aerial phenomenon above Las Vegas in Nevada. The object was tracked by radar and there was possible physical evidence. Nellis Air Force Base had initially tracked an aerial object on radar for a few seconds around 7.20 pm. Was initially heading northeast and then disappeared instantly to the south at an altitude of 10,000 feet. To people on the ground it was visible as a brilliant explosive red flare in the sky that was seen by dozens of witnesses. It resembled a red flaming sword flashing across the sky. Other witnesses stated that there was a series of bright explosions that broke up its trail across the sky. Sheriff's Deputy Walter Butt was in charge of the departments search and rescue team and consensus agreed that the flaming object had headed east and there had been a final explosion near Mesquite in Calrk County, Nevada near the Utah border. Butt investigated an area between Spring Mountain and Mesquite. Incidentally meteors cannot be tracked by radar so what was this?

That same night of 18th April 1962 General Laurence S. Kuter, NORAD, took off and was climbing through 10,000 feet when he saw a meteor come out of orbit. The object was cherry red, clear green, with a long white and red tail and he estimated it as being near Colorado Springs, El Paso County, Colorado. At the same time reports of the same object came in from Idaho, Utah and Arizona by OCD Regions Navy aircraft, B-52 crews and DC-8 pilots. All the reports were alike in shape, colour, and general direction of travel from south to north.

Fifty minutes after the Colorado Springs sighting, shortly after midnight, early on 19th April 1962, there were numerous reports to the FAA and AFLC command post of a luminous aerial object that was observed over Los Angeles, Teller County, Colorado, near Colorado Springs, Montana, Kansas and Utah. Captain Shields of the 733 Troop Carrier Squadron, Ogden, Utah, reported to the AFLC that the object appeared around 0300Z and was bright like burning magnesium that was traveling from the southwest to the northeast.

On 26th April 1962 a building was hit by a falling meteorite in Kiel in Schleswig-Holstein in Germany.

Bella Coola, British Columbia, Canada. April 1962. A woman and her children saw a female Bigfoot holding a youngster by the hand on the bank of the Bella Coola River. There's Bigfoot in them thar Hills and near those rivers. Just odd that we cannot seem to catch one.

Bella Coola, British Columbia, Canada. April 1962. A Bigfoot along with two youngsters was seen. Was this the same as the other sighting that April in the same area but the female Bigfoot had found another youngster?

Bella Coola, British Columbia, Canada. April 1962. A Bigfoot was seen by several witnesses in the village at night.

Alltsaigh, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 11th May 1962. Friday. Mrs Christie saw the Loch was very calm when suddenly there was a massive commotion in part of it. There was a foaming and spraying of water and an eggshaped head on top of a four to five foot long neck appeared. The neck stood up like a mast and appeared in the midst of the commotion. Further back at intervals of six feet there were humps that were greenish and black and two feet long. The creature was travelling faster than a quick motorboat and seemed to be doing the breaststroke and was 60 yards from shore and 160 yards from the witness moving North up the Loch parallel with the shore. The creature had a terrific bounding motion. There was definitely a big something in that thar Loch. The question remains though that if these creatures are so apparently common how come they are still unfindable. How can we find Gorilla troops in the wilds of Rwanda and strange Antelopes in Vietnam but we cannot find any of these devilish denizens when we want to? And we are not in isolated areas. Many of our recurrent creature sightings are in highly populated areas and yet these supposedly relict populations are unable to be found. It is as if these creatures are visiting in many cases rather than inhabiting. It is as if we share Fauna and possibly Flora with different dimensions at different times. That is why nothing seems real. Because in many cases it may not be really here but only viewable from here. It is like a holographic window. It may look, smell, sound, feel and even taste like it is here but it may be in fact a constructed limited term pseudo-reality created using the Free-Form power of the Quasar Vacuum. Namely the multi-dimensional image is projected through the Quasar Vacuum in a variety of forms, quite often being camouflaged by the observer into a recognisable reality based on their own personal or group symbolism, and by impacting through the uses of all of the senses like virtual reality can assimilate data that can be sent back and used. For all intents and purposes you may travel the Universe without leaving wherever you are. This may account for the dreamlike status of so many of our sightings. They actually are not real and never were in a continuous sense.

Between Rosario and Cordoba,Cordoba Province, Argentina. 12th May 1962. 4.00 pm. A pair of young Ladies in a car entered a thick fog that covered the road. Before seeing the fog the witnesses had seen a brilliant elongated light with streaks of green, red and yellow on it that crossed the road in front of them. When the fog became considerably decreased the witnesses saw a reddish hut shaped UFO with windows or portholes. What is the fog that figures so prominently in many of our cases.

Is the fog a more diffused form of our Angelhair, the loosened pre-creation or pre-pseudocreation in its Cold Plasma State?

Oncativo, Cordoba Province, Argentina. 12th May 1962. Saturday. A landed UFO had been seen here. Ho-hum. There had been a large saucer sighted near here in 1943 that left a strange metal block behind and the same day as the 1962 sighting a pair of young ladies in a car entered an odd fog and saw a UFO with many lights on it crossing the road in front of them.

Zapala, Nequen Province, Argentina. 12th May 1962. Saturday. A landed UFO had been seen here. ZZZZZZZZZ.

La Pampa Province, Argentina. 24th May 1962. Thursday. A woman and her husband were witnesses to a UFO sighting. The womanwas taken to Hospital in shock when they saw two robot-like creatures come out of a landed disc that was a machine. The witnesses had been frightened by the manlike robots and the UFO had left an eighteen foot scorched circular mark on the ground. If we are a form of projected pseudoreality then how do we create leftovers in our own physical reality like odd metal blocks and eighteen foot scorch marks? The pseudoreality interacts with our reality as if it were real. Any interactions capable of permanent detachment from the original pseudoreality may be able to be left in our dimension. For example the heat produced by some of the pseudo-realities could scorch the Earth, our eyes, and even our skin, common side-effects of Phenomenal interaction. The leaving of solid objects or traces is also commonly reported. These things may have detached themselves from the pseudoreality and then been stranded in our dimension. Some melt over time like our Angelhair and even some of our craft. Others have longer duration spans. Could these be various side-effects of the transmogrification through the Quasar Vacuum?

Lake Meridian, Kent, King County, Washington. 25th May 1962. Friday. What appeared to be a flaming plane making a loud roaring noise was seen to plunge into Lake Meridian. There was a loud explosive sound heard on impact but no planes were reported missing. Is it that more items fall into the water or that more witnesses live around water?

Westfield, Tioga County, Massachusetts. 26th May 1962. 11.45 pm. Seven independent witnesses saw a brilliant oval object emmitting sparks at both ends descend behind some trees. The centre was white or yellow. The exact landing place was on Massachusetts Highway 23 three quarters of a mile from the junction with Highway 20. the object was large and impressive and could be seen from two miles away. A very big illusion or a transient pseudoreality?

Gulf of Siam. 30th May 1962. Wednesday. The Captain and crew of the “S. S. Telemachis” saw a Lightwheel which started off as parallel lines which became curved lines which rotated clockwise in the water. Another group of rays also appeared that went counterclockwise. The depth finder was turned on and it showed the charted depth with no variations indicating that the Lightwheel then had no mass. Some say that Lightwheels are composed of minute plankton forming gigantic moving patterns. Very well co-ordinated plankton. What about an energy or magnetic field creating a luminescence effect on the plankton already there in their billions.The field moves and rotates and revolves and does whatever it actually is that Lightwheels do and only gives the illusion of being made of moving luminous plankton? Seeing that the plankton are only in a thin layer near the surface of the water the Lightwheel would then appear to have no depth.

Manchester, near Mount Glastenbury, Bennington County, Vermont. May 1962. Mr Richard Bentley, from Sunderland, and his dogs went out hunting. Richard knew the area well and was searching for wild Ginseng plants. Neither Richard nor his dogs were ever seen again. No traces were ever found. There is something or someone very odd in the Mount Glastenbury area. Since 1945 at least eight people had mysteriously disappeared in the one small scarcely populated area. Eventually the township itself became almost uninhabited.

Urbana, Wabash County, Indiana, was visited by a black panther in May 1962.

On 6th June 1962 at 11.20 am six silent UFOs were seen flying over “Shalimar” near Caroda in central New South Wales in Australia. Many residents saw them and the first of them resembled a very brilliant star that climbed slowly to the zenith where it disappeared. A few minutes later a second cicular silvery globe was seen travelling from the north in an arc. After completing a circle it hovered for ten seconds then moved to the southeast. A third object then appeared resembling the first and travelling the same course. Then another speck appeared in the west and appeared to leave a trail of shiny, weblike filaments which gradually disintegrated as they fell. Two UFOs followed it and were not seen for very long. Afterwards a hazy mist of light threads seemed to fill the sky. Traces of these silvery threads were up to five feet long.

Trimble County, Kentucky. 8th June 1962. Friday. Several individual witnesses including Mr Owen Pike, also called Powell, a farmer and Mr Siles McKinney. A six foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen that was black and had long arms. The hairy hominoid killed two dogs and also killed a calf belonging to Mr. Siles McKinney. The carcasse was found fifteen feet from the calf enclosure yet the gate was still shut. There were clawmarks and black hair found around the barn and the calf was killed by a blow to the head. Large footprints like a giant dog were found. There were many sightings at the time of a large animal that looked like a Gorilla with long arms reaching to its knees. Had we met him here before? No! We have had Airships, strange weirdly dressed Hominoids, a fishfall, daynight and odd icefalls but no Hairy Hominoids in this area. Now we had one.

Bedford, Trimble County, Kentucky. June 1962. 44 miles northeast of Louisville reports of a creature not quite a dog or a bear attracted a lot of attention. The creature was six feet tall, walked on its hind legs with its arms reaching to its knees and was covered with black hair. A Zoologist could not identify its tracks. The hairy visitor would be around here only for 1962 and would be replaced later by UFO sightings and the appearence of a giant Lizard.

Mar de Plata, Buenos Aires Province, Argentina. 15th June 1962. Many witnesses saw a UFO land. Ho-hum.

Miramar, Buenos Aires Province, Argentina. 15th June 1962. 9.30 pm. Witnesses saw a UFO flying in from the South Atlantic. The UFO was vividly illuminatedand had three very bright lights, red in the centre, yellow on the right and green on the left. The size of the cigar-shaped craft was greater than the Moon and it hovered over the area for a while. Still Ho-hum.

Kimberley, South Africa. 15th June 1962. Two brown football sized objects made of soft material fell from the sky. Three days later they had shrunk and turned white. Giant dog-droppings? The twin objects had originally been the size of soccer balls with quarter inch thick skins. There were holes in them and they were brown and soft but not leather, rubber or plastic.

Shortly before midnight on 15th June 1962 two witnesses, Nechayev and Sindeyev, were fishing in the Kabarga River at Lesozadovsk near the Soviet-Chinese border in the Primorskiy Kray Maritime Territory in Sikhote-Alin in Siberia when they saw a crimson-coloured luminescent sphere that stopped at a short distance from them, hovered for a while and then flew away.

On 19th June 1962 two UFOs were seen over Southern Queensland. One was seen over Brisbane and the Gold Coast hinterland and witnesses described a green ball that passed over the area and cast a thirty foot wide green glow on the ground.

Monument City, Huntington County, Indiana. before 26th June 1962. A giant cat attacked Mr Ed Moorman by leaping onto him unexpectedly and clawing his face before vanishing when Mr Moorman fired his gun. It was a large tan-coloured animal but was not a Puma. Had Tiddles been here before? We had an Airship here in 1897 and spontaneous combustion in 1951. Tiddles had just appeared. And then she disappeared.

At 9.00 pm on 29th June 1962 mystery lights appeared over Darwin Harbour travelling at terrific speed but appearing controlled. One large light was seen going across the harbor and then veered off to the north-west. The light was regarded as greenish in colour to some of the witnesses and was reflected in the sea whilst it travelled from east to west rather erratically. Meteors do not travel erratically.

Castle Urqhart, Loch Ness. Highland, Scotland. 29th June 1962. On the G. Hasler expedition on the junk-rigged “Jester” witnesses saw humps and eddies on the south shore of Loch Ness that made a strong clicking noise on the hydrophone. There was also a small disturbance twenty yards behind it followed by two separate disturbances eight to ten feet apart. Later in the day at the mouth of Urqhart Bay the Lakemonster was fifty feet away. There were two small rotating eddies eight to ten feet apart followed by a smaller one forming a triangle. A dark hump then appeared in place of each eddy that was round in shape and oval, two to three inches tall, six inches long by three inches wide. Always there but still never there.

Hazel, Calloway County, Kentucky. June 1962. A 28 foot long snake was seen by several individual witnesses. Snakes that are unknown to Science just like to appear at times. Just ask the Pennsylvania Python. Had he moved southwest?

Huntington, Huntington County, Indiana. June 1962. There was a lion seen near the town. Several farmers including Edward Moorman were waiting for it with rifles but unfortunately two excitable City employees of an Indianapolis television station fired their guns too soon and the animal decamped the scene quickly before getting within range. And then Tiddles the tan coloured cat was gone forever like so many of our other Phenomenal animals. They seem to possess no continuity. Surely they would have been remarked on in their passing from one area to another?

Turtle Creek, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. June 1962. 11.30 pm. Mr Gregory Scott, was lying in bed paralysed by lightbeams coming from outside. There was also a heavy breathing sound and then the paralysis left. Greg then went outside to look for his pet Collie dog which had disappeared. Other dogs in the area had vanished as well. The dognapper is back.

Turtle Creek, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. June 1962. The case of paralysis had happened to the same witness the previous night. This night Mr Greg Scott was driving with his girlfriend when they saw a strange object with four windows on it rise up from behind his farmhouse. The object was a dark oval shape and seemed to have been in the woods behind the house. Had it paralysed the witness and stolen the dogs the night before? What can't Mr Greg Scott remember?

Crespo, Entre Rios, Argentina. 18th July 1962. Wednesday. Dr Gazua, a well known Physician in Crespo, saw a large saucer land beside a road and two giants came out of it. Giants from UFOs? Why not. We have interwhatever dogcatchers.

Asheboro, Randolph County, North Carolina. 19th July 1962. Two adults saw an object whizz through the trees and settle in a creek accompanied by the sound of bubbles. Bubbles of steam or bubbles of escaping air or gas? If steambubbles why not steam vapour as well?

At 6.35 pm on the night of 23rd July 1962 a strange flying object with square lighted windows was seen over Northfield and Yatala Vale in South Australia and it glowed with a bright white light from the windows. The object seemed to be revolving and hovering at the same time just under a layer of cloud and after five minutes it sped off towards Port Adelaide. A woman in Joslin nearby, also in Adelaide, also reported a similar object in the sky.

Near Bajada Grande, five kilometres from Parana, Entre Rios, Argentina. 27th July 1962. Friday. Mr Ricardo Meres,17, a student, was riding his motorbike five kilometres from Parana when he saw a tall being with very long hair and a melon shaped head and three eyes that stared at him without blinking. The witness's motorbike had died shortly beforehand when the engine just refused to go. The Hominoid grabbed the witness's scarf off his neck and threw it to the ground. The Hominoid then walked robot-like around the motorbike and left clear footprints in the sandy soil. After the Hominoid left the motorbike started again. During the entire sequence of events there was a luminous UFO hovering in the sky. There were many independent witnesses of the UFO. Later Ricardo returned with other witnesses and discovered footprints and his scarf lying in the road. Some people just cannot stand scarves. Others can't stand dogs.

Bernina Pass, Graubunden, Switzerland, Swiss Alps. 31st July 1962. Tuesday. 9.30 am. Mr Monguzzi and his wife photographed a saucer shape with an aerial on it that was nestled on the snow. There was a Hominoid in a strange suit and helmet like a spacesuit near it to the left. The Hominoid held an object like a torch in one hand and an object like a walkie-talkie with aerial on back but when the Hominoid saw the witnesses after a few minutes it vanished into the UFO which rose up and sped away into the sky. The viewing only lasted a few minutes. One-offs again.

Urbana, Wabash County, Indiana, was visited by a black panther in July 1962. There had been sightings here in May 1962. as well.

Mount Vernon, Rockcastle County, Kentucky. July 1962. A Hairy Hominoid was first seen hunched on all fours in a sitting position and it then hopped up to a double dating foursome of young people parked in a car. The creature was covered in hair, mansized and growling at the people. The Hairy Hominoids especially in the eastern and central States have a predilection for sneaking up on young lovers in isolated places.Does the scent attract them for it seems unusual for young lovers to have much more on their subconscious than what they were doing or wanting to do. Therefore we have a separate pseudoreality. After all we might not be the only creators of this apparent reality. It might well be camouflage for something or someone else. Travel via the Quasar Vacuum might not be all accidental or unintentional.

Stoney Lake, near Hixon, British Columbia. July 1962. Alex Hindstrom whilst out on the lake saw a heavily built eight foot tall Bigfoot on the shore that left quickly as he approached it.

Camba Punta, Corrientes Province, Argentina. July 1962. Senor Luis Harvey, the Airport Manager, and his staff, saw a spherical UFO hovering over the runway. The UFO had come down at high speed and stopped a few feet above the runway for three to four minutes and the craft was emmitting powerful blue, green and orange lights. At least it recognised the proper place to land. Much like our French UFOs in the 1950s.

Le Brusc, near Toulon, Var, France. 1st August 1962. Late night. Three Fishermen out in two boats saw a strange submarine in the sea. Some Frogmen were climbing out of the sea onto the craft. One of the Fishermen called to them with a loudhailer from one thousand feet away. Only one responded who turned and waved his arm then went inside. The craft then rose up out of the water showing red and green shining lights as well as a white searchlight that shone towards the boats. Then all lights went out and the craft glowed orange, began to rotate faster and shot off into the sky. There was no sound at all from it. Is the rotation so often apparent part of the creation of a reverse electromagnetic or protective field?

Lockland, Hamilton County, Ohio. 3rd August 1962. Mrs Mary Martin, 74, was sitting in her kitchen chair when one of her neighbors heard her scream. They ran to her and found her clothing on fire but she died from an unknown cause. Another seemingly random event in an area with a very busy history of seemingly random events. There had been thirty phenomenal events in this area since 1892. This is a very high rate of activity compared to normal.

On 7th August 1962 at Lemon Creek near Nelson, British Columbia, Mr. John Bringsli, a woodsman and hunter, was picking huckleberries when he suddenly saw a seven to nine foot tall Bigfoot with four inch long gray-blue hair covering its body walking slowly towards him. The creature seemed curious and when it got to within forty feet of John he sprinted for his car and drove away.

Shortly after on 10th August 1962 in Siskiyou County in California Mr. Joseph Wattenbarger whilst driving in daylight saw an eight foot tall dirty silver coloured Bigfoot with a flat face.

Waterhen River, Lake Manitoba, Manitoba, Canada. 12th August 1962. Sunday. Mr Richard Vincent and Mr John Konefell, an American television commentator, were in an outboard motorboat when they saw Manipogo 300 yards away to their left of boat. They photographed Manipogo. The gunwhale of the boat was visible in the photo. The lakemonster swam with a ripple action and there was two feet of hump visible . the creature was large and black like a snake or eel but one foot in girth, twelve feet of it above water. The back was coiled up like an arch but there was no head visible.The witnesses' boat could not catch up with it it moved so fast. Manipogo again. Previously there had been sightings of Manipogo in 1908, twice in 1935 by numerous people, once in 1957, twice in 1960 and once in 1961. Remember that we are dealing only with data that has a significant place value and a definite date even if only to a year. One cannot chronologize "several years ago over there" very well at all no matter how many reports one might have like that. Unfortunately they are the usual so this will help explain why some areas that have long folkloric histories of Phenomena get very little mention.

Duas Pontes, Diamantina, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 17th August 1962. Friday. Mr Rivalino Mafra da Silva and his three sons, Raimundo da Silva, Fatimo da Silva and Dircean da Silva. Mr da Silva had come across two dwarf Hominoids digging a hole. Mr da Silva never knew that this chance encounter would change his life Forever.

On 19th August 1962 a hovering UFO appeared to be reconnoitering the Sheffield Reservoir system in England.

Duas Pontes, Diamantina, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 19th August 1962. Sunday. Evening. Mr Rivalino Mafra da Silva and his three sons, Raimundo da Silva, Fatimo da Silva and Dircean da Silva. Three days before Mr da Silva had come across two dwarfs digging a hole. He was seen by his three sons. They had also found a cleanly swept area 16 feet across where UFOs were seen. There were also traces of blood on the ground. Two glowing spheres the size of footballs appeared. They were flying over Mr da Silvas hut. There were also strange 1.5 foot high forms wandering around that night. These Hominoids were seen by the neighbours to enter the house and peer at the family as they lay in their beds.

Duas Pontes, Diamantina, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 20th August 1962. Monday. Dawn. Mr Rivalino Mafra da Silva and three sons, Raimundo da Silva, Fatimo da Silva and Dircean da Silva. That morning one of Mr da Silvas sons found two strange balls on the ground at the door of the hut. One was black and the other black and white. Each had a tail and a sort of spike on them. The father and many others came out to investigate them. The balls then joined together and launched themselves at Mr da Silva, enveloping him in a cloud of yellow smoke. Mr da Silva then completely disappeared.One of the boys had also since disappeared. It was rumoured that Mr da Silva had seen dwarfs burying something nearby that he should not have seen. When your number is up it is certainly up.

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 20th August 1962. Nine members of the Edenhope Hunt Club chased a Thylacine-like animal through the scrub. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals and the newspapers went to investigate. Large doglike tracks were seen mainly on the fringes of a 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swamp. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines, extinct Tasmanian Marsupial Tigers. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The creature was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger as well as the Tantanoola Tiger. Not quite a Kitty. At least this one has a continuous history. But is it a continuous Phenomenal history or a normal but denied natural history?

Allied Gardens, San Diego County, California. last week August 1962. From 10.00 am to 2.00 pm for several weeks Walnut size rocks fell down onto the home of the Kenneth Snyder family at 5673 Barclay Avenue. Fell straight down from the sky. Where do you get so many walnut sized rocks from? If they were common to the locality surely someone would have stated this merely to debunk the story?

Concord, Cabarrus County, North Carolina. 28th August 1962. Tuesday. Mr Grady Honeycutt whilst fishing in his boat saw a shining globe the size of a bowling ball fall slowly into the water and come to rest on the bottom of the lake. Grady rowed over to ball which glittered and was covered with short spikes. The Sheriffs Office was notified but by the time the Deputies, Ted May and Bob Eury, had arrived the sphere had disintegrated into a tangle of shiny wire. By morning only strips of what seemed to be Aluminium foil were seen on the lake bottom. Aluminium is not soluble in water. Whatever the sphere was made out of was. By the time Army divers had arrived there was nothing left. A strange sphere with a spike? Hadn't our poor Mr da Silva met two of those only nine days earlier? Even if we thought that the previous story was made up isn't it rather too coincidental?

Dolores, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 28th August 1962. Tuesday. Three witnesses saw a brightly lit, transparent UFO sitting 300 yards from National Highway Number Two near Dolores. There were Hominoids moving around inside of it and it was thirty feet long by fifteen feet wide. Ho-hum. Coincidental date oddly enough. Amazing the number of coincidental dates one gets at times.

Blackstone, Nottoway County, Virginia. August 1962. There was a fall of beans and peas only. Somebody lost a vegetable garden?

Between Salta, and Metan, Salta Province,Argentina. August 1962. 7.00 pm. Two people in truck and three in a car though one was asleep saw a large UFO the size of the Full Moon which stopped in front of the truck in the middle of the road. The UFO had a bulging area on top of the main body, with pink, green and white lights blinking around the bottom. There were two people in a car 300 feet behind the truck who got out and hid in the bushes on the side of the road. The trucks lights went out and the UFO began to rock gently and took off to the north at high speed. Five minutes after this the two hiding men went up to the truck. The truck driver and his companion were throwing dirt from the side of the road on to the engine which was was smoking and giving off the smell of burnt rubber. The angry Truckie said “That Flying Saucer-do you see the rotten thing they did to us?”. The truck attack occurred 87 miles from Salta. A new truck engine is not cheap at any time.

Mount McLoughlin, Jackson County, Oregon. August 1962. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. Had we seen one here before? Yes! In 1960 and again in 1977.

Near Hixon, British Columbia. August 1962. A woman saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot walking towards her whilst walking along a creek bed. On seeing the woman the Bigfoot jumped into the bush.

Blue Clay Springs, Wayne County, Indiana. August 1962. A group of young people saw a six to seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid in an Indian graveyard. The creature had flaming eyes and white hair all over it and also had four toes. The Bigfoot stood on two feet and ran on four. The footprints showed four long toes which are totally unlike a bears. Back to Indiana. We’ve had lots of odd things here including a run of big cats in 1947 and 1948 and froglike Hominoids along with UFOs in 1955. The only other Hairy Hominoid was in 1959. Time and Space clusters again?

Between Quesnel and Prince George, just off the Cariboo Highway, in British Columbia in Canada in August 1962 Mrs. Calhoun was waiting in a small creek waiting for her daughter to return with their lunch when she heard a noise that she at first thought was her daughter and turning to speak to her she saw the half-human and half-animal eyes of a strange creature that was observing her. She picked up her hunting rifle to protect herself from this creature that appeared human with very long arms. It had small black eyes and blonde-brown hair on its chest and long, loose matted hair on its head. The creature had high cheek bones, a wide flat nose, a sloping forehead and a mouth that stuck out. The creature made no noise or sounds though it moved its lips and then it jumped into the bush and disappeared.

Vila Conceicao, near Barcelos, Rio Branco, Amazonas, Brazil, 1st September 1962. During a UFO flap seventeen chickens, six pigs and two cows disappeared. What, no dogs?

Buyin-Zara, Iran. 1st September 1962. Twelve thousand villagers died during an earthquake. Thirty-nine people reported an orange-red glow over Rudak, a region then with no electricity supply at the same time. The glow was followed by the sound of a low-flying aeroplane. Earthquake related lights we are getting used to but earthquake related aeroplane noises?

Appletree Point, near Burlington, Lake Champlain, New York State. 3rd September 1962. Labour day. Mr Walter Hard, the former Editor of "Vermont Life" saw "Champ" for ten minutes. The head was large and whitish and round like a beachball and was snakelike in form. There were three or four humps up in the air that were vertical and not horizontal like a snakes would be. At least "Champ" is eternal. We hope.

Duncannon, Wexford, Ireland. 9th September 1962. An object fell from the sky that was the size of a Baseball with four single four inch long spikes on it. The falling object created a crater three foot in diameter by eighteen inches deep. Police cordoned off area and the authorities took it away. This was the third metal spiked ball alert in less than two months.

Oradell Reservoir, near Edgewater, Bergen County, New Jersey. 15th September 1962. 7.55 pm. Three boys and a man among others saw an oval shaped object splashing down into Oradell Reservoir then quickly taking off again. We are also getting used to strange lights plunging into bodies of water and then rising up again. Remember, our own technology cannot do this. This has been a very busy area as well.

Vila Conceicao, near Barcelos, Rio Branco, Amazonas, Brazil. 16th September 1962. Sunday. Telemaco Xavier and others had been to a Soccer game when shortly after the game he was seen being grabbed by three Hominoids and taken into a round, glowing object giving off sparks. The object then vanished into the sky. Telemaco, who had been struggling, was never seen again. No dogs but maybe a taste for humans? What is it about Brazil? Do they get wilder sightings because they are wilder people?

Manitowoc, Manitowoc County, Wisconsin. September 1962. A 2.5 pound piece of steel that was evidently part of much larger mass fell to earth. The steel mass had been worked into shape and machined and also showed signs of having passed through the Earth's atmosphere very fast in which two sides of it had melted. The steel object was sent to the Smithsonian Institute Astrophysics Laboratory. Its probably still there gathering dust and conveniently lost. Unless it melted away like so many other of our Fairy gifts. Whatever you do, try not to get them wet!

Blue Clay Springs, Wayne County, Indiana. September 1962. There were several sightings of hairy hominoids in the area.

Woorim, Moreton Bay, Queensland. Australia. September 1962. Mr Robert Duncan, 68, saw a Seamonster through binoculars. The creature was smooth-bodied like a Whale with a neck like a swan but fat and a fish-like tail and no scales. There were fins along the neck and near the tail and the body was shiny and a greyish white colour. It was also twelve feet long. The creature repeatedly raised its neck out of the water and then flipped its strange tail. It were no giant garfish. Mr. Duncan had also had two sighings on Bribie Island Queensland in March that same year. One fortnight later Mr. Duncan saw it again six miles from the northern point of Bribie Island and this time it had a fin or hairy crest and was twenty feet long. The snout was flat like a pigs with two little holes near its centre.

Clarence, Cedar County, Iowa. September 1962. It was reported that hundreds of limestone pebbles came dribbling slowly down from the sky. Some had specks of tar on them. Tar and limestone are common features of the air aren't they? And we know full well that gravity can be variable at times. Even if Science disagrees with us.

Montreal, Jacques Cartier County, Quebec, Canada. 10th October 1962. It was 8.00 pm and witnesses on the “M. V. Roxburgh Castle” were moored at Section 24 on the Montreal docks when white filaments fell from the sky. They were so numerous that they were hanging around stanchions and topping off the lift wires of derricks. They were quite tough and resilient and the witnesses stretched them and they would not break though they were easily dissolved in the witness’s hand. After three to four minutes they disintegrated into nothingness. It had strength but not durability. Is this a clue to the construction of many of our phenomenal sightings? The objects are solid but only for a limited time

On 18th October 1962 there was a fall of Angel Hair that quickly vapourized onto Gadsby in Salt Lake County in Utah.

Loch Ness. Highland, Scotland. 19th October 1962. Mr Michael Spear saw a Lakemonster in the searchlight beam from his boat. The creature resembled a fingerlike object standing six to eight feet out of the water. Was it a tree-trunk standing up in the middle of the Loch where none were ever reported before? If there ever was a forest here it would have been a long time ago, in fact millions of years ago.

Urqhart Bay, Loch Ness. Highland, Scotland. 19th October 1962. Five witnesses were watching the sudden activity of red Salmon and seatrout congregated in the bay to catch the first spate of the river. The aimless jumping of the fish turned into a concerted rout with everything scuttering out into the middle of the Loch away from something. Eight witnesses then saw a length of back six to eight feet long breaking the surface 200 yards away that cruised slowly after fish. Fifty feet of film was shot. This was thee same day as the nonexistent treetrunk was seen.

At 6.15 am on the morning of 26th October 1962 a luminous UFO hovered over the Horsetooth Rerservoir near Masonville in Larimer County in Colorado. This was the third UFO visitation to a reservoir since 19th August when a UFO was seen over the Sheffield Reservoir system in England followed by the Oradell Reservoir sighting of September 15th that same year.

Norwood, Suburb of Adelaide, South Australia. 28th October 1962. 7.30 pm. Mrs Sylvester and her three children,10, eight and six years old , were travelling in a car on the Salisbury to Elizabeth Road when a UFO glided across the road in front of them heading for a landing site in a field. On reaching the landing spot all of the witnesses got out of the car and saw an oval thing that was fifteen feet long by five to six feet high. Next to it stood a tiny Hominoid in a shiny suit and a translucent helmet connected by tubing to gear on its back. The tiny hominoid carried a shiny box and was taking soil samples and was in view for 40 minutes before it re-entered the craft and it silently took off. A tranquil pastoral scene that we have seen so many times before.

In the Spokane area in Spokane County in Washington State in October 1962 Mr. Dutch Holler and his uncle who were both hunters saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot that was swinging its arms as it walked.

Between Vedder Crossing and Yarrow, southwest of Chilliwack, in British Columbia one night in October 1962. an off-duty bus-driver named Joe Gregg saw a Bigfoot that crossed the road in front of his car.

Big Bear City, San Bernardino County, California. November 1962. Many onlookers saw stones that fell slowly from the sky onto a cabin and the land around it on 301 Division Road. One of the stones hit a witness but it was falling so slowly, as slow as the other stones, that he was not hurt. More slow stones. Only in September just passed this had happened in Clarence, Iowa. Previously near here there had been the death of a man by lightning strike on the summit of Mount San Gorgonio in 1904, coincidentally the same day as the death of a man on Mount Whitney nearby also by lightning strike. Wrong place, wrong time?

Lost Trail Pass, Ravalli County, Montana. November 1962. Mr. Reed Christensen and his wife and daughter saw a six to seven foot tall Bigfoot run up an embankment beside the road at 2.00 am. In 1842 a Mr Bauman had been scared away from his fur-trapping camp between the Salmon and Wisdom rivers by a Hairy Hominoid who had also killed Mr Bauman's partner. No-one had seen it in the meantime?

Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. November 1962. Steven Collins, Robert Earle and two other men saw a large Hairy Hominoid standing in a creek off East William Street Road. The creature was not a bear and was covered in grey hair and stood upright. Decatur's fine. It has had sightings before. It had one in 1912 followed by big cat reports in 1917 and then a crocodile sighting in 1937 followed by the Mattoon Gasser in 1944 and then the cats reappeared in 1955. Where do they go to in the meantime? Why do they change?

Lake Erie, Erie County, New York State. 2nd December 1962. Sunday. Thousands of people in twelve cities from Akron, Ohio, to Syracuse, New York,saw a bright lightbulb shaped object coursing eastward in the sky. The light then angled towards the north and arched its way into Lake Erie where it vanished. Score another one for Lake Erie. It would not have been the first UFO to vanish into the lake.No-one had reported it before Akron though as it travelled northeast and then turned North. Meteors do not change direction. This one did.

Ezeiza International Airport, Buenos Aires Province, Argentina, Rio de La Plata. 22nd December 1962. Saturday. 2.15AM. The Control Tower staff and the staff of Ezeiza International Airport saw a disc-shaped UFO that was seen sitting on the end of a runway only 2,000 metres from the Control Tower. The craft had just landed and was blocking the runway and this forced a Panagra DC-8 to go into a holding pattern. The parked UFO was in full view under the planes landing lights. Then the craft slowly lifted itself up off the ground and then climbed out of sight. Was it looking for a parking Space? When it took off it rose 500 to 600 metres and then vanished at great speed. Had this same craft landed at Camba Punta, also in Argentina, earlier that same year in July?

New Westminster, Westminster County, British Columbia. 28th December 1962. Friday. Mr Robert Guy and Mrs K. B. Holland saw a large humped Lakemonster emerge out of the water followed by its head. The creature was the size of a horse, was a dark brown colour and undulated when swimming and had noticeably large lips.

There was an impression of a very large body underneath the water. The witnesses were 200 yards away and watched the Lakemonster through binoculars. Was it waddling out of the lake backwards? We had reports of Hairy Hominoids here in 1933 and 1961 but no other Lakemonsters. Why doesn't this strike us as unusual though?

Madison, Jefferson County, Wisconsin. 1962. A Hairy Hominoid was seen in the area. The creature left clear footprints. 1962 was a big year for Hairy Hominoids in this area.

Possibly an amazing coincidence or sloppy editing. During 1962 several farmers around Madison, Jefferson County, Indiana also saw Bigfeet that were leaving large footprints?

Honey Island Swamp, Louisianna. Between East and West Pearl Rivers. 1962. Mr Harlan Ford and Mr Billy Mills who were hunters saw a Hairy Hominoid in the Honey Island Swamp that stood on all fours rooting in the mud. When the witnesses got to thirty feet from it the creature stood up. The hairy hominoid had an enormous head and shoulders and its chest and shoulders were huge. The creature had greyish bristle on its' body that seemed dingy and it had a human-like face. Both witnesses were frozen with fear and the Hominoid stared back at them for a moment and then plunged into the bushes and vanished. Footprints were found and there were also long high screams and weird gargles that were very throaty heard at night. Nothing known could make them so it was safely assumed that it is the Hairy Hominoid. Why appear now?

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia.1962. Numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Newspapers went to investigate. Large doglike tracks seen. Mainly seen on fringes of 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swampland. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. Area roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. Called Ozenkadnook Tiger. Also called Tantanoola Tiger. Tiger, Tiger, burning bright to borrow a phrase. But no matter how brightly burning still impossible to illuminate us as to its actual existence.

Just darned difficult to see or catch though.

Lost Gap, Lauderdale County, Mississippi, near Meridian.1962. There were hundreds of witnesses including helicopters crews, Police, and Bloodhounds who tried to hunt down a nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid with glowing green eyes. near Meridian. Lost Gap is five miles away. Even when there are hundreds of you trying to catch one it almost seems as if they just melt away. But that's not possible, is it? Funny how we had never met them here before though. The only other phenomenal event here was a UFO and UFO occupant contactee event in November 1957.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 1962. A nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid with shining eyes was seen that was making whimpering noises. There were many individual witnesses. At least Sister Lakes is consistent. It would be consistent in 1962 to 1964 for Hairy Hominoids who had never been seen here before and would not be seen here after. Later there would be UFO and electromagnetic Phenomena.

Broadmarsh, Tasmania. Australia.1962.A six metre black object had landed and caused a fire in a paddock at Brighton. Ho-hum. But then again how does an illusion cause a fire?

Cold Springs, Tuolomne County, California. 27th January 1963. The witness was cutting wood just off the Sonora Highway in a gravel pit during the afternoon when he saw a Hairy Hominoid, nine to ten feet tall, also in the same gravel pit. The creature was definitely Hominoid. The witness rang the local sheriff who arrived at the site that night. Deputy-Sheriff Bill Huntley and Elbert Miller arrived at the gravel pit and there was no creature there. Just as they were about to leave there was an unearthly scream like a person in horrible agony that began to circle their car. There was no sound other than the screams that were moving around the car at phenomenal speed. The witnesses left the area. January dawns with a hairy welcome and horrible screams.

Roger Mills County, Oklahoma. January 1963. Up to 5,000 witnesses or the entire County witnessed this event. The entire area had to be evacuated from January that year up until 1965. An evil smelling gas had appeared and was killing livestock and making people ill. The gas smelt like rotten eggs though the area was totally isolated from industry and the origins of the gas are a mystery.There were UFOs seen in the area at the same time. The gas caused suffocating, coughing, diarrhoea and burning of the flesh. Even paint on the buildings started to blister and peel and curtains and clothing exposed to the gas started to disintegrate. Even the wildlife vacated the area. Phenomenal activity or natural but still unknown?

Wonthaggi, Victoria, Australia. January 1963. Calves were being killed and eaten on neighboring properties. Mr George Slater and Mr and Mrs J. Caldwell saw a Monster that was 3.5 feet high, had a big round head like a calf and big broad round ears. The head was dark and there were fawn stripes around the ribs. Thylacines again? For extinct animals they are certainly getting around.

Niagara Falls, Niagara County, New York. 12th February 1963. A civilian plane crashed into an invisible something. The wreckage showed extreme stress reactions yet the wind at the time was three miles per hour. The plane seemed to crash into a glass wall. How many times have we had this description before? At least four times.

Vopnafjordhur, Nordur-Mula-sysla, Iceland. 13th February 1963. Two Fishermen, brothers Agust and Sigurjon Jonsson, saw a black humped Seamonster which surfaced five times whilst they were lifting their sharkfishing lines. The creature did not leap forwards as whales do but rose vertically. Then two crests appeared, the front one shorter and lower than the back one which was much longer and higher and tapered away at the end. The creature was fifteen feet long with the back crest rising more than three feet out of the water. The sighting lasted fifteen minutes. What do Fishermen know of aquatic life? Where are the reliable witnesses?

Moe, Victoria, Australia. 15th February 1963. Friday. 7.00 am. Mr Charles Brew and his son Mr Trevor Brew, 20, were in the dairy milking the cows when they saw a thick grey disc with a dome on top streak down out of the sky and swoop a paddock at a height of 75 to 100 feet. The horses reared up and the cows actually turned somersaults. There was total animal panic. Many of the cattle broke out and had to be rounded up and all of the animals were affected for days afterwards and none would re-enter the paddock that the UFO had hovered above. Two dogs made off in terror. The craft had made a whistling noise like a swishing top and was twenty-five feet in diameter by nine feet tall. The lower one third of the craft revolved anticlockwise . There were scooplike protuberances twelve to eighteen inches apart around the outside edge and was turning very slowly whilst hovering. The top part was a transparent dome and there was also a five to six feet long chrome aerial as thick as a broom handle and it remained stationary whilst the bottom moved. On seeing the object Mr Brew felt a severe headache come on and his eyes were drawn to it. Its quite remarkable how often there are physical reactions to the sighting of Phenomena.

Confidence, near Sonora. Sonora County, California. 23rd February 1963. Lennart Strand and Alden Hoover, who were pilots out flying, saw a Hairy Hominoid on the ground below. The creature was ten feet tall with cinnamon-brown hair all over it that looked half bear and half gorilla. Photographs were taken but they were very blurry. More Hairy Hominoids.

Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Ohio. 6th March 1963. 5.00 pm. Mrs Jean Maxwell heard a resounding crash upstairs and went upstairs and found an eight inch hole in the bedroom ceiling. Then she found a seven inch triangular chunk of hot metal lying under the hole that was lying on the bed. The object was not to be a plane part or rocket fragment. What was it a part of then? It had obviously fallen a long way and reached a great velocity. Yet it did not crash through the bed? If it were a meteorite the velocity of the fall should have sent it though the bed, the floor, through the ground floor and possibly onwards. This was a relatively low velocity fall.

Windward, Oahu, Hawaii. 12th March 1963. Tuesday. 6.30 pm. A bright reddish light was visible in the sky for five to six minutes that descended slowly into the sea in a series of movements impossible for a Meteor. They love the sea.

Strawberry, near Angel’s Camp, near Cold Springs, Tuolomne County, California. March 1963. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell, a honeymoon couple at a ski Lodge, saw a Hairy Hominoid that was eight to nine feet tall whilst they were on a hike. And Hairy Hominoids generally love the Mountains.

Chileno Valley, Petaluma, Marin County, California. 1st April 1963. Monday. A lone witness saw a UFO that was stampeding cattle by swooping at them. A group of white men in white coveralls then grabbed a calf and hauled it onto the UFO and vanished. Intergalactic butchers? how many types of fresh meat do they supply?

Bouillia Station, Queensland. Australia. 8th April 1963. Mr J. MCClure, a Ranger, found a twelve pound metal sphere that was fourteen inches in diameter in an area shunned by man for fifty years. The object had a shiny surface and could not be opened. Where they were made and why as well as how they got to where they were found is a complete mystery. All three objects eventually found in the area were examined by Australian Government scientists and were ascertained to be not of earthly manufacture. No spikes but definitely odd spheres.

Glace Bay, Cape Breton Isle, Nova Scotia, Canada. 16th April 1963. Tuesday. Several witnesses including Mr D. McDonald saw various objects and the curtains in the McDonald house spontaneously burn up. Even after the electricity was disconnected the fires kept occurring. There was no cause found. No mention of any pubescent girls to blame at all.

Between Madisonville, Madisonville County, and Centerville, Leon County, Texas. 19th April 1963. On Route 75 Mr Louis B. Johnson of Houston was returning from a trip to Fort Worth when something lifted his car into the air, turned it completely around and set it back onto the Highway travelling in the opposite direction where the car came down partly on the shoulder of the road. The witness put the car in low gear and eased to a stop. Several witnesses saw Johnson’s car seem to sprout wings as it ascended and then landed gently and with no damage to the car. Cars being lifted up? If we hadn’t seen it before we might have just as easily dismissed the car lifting.

Norseman, Western Australia. 21st April 1963. A male business supervisor saw a large light that came swooping down close to his car roof and terrified him. Ho-hum. Those goddarned swooping meteors again.

Warsaw, Warsaw Province, Poland, Vistula River Smolna Street. 22nd April 1963. Monday. Hundreds of witnesses. There was a noise like escaping gas from the sky and bright drops of rain appeared followed by a fall of hail that was on fire. The hailstones were the size of chestnuts and resembled molten steel.They fell on the street and the glare vanished. Every ten seconds there was a popping sound heard during which hail and rain came down more heavily and there was also the sound of hissing and crackling. The fall lasted one hour. Were the hailstones actually on fire or were they steaming? Would steaming hailstones resemble molten steel? Previously there had been a fall of a myriad of worms here in 1850 and in 1868 at Poltusk there was the fall of a blazing mass of Sulphur. Also in 1868 there was a fall of 18,000 stones from the sky. A popular area for falling stones.

Lake Michigan, Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 22nd April 1963. A glowing white ball or bolide crashed into Lake Michigan with many witnesses. How many times has a bolide crashed into Lake Michigan? There would be six in total during the next three years. Coincidence or the re-opening of an old Portal?

Levendale. Tasmania. Australia. 23rd April 1963. Mr McConnon was driving his tractor when he saw a yellow circular object come down from the west and pass overhead at fifty metres. The object illuminated the ground, was soundless and thirty metres across and finally vanished behind some hills.

Hombre Mountain, Toppenish Ridge, Yakima County, Washington State. April 1963. Spring. 10.00 pm. A respected businesswoman saw a tall Hairy Hominoid looking through her window though she only saw it from the ribcage up. The window was four feet from the ground. The creatures face had golden-red silky hair, a flat nose, a humanlike mouth and teeth and amber eyes with one drooping left eyelid. Oddly enough the dogs were silent throughout the sighting. Zzzzzzzzzzzz.

Champaign County, Illinois. April 1963. Spring. A catlike creature was seen that left clawmarks in its clearly visible paw-prints. Cats do not leave claw marks when they walk. Dogs do but this was clearly identified as a cat, as are all of our giant cat sightings. What sort of cat is this that does not walk like its cousins?

Boskloof, Cape Province, South Africa, near Clanwilliam. April 1963. Many individual witnesses saw Cattle that were being scared by glowing lights that followed them around at night. Dogs were behaving erratically and fleeing from strange noises and there were appearences of ghostly nonhuman forms as well as stones were falling from the sky. This ended in June South Africa was having a little flurry of its own.

Fisher, Champaign County, Illinois, was host to a big black cat about five feet long in April 1963. The creature left tracks like a cross between a dog's and a mountain lion's.

Urbana, Champaign County, Illinois, was host to a big black cat about five feet long in April 1963. The creature left tracks like a cross between a dog's and a mountain lion's.

Mahomet, Champaign County, Illinois, was host to a big black cat about five feet long in April 1963. The creature left tracks like a cross between a dog's and a mountain lion's.

Joliet, Du Page County, Illinois. April 1963. A Huge black Leopard was seen in a gravel pit by Emmett McKaney who was a watchman. The creature was seen twice in two days. Huge black Leopards are not native to North America, nor in fact anywhere else on Earth.

Belfast, Waldo County, Maine. 10th May 1963. A round blue object fell from the sky causing a fall of fire. There was fiery hail in Warsaw in Poland that same year and now a round blue blazing object descending upon Belfast, Maine? Mr. Rene Gagne was leaving a garage when he saw a flash in the sky and then the fall of a round blue object that hit the roof of the warehouse belonging to the Maple Upholstery Company. The object exploded noisily being heard by many people and flames burned through the shingles in an area of forty by twenty-five feet. Previously an elongated enormous aircraft had been seen here in 1945 that appeared to be crashing to the Earth and then took off again with a humming noise. There was a shower of Angelhair or silvery threads at the same time. Had someone made an error in their landing calculations and almost collided with the Earth as they were materialising into our dimension? No traces of a meteor were found.

Glenburnie, South Australia. 16th May 1963. A car load of people reported that a bright light had followed their car for several kilometres and had turned from red to white. There had been a swoop at Norseman in Western Australia only 24 days before.

Beachport, South Australia. 18th May 1963. 7.00 am. For three minutes the radio in a car cut out as a red and blue soundless oval shape hovered over it. The sighting lasted for two minutes as it travelled from east to west. And now there were two phenomenal events occurring two days apart and only one second in longitude separating them!

Centerville, Saint Clair County, Illinois. 18th May 1963. There were fifty sightings in only a few days of a strange creature that appeared to be half man and half horse. A Centaur? Centaurs on the loose? We have had furry little people like Pan and the Satyrs, tall beautiful males and females and a host of others in between. Are we expecting Zeus and the Olympian Gods to return? The firs centaur was seen by Mr James McKinney.

Mount Gambier, South Australia. 19th May 1963. 9.30 pm. Mr Bushbridge,17 years old, a Mechanic, whilst driving his car encountered an object on the side of the road near a local landmark called the “piggery”. When only six metres away a bright light came on and dazzled him and the witness pulled up his car. The illuminated object moved across the Road and the witness drove his car under it. The illuminated object was oval and had lights on it as bright as the arc lights used in electric welding. The craft was five metres wide by three metres high. The car did not stop! Why? They normally do. This was only one day after the Beachport swooping.

At 6.50 pm on 26th May 1963 Mr. Pfeiffer of Macclesfield in South Australia saw a large bright object in the northwest sky. The object was stated to be twice the size of the moon and it came towards the witness and then remained stationary before moving off at terrific speed. In the circle of light were a number of bright lights.

Boskloof, Cape Province, South Africa, near Clanwilliam. May 1963. Many individual witnesses saw cattle that were being scared by glowing lights that followed them around. Dogs were behaving erratically and fleeing from strange noises and there were appearences of ghostly nonhuman forms and stones were seen falling from the sky. This ended in June. Meanwhile back in South Africa at the same latitude as Norseman in Western Australia all was still not quite normal. Were our Phenomena appearing over South Africa and then heading east or was the window of opportunity heading east and the Phenomena appearing from it? Is our window of opportunity at times almost static in Space relative to the Earth but appears to move as the Earth moves through Space? Could there be a fixed central Universe at the centre of the Multiverse? Is our physical universe moving through a nonphysical universe?

At sunset on 2nd June 1963 Mr. Bill Chambers was driving near his farm in Champaign County in Illinois when he saw a strange animal in a field. Chambers pulled into a nearby lane and coasted to within 190 yards of the animal. Chambers had a set of sandbags that he used on his shooting bench and put them on top of his truck cab to give him a steady shooting position and through the scope the head was visible but not still enough to shoot. It was a big cat and it ran into a weed clump only to jump out when it jumped on something catching its attention in the clover. Later the creature sat up staring straight at Bill who was looking at its lighted side in the sunset. It was jet black except for two tawny streaks under the jaws that extended two to three inches down the neck. The cat kept moving every time Bill tried to shoot it over the next fifteen minutes. The next day Bill went back to the spot and stepped out 187 steps from where his truck had been to the weed clump. At that spot the clover averaged twelve inches tall and that would make the cat fifteen inches tall at the shoulder. Bill estimated that the creature was four and a half to five feet long and left tracks two and five eighths inches long in the soft wet ground.

Lough Bray, Wicklow, Ireland. 3rd June 1963. Monday. Two witnesses saw a Lakemonster that had a low hump and a huge tortoise-like head which then broke the surface that was on the end of a long neck that was sticking three feet out of the water. The creature had a circular body that was ten to twelve feet across and a dark grey colour and was seen for three minutes. This was not a giant tortoise or turtle and was unclassifiable. The Head narrowed down to the front. Had we met him, or her, before?

Polson, Flathead Lake County, Montana. 15th June 1963. Saturday. During the afternoon a group of twelve witnesses saw the local Lakemonster in the Lake. The creature was ten foot long with three humps and was grey in colour. Have we also met this one?

Lough Mask, Mayo, Connemara, Ireland. 16th June 1963. Sunday. At 9.15PM Mr A. R. Lawrence was near Inishdura Island in Lough Mask when he saw a two-humped eel for one and a half minutes. The humps were five to six feet long, with an eight to ten foot gap between them and the creature was black and twelve to fifteen inches of it were visible above the water. It disturbed the gulls nesting on a small Island. Mask is Scandinavian for Worm. What sort of Worm is this?

Saint Clair River, Saint Clair County, near Detroit, Michigan. 16th June 1963. A four foot long fifty pound in weight sharklike creature was found and caught. It was a saltwater Monkfish and they are unable to survive in freshwater. This monkfish was one thousand miles from the sea. Have we met this one as well? In the case of the Monkfish a resounding no! With the others it now appears more than likely. Was it really a monkfish?

East Weymouth, Norfolk County, Massachusetts. 23rd June 1963. 1.00 am. An elliptical flying shape that made a buzzing roaring sound was seen and heard by two visual and two audio witnesses. The object was thirty foot in diameter and resembled two bowls inverted on top of each other and connected by a rim. The craft was hovering over powerlines 300 feet from the witnesses for three minutes. A powersucker that is not sucking? They like powerlines as well.

Sandy Creek Hotel, between Willaston and Lyndoch. South Australia. 28th June 1963. 9.30 pm. The witness was in a car turning a corner when he saw an object rising up from the roadway. The object was twenty-five feet across by twelve feet high with a concave top and a flat base. It glowed blood-red whilst near the ground and changed to reddish-yellow as it took off. The witness hit the brakes as the object was only twelve feet away. The object took off towards Two Wells. Our Phenomena are still in South Australia and dropping eggs in Queensland.

Sixty miles from Bouillia Station, Queensland. Australia. 28th June 1963. A metal sphere was found that was sixteen 16 inches in diameter and eighteen pounds in weight and was made from a very bright metal. All three objects found in the area were examined by Australian Government scientists and were not of earthly manufacture.

During the early morning of 30th June 1963 Mr George Davidson of Decatur, Macon County, Illinois, was woken by the barking of dogs and chased a large cat into a tree. As George appraoched the tree the cat leapt out of the tree and onto George, scratching his face, and then the cat jumped over a five foot fence. The cat was three feet long and a dark colour. This was not your normal domestic kitty.

Boskloof, Cape Province, South Africa, near Clanwilliam. June 1963. Many individual witnesses. Cattle were being scared by glowing lights that followed them around. Dogs were behaving erratically and fleeing from strange noises. There were appearences of ghostly nonhuman forms and stones were falling from the sky. It had started in April that same year.

Near the Lewis River Canal near Yale in Cowlitz County in Washington State in June 1963 Mr. Stan Mattson watched a female Bigfoot with hanging breasts and a young Bigfoot under its left arm as it drank water or caught small fish.

Mulloorina Station, South Australia. 12th July 1963. A strange Metal sphere was found that was six inches in diameter. The object had a small hole in it that was evidently an opening to allow the contents to open. All three objects found in the area were examined by Australian Government scientists. They were not of earthly manufacture. Another egg! This was the third to be found that year in the same general area bounded by the finding of the first egg at Bouillia Station on 12th April at 139.53E, 22.54S, the second egg found on 28th June , sixty miles from Bouillia Station at 139.53E, 23.00S. And the third and final egg found on 12th July at Mulloorina Station at 137.51E,29.10S. Are these part of something? Ours or theirs or whose or what's?

Charlton, near Shaftesbury, Wiltshire, England. 16th July 1963. Tuesday. At 6.00AM there was the sound of an explosion in the sky at the farm of Roy Blanchard. On investigation there was found to be an eight foot in diameter and four inches in depth crater in a potato field that looked like it had been scooped up in one mouthful. There was no crater rim and the earth and everything in and on it was missing. At the bottom of the hole was a fused looking piece of stone. Was it a Meteor? No! It was natural ironstone exposed to great heat. A local rock that had been been recently exposed to high electromagnetism. The rock was found by Army bomb detectors. The crater was eight foot wide by four inches deep with a three foot wide by five inch to twelve inch deep hole in its centre. From it radiated four slot marks four feet long by one foot wide. Was this a saucer nest? On the 23rd a reddish saucer was seen in the area by Police Constable Anthony Perry. Occasionally we may have collectors or explosions of Cold Plasma gases which can create holes quite easily. Either one or both? Technological skill does not necessarily equal spiritual advancement or Human or Hominoid perfection. All we are are very advanced Baboons with very technologically advanced sticks. Sometimes the craft might blow up due to Pilot error or some other miscalculation. The intentional traversing of Wormholes would be quite daunting mathematically. Mr. Leonard Joliffe, a dairyman on the farm heard a blast that morning at 6.00 am. There were no traces of the potato plants or the barley plants that had been growing in the area of the crater.

Naramata Bay, Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 17th July 1963. Wednesday. Mr Sy Jenkins,72 years old, in his boat, saw a strange disturbance in the weeds near the water that was caused by an aquatic creature that was twenty foot long and black with three humps. It travelled past the witness in his boat. Hello, Ogopogo. Nice to meet you again.

Heathy Park Reservoir, Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. 18th July 1963. Thursday. 1.00 am. A soon to be famous creature was first seen by a lorry driver Mr David Back who stopped at Shooters Hill to help what he thought was a wounded dog on the side of the road. David walked over to the creature and then it got up. It was not a dog. The strange animal had long legs, a long pointed tail that curled up and looked as if it had a mouthful of food. The creature then ran off into the woods. It was a giant cat!. Here's Tiddles! Back again and bigger, brighter and cheekier than ever before! Ta-da! But where had Tiddles, otherwise known as the Surrey Puma, been since April 1906 when it had last been seen slaughtering things in this area?

Heathy Park Reservoir, Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. 18th July 1963. Thursday. England. Mr Ernie Jellet saw what appeared to be a young Lion cub that was reported seen in the area. There are no Pumas there and no Lions with or without cubs were reported missing. The cat was a light sandy coloured animal with a flat face and was seen on a number of occasions by Water Board employees. It was not a fox or a dog and it stood eighteen inches to two feet tall and was also seen later in the year by Mr L. Noble, the Station Superintendent for the Southern Area. If Mr David Back had thought it looked like a Lion he would have probably said so. He did not. Others did though whilst other witnesses said that it was a Puma.

Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. 18th July 1963. Thursday. There were strange reports of a Leopard wandering around the area that left footprints and had a spotted coat. Then one of these cat creatures jumped over the bonnet of a Police car. This really got the search going. The pawprints were catlike though there was one irregularity. The claws left marks. When cats walk they retract their claws. These or this one did not. There are no large wild cats in England and especially ones that could be mistaken for Leopards or Pumas. By late that morning other reports came from motorists and pedestrians. No Zoo or circus escapes. 126 Police and 21 dogs, thirty Soldiers, Ambulance-men and R.S.P.C.A. Officials searched for it. All they they found was a set of pawprints in a muddy stream-bed that were much larger than Police dog tracks. The marks of the claws were clearly seen. Only dogs walk with their claws out. Now its Leopards. Like our long suffering Loch Ness Monster which also has a multiplicity of descriptions ranging from giant slugs to frogs to Otters to Plesiosaurs do we have a shapeshifter or a lot of witnesses who do not know their apples from their oranges?And that is the similarity between Leopards and Pumas to Lions.

Lake Simcoe, Ontario, Canada. 22nd July 1963. Monday. A thirty to 70 foot long creature was seen by many people including Reverend L.B. Williams, and Mr Neil Lathangue, an Undertaker, and their families. The aquatic creature was Charcoal coloured and had dorsal fins and had been seen coming towards the witnesses. The creature was dog faced and its neck was the diameter of a stove pipe and thirty to 70 feet long. Previously there had been a sighting here of a UFO in 1953 and occurrences of spontaneous combustion in 1891. There are folkloric incidences of Lakemonster sightings but with no dates or exact places. Incidentally there is also a local legend of a mystery light that wanders around in this area, baffling the local police and supposedly stopping trains on the Grand Trunk Railway as train crews believe it to be the red light on the rear of a stopped train. When the train crews get off to approach the light it then takes off.

Kidbrooke, southeast London, England. 23rd July 1963. Dawn. Mr Jim Green, the head groundsman of a Sports Club was woken by a loud snarling noise like a fighting cat though much louder. Mr. Gren called the Police and five cars arrived. If Tiddles was fighting, with whom then?

Ridgefield, Clark County, on Lewis River near junction with Columbia River, Washington State. 24th July 1963. Wednesday. Around 4.30 pm. Mr and Mrs Martin Heinrich were in a boat fishing near a Bridge when they saw a Hairy Hominoid ten to fifteen feet from water and only 100 feet from the witnesses. The creature loped away into the bush and was described as near-Human, had brownish or beige coloured hair and its head hair hung down to its shoulders. The creature had a pointed skull and was of gigantic size. Some Hairy Hominoids we might allow for in undiscovered areas if there is continuity of sightings.

Between Satus Pass and Toppenish, Yakima County, Washington State. 28th July 1963. Sunday. 1.28 am. A single man and two women in a car were driving at night when they saw a nine to ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid with light grey long hair that had come out of a ditch. At first they saw what appeared to be a tall shaggy treestump on the side of the road and then it was loping away from the Highway. And this might explain some of our sightings though we still cannot seem to catch one even after hundreds of sightings. How many sightings were there of Gorillas before they were photographed or drawn or sufficiently recorded to have us certify their existence? Not hundreds that are approaching thousands.Yet they still elude us.

Near Satus Pass, Yakima County, Washington State. July 1963. Gladys Herrarra saw a nine foot tall figure that was looking into her windows at night. Her dogs were scared of it.

Mexico City, Mexico. 30th July 1963. Thousands of greyish mushroom shaped objects halted traffic for some time but only in the northwest of Mexico City. The sky was completely clear at the time and they were like balls of cotton or giant cobwebs or foam. Upon landing the objects disintegrated. Mushroom shaped Angelhair?

Joliet, Will County, Illinois. July 1963. There were numerous sightings of Black panthers and hairy lions in the same area.

Ape Canyon, Spirit Lake, Skamania County, Washington. Near Mount Saint Helens. July 1963. A Hairy Hominoid was seen that left 16 inch long footprints in the snow. The Hairy Hominoid might be the reason for the name “Ape Canyon” but not we assume for the name Portland.

Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon. July 1963. A nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen.

Hoopa Valley, Humboldt County, California. July 1963. A Hairy Hominoid jumped out in front of the witness, identified as Peters, jumped over a five foot high fence and got lost in the darkness.

Udine, Udine State, Italy. July 1963. Summer. Several people saw a giant snake twelve feet long that made a whistling noise. And Udine probably does not translate as whistling snake either.

Lough Major, County Monaghan, Ireland. July 1963. Mr G. Reilly,18, Talbot Duffy,17, and Paul Pentland,12 saw a Lakemonster splashing up and down the lake like a sea Lion. The creature was not an Otter and had a hairy head with two protruding horns. The Lough is thirty miles from the sea. Walruses do not have horns anyway. The boys threw stones at it and it went away. A mutant freshwater seal with horns?

Dores, Loch Ness. Highland. Scotland. July 1963. 10.00 pm. Two men in a boat 200 yards from Tor Point saw something that was rocking the boat. There were no ships about to account for the turbulence. Both men then saw a ripple of water and thought it was caused by the back of a large Salmon. Suddenly the head and neck of a Monster reared itself out of the water to a height of four to five feet only twenty to thirty yards from boat and then sank straight down with much froth and disturbance. Then the neck reappeared a little further away and then vanished, reappeared further again and vanished for good. The neck was one foot thick and had a head at a minor angle to its neck. The head was like that of a Bulldog, flat on top with a powerful lower face. The body was blackish brown and part of a hump was also seen. Interestingly enough the Beast was hairy and its neck was fringed by a mane of coarse black hair. Every description of the Loch Ness Monster as well as hairy. Why not? You expect rules of appearance?

Mount Vernon, Jefferson County, Illinois. 5th August 1963. 11.30 pm. Mr Ronnie Austin and Miss Phyliss Bruce left a Drive-in and were on Route fifteen past the Airport when they saw a round ball of light at treetop level to the southwest. The ball of light was fuzzily outlined and it was pacing them. It slowed down when they slowed down and sped up when they sped up with the fiery tail becoming more apparent and eventually paced the car up to 120 miles per hour. The car was very hotted up. Then the light suddenly swerved directly at the car and stopped only a few hundred feet away. Then, just as suddenly, it swerved upwards and perched momentarily over an electronic relay tower before it then darted across the road ending up 200 yards in front of the car and bobbing up and down. Ronnie drove off down the main road and onto secondary one to Phyliss's house and the light stayed with them for the full 1.5 miles. When the car stopped the UFO stopped and hovered over the Bruce home for fifteen minutes. Ronnie drove towards the main road and it followed. He could not shake the light which suddenly changed colour to a duller orange. It was originally a dazzling white. After making the corner the light darted straight at Ronnie's car at tremendous speed and then suddenly stopped 100 feet from the car. It was the size of an automobile and it swerved away from its collision course and swooped the car. The car radio erupted in a burst of static and the engine slowed down on its own but did not stop though. The colour had changed to bright orange and then after diving back to a dull orange and then hurtled down the road after the car all the way to the Austin farm for three miles. On getting home Ronnie ran out of the car, awakened his family and his mother, father, brother and sister all saw the strange light in the eastern sky only 200 yards from the house. At 12.25AM Mr Austin called the officials. The light was also seen by Mr and Mrs Dwight Withrow, the Austins' neighbours, as well as State Trooper Richard Gidcumb of McLeansboro and Mr George Sexton, Village Marshall of Wayne City, who had intercepted the radio message and arrived at the Austin farm at 12.55 am. Deputy Lee arrived at 1.10 am and saw the light fading away into the southeastern sky. Ronnie was given sedative as his nerves were riled up. Pretty ordinary, hey? Not if you are involved in it!

Belo Horizonte, Minas Gerais, Brazil. 28th August 1963. Wednesday. 7.50 pm. Three boys, comprising Fernando Eustagio, his brother and a neighbour, were hauling water from a well in the garden of the Sagrada family when they saw a hovering sphere appear with four seated Hominoids in it. One of them hovered down to the boys on two beams of light and was ten foot tall. The Hominoid wore a transparent helmet, had one eye, shiny clothing which inflated when the Hominoid touched the ground and a square pack with flashing lights on its' back. The boys then actually saw five rows of Hominoids in the craft including a female with her hair drawn back in a sort of ponytail. The Hominoid walked twenty feet with his arms outstretched. Was he balancing? His back was stiff and then he sat on a rock. The Hominoid wore brown leather gauntlets, black boots, was totally bald and had a very round head though with no ears or nose. The mouth opened in a strange manner a nd the face had a vivid complexion. The single eye was brown and there was no eyebrow and it tried to touch one of the boys. The eldest,12 years old, tried to throw a brick at the Hominoid but the Hominoid turned around, it had not been trying to grab the twelve year old but another boy, and sent an orange beam of light at him from a square lamp on its chest which paralysed the boys arm. The boy dropped the brick. The sphere had three tall antennae on top. One of the Hominoids was a woman with fair hair. The Hominoids boots were equipped with a triangular spike and its impressions could be seen for several days afterwards. The other occupants of the craft were playing with knobs and flicking switches on control panels. After the brick throwing episode the Hominoid returned to the craft on the light elevator and kept its arms close to the sides. Was the tall Hominoid a robot? Still quite ordinary? Indeed becoming quite familiar.

New Quay, Cardigan Bay, Dyfed, Wales. Late August 1963. Mr P. Sharman was on holidays when he saw what he believed to be a Plesiosaur in a rocky cove that was greatly disturbing a colony of seals. The creature had llowly moving paddles as if to make sudden moves and at one end a long neck with a small head poised above the water as if to strike out suddenly. The seals were decamping as if their lives depended on it and the entire scene was watched for several minutes. Later that week the witness found the carcasse of a seal looking as if it had been bitten in two. The seamonster was thirty to 40 feet long, of a brownish black colour and eight feet wide but had no dorsal fin. Mr. Sharman saw it from one hundred feet up. We had never had Seamonster reports from here before but from now on there would be more. Previously there had been UFO sightings and a rabbit killing animal.

Ashbury Park, New Jersey. August 1963. Dr. A. Walford, a Zoologist, reported seeing a 40 foot long Seaserpent off the coast. Ho-hum again. What would he know?

Quartz Creek, near Grants Pass, Josephine County, Oregon. August 1963. A family out camping saw a Bigfoot on three separate weekend camping trips in August and September.

Polson, Flathead Lake County, Montana. 8th September 1963. Sunday. 11.30 am. Miss Heather McLeod and Mrs Genevieve Parratt, High School Teachers, saw a ten foot long large grey humped creature in Flathead Lake. The creature had three humps and undulated, submerged and surfaced again and left a boat-like wake that created waves two to three feet high. Not exactly a rare type of sighting for this particular area.

Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, Canada. 19th September 1963. Thursday. Brian Whitehead, 11, and three other youngsters were behind a School when an oval-shaped light was seen descending from the sky in a circling pattern. The UFO hovered a few feet above the ground and a box descended from it that contained a man ten feet tall who was wearing white Monks robes and was ghostlike and transparent. The box vanished as the monk stood up. The Monk had been making moaning sounds and held out its hands and floated towards the youngsters who fled. One was hospitalised with severe fear. This could not be faked. Something scared the daylights out of him. Was it a hologram? Most solids are not transparent. Almost boring except for the part about hospitalisation for severe fright and the transparency of the Hominoid. Almost real but now not quite?

The night of 21st September 1963 an object like an orange beach ball was seen over Dudley South near Wonthaggi. The ball moved slowly out to sea and was seen by more than sixty people. The light was flashing on and off but was much bigger and brighter than an aeroplane. During the twenty-five minute sighting television sets in Dudley South and Wonthaggi lost their pictures.

Two days later on 23rd September 1963 at 7.00 pm Mr. C. Jolley reported seeing an orange coloured blinking light that did not travel very fast and left at an angle. There were various other witnesses of the object as well.

Los Angeles, Los Angeles County, California. September 1963. Myriads of live freshwater shrimps fell onto two Districts of the city eleven miles apart on the same day. Two selective whirlwinds or one with two drop-off points?

Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. September 1963. A very large wild cat seen. Here Tiddles!

Early in October 1963 a former deputy sheriff saw a Bigfoot cross the road in front of his car near Lebanon in Linn County in Oregon.

Monte Maiz, Cordoba Province, Argentina. 12th October 1963. Saturday. Mr Eugenio Douglass, driving a truck from Monte Maiz to Isla Verde was suddenly blinded by a bright light ahead of him. The truck ran into a ditch. Then Eugenio saw Beings with strange headdresses and antennae and over fifteen feet tall walking around near the bright light. Then a beam of light hit Eugenio and burnt him and there was also a pungent smell in the air. Eugenio had got out of the truck. The UFO was a circular metallic craft 35 feet high. The beings looked like robots three feet wide by fifteen feet high. When hit by the light Eugenio fired his revolver three times at the Hominoids and then ran off towards Monte Maiz. The light followed him and interfered with the street lights making them violet and green. Then Eugenio smelt gas and ran to a house for help. The people in the house saw the lights go green as well along with candles in the house on hearing Eugenio's voice. The helmets the Hominoids were wearing looked like Snail shells and their clothing seemed stuck to the bodies. The witness felt a prickling sensation. The owner of the house had died the previous day and that is why the candles were burning. The smell was also noticed by the family when they opened the door to see Douglass standing there with a gun in his hand and the streetlights the wrong colour. They went to the Police Station. Strange burns on his face and hands were examined. The burns were caused by ultraviolet radiation according to a Doctor. There were also many phone calls about the weird behaviour of the lights.The villagers then went to the spot where the truck was parked and found footprints twenty inches long. These were soon washed out by the rain and it had been raining all the time. The wiring of the truck had been burnt out. Burnt out wiring? Robotic giants? Electric lights and candle flames changing colour?

Trancas, Tucuman Province, Argentina. 21st October 1963. Monday. Senora Yolle de Valle Moreno, 21, Dora Martina Guzman,15, a maid, Yolanda de Valle Moreno, and ranch hands. At 7.00 pm the Private power plant of the Santa Teresa Ranch failed and at 8.00 pm Dora came into Yolie's room frightened. Strange lights were outside the house and were like lightning. There were few clouds. Yolie and her sister Yolanda went outside. To east on the Railway line were two bright disc-shaped objects linked by a shining tube and there were 40 Hominoid silhouettes inside the tube. The Witnesses thought it was a derailment or sabotage. They then returned to the house to get warm clothing and Dora went and got her Colt. 45. Yolie woke her other sister Argentina to keep an ear on Yolie's baby. The three women went to investigate a pale greenish light near the front gate and thought they were the headlights of a farm truck. Dora ran to open the gate while Yolie shone a torch at the green light. Instantly a dome shaped object was seen hovering in front of the witnesses. The object had six brightly lit windows, was thirty feet wide and metallic.There were a number of sections joined together with rivets and seams and the craft was rocking to and fro. Suddenly a multicoloured band began to rotate and a mist thickened around the object. At the same time there was a faint hum and a sulphurous smell. Then a tongue of flame shot from it and hit Dora and hurled the two sisters to the ground. At the same time three more domes on the Railway line lit up. Now there were six in total. The girls parents were now woken by the noise and the sound of falling bricks and watched the band inside the gate spinning faster and faster until it was totally enveloped in white mist or fog. All that could be seen was a white tube emerging from the top that was probing the features of the house. Then double tubes of light emerged from the three craft on the Railroad track. One pair on the henhouse, another on the tractor shed and the third on the neighbours house. The ends of these light beams edged forwards and seemed more like perfectly cylindrical light tubes ten feet across. They cast no shadows and Yolie thrust her arm into one. There was powerful heat but no effect on the skin though. Yolie then ran indoors. The house temperature had risen from 60 degrees Fahrenheit to 104 degrees and everyone felt prickling and burning on their skin. The house was lit up bright as day. The three Guard dogs were quiet and subdued when the beams of light were on them but lively when not. The beams fluctuated. Next the object closest to the house shone a light beam in the direction of Trancas, five kilometres away. The beam advanced for ten to fifteen minutes till it hit the outskirts of the city and then U-turned back before it was withdrawn. The craft then moved towards the other five on the Railroad line and finally all six craft took off towards Sierra de Medina. The sighting lasted 45 minutes. For thirty minutes after the event the horizon was tinged with an orange glow. There was fog in the air that took four hours to disperse. At spots where the objects had hovered perfect cones were found that were composed of white balls one centimetre in diameter which disintegrated under gentle pressure. Chemical analysis at the Institute of Chemical Engineering at the University of Tucuman showed they were composed of 96.48% Calcium Carbonate and 3.51% Potassium Carbonate. Was this waste from light production? Here we have probing lights, Hominoid silhouettes, intense heat, strange animal behaviour, matter similar to crumbled Angelhair and light-beams that can perform U-turns. Quite a handful indeed.

Iguape, Sao Paulo, Brazil, Peropava River. 31st October 1963. Thursday. Rute de Souza, 8, her mother, father and uncle Raul de Souza, a number of Fishermen on the far bank and a Japanese Gentleman, Mr Tetsuo Ioshigawa had a most unusual experience. Rute heard a strange and increasing roar and looked for the source and observed a silvery object coming for the river near her house that then soared and then struck a palmtree and began to writhe and struggle in the air before falling into the river on the opposite shore. Rute told her mother who had also heard the noise as did her father. They stood in amazement watching the water boil and then surge up and finally erupt into an explosion of muddy water and then mud. Many witnesses had seen it descend and described it as twenty-five feet in diameter, shaped like a wash basin and resembling polished Aluminium. The object was twenty feet up when struck a tree and then seemed to be in trouble. For several weeks after divers tried to find something where the craft had fallen. They were hampered by the thick mud on the bottom. The mud was fifteen feet thick at the spot the saucer fell and that was under twelve feet of water. There was a fruitless and searching task made by the Brazilian Government. Something fell, damaging a palm tree. Did it stay buried under the mud or did it decamp the scene?

Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. October 1963. A very large wild cat was seen. Tiddles, Tiddles, Tiddles!

Whidby Island, South Australia. October 1963. A ten foot long grey flying craft shaped more like a winged aircraft than a disc suddenly shrank considerably in size and tilted so that its rear portion disappeared into the ground. How do portions of a Phenomenon merge with parts of the Earth? Maybe they only appear to be merged. We met this type of phenomenon in Italy in the Alps in the late 1940s where one of the craft appeared fused with the earth.

Dalyston, Victoria. Australia. 7th November 1963. 4.15 am. Mr Davidson, a bread carter, was followed by a three to four metre long glowing object that was orange in colour and looked like a cloud at only a thirty metres range. The object pursued the witness for three kilometres then accelerated to the right. November. Time of many surprises!

That same night two other breadcarters three miles from Wonthaggi also saw an illuminated object like a fire.

On 8th November 1963 at 7.50 pm Mr. T. Colbert and his fiancé Miss J Hughes were driving along South Dudley Road when they saw a glow over South Dudley. Mr. Colbert stopped the car and thought that the No five mine brace was on fire but then realized that the orange to red glow was moving and there were lightrays issuing from on top of it. The witnesses flet hypnotized for a few moments before they realized that the light was moving around the coast. A motor mechanic also saw the same object at Kilcunda nearby.

On 12th November 1963, two deputy sheriffs in Port Huron, Saint Clair County, Michigan were chasing a lowflying UFO when they noticed a white flashing light. Then the object hovered and the deputies flashed their squad car light at the craft. The UFO responded almost immediately and in moments a flashing red light became visible on the craft. The vehicle also had a big divided window.

At 4.45am on 14th November 1963, a huge bluish green disc was sighted over Carson City, Carson City County, Nevada. Mrs Blanche Pritchett said that while listening to her radio she had seen a brilliant light shining through her draperies and when she looked out she saw a green hovering disc emanating a brilliant shaft of light which illuminated a hilltop. Without warning her radio stopped playing and just as suddenly the UFO blacked out and disappeared and the radio resumed playing again.

Sandling Park, Hythe, Kent, England, near Saltwood. 16th November 1963. Saturday. Evening. Four young people were out walking. John Flaxton,17, Mervyn Hutchinson,18, and two others saw a reddish-yellow light coming out of the sky at an angle of 60 degrees above Slaybrook Corner. The light then went behind a clump of trees and Flaxton went cold all over. The four broke and ran and then saw a bright golden globe fifteen to twenty feet across in a field. The globe was about three metres above the ground about 80 yards away. They stopped and so did it and it seemed to be watching the witnesses. Then the light went behind some trees and it was then reported that suddenly a black batwinged creature with no clearly discernible head appeared. It waddled towards the witnesses and terrified them and caused them to flee. The creature had webbed feet. Hombirds and UFOs? A likely combination?

Kanamachi, Fujishoro Bypass, Japan, between Matsudo and Kashiwa. 19th November 1963. Tuesday. 8.00 am. Three respectable witnesses, Mr Kinoshita, a bank Manager, Mr Saito, a Banker, and a client, were driving behind a black Toyopet New Crown with a single elderly Gentleman in the back left who was reading a newspaper. The car had Tokyo registration and was only 150 feet ahead of them. Suddenly there were puffs of white smoke that enveloped the car ahead. After a few seconds the cloud or fog dispersed but the car was no more. It had completely disappeared and on the bypass there was nowhere that it could have gone. These mysterious fogs again.

On 20th November 1963, two high school girls reported that a bright orange oval shaped object circled their car at night on a highway east of Neche, North Dakota. The object had at first sped across in front of their car and then circled it before heading to the southeast.

Sandling Park, Hythe, Kent, England, Saltwood. 21st November 1963. Thursday. Keith croucher, seventeen years old, saw a solid oval light in the centre of a golden mist crossing a football field. This was five days after the sighting of a black batwinged creature and a UFO in the same area.

Aberdeen, Grampian, Scotland. 22nd November 1963. Friday. The Captain and crew of the Collier “Thrift” saw a brilliantly flashing light travelling fifteen to twenty feet above sea level then vanish within one mile of the portside. The ship put out a full alert and turned back. They saw two images on the Radar. These images vanished when the Thrift was within one quarter of a mile of them. There were no traces of anything at the crash site. The light had made no noise yet something was definitely seen to fall into the water as well as to be tracked by Radar. Previously there had been the spontaneous combustion here of a pensioned off old Soldier in 1888.

Sandling Park, Hythe, Kent, England, Saltwood. 23rd November 1963. Saturday. Mr John McGoldrick and friends saw that a vast expanse of bracken was found flattened as if something enormous had rested on it. Footprints were also found around the flattened expanse that were one inch deep, 24 inches long and nine inches across. Foot or hand prints. Something was happening around Sandling Park.

Saltwood, East Kent, England. November 1963. A bright ball of fire was seen on the top of a hill. It was like a strange golden light.

In the vicinity and prominently near the Railway Bridge there was seen a black batwinged creature that had no discernible head. Was there a relationship between the two?

Dunkirk, Chatauqua County, New York. 2nd December 1963. Monday. A glowing object that did not seem to be a Meteor passed through the sky. It then plunged into Lake Erie. Things that plunge into Lake Erie? We have seen them before in 1958 and 1962 and things that hover over Lake Erie were seen many times including several times over Dunkirk itself in 1910.

On 4th December 1963 in Glen Cove, Nassau County on Long Island, New York State, Mr. Thomas Sweizerski, 66, was found dead with his clothes burnt off his body. There was no other evidence of fire in the room.

Sandling Park, Hythe, Kent, England, Saltwood. 11th December 1963. Wednesday. Mr John McGoldrick, friends and two newspaper reporters all saw the woods illuminated by a strange pulsating light. They watched it for 1/2 an hour. Strange pulsating lights, batwinged creatures, odd nests and UFOs? Any connection or just coincidence?

Douglass, Nacogdoches County, Texas. 12th December 1963. Custom's Interventor Mr Ignacio Gonzales Baz sighted and photographed two ballshaped globs of foamy material which had bounced past the Custom's Checking Station and caught in the Mesquite. The mass was roughly six feet in diameter and looked like soap or detergent suds. The bubbles were interlocked by a fibrous substance and were clinging cohesively together. A rainstorm dissolved it though it was more tenacious than soapsuds. Tumble weeds of Angelhair? Or large masses of frog spawn? Previously there had been a landing of an Airship here in 1897 near Rockland in which a Hominoid gave the witness a ten dollar note for bluestone, lubricating oils and cold chisels.

Between Potchefstroon and Vereening, Transvaal, South Africa. 14th December 1963. Saturday. Two men were driving in a car during the small hours of the morning when they saw something on the road that resembled a buck. They turned back to investigate and realized that it was an extremely large dog. As they turned their car to continue on with their journey the area suddenly got brighter and a strange bright object appeared ahead of them and made straight for them at terrific speed. The two men were afraid it would hit car and the witness and Mr Muller jumped out of the car as the object dived right over them and went into the sky. Then the craft made another pass at the car, hovered over it for a couple of minutes, shot off, returned, dived low over the two men a few times and then vanished into the sky. When the UFO left the dog had vanished. Had they let it out for a run or was it in charge?

Summerholme, Queensland. Australia. 22nd December 1963. Two boys reported seeing eight or nine cylinders swoop low over their house and travel at speed plunging towards the ground 250 metres away. A search found nothing. When you have a crash and there isn't one? Just made it into the next dimension before permanently becoming part of ours! Be so careful where you materialize, your timing and positioning must be so precise.

Libreville, Gabon. Africa. 25th December 1963. A fisherman saw a landed UFO from which a strange entity emerged and made incomprehensible noises before returning to the craft. The strange entity left footprints in the sand. This was not the second coming of Christ!

Epping, Essex, England. December 27th 1963. 4.00 pm. A white object landed in a field. The left side was brightly illuminated and the craft was eighteen feet long by three feet high. Then it took off horizontally and was hidden to the witness behind an obstacle just over thirty yards away. Later grass that had been flattened into a circle as well as shallow depressions were found in the ground. Ho-hum.

Sauce Viejo, Santa Fe Province, Argentina. December 1963. One night in December Mr Cesar Tulio Gallardo, a Railway worker was in his Railway quarters coach on a siding when he went outside to see what had caused the radio and lamp to die. Cesar then saw lights in the sky and went back in and shut his door. Then a Hominoid surrounded by a strange light was seen and it came into the coach. The Hominoid was dressed in dark shiny cloth. The strange light was still outside and Cesar shielded his face with a newspaper. The Hominoid snatched the newspaper from his hands and tore it up. Next the Hominoid seized an oilcan and emptied the contents of the can into a bottle or container from its person and then vanished out of the door it had come in through . That same day passengers on an incoming train saw a luminous man walking along the Railway tracks. Gallardo reported the affair to Police. There were multiple independent witnesses to the absurd.

Sauce Viejo, Santa Fe Province, Argentina. December 1963. On the same night as Sauce Viejo the passengers on an incoming train saw a luminous man walking along the Railway tracks. And here they were.

Resistencia, El Chaco, Argentina. December 1963. 6.30 pm.The three man crew in a freight train saw a 7.5 foot tall being walking along the Railway tracks. The Hominoid wore a one piece garment and seemed to be carrying the body of a small child. The giant had a pale face and long fair hair which was very rare for the area. Suddenly the hominoid shot up into the air as if sucked up by a whirlwind when the train was only five metres away. They love Railways but who was the small child? Theirs or ours and obviously dead? Had we graduated from dogs? Or hadn't we noticed? After all children go missing every day. But for what reason? As lunch?

Resistencia, El Chaco, Argentina. December 1963. 6.30 pm. The same day as the Railway sighting Mr Justo Marin and his son were sitting in their garden at supper when a strange being descended towards them. The being wore a one piece garment and was a giant with a pale face and long fair hair. It certainly wasn't Jesus Christ. But who was he?

Tuolomne County, near Yosemite National Forest, California. December 1963. Sheriff's Deputy Albert Miller discovered several awesome tracks in the snow near a garbage dump. They were not bear tracks and were 16 inches long by six inches wide and six to eight feet in stride. There were many local witnesses of an enormous Hairy Hominoid, ten feet tall with a six to eight foot stride. A local or a visitor?

Saline County, Illinois. 1963. A giant cat was seen. Like Tiddles.

Lawrence County, Illinois. 1963. A giant cat was seen. Tiddles' cousin?

Altai Mountains, Southern Mongolia. 1963. Dr Ivan Ivlov, a Childrens Doctor, saw a family of Hairy Hominoids including male, female and young standing on a mountain slope through field glasses at one mile. The hairy hominoids were viewed for some time. The Mongol driver also saw them and they were called "Almas". Locals or visitors?

Bluff Creek, Humboldt County, California.1963. Midday. A Hairy Hominoid appeared between two workgangs installing 48 inch concrete culverts into the Earth. Earlier on there had been reports of these culverts having been torn out of their fresh beds and being thrown into a stream. This time though the workgangs returned to the truck carrying the culverts. This time the truck as well as the culverts had been upended and thrown on to its back and fresh footprints were found on the gravel road around the damaged truck. Maybe a mixture of visitor as well as local?

Mount Shasta, Shasta County, California.1963. A deer hunter that was very badly hurt after a fall had a most unusual encounter with a Hairy Hominoid. The deerhunter was carried back to his camp and safety by a white haired Bigfoot with a musty smell.

Goose Point, near Anahim Lake, British Columbia. 1963. Mr. Harry Squiness was preparing for bed when his tent flap opened and a hairy monkey face with human eyes peered in at him. Harry snatched up a light which did not work so he ran outside and threw some petrol onto the camp fire. In the light produced he saw four apelike creatures lying down about fourteen feet away as if trying to hide. They then jumped up and walked off into the darkness. Harry yelled out to them but they appeared to ignore him. There were no footprints but there was a huge lone handprint up on a tree trunk.

One day in 1963 Mr. Jack Wilson saw a Bigfoot on an island shore near Bella Bella in the Kitimat Ranges of British Columbia.

Mount Shasta, Shasta County, California. 1963. A Hairy Hominoid was seen and smelt. It was said to smell like rotten bearhides but was not a bear.

Mansfield, Richland County, Ohio. 1963. Mr C. W. Cox and many other independent witnesses saw a seven to eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid that looked like a gorilla with grey hair and glowing green eyes. The creature had previously been seen here in 1959. It was not a bear. More and more of them in the oddest of locations.

Sometime in 1963 in Hamilton County near Cincinnati Ohio, Mr. Wallace Wright, his girlfriend and several men saw a a very tall creature like a huge tree walking. Originally it was only the young couple who were in a car at the time that saw the creature but they went and got the other witnesses who also saw it.

Holopaw, Osceola County, Florida. 1963. Several prominent witnesses including Cattlemen and Citrus growers saw an apelike creature running across a field. It was not an ape though and some of the witnesses only saw it from a few feet away. Suddenly we have an unannounced influx of Hairy Hominoid sightings in Florida.

Anclote River, Pasco County, Florida. 1963. There were several witnesses of a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid with a smell like urine that was seen and smelt. Hairy Hominoids were being seen in parts where they had never been reported before as well as other parts where they would be rarely reported again. Were they just passing through?

Elfers, Pasco County, Florida. 1963. There were several witnesses of a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid with a smell like urine that was seen and smelt.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 1963. A nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen that had shining eyes. Unlike Sister Lakes where they had suddenly become quite common.

Lake Labynkir, Sordongnakh Plateau, Yakutsk, Siberia. 1963. Four members of a Soviet expedition saw a Lakemonster in water 80 metres away in the Lake which rose out of the water several times before submerging. Once again it is a case of now you have never seen them and now you do. With only a few exceptions, and these might not be exceptions either.

Polson, Flathead Lake County, Montana. 1963. Mr Ronald Nixon saw a Lakemonster that was twenty-five feet long which cast a two foot head wave. The creature was black and had no fin on its back as a fish should have.

Middle Moneynut, East Lothian, Scotland.1963. UFOs were seen and an unusual crater was found.

Dufton Fell, Westmoreland, England.1963. UFOs were seen and an unusual crater was found.

Flamborough Head, Yorkshire, England.1963. UFOs were seen and an unusual crater was found.

Southerness, Kirkcudbright, Scotland. Dumfries and Galloway. 1963. UFOs were seen and an unusual crater was found. Was there a connection?

Southampton, Hants, England. 1963. UFOs were seen and an unusual crater was found.

Could any other type of Celestial Phenomena be seen as luminous in the sky and be capable of causing impact craters on hitting Earth? Is it antimatter in collision with the matter in the earth?

Strait of Georgia, Shelter Point, Gabriola Island, Nanaimo County, British Columbia, Canada. 1963. Mrs J.C. Durrant saw a large brown headed Seamonster in the sea. It had a big mouth with terrible wide open jaws and was not a fish and also had a long mythic history in the area. Many believe Caddy to be a natural denizen of the sea. Why so hard to find though? Is Caddy shy? We seem to be able to catch anything that we see in the see. Why can't we catch these?

Strait of Georgia, Gabriola Island, Nanaimo County, British Columbia, Canada. 1963. Mr and Mrs R.A. Stewart were fishing in a boat near the shore when they saw a Seamonster only a few feet away. The Stewarts were terrified by its' wide open jaws. The creature resembled a Seaserpent.

New York, New York State. 1963. A fifty foot long gelatinous Seamonster that was transparent and six inches in diameter was seen. Was this a larval form of something enormous from the Ocean depths? Larvae are quite often transparent as are many deep-sea creatures that do not require any type of pigmentation due to the intense darkness on the deep Ocean floor. Do you need pigmentation in the darkness of space as well?

Puerto Rico. 1963. During a naval exercise off Puerto Rico, five hundred miles south-east of the United States, the sonar operators on some destroyers as well as the aircraft carrier “Wasp” detected a fast moving submerged object driven by a single propellor. The object was travelling at 170 knots! The world record for a man-made submerged nuclear powered submarine was only 45 knots. Whose was this? Furthermore the object dropped down to 27,000 feet which beat any record for a conventional dive by a submarine by a few miles.

Parana, Brazil. 1963. Dawn. During several unusual Forest fires a UFO was seen to land by a crowd of people150 metres away. It was an oval object, huge and shaped like a basin and of a bright Zinc colour and it was landing silently but stopped hovering four metres above the ground. The craft was 35 metres in diameter by eight metres high and hung motionless for fifteen minutes. Then several goodlooking tall beings appeared from it and started collecting rocks and burnt material in what appeared to be a protected zone around the craft. Here thus endeth or continueth the year 1963 as we do not have a specific date for this sighting which though unusual does have precedents, both in the past and the future.

Between Cape Grey and Groote Eylandt in the Northern Territory of Australia, Gulf of Carpentaria. 23rd January 1964. Thursday. A Lightwheel was seen that was going clockwise. It affected the compass of the landing craft “Loellen M” which encountered a number of submarine light patches.The unnatural light was two metres on the Starboard side and the vessel had been found to be sixty degrees off course. The lightwheel was a ghostly white light and in its centre was a shadow which rotated in a clockwise direction causing the light to pulsate. It drew away to the stern and was two miles across and a few hundred yards through. All the lights were the same colour with the strange rotating shadow causing the lights to pulsate. Who knows about Lightwheels. This is only the twenty-second to have ever been reported.

Oshkosh, Winnebago County, Wisconsin, Lake Winnebago. 27th January 1964. Monday. Police and others saw a flying object like a burning plane, not a Meteor, crash into the lake. No planes were reported missing though. They love lakes.

Dallas, Dallas County, Texas. 27th January 1964. A flaming blob bobbed and weaved in the sky and then fell from the sky onto the lawn of the Melvin L. Lewis house setting it on fire. It left a choking Sulphurous smell. Meteors do not Bob and weave in the sky.

Gum Creek, South Australia. 3rd February 1964. 2.30 am. Mrs Player, a farmers wife, awoke to find a man holding a black box in her front garden. The hominoid appeared male,162 centimetres tall, wearing a brown balaclava helmet, blue green coveralls and a brown open jacket. The hominoid walked towards where Mrs. Player was looking through the window. Mrs. Player then slipped down into her bed and fell asleep. It was like a dream. A lot of our events are like dreams the problem is that many of these dreams leave physical evidence or are multiply witnessed.

Humboldt Bay, Eureka, Humboldt County, California. 5th February 1964. Wednesday. The Captain and crew of the “Hattie D” were witnesses to a strange event. The yacht ran into a metallic object moving around under the surface of the sea in Humboldt Bay . The object was 105 feet long and the sea is 7,500 feet deep here. The object seemed to be made of steel and had no give at all but was not a Submarine as it had no conning tower. Haven’t we met similar before? Remember the “Ruby” in 1961?

Heathy Park, Shooters Hill, London, England. 14th February 1964. A huge animal with razorsharp two inch claws left large footprints that were sunk two inches deep into firm ground. Here Tiddles.

Lake Michigan. 14th February 1964. A flaming object was seen to fall from the northeast. It wasfaster than a flare but slower than a Meteor. Several adult witnesses saw it landed in the Lake. Lake Michigan again? Another luminous aerial object had crashed into Lake Winnebago on 27th January that same year.

Between Detroit, Michigan and Akron, Ohio. 15th February 1964. 8.30 am. The day after the meteor or UFO fall into Lake Michigan over the west of Lake Erie there was the disappearence of an Aero Commander 560E twin engined plane. No wreckage was found. Now Lake Erie? Was there a connection? Can we have isolated pinpoint Meteor bombardments over a limited time and place? Yes. With the number of aeroplanes flying around the odds are that one would be hit. Why not? We had two reported meteor crashes in eighteen days so far. Why not a third. Or are there invisible meteors as well?

Gum Creek, South Australia. 19th February 1964. Mrs Player, the same witness as the previous sighting on 3rd February saw an object approaching her house and hovering close by it. Mrs. Player also saw a man standing at a “wooden railing “inside the object. Eventually the UFO took off into the sky. Weirder and weirder but if we follow our new logic, more normal.

East Runton, near Cromer, Norfolk. 19th February 1964. Various witnesses saw a large animal on a railway embankment. It was described as a Tiger, Lion, Puma and Cheetah. Is it one of them or all of the above or in fact none of the above?

Cromer, Norfolk, England. 19th February 1964. Wednesday. Many individual witnesses saw a Puma which is not native to England. It was a giant spotted cat with a long tail. Actually an indefinable cat-like animal that at best looked like a Puma. There was a big search but no traces could be found. The Surrey Puma was its most common name. It was not limited to Surrey alone though.

Plympton, South Australia, near Adelaide. 29th February 1964. 2.30 pm. Two boys, D. Mathlin and his friend with the surname Jensen, were outside playing when they suddenly heard a faint swishing sound above them. They looked and saw a glowing disc slowly descending to a nearby paddock. The boys went and hid in old car body 200 feet from it and a door on the disc opened silently. A tall Hominoid stepped out, stooping so as not to hit its head. The hominoid was seven feet tall and wore a tightfitting blue black tunic, a purple cape, a leather-like cap on its head that was adjusted under the chin, silver studded gauntlets covering its hands from which sprouted a long tube that went around the back of its head and up one nostril. It had sunburnt coppery skin and there was a large belt around its waist fitted in front with a control panel on which its fingers playing continuously. The two boys were so excited and forgot to remain hidden and were seen. With quick movements the Hominoid turned and faced the craft and looked at one of the portholes which surrounded the upper part of the disc. Another Hominoid appeared at porthole for a second and the craft began to hum as the outer rim began to glow. By this time the first Hominoid had got back in and with a soft fluttering motion the ship lifted slightly and then after tilting at an angle of ten degrees shot into the sky. There were twenty other independent witnesses of the take off. Quite a lavishly costumed production this one.

Norfolk, England. February 1964. Many individual witnesses saw Pumas, Tigers and Cheetahs that are not native to England.

Salt Creek, near Tilley Swamp, South Australia. 13th March 1964. 5.17 pm. A Grazier reported that a 70 metre long thing had followed his car and then there was an unusual noise heard after which the UFO took off into the sky. South Australia was proving quite popular this year.

Mount Chitpec, Chiapas state, Mexico. March 1964. A round, flat, UFO giving off a bright blue and orange light crashed high on a mountain near San Cristobal de Las Casa. The local tribe the Chalulas insisted that it was a gift from God and the Virgin and refused to allow its removal. All things from the sky are the gifts of God, or so many believe. Are some of them actually God?

On 13th April 1964 at 9.30 pm Mr. H Ryan saw a vivid blue flash which came in north-westerly direction and then spiraled towards the earth at Bairnsdale in Victoria in Australia. The blue and orange lighted object would come close to ground level and then shoot up into the sky in an arc and then would again zig-zag towards the earth again. Mr. Ryan called his wife and two visitors to look at it and they watched the lights spiral and curve regularly twelve times. When the object took off eventually four jets like vapour trails in brick and orange colours appeared behind it.

Walthamstowe, London, England, Lea River. 13th April 1964. Monday. Several witnesses saw a silver cigar that was nine foot long crash into the river Lea. The crashing object left a scar in the concrete towpath and tore down the telephone wires. This was not a meteor. The impact from a nine foot long Meteor would have flattened the neighborhood for miles! Walthamstowe used to be a major religious site in the Middle Ages. Was this also a gift from God? Just a little late were we?

Socorro, Socorro County, New Mexico. 24th April 1964. 5.45 pm. Policeman Lonnie Zamora was in his Patrol Car on Route 85 pursuing a speedster when he saw an object emmitting bright light and spewing out blue and orange flames rapidly losing altitude though hovering occasionally. The object made a roaring noise and drifted into a gully. The object was fifteen feet long and oval and a rocket-like exhaust appeared under it and left a bright blue flame on the shell of the saucer-shaped object. There was a vertical arrow with a vertical bar underneath it that resembled medieval Arabic for Venus. There were also mystery giant tracks. Suddenly loud sounds from the interior caused the witness to seek shelter. Lonnie saw two small Hominoids in silvery coveralls working underneath the craft. Sergeant Chavez arrived and the brush was burning in several places. The smouldering bushes oddly enough felt cold to touch and formed diagonals of quadrilaterals that were intersected at rightangles with the intersecting point the most burnt. After the craft left a metallic material was found on the rocks that was found to be silicone. The bushes were charred. Also there were four deep marks where the metallic legs of the UFO had been. These were 3.5 inches deep and circular like landing pads. There were also traces of calcination evident. This can only be caused by extreme heat. What can we say? All of the classic elements are here as well as trace elements left over such as Silicone and ground calcination. But was it what was seen that left these elements? We might have to allow in our thinking for things that look like this to actually look like something else that we cannot comprehend that can still leave the same physical traces. 24th April 1964, and thereon was shaping up to be very big.

La Madera, Rio Arriba County, New Mexico. 24th April 1964. Spring. A white egg-shaped craft was seen to land by Senor Orlando Gallegos who was visiting his father and went outside to chase some horse out of the yard. He then noticed a bluish glow about two hundred feet from the house and as he walked towards it he noticed that it was caused by a butane-tank shaped thing as long as a telephone pole that was resting on the ground. The object was fourteen foot round and was shooting blue flames out of holes in the sides along the bottom. On the spot where it had landed there were markings that could only have been made by landing struts. The Earth was also scorched unnaturally as well and was still smoking twenty hours later when the police arrived to investigate it. The imprints left by the landing gear were the same as at Socorro that same day and there was melted glass as well. There were four eight by twelve inch indentations which were wedge-shaped at the bottom and at least one dozen circular tracks about 3.5 to four inches in diameter. An area of 35 to 40 feet had been scorched. How could it be that nearby on the same day the virtually identical craft lands at La Madera. If the La Madera craft was virtually identical to the Socorro craft then we may have to rule out inner witness symbolism creating the pseudoreal construction of the landed UFO as the odds should be near impossible for the two to match or so we should think with remote witnesses. Or are there generic symbolisms to draw on like virtually identical packets of soap powder? Do we also need to allow for how many other references there are by Authors and researchers who knowingly or unknowingly attempted to validate their own pet theories by altering descriptive data. This can be done quite easily and quite subconsciously when one only wants to see what one wants to see, a bit like the nature of the viewing of the Phenomena themselves. Were the markings, undescribed, actually the same? Or was it the observation that markings were left tied in with the occurrence of the Socorro sighting?

Canyon Ferry, Meagher County, Montana. 24th April 1964. 10.30 pm. After Socorro a landed UFO left imprints of landing gear the same as Socorro that same day. Several youngsters living at the lake claimed to have seen a lighted object which landed and then took off again from an area about 125 feet from the house. The Sheriff investigated the next day and found four eight inch by ten inch indentations in the ground that were four to eight inches deep that were arranged in an irregular rectangle roughly thirteen feet apart. The area also showed signs of scorching and a big cactus near the centre of the arrangement was scorched as well. The ground was still warm. Was there actually a third identical sighting or a third assumed identical sighting? If the sightings are identical then we appear to have a Major quandary. We may have to allow for variationof sources for Phenomena as well. We have a concept of a Multiverse of dimensions, possibly of many differing types. In many cases Phenomena just appear to slip through, just a step out of time and place. In many other cases we appear to have deliberate and intentional arrivals and more than likely departures and in many cases accidents as well. We allow for the cross dimensional travel to be facilitated by the intentional or unintentional use of the Quasar Vacuum triggered by Cold Plasma explosions or vibratory activations. The concept of vibratory activations is evidenced by graph data showing that the Phenomena when pointed onto a graph where x=-180 to +180 including a positive and a negative Zero column and Y=time travelling forward and only longitudes are plotted appear to be occurring on a variety of intersecting sine waves with varying periodicities. The same occurs when we use another sister graph where x=-90 to +90 including a positive and a negative Zero column and y=time travelling forward. These two graphs cannot be overlaid and can only be viewed separately as they are truly separate graphs indicating the movement of sites of Phenomena relative to the Earth's surface over time in one dimension only. As evidenced by the Illert Exponential projection based on this data from 1800 to 1977 we have apparent periodicities in an observable state. These periodicities allow a further method of observing Phenomena over time therefore giving us a way of plotting and verifying the precession of phenomenally-prone points of time and place on the actual surface of the Earth.

Still that same day of 24th April 1964 and on the north range of the Holloman-White Sands Missile test range the pilot of an RB-57 bomber engaged in a routine bomb test mission called mission control on his radio and informed them that he was not alone up there and that there was a UFO up there with him. The object was egg-shaped and white. Control asked if there were any markings and the pilot stated that there were and that they were the same as Socorro earlier that day. The pilot told control that he was going to make another pass and after completing his turn he saw that it was on the ground. At this point communications ceased. There were no more transmissions.

Binghampton, Newark Valley, Tioga County, New York. 24th April 1964. 10.00 am. Mr Gary Wilcox, a farmer, saw a UFO land in a nearby field and went to investigate. Gary saw no door or hatch and a pair of small men four feet tall arrived on the scene. Their clothing appeared to have no seams and they wore hoods that were covering their faces completely. Each was carrying a tray with soil from the field in it and Gary stated that they said that they were from Mars and there was no need to be afraid of them. The subject turned to organic fertilizers and Gary was told by Aliens that they could grow food in the atmosphere. The Aliens also told Gary that UFOs were less visible in daylight and that the Astronauts would not be successful as their bodies were not suited to Space. The Hominoids requested a bag of blood and bone fertilizer and as the witness went away to get it the UFO took off and Gary left the bag at the landing site. By the next day the bag was gone. That very same day as the commotion in New Mexico and Montana in a valley not very far away, spacially speaking, Mr Gary Wilcox in New York State was having unusual visitors who showed an interest in gardening.

The following day. Round Mountain, near Tularosa, Otero County, New Mexico. 25th April 1964. A motorist observed a bright object coming down from the sky.

Albuquerque, Bernalillo County, New Mexico,Rio Grande. 28th April 1964. Tuesday. Sharon Stull,10, and her playmates saw an egg-shaped object that had appeared in the sky. The craft was smaller than a plane and a membranous material fell from it. Sharon grabbed the material and suffered inflammation of the eyes as well as first degree burns under the eyes and nose. Sharon then grew five inches in four weeks and within a month she seemed to have matured and grown up. She cooked her own meals, cleaned the house and took care of the younger children. Sharon grew from four foot eight inches tall and 80 pounds weight to five foot two inches tall and 110 pounds. She also had to wear sunglasses outside from then on as sunlight was too bright for her. Had Sharon been exposed to a massive radiation source which had upset her thyroid? And even into the following week it is still quite busy in the New Mexico area. Just ask Sharon Stull and her friends. She would never forget it.

Near Stallion Site, San Antonio, Socorro County, New Mexico. Near Holloman Air Force Base. 30th April 1964. Thursday. Early in the afternoon the pilot of a B-57 saw an egg-shaped white object in the sky. The object had the same markings as the craft seen at Socorro on its sides and the object landed on the North Range. The same markings as Socorro? Too much for coincidence? Are we to look at medieval Arabic Astronomy for clues or is the symbol for Venus on the craft merely another coincidence? Does the symbol refer to Venus the planet or from Venus? Might it even refer to via Venus? Might it be nothing of the sort at all? Are the demons of the night merely updated and modernised even when they come by day? Is it the same as the route 497 bus?

Nantucket, Nantucket County, Massachusetts. 14th May 1964. Thirty miles south of Round Shoal Bouy. The crew of the Dragger “Blue Sea” saw a fifty foot long, black Seamonster with several humps that had a blowhole in the top of an alligator-shaped head. The creature skimmed along the surface and blew air out of the hole in its head and paced the ship at eight miles per hour. It’s serpentlike and it’s not very far from Gloucester at all.

Colonia Castelli, near Resistencia Chaco Province, Argentina. early May 1964. In a heavily forested area a black nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid stepped out in front of Mr Alberto Kalbermatter who was driving a truck. The creature uttered a loud and terrifying scream and was covered in long black fur and had a humanlike face. A UFO had been seen in the area as well as the Beast which had been seen and heard. Alberto accelerated and nearly ran it over. You never know when a Yowie may appear. Incidentally the truck did not stop during the sighting.

New Bedford, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 17th May 1964. A Seamonster was seen by the Scalloper “Noreen". The visible part was over 40 feet long and the alligator-like head rose 26 feet into the air. The creature had a seal-shaped body and a mane of bristly hair or fur running down the back of the body. The creature rose four times in twenty minutes and appeared to weigh 35 to 40 tons. There were six witnesses. But it looks like a totally different creature. Then again we have had this problem with Nessy and a few others as well. Either there are vast varieties of them in single pockets or they shapeshift. My God, its back to Demonology again. Or it is a result of transmogrification via the Quasar Vacuum. Sometimes it might not just work out quite right when you get to the other side. Or it actually might if we allow for the visible appearences merely being chameleon-like camouflages for something that might want to remain unknowable. Or are the witnesses responsible for how the phenomenon finally looks?

Brown’s Gulch, Liberty County, Montana. 17th May 1964. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by a troop of boy scouts camping fifteen miles from Butte. At 4.00 am one of the boys heard something moving outside of his tent and he looked outside and was confronted by a man-like creature covered in brown hair with silver tips. The creature also had a full beard. The boy let out a terrified scream and the animal took off into the creek, making splashing noises as well as human-like giggling noises. Humanlike footprints were found the following day that were twenty inches long by six inches wide with a stride of seven feet. Something normal, we hope. We may still have to question normality though.

Hubbard, Marion County, Oregon. 19th May 1964. Tuesday. 7.30 am. Michael Bizon,10 years old, was leading a cow. At first the cow refused to enter a field and was extremely and unusually nervous. Normally the cow went in with no problems.Then Michael noticed what the cow was watching. In the middle of the field was a square object four foot high that was a silver colour, had four shiny legs and made a soft beeping noise and slowly ascended to the height of a telephone pole. Then the object suddenly shot off and left behind the smell of gas fumes. The witness by now was half frightened and crying. Later an area of wheat was found that was flattened three to four feet across and was pushed out in a flower-shaped pattern. The grain appeared to have been pushed down. There were also three spots pushed down into the Earth that were 36 inches apart. Were these imprints of landing pads? Do cows and humans share the same symbolistic imagery or is there a separate cow one and a separate Human one? The Human and the cow were both frightened. They both saw something and we have seen many animal-Phenomena interactions before to validate that Phenomena can be seen by animals as well as humans. What we cannot ascertain is what they see or even if it is a shared imagery. When a dog is being hurled through the air by a Bigfoot is it a Bigfoot that it is seeing? If it is initially leaping for the throat or face of the animal at the same height where the face is to the Human observer then we may have to allow for both creatures, Human and dog, to be seeing the same sized thing, more than possibly the same thing. After all we have physical traces of the Phenomena such as hair, dung and footprints in many cases seeking to validate that during the period of the sighting or the existence of the Phenomena relative to the Earth and the observers the same type of creature was seen. We use machines to travel and observe from. The ultimate machine is an animal in many cases due to its being most suited to its environment. Bigfeet for land, Pterasaurs or Hombirds for air, Lakemonsters or Seamonsters for water, UFOs and Ufohoms for Space for example. Can a civilisation reach a point where it can observe and explore using pseudoreality or physical reality broadcast beings via the mediumship of the Quasar Vacuum? No longer machine bound but observing with all of the senses of an animate but still pseudoreal being? A mobile virtual reality with a remote observer? No time gaps of hours, days, weeks or even years as time has been avoided as has distance by using the Quasar Vacuum where there is no time or Space. Therefore immediate communication, in fact no communication in the accepted terminology as the observer is also the craft or the Pilot whilst still remote from it. The nature of the Quasar Vacuum is that the subatomic particles are travelling or vibrating so fast that they are always in two dimensions at once. If we expand on this postulate then we can theoretically expand the equation to an infinite number of vibrations therefore having our subatomic particles in an infinite number of dimensions at once. Somewhere someone may in fact be God, observing and interacting with all. Or the opposite or all of the above. There is an infinity of infinities of possibilities.

Loch Morar, Highland, Scotland. 20th May 1964. Mr Alex Patmore and wife Mrs Carol Patmore saw three humps thirty to 40 feet long. The loch was flat calm and it was perfect visibility. Is this God? Yes, if God is everything!

Nantucket, Nantucket County, Massachusetts. 22nd May 1964. The ship “Friendship” saw a Seamonster for fifteen to twenty minutes forty miles east-south-east of Great Round Shoal Bay. The body was a deep blue black and there was scalloping where the neck joined the body which was thirty feet long. The dorsal fins were light grey and four foot long and meaty looking. There were two blowholes in the back and barnacles on the sides. Look! A different type of unknown Seamonster in a familiar area for Seamonsters. How unusual? And only eight days after the previous seamonster sighting in the same area. Shame it is a different design of seamonster.

Rio Vista, Solano County, California. May 1964. There were numerous sightings of a hovering UFO near a watertower five miles from town that lasted until September 1965. The craft was metallic and shot at by the boys and kept returning. The object was twelve to fifteen feet long and three to five feet in diameter and glowed warm and was eerily silent. Boys will be boys. Men will be men. Shoot first and ask questions later.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. May 1964. Hundreds of witnesses saw a nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid with shining eyes in the areas adjoining the swamps in the area. Terrified fruitpickers left the fields that they were in. The creature was seen by hundreds of individual witnesses and left tracks eighteen inches long by five inches wide. Hairy Hominoids seem to be common here, all of a sudden.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. May 1964. Gordon Brown and his brother saw a tall Hairy Hominoid one night and followed its tracks. They came to what they thought was a tree and then realized that the tree was the creature that they were following. The witnesses fled. They seem to be everywhere.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. May 1964. Mr John Utrup was in a car when he saw a big bright Hairy Hominoid with shining eyes. John saw it several times in the locality. Strange about the eyes though. Are they nocturnal or used to living in darkness? There can be a difference. Also odd is that fact that the Hairy Hominoids only appeared around here in 1962. They had never been recorded here before. Where had they come from? Had they been overlooked in the previous two hundred years?

Hobbs, Lea County, New Mexico. 2nd June 1964. Tuesday. 4.00 pm. A grandmother, Mrs Frank Smith, and her grandchild, Charles Keith Davis, eight years old. Just outside the door of the Deluxe Laundry a top-shaped tan coloured object appeared from the sky and hovered just above the boy's head. The object had a sooty tail and suddenly a blackish ball of fire covered the boy's head. One ear looked like a piece of meat and the hair was on fire and the ball then shot straight back into the sky. The face of the boy was so swollen that one could not see his nose and he had second degree burns to his face, hands and neck yet Charles had felt no pain at all. The boys hair was on end and burning. The grandmother had been standing only three feet away and had witnessed the entire affair as did several other laundromat employees. New Mexico certainly was getting weird. Previously there had been falls of rocks over Lovington in 1942 and in 1955 the Pilot of a B-52 collided with an unknown ball of fire also above Lovington. Scarcely 40 kilometres separates Hobbs from Lovington. What is it with the balls of fire?

Thirty kilometres from Pajas Blancas International Airport, Cordoba Province, Argentina. 5th June 1964. 4.00 am. A Doctor and his wife were driving in their car when they saw an object land in front of them. The car stopped and a powerful light went out and a violet coloured light came from it. The witnesses sat there in great perplexity for twenty minutes and eventually got out to investigate when they saw a man approaching who asked “What’s the matter my friend?” in Spanish. The Doctor explained that the car would not run and the man suggested that the Doctor start the car which then ran. The Doctor turned the headlights on and then saw the machine ahead of them. The man smiled saying "Don’t be frightened. I am a Terrestrial. I have a mission to complete here on Earth. My name is R. D, my friend, and you can tell Mankind about it, in your own fashion”before walking away slowly, joined by two other men in grey. All three entered the craft which rapidly took off into the sky. An odd Terrestrial. Remember that’s supposed to be us!

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 9th June 1964. Gordon Brown, a fruit picker, was driving with his brother when in their headlights they saw a nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid with a leathery humanoid face. 9th June was a busy day.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 9th June 1964. Mrs John Utrup stepped into her backyard when she heard great thundering feet pounding towards her. She felt the ground trembling as the Hairy Hominoid approached her. The creature was nine feet tall. The Utrups were popular.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 10th June 1964. A nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid that made gurgling noises like a baby was seen and heard. The creature was shaggy as were many others during the next few days.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 11th June 1964. A nine foot tall shaggy Hairy Hominoid that made gurgling noises like a baby was seen.

Silver Creek Township, Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 12th June 1964. Joyce Smith, Patsy Clayton and Gail Clayton, all aged thirteen, were walking on a lonely country road when they saw a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid with a black face. Joyce fainted and the two other witnesses were paralysed with fear as it charged off into the undergrowth. Was the paralysis caused by it or a result of meeting it?

Elmore, Ottawa County, Ohio. 12th June 1964. Richard Crawford, a Police Chief, saw a bright light off the side of State Route 51 that he thought was an airplane or a helicopter yet it was too bright. The aura around it was extending a quarter of a mile in either direction. There was silence and it was a clear sky and the object was less than a mile away at an altitude of 2,000 feet. Richard aimed his spotlight at it. The object had been blinking and now was glowing steadily. The witness blinked the spotlight twice and the UFO blinked twice. The scene then went black. Richard continued his patrol and at 11.30 pm the object reappeared again but nearer to the ground now at an altitude of 1,000 feet. Richard then shone his spotlight at it and it wt whooshed away. Richard then switched on his radio and contacted Deputy Carl Soenichsoen in the other car who was told to meet up. Both men then saw the object blinking at one second intervals. The object then moved from a stationary position over the Ohio Turnpike and headed directly for them. Chief radioed the State Highway Patrol. The object became wedge or Vee shaped as it got closer and a flying wedge passed within 500 feet of them. The top leg of the Vee was a full third larger than the bottom and then vanished over the horizon. The State Police arrived and saw nothing. They radioed the Toledo Control Tower. There was nothing flying in an area of 45 miles. Suddenly a propellor driven plane appeared following traces of the UFO. The sound of a motor was audible but the odd plane was acting strangely and circled dangerously near the ground though it did not appear to be in trouble. They contacted Toledo again who again confirmed that there were no planes in the area or on Radar. Incidentally there is a Beryllium plant in the town. Anything to do with Beryllium? What about the Radar invisible odd plane? Were the Leopards changing their spots or was it someone or something else?

Dale, Spencer County, Indiana. 14th June 1964. Sunday. Charles Engelbrecht,18, was in his house watching T.V. alone when suddenly a bright light shone through the window. The electricity suddenly failed at the same time and only fifty feet from the house hovered a basketball-sized light. The witness was paralysed and felt a tingling sensation running through his body. The UFO then vanished and left an odour like Sulphur or burnt rubber. Where the light had been there was a scorched area the size of a salad bowl surrounded by three shallow holes in the shape of an isosceles triangle. Individual witnesses like the Police Chief and other policemen smelt the sulphurous odour for up to quarter of a mile from the landing site.An all too familiar tale right up to the sulphurous smell. Oh, hang on, this is not demonology but extraterrestrial pseudoscience. We don't believe in Demons anymore. Shame, they might well still believe in us.

Arica, Tarapaca, Chile. 15th June 1964. Monday. Mr Rafael Aguirre Donoso met two fair-haired beings from a landed saucer who asked him for some water. The craft was ten foot long by 3.5 feet high. The Hominoids had fair complexions as well as fair hair and spoke in a Spanish-English mixture.The witness gave them some water and they then left. The blonde-haired Venusians are back even if they did not say so themselves. And like we have seen before they have a thing for water.

Lynn, Essex County, Massachusetts. 15th June 1964. Monday. 11.10 pm. Mr William Angleos heard a a strange roaring sound in the sky and for five seconds saw a glowing thing like an inverted truncated cone hovered above the parking lot next to the apartment building he lived in. The luminous object was twenty feet from him and attached to a fifteen foot diameter domed object. William, twenty years old, had been watching T. V and then felt a tingling sensation and became paralysed. The UFO spewed out a luminous vapour trail and sped off. Lynn was becoming very popular.

Lynn, Essex County, Massachusetts. 15th June 1964. Monday. 11.10 pm. At the same time that William Angleos saw his sighting, in another apartment building another witness saw an orange flash of light at the same time as the sighting in the parking lot and noticed their television picture flickering for no known reason. Again. Even if only for the number of witnesses.

Loch Linnhe, Highland, Scotland. 22nd June 1964. Mrs Preston saw the head and neck of a Lakemonster twenty-five yards away. Another odd coincidence. Lynn and Lough Linnhe only one week apart.

On 23rd June 1964 Mr. and Mrs. Harry Taylor, their daughter Linda, seventeen, and a friend, Eddie Pfund, 21, were chased by a UFO along route 60 near Twentymile Bend in Palm Beach County in Florida. When the object was first seen it resembled a cluster of lights in the rear view mirror. When observed more closely they appeared to be fifteen to twenty disc-shaped amber objects moving through the air at sixty to seventy feet above the ground. The witnesses estimated that the objects size was about five feet in diameter. When the witnesses stopped their car and got out to have a better look the objects stopped too, their glow diminished and they nearly disappeared. As soon as they got back into their car and resumed the journey the objects lit up and started pacing the car again. When the Taylors turned the car around to face the luminous objects they vanished again. Attempting to get away from the lights the Taylors pushed the car to one hundred miles per hour and hoping to alert the occupants of a house they pulled up into the driveway. The objects then split formation and passed on either side of a clump of nearby trees and disappeared again.

Spring Valley, White pine County, Nevada. 25th June 1964. Mr George W. Rogers and his brother Mr Bert Rogers were in a car when they noticed an object on the road ahead that was hovering at four feet. The craft then landed on a pedestal two feet high and resembled a pyramid-shaped top with the point tapering down to the pedestal. The top was curved and spinning rapidly. George jumped out of the car and ran up to touch it as it hummed and rose to ten feet up. The craft was now forty feet away and did this three or four times as George kept approaching it. Then it took off to the east over a ridge. The sides were shiny like plastic and there was an insignia or emblem on one side. A plastic UFO? Previously there had been a passenger train stopped by a mudfall here in 1879.

Wellford, near Spartanburg, Spartanburg County, South Carolina. 29th June 1964. 1.00 am. Mr Beauford. E. Parham or Parkham was in his car on Highway 59 when suddenly everything lit up as an amber coloured top-shaped UFO appeared. It was a bright object swooping straight down towards the witness and it tailed the car and came back twice to observe the headlights. At the last moment thje object turned and swerved high above the car as the engine of the car cut out. The object was like an inverted top with sides six feet long. There were little holes underneath it emmitting yellow flames, the craft gave off incredible heat and the air smelt of Formaldehyde. There was also a noise like a million hissing snakes. A few seconds later a strange liquid had destroyed the paint on the top and the hood of the car and burnt and blistered the witness's arm. The motorcar duco was eaten away and the waterhose collapsed. The car was now radioactive. Hissing snake noises? Previously there had been the fall of crocodiles at Silverton in 1877 followed by the sight of two brilliant meteors over Columbia in 1886 during the Great Charleston Earthquake period.

Salmon Point, Prince Edward County, Ontario. Lake Ontario. Canada. 30th June 1964. The "Star of Suez", a freighter found its navigation equipment had become erratic and the vessel went miles off course and ran aground off Salmon Point in Lake Ontario. Tugs freed her. A year later a mystery fire broke out on the same ship in the same spot. What is it about Lake Ontario? Or even Cass County, Michigan?

Cass County, Michigan. June 1964. A Hairy Hominoid was seen.

During June 1964 near Estacada in Clackamus County in Oregon four men saw a Bigfoot by a lake shore.

On 4th July 1964 two youths saw a pair of seven foot tall shaggy white Bigfeet beside the road near Cultus Lake at 2.30 am. Cultus Lake is near Chilliwack, Westminster County, British Columbia.

Conklin Point, Broome County, New York. 16th July 1964. Thursday. Noon. Edmund Travis, 9, and Randy Travis,7, Floyd Moore,10, Billy Dunlap,7, and Garry Dunlap,5, all juveniles, saw a small Hominoid standing in a field. The hominoid was the size of a little boy and it had a Human looking face and wore a black suit and helmet. There was an antennae and a white unknown letter on the helmet that also had plastic or glass over the eyes. The Hominoid made noises like a kazoo. The UFO was chromelike and the Hominoid stepped on top of it. The boys asked if the Hominoid needed any help or water and the Hominoid suddenly fell backwards off the top of the UFO. At this point the boys ran home. Mrs Travis said she learnt of this when the boys came running to her house shortly after 12.30 pm seeking a jar of water. They could not understand what the Hominoid said and they all admitted the same story when questioned separately. The area was found to have matted foliage as well as three depressions. Did the Hominoid appear thirsty?

Delia, Jackson County, Kansas. 20th July 1964. Twenty miles northwest of Topeka a bread-truckdriver saw a five foot tall Gorilla type creature that was extremely hairy and walked upright. That same night something killed 16 young hogs in the area by biting them Vampire-style in the neck. Now you see them, you think, and then you don't. Previously there had been three Airship sightings here in April 1897. Two over Everest and one over Atchison. No history of Bigfeet though.

Mount Tamalpais, Marin County, California, July 1964. 9.00 pm. Two campers were disturbed by a pair of animals three times. Then two Hominoids were seen that were very muscular and had no necks or tails though they appeared like a large cats. They were chittering away to each other for seven hours. Mr Paul Conant saw one that had no ears, was five feet tall, tailless and walked on its hind legs. The creature was Lionlike, weighed 200 pounds and was very muscular below the shoulders. Odd Kitties, these ones.

Between Neah Bay, Clallam County, and Sekiu, Clallam County, Washington State. July 1964. The witness was an Airforce man, a teatotaller, who saw a tall Hairy Man cross Highway 112 in three bounds. At least up in Washington State one can expect Hairy Hominoids.

Northwest of Lake Stevens in Snohomish County in Washington State during July 1964 a man saw a ten foot tall brown-hair covered Bigfoot standing in the moonlight outside of his house at midnight. Was this a script for a horror movie? Was there any howling?

the area. There were at least ten sightings of a seven foot tall disfigured man who left sixteen inch footprints and had a distorted countenance. Hogs, a goat and a cow were found killed and partially devoured.

Westport, Essex County, New York State. July 1964. Summer. In Lake Champlain a lakemonster surfaced near a Summer camp for boys and girls touching off a frightening swimming race for the shore. At least one can expect Lakemonsters in Lake Champlain.

Rhone River mouth, Bouches-du-Rhone, Camargue, France. July 1964. Summer. A Long necked Seamonster was seen that resembled a seaserpent. And possibly the mouth of the Rhone is home to one as well.

Kelowna, Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. July 1964. Summer. Mr Leslie Kerry and his wife saw a Lakemonster. The head and part of the shoulders were in the water and it had two horns on its head and was 300 yards away. The head was seal-like though. It was travelling fast and causing quite a commotion. Was it a type of mammal? And certainly Lake Okanogan might be a home to one. Is it a permanent home though?

Joliet, Will County, Illinois. July 1964. A huge black Leopard was seen that seemed to resemble a Boxer dog with a long tail. There were hundreds of witnesses. But black Leopards in Joliet, Illinois?

Joliet, Will County, Illinois. July 1964. A hairy animal resembling a Lion, only larger, was seen prowling the outskirts of the town between Midnight and 1.00 am. The lion killed a large dog. A black Leopard had been seen here the previous year over two days in a gravel pit. The black Leopard was also seen in Joliet that same month.

New Lenox, ten miles east of Joliet, Will County, Illinois. July 1964. State Police saw a strange animal resembling a Panther that was not a dog. The odd cat was obviously heading out of the area.

During mid-Winter in Australia. July 1964. Two pigshooters, Eric Rolfe and Morris Paton, were on a weekend camping trip outside of Hampton on the Fish River near Oberon in New South Wales when Morris went outside with his torch to study platypus along the river bank. It was 9.00 pm when Morris returned to the cabin on Water Supply Road but white as a ghost gasping out that he had seen a hairy man thing out in the dark. The two men armed themselves with stout tree limbs and went looking for the beast. They were reluctant to use their rifles. Nearing the river Morris flashed his torch around and standing thirty metres away on the opposite side of the river was a manbeast 2.3 metres tall, very dark haired and stooped with its arms at its sides and very broad shouldered. There was also a pungent odour in the air that seemed to be emitted by the creature. After thirty seconds the creature lumbered off into the thick scrub.

Also in 1964 in Australia a Tweed Valley stockman who was mustering a herd of cattle at the foot of the Lamington Plateau saw that his horse and the cattle had suddenly taken fright. Sixteen metres ahead of him he saw an enormous muscular hairy manlike beast that was menacingly brandishing a large tree limb. The beast's face was between that of a human and an ape and was emitting a growling noise as it stood its ground as the terrified stockman turned his horse to gallop away.

Atlanta, Fulton County, Georgia. 1st August 1964. Saturday. A UFO buzzed a car and the female witness in the car received 3rd-degree burns. The heat was so intense that grocery bags in the back of the car caught fire. A hovering light? Intense heat? Burning groceries? Third degree burns? Intentional or incidental?

Wittenoom, Western Australia. 2nd August 1964. Residents called Police to say they had observed a large cigar shaped object lined with windows which shone with red, white, orange and yellow lights and was fifty fifty metres long and hovered only ten metres above the ground. Half the size of a football field and hovering. This was no small thing.

Tallullah Falls, Habersham County, Georgia. first week August 1964. 9.00 pm. Nine witnesses including Mr J. Ivester whose T.V. set behaved peculiarly and became impossible to watch went outside. Suddenly they saw a luminous object at treetop level a few hundred yards away. The object was silent with a bright lower part that was cup shaped. There were three lights in row. Red, white and another Blinking. As the Lights went out a powerful green light appeared in the lower part and cast an eerie light over the area. The craft left an odour like brake fluid or embalming fluid. The smell of Formaldehyde again? Flying undertakers and embalmers or a product of the transition to solid matter?

Crondall, Surrey. England. 17th August 1964. 3.30 am. A dairyman driving a minivan ran over a strange catlike creature. The numberplates were bent and there was a loud thump as the cat hit the underside of the van. The cat then jumped over a hedge into a barley field and vanished. How many cats this size get runover every year?

Oysterville, Benton County, Washington State. Near Richland. 20th August 1964. Thursday. A red and white plane was reported leaving a red and white smoke trail. The odd plane then dived into the sea. Nothing else was found. This is Bigfoot country, not UFO country. Sometimes they just get mixed up or do they?

Littleton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 25th August 1964. 9.30 pm. An object was seen in a Church field. The object was elliptical and made a soft roaring sound. It was a silvery object with a central dome on top and white lights on its rim and hovered with a fluttering motion near the ground and then moved off at high speed. The witness was only 500 feet from it. Ho-hum.

Upper Klamath Lake, Klamath County, Oregon. near Klamath Falls. 27th August 1964. Thursday. A strange plane was seen in the sky over Klamath Lake and there were strange flares seen on the lake surface. On 20th August a strange plane had been seen nearby over Oysterville, Oregon. Were they related?

Littleton, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 28th August 1964.10.05 pm. A bright yellow glowing ball ten feet in diameter crossed the Highway in front of the car of the witness and continued travelled on a horizontal trajectory and rose slightly to clear a hill. Hadn't we had a UFO sighting here only three days before?

Bushylease Farm, near Farnham, Surrey, England. 30th August 1964. A four hundred weight Friesian steer was found badly mauled but alive. The herd had been stampeded and smashed a fence down in three places. There were vicious clawmarks on the neck, shoulders and flanks apparently from a very big cat. The steer recovered. It takes a very big cat to bring down a very big steer.

Marsh Farm, near Crondall, Surrey. England. August 1964. Mr Leonard Hobbs, a farmer, heard animal screams and once saw a big cat in his headlights.

Crondall, Surrey. England. August 1964. Christabel Arnold mistook the Puma for a dog and spoke to it. The odd puma left the dead Crow that it was eating, hissed at her and wriggled under a gate. The cat was three foot high with Lynx like eyes.

Odiham, Hampshire, England. August 1964. Many individual witnesses saw a cat creature and also saw nocturnal lights and UFOs. The cats were seen a few days after the lights. Normal dogs and cats were terrified of them. A calf was killed by the big cat. It must have been a big cat and by the reports it was that was roaming throughout the countryside. But what is the connection to the aerial lights?

Farnham, Surrey, England. August 1964. Many individual witnesses saw a cat creature. And also saw nocturnal lights and UFOs. The cats were seen a few days after the lights. Normal dogs and cats were terrified of them. It must have been a big cat and by the reports it was. As are the lights.

Odiham, Hampshire, England. August 1964. Many individual witnesses saw a cat creature and also saw nocturnal lights and UFOs. The cats were seen a few days after the lights. Normal dogs and cats were terrified of them. It must have been a big cat and by the reports it was. Looking for the big cat too? Getting too repetitive?

Bushylease Farm, near Farnham, Surrey, England. August 1964. Mr Edward Blanks, a Farm Manager, noticed that when the Puma was around normally fearless dogs refused to follow the scent. There was also the strong smell of ammonia. Screaming yowling noises were heard and footprints four inches long were found as well as clawmarks left on trees. Foxes were also terrified of it. Lights were also seen shining on the roofs of farm outbuildings yet there was no source for them.Every time the lights were seen the Puma was seen shortly afterwards. Were the lights responsible in some way for the Puma? Had Tiddles been let out and in the manner of cats everywhere, Alien and otherwise, taken off to freedom? They are so hard to call back into the mothership if they don't want to come.

Surrey, England. August 1964. Many individual witnesses saw a Puma that was obviously not native to England. It was now exploring the English countryside?

Grid Creek, Montana. August 1964. Mr. Lou Bigley, a truckdriver, saw a brown five foot tall Bigfoot standing in the middle of the road. Was it directing traffic? Playing traffic cop?

Between Mount Adams and Spirit Lake, Skamania County, Washington. August 1964. A Hairy Hominoid was seen in the camp of a prospector at night near Mount Saint Helens.

Kelowna, Lake Okanogan, Yale, British Columbia, Canada. 3rd September 1964. Thursday. Kenny Unser,15 years old was on a wharf playing with his dog throwing sticks into the water when he saw a strange wave at first. Then three feet of a dark green tail with a rounded end, covered with scales and one foot thick rose out of the water 75 yards away. It then hit the water hard splashing the wharf as well as Kenny and his dog. The Lakemonster was called Naitaka by the locals. Whether it was Naitaka or Ogopogo, Kenny probably did not stick around to see if it answered to either.

Truckee, near Cisco Grove, Sacramento County, California. 4th September 1964. Friday. A male hunter, out bow-hunting, became separated from his three companions when he saw a light in the sky that was has hovering silently. The witness climbed a tree for a better view and the light circled the tree. The witness then saw a flash and a large object dropped to the ground. Suddenly two Hominoids came crashing through the undergrowth and both approached the tree and looked at the witness. They were five feet tall and wore silvery uniforms that covered their heads. Then a third Hominoid appeared. This one seemed robotlike, was a darker colour, had reddish orange glowing eyes as well as Goggles or glasses. The robot also had a slit for a mouth. The Hominoids used a variety of means to get the witness out of the tree but failed. The witness threw burning bits of his clothing onto them and the Hominoids appeared frightened. The Robot would open its slit and place its hand inside and a gas would come out and would deprive the witness of oxygen causing him to black out. The witness tied himself to the tree with his belt. The Hominoids eventually left. The witness gained consciousness in the morning and was still strapped in the tree. Most of his clothes were torn off and the witness was retching and suffering from nausea. The Hunter became the hunted. How apt.

Oberst Lake, Glassboro, Gloucester County, New Jersey. 4th September 1964. For several days before 4th September there had been strange red flashes in the sky and a spherical glowing object had been seen in the neighborhood. By its history a very busy neighborhood as well that would continue being busy for a long time into the future. This was the fortieth recorded phenomenal event in the area.

There were also figures that seemed to be Hominoid. Ho-hum. Remember when even these types of sightings were exciting? Familiarity does breed contempt.

Munstead, Surrey, England, near Godalming. 7th September 1964. Monday. A Puma was seen near racing stables and tracks were found in soft sandy earth used as a gallop. The footprints were six inches wide by half an inch deep. Who let the cat out?

Munstead, Surrey, England, near Godalming. 7th September 1964. Monday. Many individual witnesses saw a cat creature that resembled a Puma, a native of North America, that was seen running for half a mile. Near the end of the run it leapt a 5.5 foot tall wall with ease. Here Kitty.

It hissed at the witness and then vanished. Kitty, Kitty?

Radford, Virginia. 9th September 1964. At noon a plane that appeared on fire was seen falling into the New River. The craft fell trailing smoke and flame for thirty to 40 feet behind it and it appeared that something fell off the side before crashing into the River. There were several adult witnesses and the Authorities were involved. No traces were found. Things do not fall off the sides of Meteors though.

Blue Lake, Humboldt County, northwest California. 13th September 1964. Mr. Benjamin Wilder was asleep in his car in an uninhabited area when at 1.00 am he felt his car moving. At first he thought that it was an earth tremor but when it happened again and he could not hear any rocks falling he switched on a light and saw a large creature standing outside that was covered with shaggy three inch long chest hair holding both of its arms on the car. Ben shouted at the creature but it only made piglike noises back. Ben then sounded the horn and this scared the creature off and it walked away on its hind legs over a hill. Ben did not see the creatures face.

Godalming, Surrey. England. September 1964. A young cow was found with multiple slash wounds and clawmarks to its head and body that seemed to be made by a giant feline. A dead clawed Deer was also found.

Loch Lomond, Strathclyde, Scotland. 22nd September 1964. Tuesday. A humpbacked Monster with a long body was seen moving up the lake. What is the watery equivalent of Kitty?

Comodoro Rivadivia, Golf of San Jorge, Chubut. 30th September 1964. A man driving saw three or four UFOs which went into the sea one after the other. After a few more minutes luminous objects emerged out of the sea and circled around at great speed before climbing into the sky. Nor do Meteors fall into the sea only to reappear minutes later circling back up into the sky. Were the luminous objects that flew up out of the sea the same ones that had just fallen into it?

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida, near Weeki Wachi Springs. September 1964. Mr John Reeves saw a Hairy Hominoid near a UFO landing site. Hairy Hominoids and UFOs. Is there sometimes a connection?

Brooksville, Florida, Bradford County, Weeki Wachi Springs. September 1964. Mrs Eula Lewis had just gone through back door when she heard a heavy rustling noise to the west of her. Eula then saw the outline of a round head and shoulders and she moved back towards the backdoor as the Hairy Hominoid moved towards her with loud, thudding footsteps. The creature had an extremely fast lope and was very hairy. Next morning she found three Hominoid footprints that were not made by a bear. There were also many individual witnesses in the area of a six foot plus Hairy Hominoid that weighed a minimum 300 pounds. The creature made shrill, unearthly calls and upset garbage cans. Were we being used as an animal dump for unwanted pets or were these creatures biological drones used for survey or reconnaissance work? Just as an idea if you could pilot an animal suited to the situation would it increase your ability to observe?

Lake Khaiyr, Yanski Region, Yakutsk. September 1964. Seven scientists from a Mineralogical expedition from Moscow University including Mr N. Gladkika, a Biologist, saw a Lakemonster on the shore eating grass. The creature had a small head and a long gleaming neck and had a huge jet black body with a vertical fin on the spine. It vanished into the lake thrashing the water with its tail. The lakemonster had been rumoured to exist. It was a recent fault area and was marshy and swampy as well as being a thermal lake which meant that it iced over later than most other Siberian lakes. This was the second sighting that year. How do we ascertain the validity of a sighting? Do we allow only for the opinions and witnessings by scientists? Or can we only allow for no sightings at all due to unqualified witnesses?

Farley Mountain, near Winchester, Wiltshire, England. 1st October 1964. A big black cat like animal with slit eyes was slaughtering animals and was shot at by a Gamekeeper. Tiddles was still romping through the English countryside.

Haverhill, Essex County, Massachusetts. 6th October 1964. 12.30 am. A silver elliptical domed object thirty feet in diameter and shaped like a half ball on an inverted plate which glowed around its bottom was seen hovering thirty feet above trees 150 feet from the observers. Quite a busy area but still another boring sighting.

McGundy Stream, near McAdam, New Brunswick. Canada. 20th October 1964. Mr M. McDonald, a Guide, saw a big dark brown cat with a long tail that looked exactly the same as an African lion. African lions aren't brown though, they are tan.

Kings Somborne, Hampshire, England. 28th October 1964. Wednesday. A Puma was seen seven miles east of Winchester by a Gamekeeper. Kitty is back.

Arlington, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 29th October 1964. Mr Alfred Erickson was walking his dog along Rhinecliff Street. Low foggy clouds hung over the neighborhood when Alfred stopped short in his tracks. He saw a silent, stubby cigar-shaped object that descended out of the cloud cover and hovered over his Minister’s house 200 yards away. There was a yellowish glow all over it and it tilted forwards at a fifteen degree angle. Two vertical black markings ran along the midsection and there was a darkened portion like a cockpit on the end tilted downwards. The sighting lasted thirty seconds before the object took off vertically. There are some very busy areas indeed.

Shortly after midnight on 30th October 1964 a flying machine illuminated with a dazzling red light moved slowly and at a fairly low altitude towards Mr Jim Sharman, a British Coal merchant and three companions on a night fishing trip in Somerset, England. The object spread a red glow over the area illuminating the bank of a stream and surrounding fields. There was a herd of fifty cows in one field and when the object stopped overhead they started making a lot of noise and chasing around the field. The men narrowly escaped being trampled and hid behind a car so that the cows wouldn't sweep them into the water. A few minutes later the craft went away and the cows returned to normal.

Blackforest, Clinton County, Pennsylvania. 31st October 1964. Saturday. David Stevens and his brother Edward Stevens and a friend, John Barker, who were all experienced Hunters, were to meet up at 4.00 pm. Somewhere between Little Moores Run and Homer Township David disappeared off the face of the Earth. He had gone and got himself separated from his two friends. They were Squirrel hunting. David left no traces or tracks. It was as if he had vanished into thin air. Maybe he had. David was from Altoona, Pennsylvania, and was an experienced Hunter. The search lasted ten days. No trace of David was ever seen again. David was only one of a series of people of all ages and sexes to vanish in the Blackforest area since 1865.

Dallas, Dallas County, Texas. October 1964. Passersby in East Grand Avenue saw Mrs Olga Worth Stephens,75, and her clothing explode into flames inside her car yet the car was not burnt and no cause of fire was found. Olga was sitting in parked car at the time. Sometimes you just go up.

West Sussex, England. October 1964. A woman walking her dogs in the woods met the Puma. It was six feet long and three feet high and had a fawn coat. The dogs chased it into the woods and it was making spitting, screeching sounds. Footprints showed clear claw marks. Previously in this area there had been the sighting of a large red glowing disc over Petworth, Surrey, in 1855, unexplained cannonadings from the sky over Brighton, Sussex, in 1869, the spontaneous combustion of Mrs Madge Knight at Aldingbourne in Sussex in 1943, and a fall of herrings onto the Golf course at Barton-on-Sea on Hayling Island, Hampshire, in 1948. No previous giant cats though.

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida. October 1964. Autumn. A tall Hairy Hominoid was sighted repeatedly in the area by many witnesses. The creature left Hominoid footprints that were not Human though but not ape or Bear either. Occasionally it disturbed garbage bins. The manbeast was over six feet tall and weighed 300 to 400 pounds and sometimes made a shrill unearthly cry. For the same period it was seen a huge UFO was seen in the sky as well. The saucer and the Hairy Hominoid are back. Had it let its pet or its probe out for a walk?

Aveley, Thurrock, England. October 1964. A family of five in a car drove into a strange green mist where they saw an odd blue hovering light. It seemed only a moment yet the time taken was actually two hours. You enter a green mist and you lose two hours? I would be asking questions as well. We will meet this timeloss again as well!

Lake Michigan. 7th November 1964. 1.38 am. There was a flash of light that was seen crashing into Lake Michigan. A flash of light crashing into Lake Michigan? Nothing unusual about that. Happens all of the time. But why?

Stoke Poges, Buckinghamshire, England. 12th November 1964. Thursday. An animal that resembled a giant cat was seen in the churchyard by two Policemen. As long as Tiddles wasn't digging anything up.

Butano Girl Scout Camp, Pescadero, San Mateo County, California. 13th November 1964. 8.15 pm. A barking dog alerted the Caretaker who spotted a bright light moving erratically in the northeast sky. Just for kicks the Caretaker flashed an SOS signal at it with his flashlight and was stunned when the light moved towards him. There was a nursery man watching with him. There was no sound and the light grew larger and larger. The Caretaker tried another series of SOS signals and the object came even closer still. The object hovered over the trees half a mile away and moved back and forth. When the torch flashed again the object lit up the sky like a full moon. There were four witnesses now and it did this for a while. We have also had several people on the other occasions who have flashed lights at UFOs and got immediate replies. A natural Celestial Phenomenon does not reply.

Brimfield, Worcester County, Massachusetts. 13th November 1964. A landed UFO was seen. Ho-hum.

Sturbridge, Worcester County, Massachusetts. 13th November 1964. A landed UFO was seen. Ho-hum. Hang on! Three sightings in one day on opposite sides of the continent? Coincidence? A strange electrical discharge?

Quincy, Franklin County, near Boston, Massachusetts. 16th November 1964. There was a mystery animal seen near the stream in Saint Mary's Cemetery in the west part of the City. The creature had short legs and a dragging tail and scared passersby at night.It made shrill sipping noises. All Hell was breaking loose in Massachusetts that November Quincy, Franklin County, near Boston, Massachusetts. 16th November 1964. The mystery animal seen near the stream in a Cemetery in the West part of the City scared a man who described it as sleek looking like a seal or an eel. The creature had short legs and a dragging tail and scared Passersby at night and also made shrill sipping noises. Had it arrived by saucer? Or had there been energy flares that indicate the opening of a Quasar Vacuum induced interdimensional doorway that the creature had fallen or been sent through? Or created in?

Littleworth Common, near Wing, Buckinghamshire, England. 18th November 1964. Wednesday. A strange large cat-like creature was seen that resembled a Puma. Tiddles is still here.

Nettlebed, Oxfordshire, England. 20th November 1964. Friday. A strange large cat-like creature was seen wandering around.

Caulsden, Surrey, England. 23rd November 1964. A witness saw a Lion on the road. Anything can be seen in the English countryside.

New Berlin, Chenango County, New York State. 24th November 1964. Mrs Mary Merriweather and her Mother-in-Law watched the crews of two landed UFOs. There were between ten and twenty tall hominoids working beneath one craft for over four hours. They were cutting lengths of cable to fit a large heavy object which they had lowered beneath the craft. The Hominoids were 6.5 to eight feet tall. Both craft then took off into the sky and depressions were found later in the area. Also found was a three inch long piece of cable of unusual construction. The witnesses had watched through binoculars. November can be so busy at times.

During the Thanksgiving break in late November 1964 a teenager, fifteen years old, was in the piney woods area in East Texas along Pine Island Bayou out snake hunting. He was facing north when he looked up to his east when he saw a huge bird roughly one hundred yards away. It was flying from south to north at a height of one hundred and fifty feet and was observed for one minute before it disappeared into a cloud bank. The creature was a light plum colour with a wingspan of ten to twenty feet with grayish clawed feet and a greysih beak. The witness believed that the bird resembled a pterodactyl in profile. The creatures wings moved methodically which seemed barely fluid enough to support its weight or keep it in motion. The wings when spread had an almost skeletal semi-transparency to them. Pine Island is in Hardin County in Texas in the heart of the “Big Thicket” which is an area of swampy dense forests covering more than twelve thousand square miles.

Grand Valley, Warren County, Pennsylvania. 26th November 1964. Mrs F. Rosenberg saw a bright ball of fire hovering close to the ground. What else had happened here before? Near Ludlow on 16th April ,1919, young Michael Steffon vanished without a trace whilst fishing with friends. That same day seven year old Earl Adams was separated from friends near Kane and also disappeared. Earl’s tracks ended abruptly as if he had ascended into the sky itself. In 1933 an anonymous Hunter vanished between Trout Run and Hammersley Fork. These are but a few of the odd events and numerous disappearences in the area known as the Blackforest.

During November 1964 several youngsters saw a hairy animal-man in an abandoned quarry near Fillmore, Ventura County, California.

Harveys Lake, Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. November 1964. A man and his Mother-in-Law seemed to witness two Meteors that had fallen to Earth. The second one stopped in the air after falling but did not hit the Earth. The light then followed a stream off the house and made a strange noise. The witness got his Mother-in-Law to look at the object which was like a bright light. They watched it through binoculars. Was 1400 feet away and stayed in view for four hours. There were also five or six Hominoids working around and under the craft that were seven feet tall. The Hominoids had white pale faces and looked Caucasian. They seemed to be doing repairs and neither of the two witnesses regarded them as menacing. Sound familiar? Didn't we just have a similar sighting of Hominoids repairing a landed craft only a short distance away,156 kilometres, and in the same month? Both also involved Mothers-in-Law. Were they both the same sighting or two variations of the same sighting or were they actually two different sightings?

Ewhurst, Surrey, England. 13th December 1964. A Puma was seen by many individual witnesses. Here Kitty.

Northchapel, West Sussex, England. 13th December 1964. Sunday. An 80 pound ewe was killed and partially eaten and then dragged 200 yards by a Cat-creature. Hungry Kitty?

Ewhurst, Surrey, England. 14th December 1964. A Puma was seen by many individual witnesses.

Rhyl, Clwyd, Wales. 15th December 1964. An unidentified aircraft crashed into the sea. No traces were found. This is quite an unusual area with quite varied Phenomena. No aircraft were reported missing though.

Northchapel, West Sussex, England. 16th December 1964. Wednesday. An 110 pound ewe was killed and partially eaten by a large creature that looked like a Puma. Tiddles again and being a guts.

Ewhurst, Surrey, England. 16th December 1964. A Puma was seen by many individual witnesses. Tiddles is still here and definitely likes sheep.

Between Staunton,and Waynesboro, Shenandoah Valley, Virginia. 21st December 1964. A UFO moved across the road in front of the car of Mr Horace Burns. The car stopped. The object was coneshaped and huge and was one hundred yards away. The object was composed of six concentric rings with a dome on top and was 75 feet high by 125 feet at the base. The strange object settled in a field as gently as a soap bubble and then the craft then recrossed the highway and took off into the sky. The UFO took off vertically after 1.5 minutes. Later the site was found to be highly radioactive over a hot area of 125 feet where the craft had settled down. This was the same size as the craft thereby indicating that the entire craft was possibly radioactive. ZZZZZZZZZZ Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 25th December 1964. There was a whining, crackling, droning sound in the sky. What it was coming from was unknown. The dogs were cringing and suddenly a flock of pigeons fell from the sky. They were all dead and almost immediately rigor mortis set in. Had they flown through a microwave oven? Were they dead whilst flying?

Warminster Wiltshire, England. 25th December 1964. Postmaster Mr Roger Rump was awakened by strange drone as well as a violent rattle like tiles being ripped off his roof. Odd things started happening that Christmas in Warminster.

Knook, Salisbury Plain, Wiltshire, England. 25th December 1964. Four miles east of Warminster at dawn there was an aerial thunderclap as well as the sound of giant hammerings. There were no signs of damage though the noises woke the men of the 1st Welsh regiment asleep in their barracks.

Stonehaven Bay, Hook Island, Queensland. December 1964. Great Barrier Reef. Mr Robert le Serrac and his family were in a boat when they saw a Seamonster in eight feet of water. Robert took his children back to shore and then came back with Mr Hank de Jong, a diver, to photograph the Seamonster. The creature seemed injured with a huge head, small teeth, no scales and no fins. The colour was black and seventy feet long with a tapering tail. Hank started to film it and the seamonster lifted its head and approached the witnesses and then slid off into deeper water. It was like a giant eel or a seaserpent and had a five foot long wound in its side. Something normal at last. Was this creature related to the giant fur-covered Jellyfish, a Globster, that was found dead on Dunk Island in 1948?

Birs Island, Polson, Flathead Lake, Flathead Lake County, Montana. 1964. Mr and Mrs Dean Powell saw a huge black Lakemonster. The creature was not a boat and went up and down in the water whilst splashing around and circling.

Polson, Flathead Lake, Flathead Lake County, Montana. 1964. Mrs A. B. Bartlett and her sister and Mrs Peterson were in a boat off the old Polson City dock when they saw a Lakemonster. It was not a peak wave and was jet black with no fins and making no sound. The Lakemonster moved through the almost dead calm Lake leaving a long smooth wake. Good old reliable was still swimming around Flathead Lake.

Cornwall, England.1964. Many individual witnesses saw a Puma which is not native to England. Tiddles still hasn't gone.

Hampshire, England.1964. Many individual witnesses saw a Puma. It was described as a giant spotted cat with a long tail. Actually an indefinable cat like animal that at best looked like a Puma. And just happened to be in England.

Berkshire, England.1964. Many individual witnesses saw a giant spotted cat with a long tail. Actually an indefinable cat like animal that at best looked like a Puma. Moving around a larger territory now?

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia.1964. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Newspapers went to investigate and large doglike tracks were seen mainly on the fringes of a 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swampland. The witnesses said that the animals were Thylacines. The area is roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. It was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger as well as the Tantanoola Tiger. Tiger, Tiger, burning bright to borrow a phrase. But no matter how brightly burning still impossible to illuminate us as to its actual existence.

Remember that even amongst all of our Phenomenal animals there might well be still undiscovered or un-rediscovered animals that are indeed native to our dimension and physical place, namely the Earth. It's just hard to separate the two at times.

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia.1964. Miss Rilla Martin from Melbourne was visiting relatives at Goroke. Whilst driving to Apsley she was using a shortcut past the Ozenkadnook tip. She had been photographing relatives and her Box Brownie camera was on the car seat next to her. It was Midday and suddenly in the bush to her side something caught her eye and she quickly took a photo before it vanished over a log. The photo is fuzzy but appears to show a striped quadruped partly obscured by shadows and foliage. The creature had broad bands covering its neck and shoulders as well as its hindquarters and had a canine head. The creature was the size of a Labrador dog and had a snout like a pig. So many photographs, so little belief.

Sandringham, Between Kings Lynn and Hunstanton. Norfolk. 1964. 11.30 pm. Mrs June Coton and her friend were out driving when they saw a round object with seven or eight lights around it in the sea. the object seemed to be coming towards the lights of the car. The craft was saucer shaped. The witnesses turned off the lights of the car and the luminous object landed in a field just in front of the witnesses on the nearside. June and her friend drove straight to a Hotel and woke some friends and they watched the object circle the area every twenty minutes till 2.00 am. Previously in this area there had been a fall of fish up to ten inches long at Boston, Lincoln, in 1841, in 1869 something so frightened sheep around Swaffham in Norfolk that they burst from their bounds in various places all at once, red snow which pigeons ate fell at Mildenhall, Suffolk, in 1901, in 1909 an unidentified Airship was seen over Wisbech, Cambridgeshire, on 24th February and 25th,1913, an Airship with three bright lights on it appeared over Hunstanton in Norfolk and in 1930 also in Hunstanton a partly fused iron bar fell down from the sky and struck a chimney. A good and mixed enough variety?

Milford, Hamilton County and Clermont County, Ohio.1964. Hairy Hominoids were seen in the area around State Road 28. There were also reports that an apelike animal was destroying property and killing cattle.

Milford, Hamilton County and Clermont County, Ohio. 1964. Hairy Hominoids were again seen in the area around State Road 28. In 1947-1948 there were numerous giant cat sightings and attacks in the area. Around 1955 there were several little wrinkly froglike Hominoid sightings in the area. From 1959 on there were Hairy Hominoid sightings in the area and this is an area with a rich Phenomenal history. Why the clusters? Why not a continuous mix of all three major types of Phenomena that appear to be peculiar to that area? Is it because they are not peculiar to it all of the time?

Point Isabel, Clermont County, Ohio. 1964. Mrs. Lew Lister and her sister were sitting in a parked car when they saw a Hairy Hominoid that seemed to walk through fences and seemed to change into another form in front of the witnesses. It crouched down and its hands became paws and then went on all fours and vanished slowly into the thin air.The transmogrification happened in slow motion. Was it a projection? Was it a hologram? Was it an image from another dimension slowly leaving ours via the Quasar Vacuum? Was it an actual animal departing from our dimension?

Ape Canyon, Spirit Lake, Skamania County, Washington. Near Mount Saint Helens., 1964. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by a High rigger. Ape Canyon again? Remember that Apes are not native to North America. What did they name it after then?

During 1964 a father and son who were camping at Cradle Lake, Chelan County, at the head of the Icicle River in Washington State saw a Bigfoot by moonlight.

At Elsie in Clatsop County in Oregon a man saw a Bigfoot looking through the windows of a station wagon at a sleeping man inside. This was in 1964.

Prettyboy Dam, Baltimore County, Maryland. 1964. Workmen who were building a house saw the “Blueberry Hill Monster” come out of the woods near the reservoir. This particular type of monster was a bigfoot.

Lake Vorota, Irkutsk Province, Siberia. 1964. Many scientists saw a grey shiny creature in the lake that had three protrusions and bumps on it as well as a slanted horn on its back and two protrusions two metres apart that resembled eyes. Another time it had been seen by a group of scientists. It resembled a huge sphere out on the water as well as underwater. A spherical Lakemonster? Seen twice?

Lake Seton, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 1964. A man and his wife in a rowboat saw a gigantic fish swimming quietly along. The fish was 35 feet long and ten feet longer than the rowboat. It was believed to be a giant Sturgeon. The record giant sturgeon was 28 feet long and found in the Volga River in what was the USSR. Lake Seton is permanently coloured pale green and for an unknown reason is ice free all year round even in the worst of Canadian Winters when other Canadian lakes are frozen over. Remember that we do not deal with folkloric and undated and unsited reports. We are still after possible patterns of time and place data, not a catalogue of vagaries and uncertainties.

Loch Lomond, Strathclyde, Scotland. 1964. A Lakemonster was seen by a Railway Engineer and his Fireman whoe were in their train emerging from a tunnel onto a stretch of track above the Loch. The creature looked like an overturned longboat but moving fast through the water. At least we have met the Loch Lomond Monster before.

Baker, San Bernardino County, California.1964. A brown dome-shaped object landed on a hill ten miles west of town and left a large depression. There were three witnesses and the sighting lasted five to six minutes. And we have also met the Baker dome-shape elsewhere.

Lynden, Whatcom County, Washington State. 12th January 1965. Tuesday. Inspector Robert E. Kerringer, working for the Department of Justice, was in an agency car with a two-way radio when a bright glow suddenly lit up the ground. Robert saw a UFO like a bright light that had swooped the car and hovered for three minutes. The craft was thirty foot in diameter, round and giving off a blinding glare. Robert pulled out his revolver but could not fire it. In the centre of the disc was a round dark area. The craft then vanished into clouds at 2,000 feet faster than any jet plane. Robert was extremely nauseous after this. The UFO was also seen by two other Department of Justice employees independently. They effect us in different ways.

On the same day as Lynden in Washington State, over in Tillamook, Tillamook County, Oregon. 12th January 1965. Tuesday. A triangular flying object appeared from the southeast and was leaving two fire trails. Suddenly it changed its apparent course which is impossible for a Meteor and dived into the sea. Anything else happen in the area before? In 1960 a web-footed Hairy Hominoid was seen in and around Conser Lake in Oregon.

Kaipara Harbour, Northland, New Zealand, north of Helensville. 12th January 1965. Tuesday. Bruce Cathie, the Pilot of a DC-3 passenger plane was on a positioning flight. The bay was shallow and the tide was out as well. In the bay though was a metallic structure like a Whale in the estuary. The object was perfectly streamlined and symmetrical and there seemed to be no external control surfaces or protrusions. There was a suggestion of a hatch on the top surface though. The craft was resting on the bottom of the estuary and heading south. This was not normal for a submarine and it was also too shallow for a submarine and it was not the shape of submarines of the time. The object was one hundred feet long by fifteen feet in diameter at its widest part.the craft was only in thirty feet of water. A conventional submarine could not have entered the estuary. Did it come down from above? Cathie reported the incident to Navy authorities who told him that it could not be a submarine as the tide was out at the time and the water over the estruaries and mudflats was far too shallow for a submersible. We would be meeting several more of these oddly positioned aquatic metal objects as we go on.

Lake Elsinore, Riverside County, California. 14th January 1965. Thursday. A brilliant light was seen hovering over the lake and it moved erratically though in a pattern. The luminous intensity of the object was brighter for five minutes and dimmer for three and this cycle lasted for an hour.After an hour the light rose and vanished to the east. Was it visiting the local Lakemonster or delivering it? Lakemonster sightings really picked up here after this. Was it a UFO as such though or a misidentification of an energy flare produced by a break in the QuasarVacuum which would enable objects and creatures to voluntarily or involuntarily travel through to and from different dimensions thus avoiding Time and Space altogether as we know them?

Norfolk, Virginia. 14th January 1965. Mr James Myers saw a circular object rise up from the ground at Midnight. Ho-hum. Previously there had been a fall of a foot long catfish here in 1853.

Between Enfield, Grafton County,New Hampshire. and Wilmot, Merrimack County, New Hampshire. 15th January 1965. 10.00 pm. Mr Charles Knee Junior lost control of his car as the engine stalled and the lights went out. Charles got out of the car and heard a highpitched humming noise and saw a bright light cross the sky. ZZZZZZZZZZ.

Puerto Garibaldi, Magallenes y Antartica Chilena, Chile. 17th January 1965. Foil or tinsel fell from the sky. Tinfoil? Any relation to our Aluminium-like foil and strands that we have met before?

Cranleigh, Surrey, England. 18th January 1965. Monday. A huge cat like creature had killed and dragged off a 150 pound pregnant ewe. This was no ordinary Tabby. Kitty is hungry.

Brands Flat, Augusta County, Virginia.Near Waynesboro. 19th January 1965. Tuesday. 5.40 pm. Mr William Blackburn on Route 250 saw two UFOs that were circling in the sky. The smaller of the two discs, twenty feet across, landed eighteen yards away from the witness on an archery range. Out of it emerged three Hominoids about 37 inches tall that were wearing shiny clothes the same colour as the saucer. One had a peculiarly long finger on one hand. They had penetrating eyes and seemed to approach the witness who was frozen in fright. The Hominoids uttered unintelligible sounds, turned, re-entered the craft and took off. The larger craft was 80 feet across. The sighting lasted thirty minutes. Was the long-fingered one ET? This was well before the famous movie though.

Lake Michigan. 21st January 1965. 5.40 pm. Many witnesses including Police saw possible Meteorites explode and fall. Though many accounts do not mention explosions. Some witnesses saw explosions, some didn't. They did all agree on seeing possible Meteorites falling into the lake though. Why not onto the shore? This is the fourth bolide or Meteor or group of Meteors to crash into Lake Michigan since 1963. There would be two more Falls this year. Astrophysically speaking this is impossible several times over but maybe we need to change how we view Astrophysics? And why do they fall into the lake and not onto the shore? The previous year alleged Meteors had fallen into the lake in February and November Between Toano, James County, and Williamsburg, Virginia. 25th January 1965. 8.45 pm. Monday. Two businessmen were driving in opposite directions on U. S. Highway 60 when both cars stalled as they approached a huge coneshaped object hovering in a field. The craft was 75 feet high and making a swishing noise. We seem to be getting very busy in Virginia.

Fredericksburg, Virginia. Rappahannock River. 25th January 1965. Monday. Many witnesses saw an object shaped like a frozen pie plate hovering over the centre of the Rappahannock River for ten minutes. This was a busy night.

Marion, Smyth County, Virginia. 25th January 1965. Many witnesses including Police saw a UFO hovering over them for several minutes. The UFO took off into the sky in an explosion and a shower of sparks. A number of trees had their tops bent over and one green tree was on fire. Traces were found on the ground.

Hampton, Hampton County, Virginia. 27th January 1965. A hovering UFO was seen zigzagging as if looking for a landing site. The craft had flashing lights on the edge of the rim of a rapidly rotating disc and then made a touch landing. After this the object climbed steeply up into the sky and vanished. Several witnesses with binoculars were NASA engineers, Mr A. G. Crimmins and Major John Nayadley, a retired jet Pilot. There were no helicopters in the area.

Studham Common, Bedfordshire, England, Chiltern Hills. 28th January 1965. Thursday. After a sudden flash of lightning near Whipsnade Park Zoo one of seven Schoolboy witnesses saw a bearded little blue man wearing a tall hat standing in a dell. The boy and his friends ran towards it and it vanished twenty yards from them in a puff of smoke. The Hominoid was then seen again on the opposite side of the bushes and the boys continued towards him. The Hominoid vanished again. The Boys then heard a foreign sounding babble and two Hominoids were now seen and seen twice more. All seven boys saw the Hominoids and they then continued to School. The hominoid was three foot tall, had a two foot tall rounded hat, was covered in a bluish glow that obscured his outline and detail, had two eyes and a seemingly flat triangle in place of his nose. The hominoid wore a one piece cassock and a broad black belt with a box on it six inches square that shot puffs of smoke at the witnesses. All of the time it kept its' arms at its' sides. Where did our legends of little people come from again?

Studham Common, Bedfordshire, England, Chiltern Hills. January 1965. UFOs were seen landing in the area twice that month. Other witnesses saw odd aerial objects in the area that same month too. The end of January was quite unusual on both sides of the Atlantic.

Monterey Bay, Santa Cruz County, California. 29th January 1965. Friday. The Mayor and his family and a local flyer saw a very bright light performing aerobatics over the north of the bay. It hovered and then would shoot up into the air and then hover again and then would rise to 500 feet and then dropped down to the water and vanished and was no longer seen in the sky. There were no traces found. Was it too looking for the Seamonster? It was unusual as well on both sides of the United States. Was it looking for the Monterey Bay Seamonster like the craft over Lake Elsinore only fifteen days before might have been looking for its local Lakemonster?

Wallops Island, Virginia. January 1965. The NASA Station recorded the passover of a huge disc. Mr Dempsey Bruton, the satellite tracking Chief, calculated its speed at one hundred miles per minute. The Navy also saw UFOS that same day. Things were very hot especially in Virginia.

Custer, Whatcom County, Washington State. January 1965. Four witnesses on a farm and a fifth witness, a Police Patrol Officer in a car, saw a UFO that was seen to touch down in a farmyard and landed on the snow. A set of lights turned into one brilliant white light and the craft was circular and domed and thirty feet in diameter and was on the ground for several minutes before ascending vertically to the northeast. The object left imprints in the 16 inch thick snow indicating that it was a very heavy object. The ground beneath was scorched. Later tracks were found from the landing site to a clump of evergreen trees where they ended. The scorch marks from the landing were still there months later. Who or what went to the evergreens?

Waihoaka, Southland, New Zealand. January 1965. A UFO was seen to land from the sky. It left a ring on the ground where it had been that was visible for four years after the UFO left. It took grass four years to take over the site again. More indelible footprints. The results of radiation or Quasar Vacuum energy discharge?

During January 1965 Mr. F. A. Sekold from Coolamon was driving towards Burrinjuck Dam in New South Wales in Australia with Mr. B. Smith when he saw a bright light in the sky which looked like four or five bands of fluorescent light. His friend stopped the car and by then the luminous object was right opposite them. It had the appearance of a ship seen at night with lights pouring through portholes which kept flashing on and off and it remained in sight for fifteen seconds. The object had also been seen in Orange that same night.

San Rafael, Ayacucho, Andes Mountains. Argentina. January 1965. An object was photographed falling from the sky. The object was later removed by the Argentine Airforce. Several individual witnesses stated that they saw small Hominoids near the object wearing strange divers suits which gave off green phosphorescence. A familiar myth for the Twentieth Century?

Asserbolgard, Frederiksborg, Denmark. January 1965. A giant cat was seen. The Surrey Puma is visiting Denmark? Previously there had been a fall of out of season red worms at Halmstad, Sweden, near here in 1924 and in 1958 two Gentlemen near Domsten in Sweden were attacked by giant grey Amoebas from a landed UFO.

Abenra, Sonderjylland, Denmark. January 1965. Another Danish big cat was seen or the same one? Had Tiddles swum over from England?

No! Ashurst, Hampshire, England, New Forest. 4th February 1965. A leopard like creature sprung out of the bushes in front of Miss Felicity Whiteway, 17, as she was cycling home. What's this? The Surrey Puma is now back in Hampshire? Had she come back from holidays in Denmark?

Torrent, near Santo Tome, Corrientes, Argentina. 6th February 1965. Saturday. A man asked all of his neighbours to come outside to see five luminous objects that were hovering overhead. Then a transparent craft landed and from it emerged several Hominoids six to seven feet tall. They only had one eye each in the centre of their foreheads and they entered the house of a farmer and tried to kidnap him. The other farmers in the area were watching and attacked the tall hominoids with guns. The next night the same thing happened again. The farmers opened fire and the Aliens retreated. No one on either side were seriously wounded. Some of the farmers though who had been in the conflict came down with a strange skin disease after long physical contact with the Hominoids who wore instruments on their heads that were giving off flashes of colour. The shotgun fire seemed to have no physical effect on the Hominoids though it acted as a deterrent. Another multiple hallucination? Does it all sound unreal? It probably is.

Also on the 6th February 1965 there was a fall of strange and complicated machinery onto Tabuleiro do Norte in Brazil. This was the same time as the sighting of an object that had an appearance and performance beyond that of any known earthly aircraft. It came to within five hundred feet of the witness.

Chalac, Formosa, Argentina. 11th February 1965. Thursday. Fifty Yoba Indians as well as Argentine Police officials saw three UFOs in flight. One of the UFOs landed and three tall beings in luminous haloes descended from it and approached slowly. The Indians knelt and worshipped the visitors in the Sunworshipping Ceremony of their ancestors and the Hominoids raised their arms into the air and said that the Indians should not be afraid for the spacepeople would return to convince the people of their existence and to bring peace to the Earth. The Hominoids then returned to the UFO. One of the Indians attempted to approach the machine but was dissuaded by gestures. Luminous beams were emanating from the craft's wings and its luminousity became blinding. The craft then ascended into the sky and vanished along with the other two. Photos were taken of the three craft and the five Hominoids. Urban myths or discredited truths?

Lake of the Woods, Kenora, Kenora County, Ontario. 12th February 1965. 8.30 pm. An orange-yellow object with a green tail was viewed falling straight down by several witnesses before it vanished into the lake. Another Meteoric object falling into a North American Lake. Don't you think that this is odd?

Minehead, Bristol Channel, Somerset, England. 15th February 1965. One mile offshore a ghost plane was reported to have crashed into the sea. It had a misty appearance yet there was no mist or fog about. The craft came from behind the trees and vanished in front of the witnesses. There was no sound. Three days after the Lake of the Woods we have another light falling into the Bristol Channel.

Crockerton, two miles south of Warminster, Wiltshire, England. February 1965. A flock of pigeons flying near the town over the Longleat Estate plummeted Earthward. They were all dead before reaching ground though and it appeared to be an instantaneous death. During this several individual witnesses heard a highpitched droning noise in the sky at time. Flying birds don't stand a chance over the Warminster area. Another dead flock had fallen from the sky here on 24th December the previous year.

During February 1965 a fifty pound mass of ice smashed through the roof of the Phillips Petroleum Plant in Woods Cross, Davis County, Utah.

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida, near Weeki Wachi Springs. 2nd March 1965. Tuesday. 2.00 pm. Mr John Reeves, 65 or 66, a retired longshoreman, had the impression that his picture was taken by a Hominoid from a landed UFO. Mr Reeves had trouble sleeping and had decided to take a walk in the woods behind his house. He came upon a domed disc twenty to thirty feet in diameter and from the witnesses left came a robotlike creature. It stopped, turned, raised something to its face at eyelevel and then there was a bright flash. Then the robot continued walking and reboarded the ship. There were tracks and holes made by the landing gear and a letter was found with unknown writing on it that the Hominoid was seen to have dropped. Another version of the story states that the Flying Saucer was visible in the woods and the witness skulked up to it. John then saw a Hominoid or robot 200' to his left. J0hn was 100' from the craft. The Hominoid walked toward the UFO and came to fifteen feet from the witness and then saw him and looked at him for several minutes. The Hominoid then took an object from his left side, raised it up to chin level and there was a flash of light. John ran off frightened and hiscap fell off as it was brushed by a tree. There was another flash of light and the Hominoid then went back to the craft which was twenty to thirty feet in diameter and was four feet off the ground. The craft had four landing gears and a cylindrical affair with disc shaped steps that provided access to underneath. The bottom of the craft was bluish green whilst the top was reddish purple and there were two windows on top. The outer rim had three foot by ten inch blades on it. The Hominoid climbed and then stooped into the ship. There was a trapdoor underneath that was 14 to fifteen inches in diameter and moved like an escalator. The outer rim with blades on it started to open and close like venetian blinds and the rim started rumbling and turning clockwise. The landing gear vanished as the UFO rose and from 100 feet up it made a whistling noise as it went faster. The paper the Hominoid had dropped was on the ground folded up. The Hominoid was five foot tall, wearing a grey-silver suit and had a glass dome over its head that rested on the shoulders and had widely set eyes, nose and mouth that appeared Human. The Hominoid also had a pointy chin and had a thin covering over the hair. The witness recalled receiving a telepathic message stating that the UFOs would return every 29 days. UFOs were also seen by others in the area. Several lakes in the area were dead and were connected by underground Springs and limestone caves. Most UFO sightings were over the lakes. One Lake was covered with a peculiar scum and was seen to glow at night with a white-bluish green colour. There were also whistling noises in the area with no apparent cause that were highpitched and were coming from an old well in an abandoned orange grove. The witness was told that the craft was from Mars. A lot of detail. From Mars? Only if the inhabitants of Mars are subterranean troglodytes. Who knows, they might be.

On 5th March 1965 bright fast-moving flying objects were seen flying over from the northwest to the southeast over New South Wales in Australia. The objects were seen over Coonabarabran first between 7.45 pm and 8.00 pm and were described as having white heads and long red tails.

Also on 5th March 1965 bright fast-moving flying objects were seen flying over from the northwest to the southeast over Orange in New South Wales in Australia. Mr. K. McIntosh of Orange stated that the objects were travelling between 18,000 and 20,000 miles per hour.

That same night 5th March 1965 Mrs. L. Ford of Kandos in New South Wales in Australia stated that the earial lights appeared to break up as they flew across the southeast.

Mr. and Mrs. Williamson of Hornsby in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia that same night of 5th March 1965 said that they saw four to six lights flashing across the sky as though running along invisible wires.

Mr. R. Morris of Mount Colah near Sydney in New South Wales in Australia, that same night of 5th March 1965 said that the lights were seen travelling towards the city, Sydney, in formation and they looked like little comets coloured yellow with short trails like little sparks.

That same night of 5th March 1965 fifty members of the Astronomical Society of New South Wales were meeting at Belfield Observatory and they had all seen the strange lights which they agreed numbered eight at thirty degrees above the horizon twenty-five degrees west of north. Each item was a long red incandescent tail twenty times the length of the head. The astronomers could not work out what they were.

Fort Myers, Lee County, Florida, Everglades. 12th March 1965. Friday. 1.00 am. Mr James W. Flynn, a rancher and dog trainer, was out hunting. His three dogs had vanished and he went looking for them in his swampbuggy. He then saw a UFO sweeping the sky four times 1.5 miles away over Cypress pines and it always returned to the same position. James went to investigate. It was a huge brilliant disc like a flattened metallic cone that was thirty to 32 feet tall. Three tiers of windows encircled it that were two feet square. There was a dull yellow light coming from the top level, the underside was reddish and appeared to have been put together with squares of four foot by four foot metal sheets riveted together. The dog on the back of James' swampbuggy tried to tear out of the cage it was riding in. There was also a whirring racing noise like the sound of a big transformer. James then walked next to the UFO and waved at the window. There was no reply. He waved again. Suddenly a short white beam of light came from the bottom row of windows and struck James between the eyes. He lost consciousness and woke up 24 hours later nearly blind in his left eye and could not see out of his right and had a depressed wound over the right eye. A charred circular area was found where the craft was reported to have been and the trees were scorched twenty to twenty-five feet above the ground. James had a traumatic haemorrhage of the right eye and he spent a few days in Hospital. James also suffered impairments of deep muscle and reflex tendons. Meanwhile elsewhere in Florida that same month we have even more UFO witness interaction.

French Lick, Orange County, Indiana. before the 15th March 1965. Several youngsters saw a ten foot tall green monster with glowing red eyes. The kids called it "Flourescent Freddie" and it was a fluorescent bigfoot.

Lake Washington, King County, Washington State. 22nd March 1965. Near Seattle a brilliant Fireball was seen heading straight up out of Lake Washington. Usually they're seen heading down into lakes. Then they can be explained away as misidentified Meteors. Work out this one. This area has a long history of UFO Phenomena.

Muriwai Beach, Auckland, New Zealand. 24th March 1965. A mystery mass of flesh and hair was first seen by a Marine Department Officer on the beach. The body was thirty feet long by eight feet high and had a quarter inch thick hide, then a layer of fat and then solid meat. The creature's hair was four to six inches long and had a soft woolly texture. This was apparently another Globster. Another Globster has been found dead! We had only just found one on a beach in Tasmania in 1960 or swimming near Hook Island in Queensland in December 1964?

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 30th March 1965. Tuesday. Mr J. M. Ballantyne and his sister-in-Law saw a head like a Python or Conger eel sticking up out of the water. The head was at rectangles to a sinuous and elongated neck thickening to a point one foot above the water that rose four to six feet out of the water. We know who this one is. We just don't know what this one is.

Wonthaggi, Victoria, Australia. 11th April 1965. Friday. Two Fishermen on rocks, Mr R. Banks and another man, were inspecting a wrecked fishing boat. From cliffs half mile off shore they saw two objects in the sea which then emerged from the sea 800 yards out. They were metallic objects and they went out into the open sea and vanished. They were 100 yards apart, turned away from one another and headed out to sea and then vanished. They looked like submarines but the Australian Navy denied this stating that the area was unsuitable for submarines. The spot where they were seen was too shallow for submarines and there were none supposed to be in the area. The objects did not resemble the submarines of the period and were clearly visible for quarter of an hour. The Fishermen must have misidentified a pair of Whales or some such in the shallow water though we recently had a sighting of a metallic submarine-like object just across the Tasman Sea at Kaipara Harbour in January. Had it come across and brought a friend? Incidentally that same month for a five day period north of Brisbane in Queensland also in Australia there were three reports of strange submarines in the sea over a five day period. The Australian Navy investigated and stated that the objects were not conventional craft as the area was full of submerged rocks and other underwater hazards.

Shortly after 10.00 pm on the night of 13th April 1965 photographs were taken of a strange object near the moon by Mr. Jacobs, a steward on the freighter “Iron Duke” off the Margaret Brock Lighthouse in South Australia. Mr. Jacobs was photographing a glowing object that was moving around the moon. The photos revealed a bright orange glow with a dent on top and a knot on the bottom.

Sudbury, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 28th April 1965. Wednesday. On the property of Mr Robert Bowen, a retired Banker, a Fireball appeared and burnt down the barn. The fireball was like a flaming basketball. It can happen anywhere. This one at least didn’t fall into a lake.

Direct, Lamar County, Texas. April 1965. A large mystery cat like creature was seen in the area. It was not a Puma but seemed to be a Panther. Pawprints were found. The footprints were catlike but the claws showed and were so large that a man could put both hands in one track. The cat made noises that at first sounded like a Bobcat but the tone would then waver and deepen and sound like a man in pain. The animal weighed 190 to 200 pounds and ran on all fours in eight foot strides but was also seen to stand up on its hind legs as well. It was travelling east. A very big Bobcat?

Bradford, Massachusetts. 14th May 1965. 3.30 pm. Two witnesses saw a silver domed object like a cup inverted on a saucer. It hovered and then shot away at terrific speed and moments later reappeared along the same path, hovered, then moved away at high speed over a Golf course. Boring.

At 7.00pm on 20th May 1965 a silver white disc the size of a small car buzzed the home of Edward McDonald on Vrooman Road in Leroy Township, Medina County, Ohio. There was a distinct low-pitched buzzing or purring sound and as members of the family watched the object their Dog and a horse staked in a field nearly went wild. The dog ran and the horse reared up and started running around. His ears were back and his eyes looked wild. The animals were used to planes as the house was in the flightpaths of two airports.

Between Morawa and Mingenew, Western Australia. 23rd May 1965.1.30AM. Mr and Mrs Sydney French of Geraldton were driving when suddenly a loud noise interrupted their car radio. The witnesses stopped the car and got out to see what was wrong. Perplexed they started the car again and drove off. A mile and half later the French's saw a big thing in a paddock. It was a moonless night and there were six or more glaring lights on it and it was too big for a tractor and it was also hovering at a height of twelve feet. The object also made a shrill and piercing noise as well and Mrs French kept her fingers in her ears. Two miles further on the radio was affected again. Pretty standard.

Eton Range, near Mackay, Queensland.Australia. 24th May 1965. 12.05 am. Mr Jim Tilse, an Airline Pilot with 11,500 flying hours, the Publican of the "Retreat Hotel" and two guests, Mr Eric Judin and Mr John Burgess saw a circular object with thirty lights land 200 yards from the Hotel. Later scorching was found on treetops and a section of grass at the landing site and there were also depressions from three legs. There was a ring three foot thick with an inner diameter of twenty feet and an outer diameter of thirty feet. It was solid and metallic looking and below a circular platform was a bankof spotlights. Burgess wanted to get a rifle and shoot it but Tilse warned him not to. The glow dimmed on landing and it stayed on the ground for thirty minutes. When it lifted up its tripod landing gear was seen for a moment before retracting. At least here we have some detail on the landing if nothing much else.

Acacia Ridge, Brisbane, Queensland. Australia. 27th May 1965. 4.15 am. Mrs G Toonen of Acacia Ridge was getting her child a drink of water saw a bright flat orange object 100 metres from the house. The object was three metres wide and vanished as if snapped off. It was busy in Australia that particular May. Half an hour later Mrs Toonen looked through the kitchen windows and saw a glowing orange ball about ten feet in diameter. It was stationary and just to the left of a sixty foot gum tree.

Bougainville Reef, Great Barrier Reef, Queensland.Australia. 28th May 1965. 3.25 am. An Ansett Airlines DC6 plane was paced by an oblate saucer with exhaust gases coming from it for ten to fifteen minutes. The flying object was spherical in shape though flat on the top and bottom. The UFO then overtook the plane and vanished but was photographed by the Pilot beforehand. Quite a few UFOs around. As well as a roaring and barking Bunyip? Coincidence?

Nicomen Island near Mission, British Columbia. 31st May 1965. Mrs. Seraphine Jasper saw a tall black Bigfoot in a field in daytime. The cows were staring at it.

Mirramac Plains, Nerang River, Gold Coast, Queensland. Australia. May 1965. A Bunyip was reported to be seen. Search parties were out looking for the Monster that made roars and barks as well as bloodcurdling screams. Water was found disturbed by something large tthough some farmers thought it was a crocodile. The noises had apparently been heard in the area for the previous 80 years.

Heytesbury, near Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 2nd June 1965. Seventeen witnesses including Mrs Patricia Phillips, the wife of the local Vicar and her three children, saw a large hovering cigar shaped thing in the evening sky for twenty minutes.Ho-hum.

On 6th June 1965 a circular object was seen in the sky over the coast ranges near Murwillumbah in northern New South Wales at about 4.15 am. Mr. B. Palassis was out surfing when he saw it at first as a glow behind the showers and suddenly dropped down beneath them, leveled out and then headed for the coast ranges where it rose to go over them and then disappeared to the southeast.

Modbury, South Australia, Australia. 13th June 1965. Mr and Mrs Helyard saw a dark metallic disc hovering at 1000 metres for fifteen minutes. A Photograph taken of the object shows a nebulous ellipse against points of light. At least we have a photo that we can try and discredit.

Mingany Pier, Kilchoan, Ardnamurchan, Highland, Scotland. 21st June 1965. 9.00 pm. Mrs Lilian Howe, her husband and and her cousin were standing on the end of the pier. The sea was mirrorlike and her husband was looking through his binoculars at Mingany Castle when Lilian saw a seal above water 100 yards away. Then she saw another hump directly behind it and she realized that both humps belonged to the one object. Her husband then saw it as well. The creature was 40 feet long, had a huge shape and legs or flippers paddling at the side of body creating a turbulence beneath the water. The body was dark and shiny and had a skin-like hide. It was not a basking shark and the witnesses knew the differences. Oh Scotland, home of the aquatic Monsters.

Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. 25th June 1965. 2.00 am. A big black catlike animal terrified a Mrs Rogers as she drove into her yard. The creature stood higher than her headlights. It was a big black panther which suddenly loomed in her headlights and then escaped into a field. There was a pawprint in the dusty driveway four inches across and catlike, not doglike. Decatur, home of the big, black cat that doesn't exist.

Lincoln Park, Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. 28th June 1965. A big black animal like a cat grabbed and ate a sack lunch belonging to three children on an outing after they ran away from it. Though not supposed to exist it still ate their lunch.

Dellroy, Carroll County, Ohio. 28th June 1965. Monday. A farmer. John Stavano, had heard a series of explosions with no apparent source in the area.Two days later he found a curious formation on the ground. Wheat plants had appeared to have been sucked out of the ground in a particular circular area. At the centre of the ring was a circular depression 28 inches in diameter. There was loose soil to a depth of nine inches and the wheat had been removed roots and all. The rest of the wheat around the circle was lain down like the spokes of a wheel. Crop marks and circles years before they were first reported?

Pitt Lake, Westminster County, British Columbia. 28th June 1965. twenty-five miles northeast from Vancouver two brothers working as prospectors for mining companies were at an elevation of four thousand feet and there was deep snow everywhere though it was a sunny day. At noon they were hiking into a valley when they found tremendous footprints that went to a small frozen stream. A short while later and further on they saw a nine to ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid. The creature was covered in auburn hair, the arms were longer than a humans and hung below the knees and the hands were huge like yellow canoe paddles. The creature just stood there transferring its weight from one foot to the other as its hands went back and forth. The witnesses sketched the Bigfoot before it walked off. Ho-hum.

Valensole, Alpes-de-Haute-Provence, France, Basses-Alpes. 29th June 1965. 5.45 am. Mr Maurice Masse, a Lavender farmer, had noticed that all through June Lavender plants had been disappearing. One day an object making a whistling noise landed 100 feet from the witness. It was the size of a small car and two beings emerged from it. They wore one piece greyish green suits and had heads three times larger than normal heads and wore belts with containers on them, the larger containers on the right side. They had human eyes and very large heads. The mouths were mere slits. The witness was paralysed by a small tube held by one of the Hominoids and for the next minute the Hominoids collected plant and soil samples. The Hominoids were 40 inches tall and had heads three times normal size though they had no lips. The paralysis wore off after twenty minutes. The machine left traces on the ground and when it left it rose noiselessly finally vanishing twenty-five metres up. Mr Masse called the Police and they found a depression where the saucer had landed with the markings of its legs embedded into the ground. Although the soil in the area was sunbaked and hard the area of landing was damp and there was a strange hole in the middle of the landing area. Mr. Masse could not tell if the craft took off so fast that he could not follow it or it just disappeared. For six weeks after Mr. Masse suffered severe drowsiness and could not stay awake longer than four hours. Hominoids with a taste for Lavendar? Previously around here there had been a fall of stones from the sky followed by a mild earthquake in 1803, a large red disc sailing over Marseilles in 1871 followed by an aerial Fleet of flying objects crossing the face of the Sun also over Marseilles in 1883. Above Apt, again, in 1887 there was a sky filled with fire during an earthquake and that same year a great circular light one tenth the diameter of the Sun was seen over Marseilles during a Solar Eclipse. In 1952 a UFO landed on the runway at Marignane Airport followed by another landing UFO at the same Airport in January 1954. On 17th October 1954. at Cabasson a witness who became paralysed saw a landed UFO and two Hominoids who came from it and that same day at Saint-Cyr-sur-Mer another witness saw a circular orange craft take off from the ground. In 1962 at le Brusc near Toulon some Fishermen saw a submerged object with Frogmen clambering onto it which took off into the sky. It has been a busy area.

Texas (Maryland),Baltimore County, Maryland. June 1965. All of the town were witnesses of a UFO that was seen to explode in the air above the town. Pieces of the UFO were recovered and they were found to be Ferrochromium. Do we have anything that flies that is made solely of Ferro-chromium? No! We never have.

Monroe, Monroe County, Michigan. June 1965. A mouldy smelling Hairy Hominoid was seen by many individual witnesses. Smelliness in Bigfoot cases appears to be quite common with some regional varieties of Bigfoot being renowned for their deathly odour.

Pitt Meadows, Westminster County, British Columbia, Canada. June 1965. Two witnesses out hunting saw a Hairy Hominoid ten to twelve feet tall that left footprints 24 inches long by twelve inches wide. We don't know if this one smelt or not.

Warminster, Wiltshire, England. June 1965. Another flock of pigeons fell from the sky and seemed to have been killed by soundwaves. This is our third Birdfall in the Warminster area since 24th December 1964. The next was during February 1965. Who was playing with high-frequency wavelengths in the Warminster area in this period? Us or them or both?

Santa Maria, Azores. 1st July 1965. A Flying Saucer over the Airport stopped all of the electric clocks. We don't know if any planes or cars stopped as well.

Kent, King County, Washington State. 2nd July 1965. Friday. Mrs A.W. Brundage was in a car when it suddenly stopped dead. Hovering only a few feet above the hood was a glowing orange spinning UFO that made a whistling noise that looked like a child's top. The lights and the radio in the car died and the battery was drained away completely. The clock in the car which had been set that morning was found to be two minutes slow. When the UFO took off the lights and the radio came back on. We have met the top-shaped objects before. How had the battery recharged itself?

Puerto La Cruz, Anzoatengui, Venezuela. Atlantic Ocean. 6th July 1965. 9.52 pm. A bright object was seen in the sky moving in a northerly direction. It was glowing blue and had a row of portholes with yellow lights along the side and had been seen to rise up out of the sea near the Norwegian ship “T.T. Jawesta”. The Captain was alerted by the ship’s telephone. There were several witnesses who all stated that it was not an aircraft, rocket, Meteor or ball lightning. It was issuing tongues of flame and making sudden turns and the speed was tremendous. The sighting lasted thirty to 40 seconds and the UFO went in a North South direction at 180 degrees. There was no sound and it was very close to the ship. Seaman Hernandez Ambrosio insisted it had come up out of the sea and was travelling northwards until it changed course and headed for the ship. Another one rising up out of the sea. Getting quite common even if we do not know what they are.

Paico, Portugal. 12th July 1965. 4.30 am. Mrs Manuel Fernandez had a habit of looking at Venus every morning and she called it the Morning Star. This morning she saw a craft that came up from the Ocean at high speed to the northeast. There was a glow about it and it stopped in midair. It looked like a Cardinal’s hat, was very red and was hovering over the woods. The Witness went to get her husband who was asleep at time. Suddenly the radio erupted in a burst of noise and Mr. Fernandez went out of the house and he also saw the craft 400 metres away. The object had a dark round rim and had a brilliantly lit up orange round top and gave the impression that it was lit up from inside. There was an intensely flickering light on one edge facing Pedras Rubras Airport and it was leaning alternatively on either side. Then it took off with no warning with no apparent acceleration before moving North. Only six days after the Venezuelan sighting.

Waterford, Saratoga County, New York. 13th July 1965. A craft was seen hovering over powerlines just before a blackout. Blackouts are quite common in association with UFOs as well.

World Trade Centre, New York City, New York State. 13th July 1965. Fifteen minutes before the blackout a single UFO was seen hovering near the twin towers. The object was fat at one end, thin at the other and had bright multicoloured lights blinking on and off on it as it swayed back and forth.

Fire Island, Long Island, New York. 13th July 1965. Flashing lights in the sky that were moving in unsteady patterns westwards towards the city were seen as a Blackout hit New York State. On 13th July 1965 this was going to be one blackout that was going to be long remembered.

Hancock International Airport, Onondaga County, New York. 13th July 1965. Just after the blackout started two UFOs were seen at Hancock International Airport by witnesses on and off the ground. One was directly above the Clay power substation which is an automatic control unit between Niagara Falls and New York City.

Achnahhanet, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 15th July 1965. Mr Ted holiday saw the Lakemonster end on and stated that it resembled a yellowish brown hump like the upper part of a Gothic window. It was a very long sighting and a Policeman and a Surveyor on the opposite shore, the south shore, had also seen the hump and both had described it as upturned boatshaped. No blackouts here though.

On 15th July 1965 six of the staff at Canberra Airport's control tower in Australia as well as two T.A.A pilots saw a strange glowing object hovering in the sky for forty minutes five to ten miles northeast of the airport at an altitude of 5,000 feet. The luminous object had appeared at 10.50 am. The pilots had just taken off from the airport and were asked if they had seen the object and they replied that they had. Mount Stromlo Observatory stated that they had received numerous reports about it. The Royal Australian Air Force sent a plane up but it disappeared before it could reach it. The object through field glasses appeared to be metallic and glinted in the sun.

Also on 15th July 1965 Mr. A. Kulka and Mrs A. Lawrence were swooped on and harassed by a greenish coloured object near Carnarvon in Western Australia, about twelve miles from Pimble Station. The couple were out rock-hunting in a landcruiser when they saw the green light in the sky which disappeared and then reappeared as orange in colour. The object suddenly made a sharp turn and dived at their vehicle. Mr. Kulka shouted “It’s going to crash on us!”, stopped the vehicle and switched off the lights and the engine. He and Mrs. Lawrence fled into the bush in panic. They were now fifteen feet from the car and saw that the object was now hovering and had become green and was rocking gently in the air. Mr. Kulka eventually went back to the car and saw that his bull-terrier dog, normally the first to get out of the car, was cowering in fear on the floor. Mr. Kulka retrieved a monocular lense an observed the UFO. It was shaped like a squashed football and seemed to be a bright green gelatinous mass with an undulating surface and both witnesses returned to the car and observed the object for half an hour. Sometimes the object went down behind some trees and then rose again and sometimes hovered in a banked position and at one time was hovering on its edge. Eventually it drifted west. Back in the car the witnesses attempted to start the car which would not start and it took one and a half minutes for the vehicle to start again. During the encounter there was no noise whatsoever.

Vaucluse, Sydney. New South Wales, Australia. 18th July 1965. Monday. 5.30 pm. Mr Dennis Crowe was walking on a small beach whilst it was raining when he saw a glow on the beach ahead. The object was a huge disc-shaped object resting on leglike structures and was only fifty feet from Dennis. The craft was twenty feet in diameter by nine feet tall and had legs on the bottom as well as a glowing greenish blue rim. The top and bottom halves were silver grey and it rose with a noise like air being forcibly ejected from a balloon when Dennis was twenty metres from it. The craft climbed rapidly towards Manly, another City suburb on the other side of the harbour and was in flight for ten seconds before it went into a cloud. A dozen or so dogs were all standing around it and the group of dogs were now barking for until then they had been silent. The object left traces in the sand and the vegetation was dying. They like dogs but maybe not in the way that dogs like them.

Monte de Los Curas, near Quilmes, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 20th July 1965. Tuesday. 8.00 am. Senor Ramon Eduardo Pereyra, a resident of San Francisco Solano, was driving in his van past a mountain when he saw an object like a parachute falling silently into some trees on the hillside. Where it landed was a chromium coloured eggshaped object that was standing on metal legs. The transparent lower part being extremely smooth with no joints or sutures. There was a blonde being near it wearing a divers suit and with something like a briefcase strapped to its right leg and the blonde Hominoid appeared to be studying a piece of paper. The witness stole up to the craft and peered through a porthole. Inside there was a second blonde Hominoid seated at an instrument panel. The second Hominoid noticed the witness and stormed up to him. The witness asked him what was up. The first Hominoid went straight into the craft and it took off. They're not very communicative today. Was he looking at a map? What, no GPS?

Whitefield, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 21st July 1965. Mr Ted Holiday, again, and a couple named Eaves were surprised by the sudden appearence of a black hump out of the Loch. A good year for Nessy. And for Mr. Holiday.

Carazhino, Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil. 26th July 1965. Monday. Evening. A fifteen year old boy, Adilon Batista Azevedo, was lagging behind a party of youths going to the Cinema when he saw two rounded cones of white light that were humming land in an open space not far from him. Adilon hid behind a circular wall of a well and watched as three Hominoids came from one craft and two Hominoids came from the other. They combined and talked in an unknown tongue and were 1.5 metres tall, wore helmets and one piece dark suits. Their boots were a dark colour and pointed and one of them carried a luminous wand in his right hand. The group broke up into their original numbers and walked around examining the underside of the craft bending down and examining holes. The larger UFO was five to six metres in diameter. The Hominoids then re-entered the craft and took off and Adilon ran to his friends. In just two seconds after takeoff the craft were two tiny spots in the sky. Adilon came down with a violent headache half an hour later which did not leave for five days and his alarmed father took him to a Doctor who prescribed medicine for Adilon. The Doctor said that Adion had a disturbed heart from the incident. It is not often that we have two UFOs allegedly landing together. The rest of the sighting appears so unspectacular to be true.

Lima, Peru. 26th July 1965. 3.00 am. A luminous object hovered over the parking lot at an electric centre when it was seen by the Nightwatchman. The object made a bubbling and buzzing noise and was round and fifteen feet in diameter. There were windows giving off intermittent light and a rotating metal arm on the turret on the top. ZZZZZZZZZZZZ.

On 26th July 1965 Mr. Bert Radar spotted a phantom kangaroo east of Abilene, Dickinson County, Kansas on Insterstate 70. We all know that kangaroos are exceptionally common in North America. Actually they don't exist outside of some zoos.

On 27th July 1965 Mr. Prospero Alva, an employee at the Chosica Electric Company in Lima, Peru, heard a strange noise like the buzzing of bees and looked outside and saw an object ten to fifteen feet in diameter that was shaped like a saucer and had holes through which light emanated. There was a turret on top of it which rotated constantly and form this came an elongated object which Prospero thought might be a scanning device. The craft was only forty feet from him and shortly after the elongated object withdrew into the turret and the object moved slowly off the ground then disappearing into the sky at high speed.

Framingham, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 29th July 1965. 9.10 pm. Two witnesses, plus a third independently, saw a greenish white glowing object hovering over a house before it accelerated away at great speed, suddenly reversing its direction and returning along the previous flightpath. Then the object changed colour to orange and then red before vanishing over the horizon. ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ.

Goonumbla, twenty miles from Parkes, New South Wales. Australia. 30th July 1965. 5.00 am. Two children were attracted by the sound of a barking dog and saw a luminous object resting upon tripod landing gear for one hour. Dogs again. The howling dogs had first alerted Mr. and Mrs. McClintlock and their family at their farm at 5.00 am. The following morning the two schoolboy sons watched the glowing object for an hour but they did not call their parents. The next morning the dogs began barking again and the light showed through the farms windows. The eight witnesses stated that the light was not in the direction of the Parkes Radio Telescope and appeared to be the size of a coin and had three legs on its bottom. There were beams of light coming from the object.

Santiago, Chile. 30th July 1965. Fifteen witnesses in a house noticed a purplish light and went outside to see a strange machine hovering only a few inches above the Street. The machine emitted a blinding light and took off. Now they are visiting Chile.

Pelluhue, Maule, Chile. 31st July 1965. A UFO with a violet light landed and five minutes later took off at great speed. Trees were found uprooted and there was a clear landing circle as well as a mass of soil missing. We've met this before as well.

Pequannok, Morris County, New Jersey. July 1965. Two giant circles that moved slowly across the sky were seen. They both reached a certain point and then vanished. Had they gone through a hole in the sky? Are there lots of holes in the sky?

Monroe, Monroe County, Michigan. July 1965. A mouldy smelling Hominoid was seen by many individual witnesses. Old smelly is back.

Alexandria, Independent City, Virginia. July 1965. The witness was camping in the woods when she saw in the light from her flashlight a possible Bigfoot standing in the shadows which ran away into the trees. If it was huge and hairy and was not a Bigfoot, then what was it? This area has previously had sightings of everything bar Hairy Hominoids.

Princess Royal Island, near Butedale, British Columbia. July 1965. The witness was a shoreworker from Butedale who was out fishing when he spotted two giant bipedal creatures on an islet 75 yards away. They were covered in hair and were heavily built. The witness then saw something in the water heading straight towards him and reasoned that it was another of the creatures so he started up his outboard motor and fled. He also saw another two of the creatures standing on the mainland beach.

Jim and Jan Gorrell were having a night-time barbecue when they noticed that they were being watched in July 1965. What was watching them was a nine to ten foot tall bigfoot. This was at Bowen's Ranch near Mount San Gorgonio in San Bernadino County, California. The couple left hurriedly. We've had odd happenings around Mount San Gorgonio before.

Plattsburgh Bay, Lake Champlain, New York. Summer July 1965. Mrs Shirley Bigelow and her husband Mr Peter Bigelow were out boating and whilst they were anchored in a crystal-clear sandy bottomed Bay they saw a Lakemonster swim under their boat. Lake Champlain has mainly had watermonsters as has Lake Storsjon judging by the ancient rune-covered stone with the picture of the watermonster on it.

Ostersund, Lake Storsjon, Jamtland, Sweden. Summer July 1965. There were several sightings of a Lakemonster with a round head that was smooth with great eyes. The extremities were all described as being like short stumpy feet or legs. Other witnesses described big, clumsy fins and long webbed hind legs. Incidentally on the island of Froso in the lake there is an ancient stone with Runic inscriptions on it and a sketch of a longnecked Beast with flippers. We have one of these near Loch Ness as well. Beware of the Lake Monster signs?

Lake Slagesnassjon, near Ulvaboda, Kronobergslan, Sweden. Summer July 1965. Mr Ivar Anderson and his friend Emil were after a fishnet that had been lost in the crater-lake. The Witnesses were rowing around the lake with a drag trying to find it and suddenly Emil's face turned white and he yelled out "I have a Beast on the drag!". The boat went out into the middle of the lake with good speed until a big whirl came up to the surface and the boat slowed down and then stopped. The creature had to be ten times stronger than a horse and this Emil knew for Emil was a wild horse breaker. No fish could have towed the boat. A horse-breaker should have some idea of how strong a horse should be.

Foggy Hill, Rural Shade, Navarro County, Texas. Summer July 1965. 11.15 pm. Mr William Howell was driving and two of his brother's children were asleep in the car when Willian noticed a bright object in the sky that was heading directly for the car. A bluish light bathed the car for a while in a blue haze and then the craft made a sharp turn to the Southwest.

During Summer July 1965 a group of men on Clio Beach near Kitimat in British Columbia saw a Bigfoot standing on a rock beside the sea. The creature walked away upright.

Lima, Peru. 1st August 1965. Sunday. 7.00PM. A teenager, Alberto San Roman Nuez, fifteen years old, was taking in the washing from the roof of his parents house when a circular saucer shaped craft landed near him. He was unable to move as a beam of light from the saucer covered him and a being that was 3.5 feet tall with greenish hair covered with greenish lights on its skin that made it look like a frog or toad came out of the craft. Later the Police found four circular marks on the roof that were one foot in diameter and appeared to be the marks of landing gear. All shapes and all types. Even luminous green frogs. Was the paralysis fear-induced or Phenomena induced?

On 2nd August 1965 a luminous object was seen passing within one hundred feet of the Lewisville Dam near Denton in Denton County in Texas. They like large bodies of water don't they?

That same night 2nd August 1965 the water seeking UFO still seemed to be around. Many residents stated that they had seen an object that appeared to have landed on Eagle Mountain Lake in Tarrant County in Texas.

Barking Sand Tracking Station, Kauai Island, Hawaii. 3rd August 1965. That evening a rocket type object crashed into the Pacific Ocean ten miles south of Kauai Island. Many islanders describe it as having fallen like a rock and it was yellow green with an overgrown falling star appearence. The object disintegrated just above the water. How did the falling Star appear to disintegrate just above the water?

Saint Louis Bay, Lake Superior, near Duluth, Saint Louis County, Minnesota. 4th August 1965. The Coastguard saw an unidentified object splashdown into Saint Louis Bay. In October 1961 An odd object came streaking out of the sky, skidded on the water surface for a while and then vanished into the depths near here. This was near Two Harbours, Minnesota, only forty-three kilometres away. There have also been a host of odd disappearences over Lake Superior as well over many years.

Sheriff's deputies at Johnson City and Coralville as well as police in Iowa City observed a brilliant object flying a circular pattern over the huge Coralville Water Reservoir in Johnson County north of Iowa City on the night of 4th August 1965.

Weeping Water, Cass County, Nebraska. 4th August 1965. A luminous craft hovered over a Lincoln, Nebraska, train-crew for three minutes. Don Huff,19, the brakeman, A.C.A Butler, the Conductor, George Barton, the Engineer and R.D. Rue, another brakeman on the Missouri-Pacific Railroad saw it as it approached from the north and passed two miles in front of the train. The luminous object then went south and then returned at an altitude of one mile. Then it dipped down towards the train. The outer rim was equipped with several lights that blinked steadily in a clockwise pattern. We have not had a trainspotting for a while.

Abilene, Dickinson County, Kansas. 4th August 1965. 1.30 am. Mr Don Tennopir, a truckdriver, was on Highway fifteen about twenty-five miles south of Abilene enroute to Lincoln, Nebraska carrying a full load of peanuts when suddenly the lights on the truck went out, went on, wentout etc. Then Don saw a saucer thing that went over the truck with a sizzling or windlike noise and almost touched the cab. The object was twenty feet up hovering only one hundred feet in front of the witness who hit the brakes. The craft then took off to the west and then south and the sighting lasted for twenty seconds. The luminous object appeared to be 14 to fifteen feet in diameter by two feet thick and had a hump in the middle about four feet high. There was a distinct spot in the hump or dome which could have been a window. The object was orange coloured and shot off reddish rays in spurts. Ho-hum.

Caracas, Federal district, Venezuela. 6th August 1965. Friday. A lone farmer saw a UFO land in a field. Three Hominoids emerged from the craft and when the farmer walked towards them the Hominoids were whipped back onto the craft as if connected to rubber bands and took off into the sky at once. They were in a hurry to get away. The object left a scorched area 40 yards wide in a cornfield.

San Pedro de Los Altos, Miranda Province, Venezuela. 7th August 1965. Two businessmen and a respected Gynaecologist were thirty miles south of Caracas during the late afternoon. Suddenly there was a blinding flash of light and a glowing sphere churning out yellowish lights drifted down whilst making a humming noise. It was hovering slightly above the ground when a beam shoots out from the side of the craft with two beings on it. The beings were seven feet tall with long, golden-blonde hair, large round eyes and wearing metallic shiny suits. The Aliens walked towards the terrified and paralysed witnesses and there was a voice in the witnesses' heads saying not to be afraid and that they were speaking to you directly. The blonde hominoids stated that they were from Orion and were powerful and peaceful and wished to study Human psyches for adaptation with possibilities of interbreeding. They also warned them about three foot tall beings from the Outer Dipper. The Witnesses memories become hazy and next thing the Hominoids were gone. Venusians, but this time from Orion, bearing messages but watch out for the Trolls. I would watch out for all of them.

Keswick Mountain, near Ambleside, Cumbria, England. 9th August 1965. Miss Molly Petherick and Mr Michael Dean were hiking when they were buzzed by a cigar shaped object. It was a glowing, fiery UFO with sparks and making a horrible noise and appeared to have electric lights along its sides. The craft resembled a Zeppelin and emitted a loud low-pitched drone. Other residents of the youth hostel also heard it. Molly was in a severe state of shock and was taken to Hospital. Women in those days would get hysterical about the slightest things. Previously there had been a Vampire dog seen here that was sucking the blood out of sheep and cattle in 1810, a fall of fish from the sky over Bassenthwaite in 1845 and in Upper Wasdale in 1860 sheep-size iceblocks crashed down from the sky.

Smithville, Haldimand County, Ontario, Canada. 9th August 1965. A Truckdriver saw a tall long armed Bigfoot. This is an area with a long and rich history of Phenomenal sightings but this is its first Bigfoot. Why is it that we have such sudden changes of Phenomenal reports? Is it different varieties of imagination, even within basic themes, like symbolistic imaging? Is it that a Phenomenon is only appearing for the first time though the area has been Phenomena rich before? Why are some areas Phenomena rich over time and others aren't even allowing for population? After all some of our less settled areas proportionally have higher Phenomenal incidences than areas with huge populations.

Upton Scudamore, two miles from Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 10th August 1965. 4.30 am. Mr Terry Fell, a lorry driver bringing a load of fruit and vegetables from Lincolnshire, was driving in the early morning when a flaming crimson ball flew with bullet force from his left and then suddenly stopped fifty yards in front of him. Terry braked sharply and shielded his eyes from the glare. The object headed for the truck head on and struck the truck, sticking to the windscreen causing the truck to run into a bank on the offside Road. The UFO resembled an eye or an outsized car headlight. The Craft then hovered over a clump of fir trees after detaching itself from the windscreen before whistling away. The engine of the lorry was seizing up as light first approached. Terry's Wife, Judith, and their daughter, Wendy, 4, were woken by the sudden stop. The Craft was larger than the truck. An eye in the sky that could not see where it was going?

Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 10th August 1965. In the early morning Mrs Atwill saw a hovering UFO that made a terrible droning noise. The Bed and floor were shaking. The UFO was domed, huge and made an unwinking light and was seen for twenty-five minutes. The same morning as the truck driver incident with the colliding eye, it or something else was annoying another inhabitant of the same area.

Monroe, Monroe County, Michigan. 11th August 1965. Wednesday. Mr David Thomas and a group of women were parked in a car when a seven foot tall hairy creature with long arms suddenly jumped in front of them where it grunted and growled like a mad dog. David assumed it was a prankster and he got out of the car to take a swing at the prankster. Then David realized that the Hairy Hominoid was tall and loomed over his six foot tall frame. The hairy Hominoid struck David, who was now retreating,in the back throwing him against the car. David leapt back into the car and drove off. The Bigfoot humped on the roof and fenders as the car sped off. A very tall, very strong, very fast prankster in a Gorilla suit?

Monroe, Monroe County, Michigan. 11th August 1965. Wednesday. Mr Keith Mercure fired his shotgun at a manlike creature that was seven foot tall and hairy. The manbeast had very long arms and grunted and growled like a mad dog. The same day this same prankster was trying to get themselves killed. This is the fourth sighting of old Smelly since June that same year. He too had never been seen in the area before. Did we have a sudden influx of Hairy Hominoids from who knows where? Just passing through? From where to where and were either of these places in our dimension on Earth?

Parkton, Baltimore County, Maryland. 11th August 1965. Thirty miles north of Baltimore a luminous object was seen to explode in the sky. After this explosion in the sky non-Meteoric metal fragments fell to Earth. A shower of metal chunks clattered down near the William Belt farm along Walker Road. Mr Belt picked up a number of the cubically shaped fragmented pieces and tested them and found that they were harder than any steel that he had seen. The metal was not a Meteorite according to NASA who tested it. Objects do fall from the sky but this is not Meteoric Iron. There is no Meteoric steel as it does not occur naturally.

Monroe, Monroe County, Michigan. 13th August 1965. Friday. Mrs Rose Owen and her daughter Christine van Archer or van Acker, seventeen, were in her car when a seven foot tall, four hundred pound massive Hairy creature jumped onto the Highway and attacked them. Christine had stalled the car in her hurry to get away from it and the brute grunted and growled like a mad dog as it jumped onto the side of the car. The manbeast then reached through the open car window to grab Christine by the hair and give her a black eye and then it kept banging her head against the car door. Christine had fainted by now and Rose ran out of the car to a nearby house for help. Nearby workmen heard the screams and came running over as the creature ran into the woods. The creature was reported to have grabbed another young woman as well in that same period. The Bigfoot was also seen by fifteen other independent witnesses that Summer. Christine had also remarked on the creatures strong smell. Smelly seems to be grouchy.

Lynn, Essex County, Massachusetts. 13th August 1965.12.55 pm. Two bakers saw a slow-moving glowing white-tinged globe noiselessly glide over their bakery and descend into an area of power cable towers one mile away. Sanity at last.

Renton, King County, Washington State, near Kent. 13th August 1965. Friday. 7.30 am. Two sisters, Ellen Ryerson and Laura Ryerson were arriving for work in a bean field when they noticed three new workers already in the field. The three strangers seemed more interested in the girls than in the beans and soon the girls realised something else rather startling as well. The strangers were not Human. They had white domed heads with protruding eyes that were grey like stone as well as large pores on their faces. They were five foot two inches to five foot five inches tall and had expressionless grey complexions. The lower parts of their faces were deeply tanned and they wore sleeveless purple V-neck jerseys with white shirts underneath. The hominoids were easily outdistanced by the girls who got back to their car and escaped. You never know who you will end up working with. Illegal Aliens in the literal sense of the word?

Cruzeiros, near Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Rio Paraiba. 14th August 1965. Saturday. Mr Joao do Rio, a Railway worker, whilst fishing saw a UFO land. From it emerged a 70 centimetres tall Hominoid that had large luminous eyes and spoke to Joao in Portuguese, the language of Brazil. The Hominoid stated that he was not from this World and was from another before giving the witness a piece of metal. The piece of metal was not of earthly origins and was tested by the Brazilian Railways Coachbuilding Works. The composition was unknown. The strange disc, for that is what the piece of metal was, was never seen again. The Hominoid was also not very particular who the witness told of the event either. Another piece of Alien metal to be tested and to prove astonishing. Then it like much of our other Phenomena disappears. Limited shelf-life? Hidden or dematerialized?

Salto, Buenos Aires Province, Uruguay, near Uruguay River. 15th August 1965. Sunday. 11.00 pm. The five witnesses were in a car when suddenly there was a blinding light and a terrifying humming noise from above them. The light landed on the road three to four metres from the car and three witnesses fainted whilst the other two were petrified with fear. As soon as this happened the car stalled. The vivid white light of the UFO changed to red, green, yellow and then a leaden colour and the object was humming but stopped. The UFO was three metres tall and the width of the road and was domed with green lights. There were three Hominoids who looked Human inside the dome. Suddenly numerous bursts of reddish yellow flame shot out of the sides of the machine and the hum came back. The craft then shot up at great speed and vanished. The dome revolved. Quite a bright object but not all that unusual, just better reported.

Salem, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 15th August 1965. 11.00 pm. Over a country lake two witnesses saw an elliptical craft making a humming noise. It was like an inverted saucer on a dome at an altitude of 100 feet and only 300 feet from the witnesses. The dome had a central mastlike protrusion and the rim glowed red and yellow. Another classical sighting.

Jerry L. Condray saw a kangaroo northeast of Wakefield, Clay County, Kansas, on 15th August 1965. Bert Radar had spotted a kangaroo east of Abilene, Kansas, only twenty days before. Any connection?

Around the middle of August 1965 Dr Silva Guillen, an engineer and president of the Sugar Refining Corporation of Cumanacoa was driving with his wife and niece near Cumanacoa when his niece spotted a flaming meteor which had passed the car on her side and when Mr. Guillen looked he saw what appeared to be a brush fire. Then he noticed that the flames were coming down from a round metallic object and were being projected down towards the ground. The object was hovering twenty feet above the ground and Mr. Guillen stopped the car to have a look whereupon the object began to approach him. His wife and niece urged him to get back into the car and they resumed driving with the object following them for a short distance before it sped out of sight.

Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 17th August 1965. There were terrific explosions in the sky that shook houses. There were a number of witnesses of this tremendous roar. The source was unknown. Meanwhile in Warminster all was normal.

Lima, Peru. 17th August 1965. Tuesday. Mrs Hilda Santa Cruz saw a Martian looking creature looking through the window of her house at her. Hilda screamed for the neighbours who arrived as the Hominoid vanished. Then a luminous sphere was seen flying away into the sky vanishing West at fantastic speed.The neighbours saw it as well. Lima seems a popular spot for takeoffs and landings.

On 17th August 1965 a UFO was seen over a reservoir in the Hills of Carrizol in Venezuela about twenty miles from Caracas. It was seen by several workers and others as the object hovered momentarily over the water after wobbling precariously in the air. One witness in a car on the highway nearby stated that his car engine acted up while the object was in sight. When the object left the first spot where it was seen above the water it moved over to the shore and landed briefly on the grass. When it had neared the ground it extended several stiltlike protuberances to the ground but then the legs were drawn up again and it glowed intensely and left.

On 18th August 1965 Euclides Bencomo, Jesus Zapata and Juan Ramos were hunting in the Bum-Bum Forest of Barinas in Venezuela when they saw a strange glow behind some bushes and when they approached it thehy saw a huge egg-shaped object hovering six feet off the ground. The object was giving off multicoloured lights which emanated from large round windows and it was making a whistling sound. The three men dropped their guns in panic and ran off later returning with a posse. The guns were still where they had been dropped but the craft was gone.

Mexico City, Mexico. 19th August 1965. Thursday. At 8.30AM near the Mexican Polytechnic Institute two brothers, Yaco Rodriguez and Payo Rodriguez, saw a luminous domed disc on tripod legs on the ground that had a sort of motorcar beneath it. There were two beings 31 inches tall near it that wore gas masks and on seeing the witnesses dropped an inscribed metal plate onto the ground and took off in their machine. The grass was found to be burned at the site and there were marks where the tripod legs had rested. There were also drops of a strange fluid on the ground that was found to be composed of Alumina and Silicone. A strange mixture. What happened to the inscribed metal plate? Was it too composed of a mixture of Alumina and Silicone and was it too rapidly melting away like a thief in the night? We have had at least four incidents since 1947 of the finding of Aluminium and Silicone materials in relation to UFO sightings and numerous reports of the falling of Aluminium or Aluminium-like material. But Aluminium is not meltable at room temperature and neither is Silicone so obviously there is at least a third element or compound involved. Is this third element or compound chemical or electromagnetic? Are we loosening our magnetic and atomic structural bonding chemically or electromagnetically? Is this how we have limited shelf-life so to say to many of our Phenomena?

Cherry Creek, Chatauqua County, New York. 19th August 1965. Thursday. 8.20 pm. Four witnesses saw a hovering shiny silver saucer that turned the clouds green and left a red and yellow trail as it landed. The witnesses were not perturbed but the farm animals were scared. A bull bent the iron bar to which it was tethered and the milk yield of one cow dropped from 2.5 cans to only one. Ho-hum. It's them darned UFOs again Pa! They're interfering with the milking.

Mount Airy, Surrey County, North Carolina. 19th August 1965. 3.00 am. Mrs T. E. Schumaker who was on holiday was woken by a loud humming noise from the rear of the house. She went outside and saw a white cigar taking off at angle that made manoeuvres and then vanished behind trees. Next morning a circle of grass was found depressed six inches deep and twelve feet in diameter. Previously there had been a sighting of a thousands of floating Angel like beings on the side of Chimney Rock by several independent witnesses here in 1806.

Mar del Plata, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 20th August 1965. Friday. 11.00 pm. Mr Eduardo Lujan Yacobi, 25, and his wife Mrs Teresa Ernestina Acuna de Yacobi were standing where Calle nine de Julio crosses 216th Street in the middle of the City saw a UFO land nearby. The craft made a loud humming noise and was revolving and emmitting flashes of light. It also brushed the tops of trees as it landed. The witnesses then saw violet reddish coloured Hominoids walking around the craft who seemed to be fixing something. The craft then took off. There were several other individual witnesses as well. UFO repairs? It's as common a Phenomenon as broken down cars along the Freeway.

Sacsayhuaman, Cuzco, Peru, Andes. 20th August 1965. Friday. Shortly before noon hundreds of witnesses including Mr Alberto Ugarte, an Engineer, his wife, and Senor Elwin Voter all saw a 1.5 metre wide disc land on one of the terraces of the Inca fortress of Sacsayhuaman above Cuzco. There were hundreds of witnesses who saw a pair of small luminous Hominoids emerged from the disc. The hominoids saw the hundreds of witnesses and rapidly re-entered their craft and shot off into the sky. The craft was a vivid silvery colour. The Hominoids were a strange shape and a dazzling brightness.Were they a thousand years too late for a religious festival?

On the night of 21st August 1965 Sun-Herald staff reporter Frank Burke and his son saw a strange aerial object over Manly in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia at 7.00 pm that sat in the sky for three minutes. Mr. Burke photographed it and it looked like a semi-trailer that was all lit up. There was a cluster of four to five small red lights which outlined the white light. After photographing it the object moved slowly northwards making a loud engine noise unlike a jet or helicopter noise. The light kept a constant altitude and it was too slow for a plane.

On 23rd August 1965 three people including two ambulance men saw two cigar-shaped objects hovering above Canberra airport at dusk. The objects glowed bright blue with a pink tip.

Lima, Peru. 24th August 1965. Tuesday. Twenty students and adult Teachers heard strange sounds on the top of the School and they went to the roof and discovered a throbbing discshaped object which took off as the witnesses ran for cover. Standard even if on a school roof.

Seattle, King County, Washington State. Puget Sound. late in month August 1965. 2.00 am. The witness was in bed and woke paralysed and could not make a sound. Through his bedroom window hovered a football-shaped object that was also the same size as a football. It was grey and three tripod legs emerged from it and it landed on the bedroom floor. A small ramp descended from it and five or six tiny beings emerged from it. They wore tightfitting clothing and were very small and seemed to be making repairs to the craft. When they finished they went back up the ramp and the object then sailed out of the window. As soon as the UFO had left the witness regained the use of his limbs and voice. We would meet several of these Elfin craft again. We are not here to Judge the types of Phenomena, only to observe. Where and when, not what and why. At least they were making repairs which adds a sense of normality to it all.

Melbourne, Victoria, Australia, Port Philip Bay. 29th August 1965. Sunday. Strange lights were seen hovering and darting in the sky to the west of the city. During this an object shaped like a half Moon flashed in from the west and dived into Port Philip Bay. It did not act like a Meteor. Had this happened before here? No, but there had been several UFO sightings in the same area over the years as well as a hovering Jellyfish like craft over Station Pier in 1954. There had also been sightings of watermonsters in the area as well.

Arequipa, Peru,1965. 30th August 1965. Two witnesses in a car twenty kilometres from town saw an entity resembling a shrub eighty centimetres tall. It was blackish and had one golden eye and there were also other smaller eyes up and down the body. A few seconds after the Hominoid had vanished a saucer shaped UFO was seen flying up into the sky. Shrubs from Space? We would meet similar again. In 1954 we had a walking fircone with short legs and a snout wandering around near Ramsgate in Kent, England and in Pioneer Mountain, Oregon, in 1966 we would see several walking tree stumps. We are not to Judge but to observe.

During August 1965, Dr Antonin Kukla and Mrs Audrey Lawrence were driving near Carnarvon in Western Australia when they saw a flying object diving towards them. Kukla stopped the lights and turned off the car and the couple ran to the side of the road. The UFO stopped and hovered over the highway rocking gently. The original orange colour as it dived had changed to a greenish glow and it had the shape of a squashed football.

Grand Forks, Grand Forks County, North Dakota. August 1965. Six witnesses on a golf course saw a blinking transparent circular object that contained little figures inside it that were moving like silhouettes. Some of the witnesses ran towards the craft and it suddenly vanished with a loud bang and seemed to just blow up. Or it vanished in the opposite direction to the witnesses at an incredibly high speed. Or did it just vanish through a hole in the sky?

North Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania, Delaware River. August 1965. Chester Archey, a Policeman in his Patrol Car went down an unfamiliar Street in North Philadelphia and then emerged onto an even more unfamiliar Street in Pennsauken, New Jersey, almost instantaneously. Had Chester and his squad car been teleported? Maybe Chester had forgotten an incredibly fast trip. Or had he too disappeared through another hole in the sky.

Ottawa, Carleton County, Ontario, Canada. August 1965. 9.30 pm. A young couple parked near a Reservoir saw a glowing object descending toward the Reservoir. There were four searchlights on the underside that illuminated the whole area. The object halted twenty feet up and a sliding door opened in the side and the figure of a man formed in the opening. Two more then figures appeared. They all wore metallic clothing. The woman became frightened and the couple fled. Previously there had been the mysterious disappearance of the Tug “Admiral” and the one million gallon Tanker “Clevco” near here in Lake Ontario in 1947, a UFO landing at Binghampton when UFO Hominoids asked Mr Gary Wilcox for some fertiliser on 24th April 1964, five juvenile males saw a small Hominoid dressed very strangely and standing on a UFO in a field near Conklin Point on 16th July , that same year and on 24th November that same year Mrs Mary Merriweather and her Mother-in-Law watched two landed UFOs and their crews making repairs to one of the craft near New Berlin for over one hour. 1964 was a busy year around here.

Moses Lake, Grant County, Washington State. August 1965. 2.30 am. The witness in his house was woken up by a sound like a bell ringing. At the same time there was a bright light illuminating the house and the dogs and horses were making a commotion. The next morning giant footprints were found that led for 150 feet from a bowl shaped depression in the ground. Then the footprints turned back to it. They were sunk into the ground as if whatever produced them was very heavy. The footprints were 22 inches long by eighteen inches across and were in six foot strides. There were also marks around the bowl shaped depression that resembled those made by a large tripod. Who were the nocturnal visitors? Tall very heavy Aliens?

Temperance, Monroe County, Michigan. August 1965. Miss Shirley Morrin,18, was in her car when a Hominoid leapt at it. The Hominoid broke the windscreen and scratched the witnesses arm and was seven feet tall, hairy and growling. Old smelly is still in a foul mood and has a particular thing for young women and motor cars.

Campden, Lincoln County, Ontario. Canada. August 1965. Several people including Wayne Beach, Manfred Berg and Hector McDonald saw a black furry seven foot tall Bigfoot and the 16-inch tracks left by it. The witnesses stated that it looked like a big gorilla. Ho-hum. Boring. So common yet so uncatchable.

Rutherford County, Tennessee. August 1965. A seven foot tall reddish-brown Hairy Hominoid was seen by Roy Hudson, Terry Ring, Dorris Barrett and Terry Lester. The creature had three inch teeth and a pug nose.

Kosice, Slovakia. 1st September 1965. Wednesday. Hundreds of groups and individual witnesses saw glowing red and black spheres which were buzzing towns and villages. Unusually coloured craft? Looking for something?

Huanuco, Peru. 1st September 1965. Wednesday. The lone witness saw two discs land. From one of them emerged a small being with a large head. The Hominoid was three foot tall.

Huanuco, Peru. 1st September 1965. 5.00 am. Wednesday. A lone witness saw a UFO that was seen to land on a private airstrip on a country Estate. The UFO was an oval shape and from it emerged a being 85 centimetres tall that had a huge head in relation to its body and started gesticulating to the witness and trying to make signs. Failing to make itself understood it re-entered the craft and vanished into the sky. The witness had felt himself impelled to go to the spot for no known reason. The craft became luminous as it took off. The Hominoids head was twice the size of ours. How frustrating.

Damon, Brazoria County, Texas. 3rd September 1965. Friday. Midnight. 12.00 am. Police Officer Goode and Chief Deputy Sheriff William McCoy were in their squad car. Goode, driving, had a sore and swollen index finger where his pet alligator had bitten him and it was bandaged but throbbing painfully. Goode was worried about infection setting in. They suddenly noticed a large purple glow to the west, moving horizontally that then turned and began moving towards them. The luminous object was fifty feet in height with a smaller blue light. Goode at the time had his sore finger hanging out of the car window, waving it in the breeze. Suddenly he felt a definite wave of heat on his arm and hand. They accelerated and left and the lights rose up and vanished. They sped back to Damon and Goode noticed that his finger was no longer throbbing or bleeding and was almost healed. Did the heat from the UFO do it? Healing from the sky or an electromagnetic function which sped up the healing process?

Exeter, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 3rd September 1965. 1.00AM. Police Officer Eugene Bertrand in his Police car had come across a trembling woman driver who said that an elliptical object had pursued her car all the way from Epping, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. This was the beginning of an odd few weeks over Exeter, New Hampshire. Bertrand had come across the hysterical and frightened woman in a car parked on Route 101 about two miles from Exeter. While she was driving from Epping about twelve miles away an enormous silent object flashing brilliant red lights had followed her car for some distance, all the while flying only a few feet above the car, pacing it silently. Then it took off at fantastic speed. The woman had stopped where Bertrand had found her.

Exeter, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 3rd September 1965. 3.00 am. Police Officer Eugene Bertrand was called to investigate a report by Norman Muscarello,18, who had seen something weird in the sky at 2.00 am. Muscarello had been hitch-hiking on a dark stretch of highway near Kensington when he saw a huge object with red pulsating lights alighting in an open field between two houses on the highway. The craft measured 80 to 90 feet in diamater and wobbled eerily, its lights flashing in measured sequence and floated towards Muscarello. The frightened youth threw himself into a gully on the side of the road. The football-shaped object stopped, hovered over the field, flooded it with a blood red glow then backed off slowly. Eventually it poised itself over the home of Clyde Russell, wavering from side to side and after endless moments crept away in the direction from which it had came. Muscarello arrived at the Exeter, New Hampshire, police station in a state of shock. As he tried to recount the events of the night Patrolman Eugene Bertrand came in. Muscarello led Bertrand to a field .where Bertrand flashed his light around a corral about 75 yeards away from the road when Muscarello yelled out “ I see it! I see it!”. Dogs in nearby houses began to howl pitifully and horses whinnied and kicked in their stalls. The UFO was rising silently and slowly from behind two 70 foot pine trees, flooding the area with a brilliant red glow. The object then began moving towards the two dazed observers swooping the witnesses, passing within 100 feet. Bertrand drew his gun but thought better of it. Bertrand pushed Muscarello back towards the patrolcar where Bertrand reported it to the station. The craft was one hundred feet above them and wobbling back and forth on its axis. The lights blinked in sequence from left to right and then from right to left in two-second cycles. Patrolman David Hunt then arrived who also saw the object and its fluttering movement. Both witnesses saw something weird in the sky. It was as big as a barn and was a large dark object with a bright halo effect marked by a straight row of pulsating lights. There was no heat and no noise and it was hovering above some nearby trees. All three witnesses watched it. After ten minutes it silently moved away and floated with a wobble as it moved towards Hampton, towards the ocean. After a while a b-47 plane came over and you could easily tell the difference.

Hampton, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 3rd September 1965. 3.30 am. When Eugene Bertrand got back to his Office the telephone operator from Hampton rang stating a man from a public call box claimed he had been chased by a Flying Saucer. The line went dead and the man could not be found though with the events that night he was tended to be believed. Things were weird as well in Hampton and Kensington.

Kensington, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 3rd September 1965. Dogs howled frantically and horses inside a barn whinnied and kicked madly at their stalls on the Muscarello farm as a large UFO flew very low overhead. The horses could not see the craft yet they sensed its presence.

Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts. 3rd September 1965. 1.00 am. Mr Dennis Winters, a Schoolteacher, was on Route 133 near Candlewood Golf Course when he felt the hairs on the back of his neck stand on end and he had an uneasy feeling. There was a glow hovering over the golf course. Then Dennis was alarmed to see a phosphorescent object suspended just above the ground. Dennis veered off the Road and sped away in terror. The object resembled an inverted saucer with a flat dome and the dome had at least five oval shaped windows around its periphery which emitted a whitish glow. The whole object was surrounded by a greyish glow with a reddish tint around it and was forty feet in diameter. Would be quite a Surprise if you were unprepared for it.

San Justo, Santa Fe Province, Argentina. 3rd September 1965. 1.20 am. Senor Jose Fernandez of 4,777 Calle de Buenos Aires was woken by a strange humming noise coming from the flat roof of his house. Jose was urged by his wife to investigate and went up to look. There was an oval object there on his roof that was two metres in circumference. The UFO took off from the roof with vivid luminousity varying in colour between white and red and it hummed and went straight up like a helicopter. At the landing spot strange marks and traces of combustion were found. They have a penchant for rooftops at the moment.

Cuzco, Peru, Andes. 3rd September 1965. Friday. Hundreds of witnesses saw four objects like metallic blue plates swoop down out of the sky. They performed intricate manoeuvres for two hours before speeding away at incredible speed. We had had a landing here at Sacsayhuaman where a Hominoid appeared only two weeks before.

Marquette, Marquette County, Michigan. 5th September 1965. A Fireball plunged into Lake Superior about ten miles out and was seen by the coastguard and others. This is the third plunging heavenly body or UFO crash into Lake Superior since 1961. Previously in this particular area there had been the sudden disappearance of a plane under full Radar surveillance in 1952 near the Grand Marias. Disappearing planes and ships are not a rarity in the Great Lakes either, let alone Lake Superior.

Lake Texcoco, Mexico. 6th September 1965. Monday. Many witnesses saw a saucer shaped object appear from the sky and land in one of the many Lake sized pools in the otherwise dried up bed of Lake Texcoco near Mexico City. At least this one landed onto a dry Lake-bed not into a wet Lake. Still a lake though.

Puno, near Lake Titicaca, Peru. 8th September 1965. A seven year old boy and his family and friends in a house on Calle Acora saw seven beings who were three foot tall on the patio. They were Cyclopses meaning that they only had one eye. The boy ran to get help from his family and they all saw an immensely bright light flying rapidly into the sky. This was also seen by several other witnesses. One of the independent witnesses saw it land and take off again on a road in an adjacent suburb. Have we met Cyclopses before? We sure have.

Puno, near Lake Titicaca, Peru. 8th September 1965. Jorge Chavez, a writer, whilst driving with his family in the suburbs of Juli and Pomati saw a strange object on the road ahead. Jorge tried to approach it waving his arms but it took off at great speed. Possibly several witnesses to the same sighting.

Sao Joao, Pernambuco, Brazil. 10th September 1965. Friday. 8.30 am. Mr Antonio Pau Ferro, 45, was working in a maize field when he heard a strange rushing and whistling noise. He then saw two luminous discs that were 1.5 metres by 60 centimetres tall hovering downhill. When the two discs got to thirty centimetres above the ground they shot up to five metres. There were two beings 2.5 feet tall, manlike and well proportioned near them that had reddish-brown waxlike skin and complexions, beardless faces and wore tightfitting one piece garments. They approached the witness and sensed his fear and turned away. Just when Antonio thought that they were Flying Saucer people, they turned their heads, smiled and edged back towards him but were distracted by a tomato plant and examined it and picked one of its fruits. The UFOs returned and the Hominoids went inside them. The craft made a highpitched whistling noise. The saucers would have been like little flying coffins for the little Hominoids.

Lake Ceulacocha, near Huancavelica, Peru. 12th September 1965. Sunday. 5.00 am. Lieutenant-Governor Sebastian Mancha, the Military Officer in charge of the town of Santa Barbara saw flying discs. Two small beings 32 inches tall were seen walking in the snow and they vanished suddenly with a blinding flash of light and a deafening noise. They had been seen walking for a few minutes. There were small marks left in the snow by the machine. The little people were definitely visiting Peru in force.

Huancavelica, Peru, near Lake Ceulacocha. 12th September 1965. Sunday. All of the inhabitants of the town saw two UFOs hovering and swooping over the town for two hours. They flew low over the town. They seemed to like Huancavelica or Lake Ceulacocha.

On 13th September 1965 two motorists were terrified by a cigar-shaped object with a thirty foot long tail and a nose cone like a space capsule as it hurtled towards them at the speed of a jet plane on the road near Boggabri in New South Wales in Australia. Mr. C.

Willis, driving a paper truck was five miles from Boggabri when he saw the object. Mr. A. Chad was ploughing a paddock at the time and had also seen the object that had appeared in the north, came down in an arc and then disappeared behind some trees.

Also on 13th September 1965 a group of people at Mackay in Queensland in Australia saw a mysterious lighted object in the sky that was triangle shaped and flying to their west. It was viewed through fieldglasses and appeared triangular and orange and yellow in colour and was visible for ten minutes.

That same time on 13th September 1965 Mr. E. O'Brien of Brisbane saw a large circular that was red and yellow in colour and flying slowly in a northeasterly direction and was very low in the sky.

Langenhoe, Essex, England. 14th September 1965. Sunday. Near Colchester Mr Paul Green, 29, an Engineer, was on his motorcycle on the B1025 Road when he heard a highpitched humming noise on his left to the east. The noise got louder. Paul then saw a blue point of light five miles away over Brightlingsea. The light started winking brighter and was flashing and moving towards the witness. Swoop. When the light was hovering over a nearby marsh the motorcycle engine started coughing and spluttering and finally died and its lights went out. The luminous object was one mile away. The entire craft resembled the top half of a spinning top in intense light and was as big as a gasometer dome on top. There were fierce blue flashes coming from it and it was tilting its underside towards the witness. The outer rim had round objects spaced equidistantly around it like a luminous ball race. Paul dismounted and involuntarily walked a few steps. The flashing blue light now as so intense it was painful and it fluctuated in rhythm with the witness's heart. Suddenly something hit against Paul's chest and he was tingling all over like an electric shock from a cattle fence. Paul was paralysed. The humming died down and the craft descended towards Wick. A motorscooter approached coughing and spluttering and then dying as well. Paul had passed him earlier. It was a young man in a leather jacket who stared transfixed at the flashing light. Paul's head throbbed and felt as if a band was tightening around it. With great effort Paul pushed his bike along to achieve a bump start and then drove home. After a short distance a line of tall hedges hid the object. Paul got home and woke his mother as he needed to recount the experience. The next day his hair and clothes wereso charged with static electricity that they crackled continually. Was the crackling and the pressure in the head due to exposure to huge amounts of electricity or electromagnetism?

Between Pretoria, and Bronkhorstpruit,Transvaal, South Africa. 15th September 1965. Wednesday. Midnight. Mr John Lockem and Mr Koos de Klerk, veteran Police Officers, came around a bend in the road and their headlights showed a shiny object in their road. A top shaped UFO was seen landing on the road. The object was thirty feet wide, Coppercoloured and disc-shaped. The low, rounded dome was glowing faintly and it set fire to the asphalt. Whether this was intentional or not is unknown. Ten seconds after the UFO took off into the air with a roar, rising on two jets of flame which streamed out of two tubes on underside. The heat was so intense fragments of asphalt Highway were being blasted outwards. Examination by Highway engineers showed the asphalt was depressed and broken by very heavy weight. Gravel had been separated from the asphalt in an area of six feet in diameter. Burning petrol could not have been the cause. Something that generated a lot of heat had obviously landed on and taken off from the Highway that night.

Wonthaggi, Victoria, Australia. 15th September 1965. 1.5 kilometres from town Albert Sharp had shot and wounded a rabbit which had rolled into a burrow. Albert was trying to reach the rabbit when he had a strange feeling. There, twenty-five yards away, was this amazing creature. It was a Monster and looked like a Thylacine. Albert fired two 3/4 inch number three shot and hit it and the animal let out an indescribable cry and Albert’s second shot bowled it sideways. In Albert’s haste to reload he dropped both cartridges. The animal vanished into the bush staggering with its right leg dangling. What are the fines for shooting extinct animals? Brigitte Bardot would love Albert.

Huancavelica, Peru, near Lake Ceulacocha. 17th September 1965. Hundreds of witnesses were reported to have seen several Martians whilst a Squadron of UFOs composed of one large and four small discs was seen in the sky for three to four minutes. It's still busy around Huancavelica.

For a period of nearly one week at least fifty people in Hay in New South Wales in Australia saw a mystery object starting on 19th September 1965 at 9.30 pm. One of the witnesses was Mr. H. Hamm, a member of the Royal Astronomical Society, who tried to measure the height of the object with a theodolite but failed due to cloud. Mr. Hamm reported this to the Canberra headquarters of the Royal Australian Navy. The general opinion by the witnesses was that it resembled an upturned saucer that emitted red exhaust flames.

Felixstowe, Suffolk, England. 20th September 1965.10.30 pm. Mr Geoffrey Maskey, 25, Mr Michael Johnson and Miss Mavis Fordyce. Geoffrey had stopped his car on Walton Avenue and Michael opened his door, got out and vanished. A few minutes later the two remaning friends heard a highpitched humming noise and saw an orange coloured oval shaped object that was six feet long 100 feet above the lane. The luminous object lit up everything nearby and then vanished behind some trees. Geoff called Michael's name and there was no response. He reversed along the lane and called again. Suddenly Michael came stumbling through a hedge clutching his neck and eyes and collapsed on the road. Geoffrey and Mavis took him to Hospital where he came to. Michael did not recognise his companions and was in severe shock. There were burn marks on the back of his neck and a bump below his right ear. Next day Michael mentioned a man in flames pointing at him and of a force that seemed to pull him from the car. A man in flames? Were we having a religious vision like a burning bush?

Pichaca, near Puno, Peru. 20th September 1965. Monday. 4.30 pm. A lone Shepherdess saw six beings that were 80 to 90 centimetres tall and wore white clothing and had emerged from a landed UFO that emitted intermittent flashes of light. The hominoids talked amongst themselves and it sounded like the cackling of geese. The witness had fled and hid. The Hominoids and their craft had left marks on the ground and a liquid resembling oil. Was this the last sighting for the area around Puno?

Mosman, Sydney, New South Wales. 21st September 1965. 11.00 pm. Mr R. Dowden and dozens of other individual witnesses saw a saucer-shaped strange glowing object. Hadn't we had a similar sighting just down the harbour at Vaucluse approximately two months before?

Rio Vista, Solano County, California. 22nd September 1965. Three to four hundred witnesses stood around a watertower five miles out of town and saw a softly glowing cigar-shaped hovering object only a couple of hundred feet above the treetops. The luminous object was seen by Deputy Sheriff John Cruz of Fairfield and it had been occurring since May the previous year. Local boys had shot at it with .22 rifles and there had been the distinct metallic twangs of impacts and the object had also flared bright for a second when this happened. Previously there had been a fall of waterlizards in 1870 at Sacramento, a Hairy Hominoid seen in Stanislaus County also in 1870, a heavy shower of fish in Sacramento in 1879, a hovering disc moving against the wind in November 1896, and a winged Airship above the city five days later on 22nd November . On 25th November that same year Colonel G. Shaw and a female companion saw three seven foot tall naked Hominoids from a hovering Airship near Lodi. In 1946 nightly showers of stones were falling at Hagginwood, in 1951 Solano County was shaken by enigmatic blasts from the sky for two weeks and in May 1965, the first of the sightings of the Rio Vista watertank visiting UFO were reported. These were to continue to September , 1965. On 4th September a Hunter near Truckee was attacked by a flame-spewing robot from a Flying Saucer which forced him up into a tree. A normal area? What is normal?

Eastwood, Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. 22nd September 1965. Two shift workers saw a saucer shaped object fly in low over a football oval. Another witness saw a low-flying oval object at an altitude 70 feet at 3.00 am. Sydney, Australia, was still busy. The Eastwood sighting was only the day after the Mosman one!

Montezuma Hills, near Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. 22nd September 1965. Wednesday. Four teenagers in a car saw a black Hairy Hominoid that was manlike and approached their car. The witnesses were terrified and fled. A later police search found nothing. Decatur certainly is unusual.

Cuernavaca, Morelos, Mexico. 23rd September 1965. Thursday. There were thousands of witnesses of a UFO that was seen hovering in the sky above the city when the lights of the city dimmed and the electrical equipment failed. This continued for a few minutes until the UFO left. Everything then returned to normal. UFOS in association with blackouts again? Remember New York.

Arequipa, Peru. 29th September 1965.Wednesday. Mr Julio Lopez de Ramana and Mr Antonio Chaves Bedoya were in a car when they almost ran over a Hominoid standing in the middle of the road. The Hominoid was 31 inches tall and had a single eye and had silver and gold stripes around its body. Shortly afterwards a UFO appeared and flew along beside the car of the witnesses. There were also several individual witnesses of a UFO twenty kilometres away. Didn't we have little Cyclopses only thirty days before at Arequipa, Peru, on 30th August as well as on 8th September at Puno?

Between Perth and Dundee, Perth and Kinross, Scotland. 30th September 1965. Near the Tay River on the A85 Road two individual witnesses, drivers, saw a twenty foot long creature humped like a great caterpillar moving slowly on the road verge not far from the Tay River. A large caterpillar or a landed Lakemonster? Initially Mrs. Maureen Ford was driving home with some friends on the A85 road. It was 11.30 pm and the car was heading for Perth. Mrs. Ford saw a long grey shape with no legs and a long pointed end and a cowlike head with long ears or horns on top. The creature lay on the the bank of the Tay river not far from the sea. By the time Mrs. Ford stopped the car was long past the spot.

Sudbury, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. September 1965. Mr Ronald Schofield, a taxidriver noticed that his car engine began to skip five miles from home and then got worse. Ronald stopped the car and shifted to Park. He turned off the headlights except for the parkers and left the car engine running. Stepping out of the car he noticed a light shining down from above his head. There was a soft, highpitched, whining noise. It was raining and the UFO was hovering 200 feet above him. It was a large glowing disc that was two car lengths long with a dull glow around the edge. Yellowish sparks flashed around in a circle on the bottom and extended three quarters of the way around its centre. Ronald jumped back into the car, turned the headlights on and floored the gas pedal. As he sped off the headlights and dash light were abnormally dim and brightened as it moved away. Engine began to run perfectly again after a while. Pretty standard.

Mexico City, Mexico. September 1965. A UFO skimmed rooftops as it dropped down to thirty feet. The craft was twenty-five feet in diameter with a row of glowing portholes. Traffic came to a standstill as many cars were stopped by its electromagnetic presence. Still busy in Mexico.

Coatepec, Jalapa, Tabasco, Mexico. September 1965. Four separate male witnesses, a local reporter, two taxi drivers and a bullfighter, in a street saw a hovering object that was hovering low above the streets. It had luminous slits in its circumference and inside the object could be clearly seen a black clad being with gleaming cat's eyes. The Hominoid held shining metal rods which seemed to be the controls for the craft. There were quite a few witnesses in the street. A black clad being with gleaming cats-eyes? We aren't discussing Demonology again are we? Or are we?

Tillsonburg, Oxford County, Ontario, Canada. September 1965. A Bigfoot was seen in a tobacco field by several people. Eighteen inch tracks were found. Are we still discussing demonology?

Fremont, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. September 1965. Near Bessie's Lunch dozens of cars would gather nightly at the base of powerlines along which luminoius objects would hover. There would even be pinpoint sightings at times over periods.

Fremont, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. September 1965. Near Bessie's Lunch the Jalbert family reported constant sightings of dull orange discs moving erratically along the powerlines. These particular ones were attracted by powerlines.

Fremont, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. September 1965. Near Bessie's Lunch the Chief of Police and half dozen members of a family saw an object hovering over the house and barn. An outside light operated by a photoelectric cell went out whenever the craft appeared. Obviously the light from the craft was strong enough to turn the photoelectric cell off.

One hour after the Deeside sighting of the giant caterpillar at 1.00 am on the 1st October 1965 another car travelled along the same stretch of road but in the opposite direction. In the car was Robert Swankie, owner of the National Bar in Arbroath who was now on the Dundee side of Perth who saw an odd creature in his headlights that had a head two feet long and the body was humped like a giant caterpillar that was moving slowly. The creature also made a noise like someone dragging a heavy weight through concrete. Robert slowed down but decided not to stop and the next morning reported the sighting to the police.

On 1st October 1965 the villagers of Koka, only sevem miles from Goroka in Niuguini, were startled and scared by a fiery object that rose up from the local cemetery. The local police also saw it an were equally startled by it and Inspector Beattie described it as a large wshite light with a red centre which appeared low down just above the ridge. The craft was also described by Mr. Lord as round with tongues of flame shooting out all around it. The glare was so intense that the size was impossible to determine.

New England Power Station, Salem, Essex County, Massachusetts. 2nd October 1965. 8.20 pm. A hovering UFO was seen by James Centorino,16, who was riding his bike up Columbus Avenue. There were two bright lights over the three smokestacks of the New England Power Station. Each stack normally had two lights. James could not figure out what the white lights were. There was a dark shape between them that was20 to thirty feet across. Several hundred feet away he saw a dark, cigar shaped object with a hump toward its rear and a white light attached to each end and hovering at a 45 degree angle fifteen feet above the stacks. The craft made a noise like air being let out of a balloon. The craft rose one hundred feet up and shut off the lights.Then there were only broken cirrocumulus clouds in the sky. James rang the Police. There were several individual witnesses as well. The east coast sightings UFOs seemed to be fascinated by powerlines and powerstations between November 1964 and October 1965.

Salta, Salta Province, Argentina. 4th October 1965. Monday. Schoolboy Santos Vallejos and two Schoolgirls, Antonia Aparti and Adela Sanchez, were on the way to School when they saw beings of short stature that only remotely resembled humans and had green skin. The Hominoids tried to abduct the three children in a wooded hilly section and they rushed at the youngsters but the children ran faster and headed for School completely terrified and immediately told their story to the Headmaster of Liberator General San Martin School. An excuse for being late?

Norton Bavant, Wiltshire, England. 7th October 1965. 11.35 pm. Annabelle Randall was driving John Plowman home. Near the Railway Bridge at Heytesbury, which is the site of several fatal auto accidents, Annabelle and John saw a sprawled figure with its legs and feet on the road. They stopped the car but the figure was gone. There were no traces. It's still weird in Wiltshire.

Norton Bavant, Wiltshire, England. 8th October 1965. 12.25 am. Annabelle Randall from the previous days sighting was driving home near Heytesbury Railway Bridge again when the car began to stutter and fail and the headlights flickered and dimmed. Annabelle now saw a bright orange glow or ball against an embankment that suddenly shot across the road and into the sky after becoming bright red and with blue sparks that flew from the spinning rim. The car stopped altogether and simultaneously Annabelle saw a second dark round stationary object and two dark figures wearing tightfitting clothes and some sort of headgear walking along the road. From the thighs downward they glistened as if wet and their faces were covered completely by balaclavas. She saw only noses and deepset eyes. The power returned to the car Annabelle tramped the accelerator in the car almost running them over. Annabelle was having a bad night.

Spring Grove, York County, Pennsylvania. 16th October 1965. A four foot disc touched down briefly at the Elementary School. They like schools. Might be the open spaces. Sports ovals make good landing sights for oval shapes.

Lough Fadda, Connemara, County Galway, Ireland, Lakemonster. 16th October 1965. Saturday. Captain Lionel Leslie had set off an explosion in Lough Fadda with gelignite. He had intended to cause huge shock waves that would make the local Lakemonster surface. He used five pounds of explosive and was soon rewarded with the sight of a monstrous shape thrashing about fifty yards off shore which was also seen by other witnesses. The creature was large and blackish. What became of it we do not know but it probably had one Hell of a headache.

Tully, Queensland, Australia. 16th October 1965. 10.30 pm. Mrs Ford saw a round white light moving to and fro horizontally and also moved up and down. The weather was clear and fine. Tully in Australia is still being popular as well.

Tully, Queensland, Australia. 17th October 1965. The same erratic moving light as the previous night reappeared and landed below the tree tops.

Hazelbridge Court, near Chiddingfold, Surrey. England. 17th October 1965.A Puma leapt over the head of the daughter of Viscount Chelmsford as she was attending her horses. England was business as usual.

On 21st October 1965 Joseph Jalbert of Fremont in Rockingham County in New Hampshire saw a reddish cigar-shaped object high in the sky at dusk. As the amazed young man stared in amazement a small reddish disc detached itself from or came out of the larger object ans slowly descended to the ground and appeared to draw nearer to the boy’s location and then skimmed along the power lines which line the road near the Jalbert’s home. Next the object stopped approximately two hundred yards from his position and just a few feet from the wires. Then a silvery pipelike extension descended from the object and appeared to touch the wire for a few seconds and then receded into the disc whereupon it returned to the cigar from which it came and the cigar then flew out of sight.

Long Prairie, Todd County, Minnesota. 23rd October 1965. Saturday. 7.40 pm. Jerry Townsend, a radio announcer, was in his car and noticed that ahead of the car on the road was a rocket shaped object thirty to 40 feet high by ten foot wide. Three small Hominoids came out of it and advanced towards Jerry who had gotten out of his car. They moved with a side to side waddling motion. Investigation by Police shortly after revealed three parallel strips of an oily substance four inches apart on the road that were a yard long. The car engine had died and the headlights had gone out. The creatures who had come out of the UFO were beer can shaped and only six inches high and they appeared to be walking on two or three fins. When they stopped the 3rd fin came down. Were they actually little remote controlled probes? They seemed to be watching the witness and after a while went back to the rocket and went inside. A colourless liquid had issued from the craft after it was airborne. Walking Beercans from Space? Maybe a few too many beforehand. Two separate and individual witnesses, Hunters, saw a lighted object in the sky at the time of the sighting.

Alto dos Cruzeiros, Canhotino Municipality, Pernambuco, Brazil. 26th October 1965. Tuesday. Noon. Senor Jose Camiliao Filho,56, a mechanic was rounding a bend in the road and came across two beings that were 80 to 90 centimetres tall. They had brown shrivelled faces, white hair, large heads and slit-eyes. One had a sparse white beard and a peaked cap and wore white gloves. Another carried a rod like an electrical torch that was fifty centimetres long and like an electric welder. One of them also wore a luminous belt that emitted vivid bluish flashes and was shaped like a shield. The same Hominoid also wore a blue shirt, olive green trousers and shoes like tennis shoes. Between the two Hominoids was standing a 1.2 metre tall tube that had a diameter of fifteen centimetres. Both of the hominoids had been sitting on the trunk of a banana tree which was unusual as these leave indelible stains. The Hominoid with the flashing lights jumped to his feet and they grabbed the cylinder by a handle in the middle and began running off. One was staggering and collided with his companion and both nearly fell to the ground. The Hominoids then vanished. The witness was fleeing at the time. There were individual lots of strange lights in the sky at the same time amongst many individual witnesses of UFOs in this period. The little people again and they might have been involved with Beercans as well and obviously knew nothing about banana stems. Obviously not locals.

Saint Maurice River, Quebec, Canada. 30th October 1965. 5.15 pm. Many witnesses saw aAluminium upside down boat that was 22 feet long with a flame-spurting motor in the rear land in the Saint Maurice River, submerge, and change the colour of the water to dark brown. The current then vanished and afterwards flowed in the opposite direction for a while.They love water like lakes and rivers and its amazing how many of them are described as Aluminium like.

Calgary, Alberta Province, Canada. October 1965. Mr Hertzke was on horseback riding on the Circle Jay ranch when he saw a small airplane parked on ground. The aeroplane was silver-grey with Delta sweptback wings, was sixteen feet long, had a wingspan of twelve feet and a fuselage four to five feet deep. Mr. Hertzke rode over to it. The exterior was irregular like a waffle or Honeycomb and there was a transparent dome over the cockpit which had a complex interior with two glasslike seats. There were no markings or insignias and no visible motors, propellers or jets and was apparently built for very small pilots. There were no signs of life and the witness rode away. The object was not there later. Witness reactions can be more amazing than the Phenomena. Would you ride away if you had found something like this?

On Nisqually Hill near Olympia in Thurston County Washington State during October 1965 Mr. Russell Geis and Mr. Dennis Lensgrave saw a white seven foot tall Bigfoot in their car headlights. The men shot at it and large tracks and broken trees were found in the direction that the creature fled.

Little Jedito Wash, north of Winslow, Navajoh County, Arizona. October 1965 Autumn. Mr Roger Heath, a schoolteacher, saw a long armed dwarf Hominoid that appeared charred that was crawling from the wash onto the road. Other reports state that it was hopping and scrambling at the road side. Maybe it did both. It was three feet tall and covered in black fur and had a reddish area over its eyes but no ears. The creature had a roundish face and very long arms. Oddly enough in the Hopi mythology of the area the creature is referred to as a Skywalker. This is the same as in the Navajoh mythology. Mythology and reality meet in collision. Legends come to life? Is this what we are looking at?

Laporte, Plumas County, California. Autumn October 1965. Mr. Herb Brown saw four deer followed by a Bigfoot in this part of the Sierra Nevada.

At Harrison Mills at the bottom of Harrison Lake in Westminster County in British Columbia in Canada a man saw a female Bigfoot in the brush near the road in Autumn October 1965.

Mexico City, Mexico, Valley of Mexico. October 1965. Autumn. Three female witnesses saw several beings ten feet tall that had glowing eyes and wore shiny, grey garments and boots. There were no noses or mouths discernible. The Hominoids were seen in the Southern suburbs and there were no UFOs mentioned at all though we might be safe to assume that they might be around somewhere.

Granton, Tasmania. Australia. October 1965. Around 4.00 am a dark object was seen to take off from the ground and the dogs in the area were disturbed. ZZZZZZZZ

Tully, Queensland, Australia. October 1965. Mrs Ferguson, the wife of the Schoolteacher, and Mrs Col, both of Murray Upper, saw a light hovering over the schoolgrounds. It was visible for three days and nights. Boring if it were not for the continuity.

Tully, Queensland, Australia. October 1965. Mr M. Sailor and five friends in a car were returning to town from El Arish when a big bright orange light descended on the outer edge of a farm and stopped by a big tree where the light then turned off. The luminous object was also seen by Mr Theo Hondrakis at 11.30PM, who was showing his brother his new rose bed. The craft lit up the inside of Theo’s house with an odd colour. The respectability of the independent witnesses.

Direct, Lamar County, Texas. October 1965. A large mystery catlike creature was seen in the area. It was not a Puma and seemed to be a Panther and left pawprints. The footprints were catlike but the claws showed and they were so large that a man could put both hands in one track. At first the creature sounded like a Bobcat but the tone would then waver and deepen and sound like a man in pain. The cat weighed 190 to 200 pounds and ran on all fours in eight foot strides and was travelling west. Occasionally it stood on its hind legs. Where was it heading?

On 1st November 1965 at Huanuco in Peru at 5.00 pm a globe-shaped UFO with an encircling ring which resembled the rings of Saturn came out of the south and appeared to be rotating at high speed and hovered within four hundred metres of the witnesses who included the editor of the local newspaper. The object let out multicoloured lights and had a revolving antenna on top. When the witnesses approached closer the light became blinding and the UFO flew to the north and vanished.

Norton Bavant, Wiltshire, England. 3rd November 1965.1.30 am. A retired RAF Group Captain and his wife were in their car when they encountered a tall dark figure wearing a sort of Mask or balaclava and was walking along the nearside of the road. Only the nose was visible. At the same instant a second figure came staggering out of the hedge. It was a near-naked, bloodcovered youth and his face was a pitiful sight. He was wearing only a jacket. The witnesses reversed the car but the figures had vanished. UFO Hominoids or Devil worshippers?

Middletown, Butler County, Ohio. Great Miami River. 4th November 1965. Thursday. A bright flaming light was seen in the sky that was stationary. Suddenly it sped off and landed in the Great Miami River but soon after it rose out of the river and took off into the sky and was still glowing bright . Amazing how many we see coming out of bodies of water as well as going into them. Rarer to see the one that went in rising back out again.

Clay, Onondaga County, New York, near Syracuse. 9th November 1965. Tuesday. A bright UFO was seen hovering above the powerlines near the substation. The UFO was 100 foot in diameter and there was a blackout occurring whilst the craft was over the lines. On 13th July, just past there had been another UFO sighting above the Clay substation. This also resulted in a blackout of enormous proportions that darkened all of New York City.

Mogi-Guacu River. Sao Paulo, Brazil. 13th November 1965. A luminous object landed in a field only four hundred feet from a fence separating a yard. The UFO was seen by the local Sheriff and Police Clerk driving on the Highway to Catagua. The light hovered prior to landing. Mr and Mrs Filho, a bank Manager and other friends saw it from their yard and Mr. Filho , the Bank Manager, was so excited he dropped his camera. The Filhos were actually in the yard waiting for the UFO to land. Hominoids appeared from the craft that were as tall as seven year olds boys. One wore coveralls and the second one wore chocolate coloured pants and a grey collarless shirt. The third had a squarish flat head and wore a Surgeon's apron. The ship glowed and the Hominoids set about uprooting plants, plucking leaves and breaking twigs from bushes. Before they left the Parish Priest, Longino Vartbinden, and some guards came and saw them. They then got back into the craft and took off. Alleged Alien specimen collecting expeditions are getting quite common.

On the same night of 13th November 1965 a couple were driving their Volkswagen from Mogi-Mirim to Nova Lousan in Brazil when they saw a huge light blocking the road ahead so they turned back, encountering a truck and warning the driver. While they were talking to him a car sped by them in the direction of the light but soon came speeding back. The three vehicles then drove very slowly in a group down the highway towards the source of the light which as they approached it soared above the approaching vehicles and lit up the whole area. Dozens of other people saw the luminous craft then they stopped at petrol station and alerted all the people there.

Rugged Islands, New Zealand. 13th November 1965. 11.30 am. Mr R.D. Hanning and W.J. Johnson saw an odd craft come out of water 300 yards from their boat the "Eleonora". The craft had a tapered structure rising fifteen feet out of the water and was unconventional with no periscope or railing. After a few seconds the water churned up and it vanished. It was very rocky area only few hundred yards off shore and seemingly too shallow for conventional submarines. 13th November was quite busy in a lot of locations.

New England Power Station, Salem, Essex County, Massachusetts. 16th November 1965. 7.00 pm. Francis Burnham, his wife and their two children,were driving in the rain along Dearborn Street when two bright lights hovering over the power plant caught their attention. The lights were one mile away and Mr. Burnham stopped the car. The lights were hovering only few hundred feet above the power plant and there was a one white and the other one was red and they were one hundred feet apart. Suddenly the lights took off from dead stand-still to several times faster than a jet and vanished towards Boston. They definitely do like power sources. Had it come in for a recharge?

On 18th November 1965 at 4.05 am a woman and her son living south of Wangaratta in Victoria in Australia saw a long silvery object travelling west to east that was illuminated with beautiful coloured lights and a beam of light like a car headlight in front. The craft travelled very low and vanished behind treetops and seemed to be skimming over the rooftops of houses.

On 23rd November 1965 at 9.30 pm Mr. Quigley of Adelaide in South Australia went outside to check his water sprinkler when he saw an aerial object flashing a red light which suddenly stopped dead in flight and then just hung in the sky, silently. Mr. Quigley had expcted it to crash to earth but it didn't. Originally the object had appeared as a fluorescent blue cluster that was tinged orange on the sides. Mr. Quigley then shone his torch in its direction and when he did so a vertical grey shaft became visible underneath it. Mr. Quigley shone his torch again and this time the dark eerie column had moved closer to him. When it became visible for the second time Mr. Quigley decided that he should go back into his house.

Saint Paul, Ramsay County, Minnesota, Mississippi River. 26th November 1965. Friday. Many witnesses saw speeding brilliant blue objects appear in the sky and whilst they were performing their aerial manoeuvres there was a massive blackout. As soon as they left the power came back to normal. Can there be visible electromagnetic surges that can drain energy? A concept like negative energy?

Racine, Racine County, Wisconsin, Lake Michigan. 27th November 1965. Saturday. A brilliant but small light was seen to appear that soon grew into a large and brilliant light before splitting into two lights both of which vanished into Lake Michigan. Was this due to it being seen coming from in front of it? Lake Michigan again. Specificity or is it just easier to see Celestial objects over the flatness of lakes?

Tully, Queensland, Australia. 29th November 1965. 8.30 pm. It was clear and starry weather and eight witnesses saw many moving lights from which two very bright ones ascended and landed on de Lucas Hill. One light took a course straight down and the other pulsated down slower. Later one of them emitted bright lights which went off at terrific speed always parallel to the ground at treetop level. The lights continued going on and off. Tully was still apparently busy.

On 29th November 1965 Mrs. Claire Noble who lived in Tully in Queensland in Australia stated that she and six other witnesses saw two huge glowing objects like flower pots on the slopes of Mount Mackay. One of the craft emitted moon shapes that resembled polished metal and they were so bright that they lit up trees as they hurtled parallel to the ground in various directions over three hours. The moonshapes returned to the mothercraft.

Green Bay, near Bella Coola, British Columbia, Canada. November 1965. Mr. Jimmy Nelson was hunting several thousand feet up a mountainside when he saw a hairy manlike form ascending a loggers slash on the mountainside. The creature was large and Jimmy watched it for ten minutes. Jimmy took two hours to traverse the same course that the creature had merely stepped over. There's Bigfoot in them thar Hills.

San Pedro, Los Angeles County, California. 2nd December 1965. Mrs Irwin Cohen and her son took pictures of a glowing - orange object that went into the Ocean nearby. Steam rose from it as it hit and it looked like a missile. A steaming missile crashes into the Ocean near Los Angeles. It was a good year for water-loving missiles.

El Paso, El Paso County, Texas, Rio Grande. 2nd December 1965. Thursday. Over a million people were affected when a UFO was seen in the sky above El Paso. There was a massive blackout whilst the strange craft was seen in the sky. The luminous craft was also seen in Juarez, Mexico, across the river. San Pedro was the same day as a major blackout in Texas?

Totem Town, near Saint Paul. Minnesota. 4th December 1965. Saturday. 8.15 pm. During a blackout all of the town saw a blue light like a welding rod in the sky. What is the linkage between the blackouts and the strange nocturnal visitors? On 26th November just passed there had been a huge blackout of Saint Paul nearby whilst luminous objects were seen in the sky. Are we still getting misinterpreted previously unknown aerial electromagnetic light displays that may effect actual electricity production?

East Texas. 5th December 1965. Sunday. There were 100,000 witnesses! Over 40,000 homes were blacked out in East Texas whilst a UFO was seen in the sky.

Part of a flying light dropped down near Lapeer in Lapeer County in Michigan at dusk on 9th December 1965. At Lapeer shredded lead strips only one sixteenth of an inch thick were found where part of the object came to earth.

There were numerous reports of a luminous flying object at dusk on 9th December 1965. Falls were reported over Patterson and Chippewa townships near Beaver Falls in Beaver County in Pennsylvania. There were reports of big balls of fire falling into the woods and the woods smoking.

At Livonia in Wayne County in Michigan at dusk on 9th December 1965 two eleven year old boys reported picking up a piece of lightweight fused metal that was a grayish colour and the size of a basketball that had fallen into a field.

The aerial light kept travelling and was described as exploding in the air over Lake St Clair, east of Detroit-Windsor, on the border of Michigan and Ontario in Canada. This was around dusk on 9th December 1965. This explosion rocked planes in the area with its shockwaves.

After the Lake St Clair explosion a lady in Elyria, in Lorain County in Ohio another part of the flying light fell to ground in Lorain County in Ohio at 4.44 pm on 9th December 1965. The lady stated that part of the light landed in a wooded area and set fire to grass over a one thousand foot area. She stated that the object was no bigger than a volleyball, but at what distance. Boys were also reported to have found slag-like fragments of the object.

At 4.50 pm the odd aerial light travelled over Erie in Erie County in Pennsylvania on 9th December 1965. The speed that it was travelling was too slow for a meteor. Normal speeds for meteors are around 27,000 miles per hour. This meteor was only doing around one thousand miles per hour.

After the Lorain County sighting another part of the flying object came down to earth in Midland, Beaver County in Pennsylvania at dusk on 9th December 1965.

After the Midland sighting more of the aerial object crashed to earth at Kecksburg in Westmoreland County in Pennsylvania around dusk on 9th December 1965. At Kecksburg the object was described as a dropping fireball followed by smoke rising up from a wood. Some reports state that the object hit the ground at 4.47 pm. There were thousands of witnesses and phone lines to sheriff's offices, police departments and the news media were jammed.

Thousands of witnesses including Army, Police and civil Defence. It was late afternoon and all emergency crews, Police and Army personnel were searching a cordoned off section of woodland thirty miles south of Pittsburgh near Kecksburg. Teams of men went through the woods with Geiger counters. They were looking for an alleged crashed UFO. The fruits of their search are unknown. A luminous blob had been seen sailing slowly, unlike a Meteor, over Michigan, Indiana, Lake Erie, the tip of Ontario in Canada, then over Ohio where it altered its course by making a twenty-five degree turn followed by its visible disappearance in the woods south of Pittsburgh. The object had initially appeared east of Flint in Michigan, then went over Lake St Clair, then to Oberlin and Elyria near Cleveland in Ohio in a southeast by southerly direction and then suddenly nmad a twentyfive degree turn to the east. It then flew straight through Midland to Kecksburg. It was an abrupt turn and not a gradual curve. Meteors do not make abrupt turns. According to witnesses it was a brilliant orange sphere and it changed course which is impossible for a Meteor. No blackouts this time but a very visible aerial visitor was sailing southeast to Pittsburg. The so-called UFOs that had been interfering with the electricity were also travelling south But the periodicity of the falls is too long for a normal meteor shower and meteor showers, as far as we know, do not effect electricity. Were we having showers of negatively charged electromagnetic objects that actually absorb energy? Are these artificial or do they occur naturally?

Lake Erie. 9th December 1965. Thousands of people saw a Fireball drop into Lake Erie whilst another was crashing into Lake Michigan. Was this another supposedly impossible pinpoint Meteor strike over the one point on the Earth over a longer than Meteorically possible period of time of which we seem to have records of quite a few?

At 3.00 pm on 10th December 1965 the entire staff of four men at the Gabo Island lighthouse in Victoria saw a hovering UFO above them that was disc-shaped and had clearly defined edges and while they watched it it suddenly disappeared in a flash.

Herman, Grant County, Minnesota. 20th December 1965. Monday. 11.45 pm. Mr Edward Bruns, fifteen years old, was driving a pickup truck five miles west and two miles south of town when he saw a bright light covering the road ahead. The UFO was hovering six feet up and then it picked up the truck and put it into a ditch facing the opposite way to that which it had been originally travelling. The truck was originally pointing West and was next pointing North on the south side of the road. There were no tyre tracks at all in the snow and the the truck must have been lifted and turned in flight. At the time the truck was flying the engine and lights went out and during this time the underside of the UFO glowed and sparks shot out of it. Edward abandoned the truck and ran one and a half miles home. The truck was now mired in a deep snow bank and there were no tracks leading to it. We have also had vehicles being picked up and turned around before.

Buckeye, Maricopa County, Arizona. 22nd December 1965. Wednesday. Luminous pale green rain fell that left luminous spots half an inch by two inches across. They were not radioactive. Airborne vegetable dyes?

Klamath Falls, Klamath County, Oregon. 23rd December 1965. Thursday. A Fireball that was not a Meteor was seen to drop into Upper Klamath Lake. This had previously happened here in 1867 and in 1964 strange flares were seen on the lake surface as well as a strange light in the sky. Once again the proneness of some places to Phenomena compared to others. Places such as Warminster.

On 24th December 1965 two buildings and a car were struck by falling meteorites in Barwell in Leicestershire in England.

Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 25th December 1965. Saturday. A38 year old woman was suddenly aware of a crackling noise in the air above her.the causewas unknown. Suddenly an invisible force threw her against a Church wall and she was frozen in shock.

Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 25th December 1965. Saturday. A young girl, nine years old, noticed her dog was paralysed whilst a crackling noise was heard in the air. When the child tried to carry the dog her limbs started to jerk as she went inside. This event was seen by independent witnesses who came to her assistance as she appeared distressed. Especially around Christmas. A Phenomenal or energy form appears at a particular place for a particular definable time and then fades out or leaves. And this is all within the bounds of a verified and observable periodicity.

Grottoes, Rockingham County, Virginia. December 1965. Mr Horace Burns, driving, saw a large metallic craft come landing nearby only one hundred yards from the road. There was a blue flourescent band around the base of the craft and the area as later tested for radioactivity and showed a high Reading of a strange and unknown type of radiation. Two individual tests were made. One by Professor Ernest Gehman of Madison College, Harrisonburg, and the other by two engineers from Dupont at Waynesboro. A strange but unrecognisable radiation?

Humboldt County, Iowa. Winter December 1965. The occupants of several farm houses complained of a hideous looking man who made the nocturnal practice of looking through their windows. It was more like a Gorilla than a man.A hideous man or a Gorilla? A peeping manbeat?

Howard County, Iowa. Winter December 1965. Authorities received dozens of complaints about bears bothering livestock, chickens and garbage dumps and the large footprints of an unknown bipedal creature were found. They were Hairy Hominoid prints. They weren't bears, Pa.

Winneshiek County, Iowa. December 1965. Winter. Authorities received dozens of complaints about bears bothering livestock, chickens and garbage dumps and the large footprints of an unknown bipedal creature were found. No Sirree, Pa. They sure weren't bears!

Cotswald Hills, Gloucester, Avon, England. December 1965. A motorist was overtaken by an object resembling a Landrover travelling at high speed without headlights, sidelights or rearlights and only a winking light on top. When the driver flashed his headlights and tried to give chase the object vanished into a cloud of mist or smoke. The traffic on the roads can be unreal enough without this happening.

Colloway Clump, four miles north of Warminster, Wiltshire, England. Sometime in 1965 Major William Hill, Commanding the local Territorials, was driving one evening at 45 miles per hour when he suddenly rounded a curve and the car started to jump and jolt violently up and down, at times even leaving the ground. The engine died and the headlights dimmed though the bonnet was at normal running temperature and the petrol and battery were fine. Major Hill then became aware of violent air vibrations around him as well as a sinister whining and crackling noise. The attack increased to great intensity and then diminished and had sounded like a highpowered refrigeration or deep-freeze unit. After a few minutes the car started again. Still near Warminster and one could almost make a bet on December

Fouke, Miller County, Arkansas. 1965. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by several independent witnesses including fourteen year old James Lynn Crabtree who was out squirrel hunting when he was alerted to something unusual when he heard some galloping horses running into a nearby lake followed by the sound of a dog howling in pain. Running towards the spot where the dog noise had come from James saw an eight foot tall creature covered in four inch long reddish hair. The creature had very long arms and was standing like a man and as it turned to face the boy he could only see a flat nose on the hairy face. The creature advanced towards James and he was totally scared and shot it three times in the face with a shotgun. The advancing creature did not hesitate and James decided to flee and run off.

Clendedin, Kanawha County, West Virginia, 1965. A brown man with wings was seen on several occasions. Who would believe this? As time went on quite a few. And rare in these parts he wasn't.

Tarrytown, Montgomery County, Georgia. 1965. Hairy Hominoids were seen. The strange bears are appearing everywhere.

Tarrytown, Montgomery County, Georgia. 1965. In one incident a man saw an eight foot tall Bigfoot that appeared mangled or deformed.

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon,1965. Miss Dalene Brown and some other girls saw a Bigfoot near a gravel pit on several occasions.

Morristown, Morris County, New Jersey. 1965. A seven foot tall entity appeared whilst a courting couple were in a car. The Hairy Hominoid had black hair and scaly skin and thumped on the bonnet of the parked car. New Jersey has not exactly been a Phenomena-free zone.

Morristown, Morris County, New Jersey. 1965. A girl and her friends were parked in a car in the Morristown Historical Park when a Hairy Hominoid attacked the witnesses' car by thumping on its roof.

Sometimes they don't like cars. This particular Hominoid had been first seen in 1965 where it was surprising courting couples in lovers lanes. Some researchers speculate that the Alien animals and especially the Hominoids are attracted by the scents produced by courting couples and menstruating women. Maybe they're just perverts? Or are they after life energy at its most intense? What sort of electromagnetic field would a courting, or copulating, couple give off? Especially when they are young and healthy and at their physical peak?

Sherman, Chatauqua County, New York. 1965. A white being twelve to eighteen feet tall with a long tail was seen. A Tall Hairy Hominoid. With a tail? Why not. They're your illusions.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan. 1965. There were many individual witnesses of what was referred to locally as a plague of UFOs and Hairy Hominoids that were attacking people. The Enrico Fermi power plant closed down earlier that year due to a strange sort of sabotage. Now its UFOs. What happened to the Hairy Hominoids? But something weird was happening around Sister Lakes, Michigan. Nothing would occur here again. Sister Lakes had had its last Bigfoot, UFO and blackout sightings ever. All gone. As if they had never occurred at all. In 1901 there was a fall of powdery vegetable matter over Pawpaw. In 1962 there were two sightings of a nine foot tall hairy creature that was not a bear that reappeared the following year and then reappeared again through May and June 1964 that then vanished forever after a couple of sightings in 1965. Now playing, at a fixed site and for a very limited time.

Ashurst, Hampshire, England, New Forest. 1965. Several individual witnesses saw a Leopard with fiery eyes that was the size of a horse. Tiddles was still loose. As was his odd cousin in Australia.

Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1965. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. The Newspapers went to investigate and large doglike tracks were seen mainly on the fringes of a 1200 hectare patch of dense bush and marshy swampland. Witnesses said that the animals were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The creature was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger as well as the Tantanoola Tiger. Tiger, Tiger, burning bright to borrow a phrase. But no matter how brightly burning still impossible to illuminate us as to its actual existence.

In 1965 a group of climbers were at the base of the Lamington Plateau cliff face in the Numinbah Valley in New South Wales in Australia when they spotted a three metre tall hairy apelike giant clambering over boulders and leaving behind an overpowering stench like a rotting animal.

Matsushiro, Gumma, Japan. 1965. Thousands of witnesses during several earthquakes observed that there was obvious luminescence seen over the mountaintops. They were clear nights and for several ten second periods these occurred within ten seconds to two minutes after each earthquake shock. The particular Mountain summits were quartz-diorite rock and there was an unusual increase in the level of radon gas in the vicinity. The central luminous bodies hemispheres were twenty to 200 metres around the contacting surface. In Japan all was normal.

Colloway Clump, four miles north of Warminster, Wiltshire, England. 1965. Mr Robert Payne and his fiancee were riding on a motorcycle which suddenly died on them and stopped. Robert checked the fuel and ignition system but there was no fault. Both witnesses then felt alternating waves of heat and cold descending from above and saw two circular objects streaking about in the sky that continually changed height and direction. On them were various coloured lights. After few minutes the aerial group of lights vanished and the scooter started again. Both witnesses wristwatches had stopped as well. All was normal in the area around Warminster.

Inverness, River Ness, Highland, Scotland.1965. Mr George McGill and Mr Hamish Ferguson were standing on the steps of the Y.M.C.A. Hall in Bank Street when they saw a large animal swimming down towards the sea. Fifteen feet of it was visible and it was black, had deep ridges across its girth and four triangular spikes along its back. There were also humps at the front and the rear. There was a total of three humps and the creatrure had a rugged neck that was protruding 4.5 feet above the waters' surface. The neck was eight inches thick and the beastie rippled the water in passing. In Scotland Nessy was heading for a day at the seaside.

Monte Grande, near Macia, Entre Rios, Argentina.1965. Mr Felipe Martinez, a shopkeeper, 37, met a little man from a landed egg-shaped craft. The little man wore a helmet with two cables linking it to the saucer. Nothing unusual was happening in Argentina, at least by Argentinian standards.

Sister Lakes, Cass County, Michigan, 1965. Many individual witnesses. There was a plague of UFOs and Hairy Hominoids. They were attacking people. The Enrico Fermi power plant closed down earlier that year due to strange sort of sabotage.

Govan Road, Glasgow, Strathclyde, Scotland, Clyde River. 1st January 1966. Saturday. Alex Cleghorn,19, and his two older brothers were first-footing it along Govan Road to bring in the New Year. They were walking down the road. Alex suddenly disappeared in mid stride and was never seen again. If Alex had ducked off for a call of nature or something else surely he would have eventually reappeared?

Narrabri, New South Wales. Australia. 1st January 1966. 9.00 pm. A brilliant disc was seen manoeuvring and swooped the car of the witness. Ho-hum. Miss G. Buchanan and Mr. G. Norman were driving through flat paddock country from Narrabri to Wee Waa when they noticed a brilliant white object in the sky that manouvred as if about to land. Then it took a sudden dive to the ground and then rapidly pulled out and skimmed very fast above ground level before lifting steeply into the sky. Then it circled several times and then repeated the manouvre and it travelled far too fast for a helicopter or a plane.

Wanaque Reservoir, Passaic County, New Jersey. 11th January 1966. Tuesday. Howard Ball, a journalist, saw a brilliant light in the sky to the southeast that was moving erratically, pausing, moving sideways, then passing overhead and disappearing to the north-northwest in the direction of Wanaque Reservoir. By 7.15 pm police stations were flooded with calls about odd lights in the sky over the reservoir as well as the general area. At the reservoir Patrolman George Dykman saw an egg-shaped object heading in his direction that then reversed its course and moved out over the reservoir. Until morning various witnesses saw odd lights over the reservoir.

Wanaque Reservoir, Passaic County, New Jersey. 12th January 1966. Wednesday. At 2.00 am Patrolman Charles Theodora was notified at the reservoir by the Pompton Lakes Police, ten miles away, that they were chasing an egg-shaped UFO heading in his direction. He looked out of the south door of the station and saw the craft arrive and hover over the pumping station. The UFO bobbed around erraticaly for a long time and then headed north and disappeared behind a dam. A UFO was seen hovering over the Reservoir. It left an eighteen metre wide hole in the five centimetre thick ice. They like Wanaque Reservoir.

Katanning, Western Australia. Australia. 19th January 1966. 12.30 am. Mr L. Marshall saw a large object hovering 16 metres above the ground. Its top revolved and it emitted a bright red, yellow and green light. Finally the object rose to 640 metres and took off with a hissing sound. In 1905 Mr George Sumner had shot and killed a strange Leopard-sized creature here with grey and black stripes and a cat-like head. This is the only other event to have happened in the area. Was the UFO looking for its cat?

Euramo, near Tully, Queensland, Australia. 19th January 1966. There were many individual witnesses of UFOs. Mr George Pedley, 27, a banana grower, had seen a blue grey saucer with no portholes or aerials or signs of life and making a hissing noise take off from an area of swamp called Horseshoe Lagoon. Strange circular nests thirty feet across were found in the reeds that were flattened and dry amongst the green. The UFO rose vertically at speed, slowed at twenty metres, then left to the southwest. The circle of reeds was swirled in a clockwise direction and was ten metres in diameter. There were five UFO circles found in the area comprised of circles thirty feet in diameter where the reeds had been cut and flattened in a clockwise directions. One of the nests was a floating platform of clotted roots and weeds that was apparentely torn up by tremendous force from the mud bottom beneath five feet of water. The second and third nest were twenty-five metres from the first and the third was twisted counterclockwise. This was the smallest nest and was eight feet across.

On 19th January 1966, six days before the Toorbul Point sighting, a milkman on Bribie Island in Queensland saw a luminous object hovering above the ground.

On 22nd January 1966 Cooktown Police Sergeant Mr. R. Hagerty was driving with his wife on a lonely road when they saw bubbles about thirty inches in diameter floating above the road which he drove over whilst they disappeared beneath the car.

Toorbul Point, Queensland. 25th January 1966. 9.15 pm. A television went on the blink as a very bright object approached, hovered and then returned in the direction from which it came. The object was described as oblong and twenty metres long and at its closest was only one hundred metres away. Mangrove swamps over which it had moved were shrivelled and scorched.

At Wildwood in Trinity County in California sometime in January 1966 Bob Kelley and Archie Bradshaw saw a Bigfoot. Kelley had shot at the Bigfoot that had looked into a cabin window at 2.00 am. Tracks were found in the area that were not made by barefoot humans or bears.

Sometime during January 1966 the owners of a property at Corndale near Lismore in New South Wales in Australia, Mr. and Mrs. Hunter, discovered an oval shaped depression one foot deep and twenty feet long by fifteen feet wide only fifty yards from their house. Later on visiting Mr. Hunters' father which was next door his seven year old granddaughter told them about an object that she had seen in the sky that was round, red and glowing and had spikes sticking out of it. The object was smoking as well.

Houston, Harris County, Texas. Gulf of Mexico. 6th February 1966. Sunday. Thousands of witnesses, many in City, experienced an unexplained fog that caused nausea that rolled into the city in the evenings from the Gulf of Mexico. Really bad smog?

Aluche, suburb of Madrid, Spain. 6th February 1966. 8.00 pm. Mr Vincente Ortuno, Mr Jose Luis Jordan and a group of Soldiers at an ammunition dump, all independently, saw a large circular hovering UFO whose colour changed to yellow and then to orange and came down near the Airfield. Jordan drove closer and then got out of his car. Jordan saw that it was a disc that was thirty feet in diameter and was amazingly luminous with steady muted vibrations. Then it suddenly Vanished. Three deep rectangular marks were found at the site and on the underside of the departing craft Jordan saw a symbol composed of three vertical bars crossed horizontally. An insignia? Three vertical bars with a horizontal crossbeam? An Astrological symbol for what?

Madrid, Spain. 8th February 1966. Tuesday. A UFO was seen to land. A door on its side began to open when the craft suddenly shot back into the sky again. There was an area of scorched Earth where it had almost landed. This craft had the same markings as in Aluche, two days before. The craft with the odd markings liked Madrid and only Madrid and would return again in June 1967. On two more occasions. A particular specificity?

Around Culcairn near Albury in New South Wales in Australia a number of flying saucer nests were found in early February 1966. One of them was twelve feet in diameter and half a dozen were five to six feet across.

Keith, South Australia. 27th February 1966. 10.00 pm. A saucer inverted over another saucer was seen. It was five metres in diameter and had six bluish lights on the sides and was seen by Mr Kirby. There was also a smell like ozone in the air. Ho-hum but what was that about the smell? Is an ozone smell similar to an electrical smell? An electrical smell in association with an electrical field?

Long Jetty, Lake Macquarie, New South Wales. Australia. 2nd March 1966. 9.50 pm. A retired couple were witnesses to the event. The wife had glanced through the patio door when she saw a ball of fire floating over the backyard. She alerted her husband and they both went outside and saw a spherical orange red object with a ring of fire around it that was bigger than a Soccer ball and travelled parallel with the ground at no more than five miles per hour. The ball of light was slightly northeast of the house at an altitude of twenty to thirty metres and was watched for two minutes before it veered off to the southwest. Lightning with nothing much else to do?

Wilmslow, Cheshire, near Jodrell Bank Observatory, England. 4th March 1966. Dawn. Constable Colin Perks, 28, saw a hovering green metallic object thirty feet across and surrounded by a greenish glow. The object was hovering 35 feet above a field adjoining a parking lot one hundred yards away and he reported it to his superiors. Ho-hum again.

Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 14th March 1966. 9.00 pm. A Fireball moved from east to west and vanished into Lake Michigan and was seen by air traffic control who regarded it as unusual. For the number of reports that we have off luminous flying objects ending up in Lake Michigan it is actually quite amazing that Air Traffic Controllers did not regard them as being part of the regular light schedule or at least a regular aerial hazard. On 9th December 1965 a fireball was seen to fall into Lake Michigan whilst another fell into Lake Erie. This was at the same time as a fireball report from Pittsburgh, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania. Rare are they?

Cagarras Island, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. 16th March 1966. 5.45 pm. A white ovoid object crashed into the Atlantic Ocean after a violent explosion and was watched by people on Arpoador Beach who said object had a white contrail. Two individual witnesses stated that a smaller parachute shaped object was dropped from the larger object just before the crash. Nothing was found. Two days after Chicago?

Dexter, near Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. 18th March 1966. Sunday. 8.35 pm. Countless witnesses and a dozen Police Officers saw a craft with a quilted surface with blue and white lights fore and aft as well as a large beacon midship in marshlands near Dexter. The craft also had antennae and a small cabin and there were four smaller craft escorting it. Mr Frank Mannor, a farmer, 47, and his son Ronald,19, stated that it rested on a base of fog and they were within 1500 feet of it. The Mannors had waded into the swamp to investigate it. The object was football shaped, the length of a car and had a greyish-yellow cockled surface. There was a pulsating radiance coming from it. Police Patrolman Robert Hunawill was astonished to see a strange lighted object hovering over his Police cruiser then zoom off to join the three other craft over the swamp. Dexter and Ann Arbor would be very popular areas indeed.

Deseade, Santa Cruz, Argentina, Gulf of San Jorge. 18th March 1966. Friday. 4.00 pm. Mr Carlos Corosan, 35, was 35 yards from a wingless cigar-shaped craft 65 to 70 feet long that was metallic and reflected the Sun. There were no markings, windows or appendages and there was grey smoke coming from the tail section. The craft was erratically chugging along like a car with engine difficulties, stopped, emitted a short muffled blast of black smoke and became very dark. At this time the craft was forty feet above the water and began to hum and vibrate all over as if it was almost coming apart. There was another blast and the craft began to rise slowly going northeast with an erratic chugging motion. This was a much louder explosion and suddenly there was a decrease in humming. Then the craft suddenly crashed into the sea. It did not float. It Sank and hit the water with a huge splash. There was no geyser or any sign that it had filled with water and it may have been swept away by the Falklands Current. No traces were found at all. Maybe it needed a tune-up?

Milan, Washtenaw County, Michigan. 18th March 1966. Sunday. Patrolman John Stewart of the Milan Police Department saw a hovering UFO above his Patrol Car that was pacing him. The radio would not work and the luminous object hovered at 75 feet for half mile. The craft looked like a huge pie and was well lit with red, blue and white lights spinning around it. A very busy week in the area indeed.

Hillsdale, Hillsdale County, Michigan. 19th March 1966. Monday. 87 women students and Faculty members at Hillsdale College and Mr William van Horn, 41, the County Civil Defence Director, saw an unusual display of lights over a swamp near Hillsdale. There was a hovering object twenty feet across that was seen from dormitory windows for nearly three hours. The luminousity of the object diminished when the Police arrived but returned to normal after their departure. The craft was highly manoeuvrable and swept a searchlight onto the dormitories as well as an Airport Beacon. Swamps and open water. Is water necessary for the chemical reassembling of the craft? Water reassembles itself once when it freezes and then steams at 32 degrees Fahrenheit or Zero degrees Celsius. What other element, possibly similar in appearence to Aluminium or Silicone, can do this?

Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. 19th March 1966. Monday. Countless witnesses and Police including Patrolman Robert Hunawill and other people saw the luminous craft hovering. It was a very popular and well witnessed sighting.

La Porte, La Porte County, Michigan. 20th March 1966. Sunday. Two boys in a car as well as the investigating Policeman, Patrolman Michael Spevak, observed an airborne luminous object for fifteen minutes at the height of a three storey building. The car of the two youths was being chased and swooped upon by a UFO that had a cross shaped antenna on top of it and had run them off the road by producing a blinding glare that momentarily made them lose their sight. The craft was seen by a Policeman who had come to investigate why the boys had run off the road. It had been an exciting week so far in Michigan.

Ann Arbor, Washtenaw County, Michigan. 20th March 1966. Tuesday. Countless witnesses and Police including Patrolman Robert Hunawill and other people saw the luminous craft hovering. And would continue to do so.

Chelsea, Washtenaw County, Michigan. 20th March 1966. A hovering UFO with a brown, quilted type surface, a flat bottom and a cone shaped top hovered over the village of Chelsea in Michigan. The object was low in height, had a porthole in the centre, two small lights at the outer edges and was glowing in bluish-green light that was intensifying to brilliant red. The night of 20th March 1966, alone would be a memorable one.

Exeter, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 21st March 1966. 10.00 pm. A UFO was seen hovering over Powerlines. A Policeman investigated the vertically descending glowing object that was moving up and down and back and forth over the powerlines. Other Police arrived. The object was like a glowing egg with a dome and red, white, blue and green lights flashed around its circumference. Michigan was not the Bangor, Penobscot County, Maine. 23rd March 1966. Mr John T. King was driving when suddenly a huge metallic oval domed object hovered over the road. The car lights dimmed and the radio stopped and John got out of the car to investigate after he took a .22 pistol from the glovebox. The object swooped towards him and scraped the tops of bushes. John fired and heard bullets ricochet off metal as the UFO took off overhead at tremendous speed with the third shot. The previous sighting here was a case of spontaneous combustion on Deer Island in 1943.

Temple, Cotton County, Oklahoma. 23rd March 1966. Wednesday. 5.30 am. Mr Eddie Laxson, 56, an Aviation Electronics Instructor at Shephard Air Force Base in Wichita Falls, Texas, was in his car on Highway 70 when he came upon a landed UFO blocking the road. Eddie got out of car and saw that there was a Hominoid in G.I. fatigue coveralls working under the ufo and seeming to be making repairs. The Hominoid wore what appeared to be a baseball cap and was carrying a flashlight and to the witness the Hominoid looked like any G.I. in fatigues. Mr Laxson turned back to his car to get his camera as the Hominoid climbed a ladder into the craft and it took off vertically. Then the Hair on the back of Eddie’s neck and hands stood up. Eddie could not recognise the type of aircraft or the letters that resembled "TL41" on the side of the vehicle either. An independent witness, Mr Anderson, a truckdriver, saw the UFO from the opposite direction and other truckers had reported similar sightings in the area. The Hominoid was human-looking, holding a flashlight,180 pounds in weight, five foot nine inches tall, had a light complexion and wore a mechanics cap with the bill turned up. The Hominoid appeared to be thirty to 35 years old, had stooped shoulders and what appeared to be Sergeants stripes on the coveralls. When the craft took off towards the river it made a noise like an electric drill. And even Oklahoma got in on the act with its wayward G.I. making repairs to his unusual craft.

On 23rd March 1966 at 5.00 pm several witnesses including a postman Mr. Louis di Paolo and Mrs. Eula Mae Hoch, Assistant Editor of the Trinidad, Colorado, “Chronicle News” saw two UFOs hovering near Trinidad, Las Animas County, Colorado. The craft were clearly visible between the witnesses and the mountains in the background and had metallic surfaces, flat bottoms and dome shaped tops. They were estimated to be withing half a mile of the witnesses and Mrs. Hock compared their apparent size to a six inch plate held at arms length which would make them huge.

On 24th March 1966 shortly after 2.00 am a policeman Edwar Robson Brun came into contact with a man who was running wildly through the streets of Jacarepagua, a suburb of Rio de Janeiro, in Brazil. The distressed man was a businessman named Jonas Franco who was in cold sweat and his eyes were protruding and he could not talk. After he was taken to the Carlos Chagas Hospital and given an injection to calm him down he managed to write down that he seen a brilliant, metallic and soundless object which had scared him out of his wits. Later it was revealed that Franco had heard a knocking at his door and when he opened it there was a disc shaped object hovering there not more than fifteen feet from him. It was so brilliant that he could hardly see and he was so frightened he didn’t think of going back into the house but ran out into the street.

San Mateo, San Mateo County, California. 25th March 1966. Mrs Lorraine Nuckels and her family were terrified by a bomblike report followed by the crash of a one foot cube of ice through the roof of their house. Investigating Police Officers found baseball-sized pieces circling the house outside in a 150 foot ring.

Dores, Loch Ness, Highland. Scotland. 27th March 1966. Afternoon. The witness saw the head, neck and humps of a Lakemonster but was unable to film it due to heavy snow falling against the camera lense. Nessy does not seem to worry about the weather.

Confidential, near Hampton, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 29th March 1966. 4.15 pm. A boy and his dog saw a silver object on top of a ridge. There was a roughly spherical mass of shredded silver material affixed to the top of a vertical silver rod which stuck up out of the top of the box that was 120 feet away. The rod was the thickness of a pencil and was 1.5 feet long. By the time the boy was 75 feet away the rod had vanished. The box was now shaped like an ell on its side with tripod legs. When the boy was 24 feet from the object there was a sudden terrific blast of air from the object and pine cones and needles flew around. There was also a short high-pitched then a low-pitched noise and then the object rose one foot into the air, swung around clockwise and strange electrical sounds came from it. The witness was rooted to the spot. The object was now humming intermittently and the upper left side was higher. There were two round black holes there, one inch across by six inches apart. In the centre of the underside was was round flattened dome two foot in diameter. The box was corkbrown and had definite sharp edges. There were also tripod legs made of square shafts one inch across with pads on the end that were one foot long by two inches square. There was a sudden blast of air again and the noise became louder as the UFO took off with no lights, flame or smell. The craft then hovered at ten feet, the sound leveled and it moved 24 feet horizontally, swung clockwise in the air for 90 degrees and then took off out of sight. The whining had got louder. The craft left circular impressions two foot in diameter and four to six inches deep in centre like a large shallow bowl with elongated impressions around the side. Depressions were left in the soil from the legs. Nothing grew in the area for two years afterwards. The box shaped brownish object with silvery grey tripod legs had manoeuvred out from under trees before taking off straight up and the witness felt the blast of hot air as it made a humming whining noise. This one is not even saucer shaped at all.

Eliot, York County, Maine. 29th March 1966. 7.30 pm. A single witness saw a white glowing object moving as fast as a shooting Star suddenly slow and stop before moving off at high speed. There was a red light seen on its top. An Intergalactic Police car?

East Eliot, York County, Maine. 29th March 1966. 7.30 pm. Witnesses saw an elliptical craft hovering over electricity lines. It was a silvery football shaped object that was almost touching the powerlines. There were five to six glowing ports around its rim and a central dome situated on the top. Flew in for a top-up? Are we being used as a Service Station?

Eliot, York County, Maine. 29th March 1966. 8.00 pm. Witnesses were attracted to the flying object by a pinging noise like sonar. Many dogs were barking at the craft which was bright red with a halo. The craft hovered and descended before moving out of sight. Dogs do not seem to like UFOs or indeed many other Phenomena, pinging or not.

On 29th March 1966 Mrs. A. Warrell of Wauchope in New South Wales in Australia was relaxing with a cup of tea at 9.00 pm in front of an open window when a brilliant light in the air attracted her attention. The light was slowly passing by and was a well defined oval shape as large as a car and with portholes along the sides which glowed a vivid red. The front half had four peculiar funnel like structures emanating red flames and the rear half was covered with a glass canopy glaring in bright yellow. Inside this portion were several small rotating wheels. The object flew away following a line of telegraph poles and was watched for ten minutes.

Baytown, Harris County, Texas. 30th March 1966. Wednesday. 8.00 pm. Miss Donella Banning and the daughter of her employer were in her car when a glowing object hit the car and left two dents fifteen inches apart and five inches in diameter in the roof. Were they learner UFO pilots that year? Were they inefficient Kamikazes? Were they a different lot completely with good aim but lousy flying skills?

Montauk, Suffolk County, New York State, near East Hampton. 30th March 1966. Wednesday. Mr Bruce Field was driving near the Mackay radio towers when the engine of his new truck suddenly cut out. The lights blinked off and the horn would not work. Bruce got out to investigate and twiddled a few wires and all was well. He went another block and the same thing happened again. Whilst his head was under the hood for the second time Bruce noticed bright lights running parallel to him and suddenly saw a bright white light running parallel with his truck. The light was torpedo-shaped and kept stopping the trucks electrical system and did this twice. The first time near Nepeague where it stopped the trucks engine, lights and horn. The UFO cast an intense white light. The UFO went to the radio towers faster than a jet and then towards Gardiners Island and there was no sound. If there is no sound there is no friction indicating that there was no mass, or possibly no mass at the outside of the flying object. UFOs had also been seen in the area by individual witnesses. 30th March would be a very long and busy night.

Reheboth, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 30th March 1966. 8.20 pm. Several young couples driving west on Cedar Street suddenly saw a dark object carrying a horizontal bright light passing over the road ahead of them. The object barely cleared the telephone poles and landed in a wooded area. The pattern of lights moved from a horizontal to a vertical position, brightened and then dimmed to nothing and was reported to the Police. There was a large concentration of electrical power coming into a substation at the time and place of the sighting. A very long night especially in Massachusetts.

Reheboth, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 30th March 1966. 8.20 pm. Five people on Route 118 rounded a bend and saw a group of five lights hovering over the road at an altitude of 500 feet. There was a dim outline of a reflective metal oval seen behind the lights. As the car closed in the craft accelerated to a terrific speed from a dead standstill and vanished behind trees. There was a large concentration of electrical power coming into a substation at the time and place of the sighting. Various groups of people were seeing unusual lights in the sky as well as experiencing strange electrical fluctuations. Funny how there are electrical fluctuations quite often in the vicinity of Phenomenal activities.

Reheboth, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 30th March 1966. Late evening. After 8.20 pm the Postmaster at Reheboth and his wife saw strange lights approaching in the sky. The pulsating lights lay in a horizontal plane and were attached to one object at an altitude of 1,000 feet. There was also a strange whistling or humming noise and the lights were too brilliant to see the actual shape of the craft as it swung around in a broad arc into the southwest and vanished behind a hill a quarter of a mile away.

Gulf of Siam. 30th March 1966. It was still 30th March and on the other side of the world separate Merchant ships saw a Lightwheel on the sea. One of the ships saw a Lightwheel twice in one week and it was seen by three separate Merchant ships. Any connection to Reheboth or will we still allow for coincidence?

At 2.00am Jeno Udvardy was driving home near Vicksburg, Kalamazoo County, Michigan, on 31st March 1966, when he saw a cluster of bright lights ahead of him several hundred yards away on a straight level stretch of the highway. Thinking that there had been an accident he slowed down. When he was almost upon what he thought was an ambulance with its flashing lights he realized that the craft had no wheels or any other means of support. Jeno hit the brakes, stopping abruptly ten feet away from the object. In his headlights the craft had a smooth rounded dull grey undersurface that was hovering three to four feet above the ground. Details on the top were obscured by the bright lights on it. There was a steady very intense white light on the left, a red blinking light in the centre and a green blinking light on the right and above these was a purplish blinking light. Jeno backed away. The white light was now blinding him and the car felt buffeted by a strong wind. The next thing that he knew was that the UFO was hovering over the road behind him and that there was a low hum like a swarm of bees coming from it. He then noticed that his car had stalled. Just moments later the UFO rose abruptly, sped off at a steep angle and vanished to the east.

Ralston, Douglas County, Nebraska. 31st March 1966. Thursday. Roy Lamark,19, and several others were in a car when a black UFO collided with the roof of the moving car. The black UFO left a three foot dent in the hood and fender regions and was first seen six feet above the car. By 31st March the Phenomena were moving across the north of the United States. And they were not flying very accurately at all.

Hamilton, Perth County, Ontario, Canada. 31st March 1966. 9.15 pm. Charles Cozens,13, saw two objects descending. They were eight foot long by four foot wide by three foot high with blue and green flickering lights on the rim. The object made a buzzing sound and the light lit up the area. Charles touched the antenna on one which was hard and smooth and the same heat as body temperature. The antenna was thick at its base and narrowing at the top and a flash of electricity shot from it with a flash of light which knocked Charles backwards. Charles ran home. He had received a three inch curved burn on his hand as well as superficial cuts and scratches.

Trinity, Randolph County, North Carolina. March 1966. A group of people were in a car with trailer when a black UFO swooped down out of the sky and collided with the roof of the trailer being towed. The UFO ripped the metal stripping off the roofs edge before departing. How many learner UFO drivers with no apparent flying skills were around in the month of March? There was one sighting of a landed saucer having repairs done to it, two collisions with motorcars, one crashing into treetops and another UFO that sounded like it needed a tune-up and all in one month. In fact only the second half of the month.

Wichita, Sedgwick County, Kansas. March 1966. A landed UFO was seen. Something normal. Previously there had been a fall of fish also at Wichita, Kansas, in 1899 and in 1956 there was the spontaneous combustion of Mrs Olga Godfrey also in here in Wichita.

Brisbane, Queensland. Australia. March 1966. A landed UFO was seen. Meanwhile in the rest of the World all was pretty normal.

Harrow, Essex County, Ontario, Canada. March 1966. A landed UFO was seen.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. March 1966. The pupils and teachers in a High School saw a large metal disc hovering over the School. A door was open in it and inside it was a man with long hair and wearing a tight silvery suit. Even in Point Pleasant, West Virginia and Pecos, Texas and as far as San Francisco all was well with the world from coast tocoast .

Pecos, Reeves County, Texas. March 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. March 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it.

Alden, Erie County, New York. March 1966. A landed UFO was seen.

Pioneer Mountain, near Newport, Lincoln County, Oregon. March 1966. Kathy Reeves,16, saw three little stumps that walked across the pasture. They were of different colours being orange, lightblue, white, yellow, and watermelon coloured. Strange balls of light flitted from room to room in the Reeves home and other witnesses had seen giant humanoid figures with single eyes in the middle of their foreheads. Everything was as normal as things can be though in an allegedly abnormal World.

Dearborn, Wayne County, Michigan. 1st April 1966. Friday. John O'Donnell, Victor Golden and Larry Shortridge were in a car and chased a UFO in the sky. The craft was saucer shaped, had a light in the bottom and flourescent lights in the top of the dome and it gave them a bit of a merry chase and was seen to land behind some trees momentarily in Crowdley Park. The car radio was filled with static and the craft then rose and chased the John and his friends in the car. It was its turn! They were terrified. On investigation the area that the UFO landed was found to have burnt grass in a circle of twenty foot in diameter and appeared crushed. The ground was also dry as if a large heat source had been above it. The rest of the ground was soggy and damp as it had been raining. How does a random electrical action get to change direction and even appear to chase motor vehicles? How random is it?

On 3rd April 1966 two couples from Seattle were menaced by a large glowing UFO manouvering over their cabin on Whidbey Island. Donald Peterson got out and fired at the object to make it go away. Whidbey Island is in Island County in Washington State.

Bourkes Flat, or Burkes Flat, near Maryborough, Victoria, Australia. 4th April 1966. Monday. Ronald Sullivan was driving his car, nine miles east of Bealiba on the Wycheproofe Road heading for Maryborough. Mr Sullivan was on the Dunolly-Saint Arnaud Road when he noticed his headlights were bending and showing off an ice cream cone shaped column of light in a nearby field. The light was like a Rainbow. As the car passed the light the angle of the headlights became more acute and Mr Sullivan, thinking that his car was heading off the road to his right immediately compensated by turning left. He was now heading directly for a tree on the left side of the road. Mr Sullivan braked hard and avoided a crash. After this Sullivan witnessed a white phosphorescent types of light on the ground that appeared to be five metres in diameter. It opened up and there was another white oval on top of it about thirty feet in height. All the colours of the Rainbow were travelling up and down from the small oval to the bigger oval at the top. Gradually the top came down to meet the bottom. Everything then just vanished. There was nothing there. Three days later another driver, Gary Taylor, from Carnegie, ran off the side of the same piece of the road and was killed. The cause of the accident was unknown. A motorist behind Gary saw no reason at all for the accident in which the car swerved and seemed to be pulled into the tree. A saucer nest was found in the field. It was a circular impression 2.5 inches deep and five foot in diameter. Had the same UFO landed again and this time claimed a victim? Magnetism or hypnosis? Previously there had been falls of fire from the sky that set fire to houses at Boort and Wycheproof near here on 12th November 1902.

Clayton, Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. 6th April 1966. 11.00 am. A UFO rose up from behind trees at Westall High School. It was round, grey, flat-based and domed and was seen for twenty minutes. Five planes chased it around. The craft left a twenty-five to thirty foot in diameter ring in a field in medium high grass. The identity of the planes was unknown and none were reported landing or taking off. The UFO and the planes were seen by Schoolchildren and Teachers and when the planes buzzed the UFO it would tilt to 45 degrees and then move away. This was only two days after the Maryborough sighting.

Benzonia, Benzine County, Michigan. 7th April 1966. 7.40 pm. Sten Larson, a Schoolteacher, and his son Timothy Larson were in their car when they were buzzed by a UFO that was two car lengths long. There were two lights on the outer edges and the inside lights were green. The craft was noiseless except for a swishing noise. The craft could be superfast but also remained stationary for some time. Everything is normal as usual. The learner drivers are still at it. Previously there had been falls of fire from the sky around here at Manistee and Holland, both in Michigan, on 8th October 1871. In 1961 two youths in a car saw a strange glowing object land near Beulah, also in Benzine County.

On 8th April 1966 at 8.05 am two twelve year old boys were walking to school were delayed by nearly two hours by an eight foot wide object which dived at them ahd forced them to seek shelter under a bridge abutment. The boys, Mike Dorsey and Gary Hunt, were walking along Redcoat Road on the edge of Norwalk in Fairfield County in Connecticut when they spotted an object in the sky that was making the sound of buzzing bees. It was a dull metallic colour, saucer shaped and and had an antenna topped by a red light on its top. The boys hid behind trees and it floated above the trees to spot them and when they hid behind rocks it still managed to spot them. When they crawled under the bridge it tried to get to them actually getting within seven feet of them. It stayed for five minutes and left and after this there was a noise like a splash and the boys assumed that it had dropped into a nearby water tank or the nearby lake.

Elco, Alexander County, Illinois. 13th April 1966. Joseph Moad and his wife heard something disturbing the animals on their farm and turned on the floodlight. Then they saw shining eyes and heard a scream like a Panther and Joseph fired one shot at it. Pumas have been extinct in the area since the 1850s. Previously there had been Hairy Hominoid sightings here in the early 1940s and there had been a giant cat sighting here in 1963. Why do some areas have very few events over the period of our sightings yet some of reas have a plethora of events over the same period.

On 16th April 1966 Mrs. E. Wrobel of Hobart saw four convex shaped saucerlike objects hovering in a horizontal line over a hill. They were light pink in colour and one of them rose twenty feet above the others for a few moments before returning to its original position before changing to a bright green colour and disappearing at high speed.

Peabody, Essex County, Massachusetts. 17th April 1966. 7.45 pm. Four witnesses saw an oval object with a top central dome carrying, blue, green and white flashing lights that hovered over a School. The luminous object moved off rapidly with an up and down motion. Do UFOs like schools as such or Sports ovals? Every non-City school usually has one. You don't even have to build a stone circle?

Ravenna, between Randolph and Atwater, Portage County, Ohio. 17th April 1966. In the early morning Deputy Dale Spaur and Special Deputy W. Neff were in their Police Patrol Car number 13 on Route 224 when they found an abandoned car on the side of the road. It was a white 1959 Ford sedan and had an emblem on its side of a triangle with a bolt of lightning inside it. Words above the emblem were "Seven steps to Hell". Inside the car was crammed with walkie-talkies and radio equipment. Spaur then hears a hum and sees a huge saucer rising up out of the woods. There was a purplish white light coming from underside and it was now across the Highway. Both witnesses were now paralysed and the UFO was 150 feet up. Heat came from it as well as light that was so intense tears were coming from the witnesses' eyes. Dale and his partner escaped back to the car but they cannot shoot the craft which they saw was 40 feet across, twenty feet high and had a large dome on top. There was an antenna on the side. The witnesses radioed their base as the UFO took off to the east. The witnesses followed in the patrolcar but had to stop the patrol car an at intersection. Oddly enough the craft waited. The chase then resumed at speeds up to 100 miles per hour. The craft then suddenly vanished and then reappeared behind the witnesses, overtook them and took off again. At dawn the patrol car ran out of gas and the chase had gone on for 86 miles, almost to Pittsburg in Pennsylvania. The craft was photographed by Police Chief Gerald Burchet of Mantua, Ohio. Other witnesses included Police Officers Wayne Wilson of Palestine, Ohio, and Police Patrolman Frank Panzarella of Conway, Pennsylvania. There were also hundreds of individual witnesses. An abandoned car crammed full of radio equipment and a strange insignia on it? An 86 mile car chase with hundreds of witnesses? Is there a connection? Had somebody already been investigating the odd aerial craft? Amateurs or professionals?

Mantua, Portage County, Ohio. 17th April 1966. Early morning. Police Chief Gerald Burchet photographed the same object seen over Ravenna. Even highly regarded witnesses with cameras and without cameras.

Palestine, Darke County, Ohio. 17th April 1966. Early morning. Police Officer Wayne Wilson saw the hovering UFO that had been seen over Ravenna and Mantua.

Conway, Beaver County, Pennsylvania. 17th April 1966. Early morning. Police Patrolman Frank Panzarella saw the hovering UFO over Conway. The Police don't see them?

Peabody, Essex County, Massachusetts. 17th April 1966. At 7.30 pm that night four witnesses saw a bright glowing object that was zigzagging in the sky and suddenly darted away over Peabody.

Lake Quannapowitt, near Wakefield, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 17th April 1966. At 8.30 pm an oval craft making a humming noise was seen that shot off beams of white then blue then red light. The craft moved rapidly with an up and down motion and at times a green light could be seen. Then the craft descended to fifty feet above Lake Quannapowitt. Meanwhile all is normal in this part of Massachusetts which with two adjoining areas totalling 93 Phenomenal reports makes it a very active Phenomenal area indeed.

Hartford, Hartford County, Connecticut. 19th April 1966. 8.11 pm. Two witnesses saw two oval shaped objects carrying green lights hovering directly over the Rocky Hill Veterans Home and Hospital. Connecticut is lagging behind whilst Massachusetts is racing ahead.

Bellingham, Norfolk County, Massachusetts. 19th April 1966.10.00 pm. Two witnesses sighted an elongated oval craft with bright lights on each end that hovered before descending into the woods. The craft made a hissing noise. Shortly after five aircraft and a helicopter flew over the area whilst two of the aircraft circled the area.

Peabody, Essex County, Massachusetts. 19th April 1966. Midnight. Five witnesses saw an oval shaped craft the size of a car. The craft carried red, green and white lights and moved with an up and down motion and appeared to land. Later two other individual witnesses saw lights rise from and leave the same field. Nothing special but incredible quantity.

Quincy, Norfolk County, Massachusetts. 19th April 1966. Just before Midnight a landed UFO was seen. How do some places like Massachusetts have a plethora of reports whilst other places have almost nil?

Westby, Vernon County, Wisconsin. 21st April 1966. An eerie light followed Mrs Burl Burns home. It slowed when she slowed her car and sped up when she sped up. At one time the object caused the car interior to light up. When Mrs Burns arrived home the craft swooped her house and went east. Mrs Burns and her family watched it through binoculars for an hour. It was shaped like a disc with a dome on top. The family's Police dog barked nervously and seemed frightened. There was no sound from the object. This was the first of two phenomenal events in this particular latitude and longitude.

Dorchester, Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts. 24th April 1966. Five witnesses saw an oval humming domed object the size of a car that was encircled with lights. The luminous object hit and shook a building and when this occurred there was a concurrent blackout. Burned cable was now found near a very obvious flight path. The trainees are still attempting to fly or are their landing coordinates a little bit out?

Auburn, Cayuga County, New York. 24th April 1966. Sunday. Mrs Viola Swartwood was in her car when a UFO buzzed it. This sent an electrical shock through the right side of the driver's body that was so powerful that it required Hospital treatment but there were no burns. Now our UFOs have headed for New York State where apart from shocking people they are leaving the most unlikely objects behind.

Hector, near Watkins Glen, Schuyler County, New York State. 25th April 1966. Monday. 8.15 pm. A bright UFO flew over the area and rocks in the field that it flew over felt warm and funny after this. The rocks were only found after the craft or whatever had flown over. Two witnesses were in the field at the time. The rocks were passed on to the local Police. Indeed we have had two very odd Falls here before. One of Angelhair at Horseheads in Chemung County in 1955 and the other of a cardboard-like substance over Elmira also in Chemung County in 1956. Incredible coincidence?

Also on 25th April 1966 a police officer at Syracuse in Onondaga County in New York State saw a circular car-sized object hovering near the Thornden Park water tower. He had seen another object earlier that had come from the south. This object appeared cloudlike and the second one had also come from the south and dropped at a fortyfive degree angle, was bluish-green in colour and trailing white sparks. There were lights in the domed top. It had stopped and hovered three feet above the road leading to the water tower and after five to ten seconds it rose vanished back to the south.

Towanda, Bradford County, Pennsylvania. 25th April 1966. Monday. Mr. Robert W. Martz and a friend were in a car when a hovering UFO was seen to go overhead. Suddenly the car engine stalled and the headlights went out and there was a strange wave of heat. The two men in the car watched an awesome huge flaming body which lit up the whole area for a few seconds. They also had a second view of a dark object with dim light in its four portholes. Then darkness. The craft was going at terrific speed and had previously been seen over New York City and Baltimore, Maryland the same day. In these sightings it resembled a Roman candle. The object had stayed 250 feet ahead of and above the car. Another well-witnessed UFO, the same as over Ohio only eight days before.

Baltimore, Maryland. 25th April 1966. Monday. A UFO was in the sky that resembled a Roman candle. There were many witnesses of a blazing aerial Roman candle.

New York City, New York State. 25th April 1966. Monday. A UFO was in the sky that resembled a Roman candle. There were many witnesses of it soaring through the sky.

Merrill, Saginaw County, Michigan. 25th April 1966. Monday. Mrs Charles F. Jones and her Grandson were in a car when they were both nearly blinded by a Volkswagen-sized UFO that flashed a very bright light at her. The UFO then vanished behind some trees and resembled a triangle with a stubby nose and no wings and driving was getting dangerous. There had previously been a sighting of a hairy Monster that climbed up out of the Saginaw River in Saginaw County in 1937 near here causing the witness to have a nervous breakdown. Nothing else.

Upland, Delaware County, Pennsylvania. 25th April 1966. Monday. A group of boys at a Salvation Army Camp saw a strange blue light descending into the woods. There was a strong smell of burning rubber and the luminous object was two foot long by one foot high by one foot wide. John Wesley Bloom first to see it land and was temporarily blinded. The boys faces became puffy and sore and their eyes were swollen and crimson blotches came up on their cheeks. After reaching the Earth the object had continued to burn and by morning the object was a charred mass. The searchers found small coal-like lumps on the ground where it had landed. There were dozens of witnesses. Bloom had claimed that something had got into his eyes. Was it the Roman candle like object that had been seen over Maryland and New York that same night?

Tashkhent, Uzbekistan. 26th April 1966. Tuesday. 5.26 am. Thousands of witnesses, all of the City. An earthquake struck the city and levelled most of it. There was a brilliant flash of light, a loud rumble and then another blinding flash. Both flashes lasted a few seconds and lit up the area like day. Then the earthquake struck.100 people were killed and 200,000 were left homeless. At the same time there were strange glowing spheres like lighted balloons floating through the air. At the same time, but a day earlier on the eastern Seaboard of the United States, a bright light had come down from Canada and headed south. There were millions of witnesses. Oddly enough though it was the day before in fact it was the same time as the earthquake strike in Uzbekistan allowing for the International time zones. What was the connection? What was the connection if any? Can some energy forces allowing for the diversion around Time and Space via the Quasar Vacuum also allow for a detour around matter as well? The energy beam or wave actually continues travelling through the Earth itself? Is this similar to how we expect non-matter to collide or are we looking at a whole new realm of physics?

Beverly, Essex County, Massachusetts. 26th April 1966. 9.00 pm. Nancy Moducino,11 years old, had burst into the room where her father was watching T.V. Nancy claimed that an oval football-shaped object the size of a car flashing blue, green, white and red lights had flown past her bedroom window. Brenda Marie and Barbara Smith arrived. Nancy was hysterical.there were lights flashing from the schoolfields and two women, Barbara and Brenda, and Claire Moducino, Nancy's mother, went down to look so as to assure Nancy it was only aircraft. The witnesses saw three brilliant objects flying in circles around the sky. One hovered over the schoolbuilding and suddenly the nearest craft swooped towards the witnesses. Claire and Barbara ran. Not Brenda who was screaming and covering her face with her hands. The UFO was hovering twenty feet above her. Later the group went back to the school and there were more individual witnesses. Also two Police Officers, Police Officer Bossie and Police Officer Mahon in their Patrol Car. Two planes and helicopter were also seen. A School again? As well as Schoolboys?

Alanson, Emmet County, Michigan. April 1966. A landed UFO was seen here. At least now we are back to normal.

Lancaster, Fairfield County, Ohio. April 1966. Another landed UFO was also seen here as well as in Yorktown, Page County, Iowa and Stonington, Delta County, Michigan.

Liberty, Montgomery County, Kansas. April 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it.

Denver, Denver County, Colorado. April 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it. Even if we have to allow for a few extra Hominoids, but they are getting pretty normal too.

Mansfield, Richland County, Ohio. April 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it.

Rath House, Drogheda, County Louth, Ireland. April 1966. Spring. Margaret Johnston and her boyfriend John were driving in a car one night when suddenly he braked hard as a strange horse loomed up before them. Margaret was thrown back on the seat and was so frightened she was paralysed. The animal had a horses body but a leering hairy huge face. The creature stretched right across the road and completely blocked the car for two minutes and then suddenly vanished. John quickly swung the car around and drove to Margaret's home one mile away. They were so frightened that they drove through the closed gate and knocked it off its hinges. A leering, hairy headed horse? Was it a waterhorse?

Sinclairville, Chatauqua County, New York. April 1966. Sunday. 8.30 pm. Robert Howard and a group of friends saw a twelve foot diameter light flying on its edge land in a Swamp. The light was saucer shaped and was beaming a brilliant white tube of light into the woods. As Robert Howard approached it the light bobbed up to the right and took off over the treetops. Later his right eye became puffy, bloodshot and watery. Was this a form of Klieg Conjunctivitis? Quite a few people have Conjunctivitis-like reactions to Phenomena. There had been seven other phenomenal events to occur around here. In August and September 1910, a cigar shaped balloon was seen over Lake Erie near Dunkirk, in 1942 a crocodilian waskilled in Lake Mindowaskin, in 1954 a young couple chased a UFO near Ridgeway until the UFO decided to chase them instead, whereupon their car stopped working until the craft had left, in December 1963, a glowing light crashed into Lake Erie near Dunkirk, in 1965 a hovering silver saucer disturbed farm animals at Cherry Creek and finally, incidentally also in 1965, a very tall Hairy Hominoid with a long tail was seen near Sherman. Then nothing, as usual, was seen again.

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida, near Weeki Wachi Springs. April 1966. Mrs Eula Lewis heard her dogs barking one night and saw a big Hairy Hominoid in her yard that chased her into her house. The creature had a roundish head and shoulders and was swinging its arms as the dogs were yapping and trying to get at it. Eventually it went into the woods with the dogs still chasing it.

Many local residents were disturbed by shrill screaming sounds at night. Eula had seen it before in 1964. There had been no other sightings in the area though before 1964.

Near Trinity Alps north of Weaversville in Trinity County in California in April 1966 a group of campers saw a Bigfoot several times. At times the creature watched the group, threw rubbish bins around and eventually took food left out for it. If they had stayed long enough could they have tamed it? The group were Nick Campbell, Larry Browning, Bill Combe and Frank Magnussen.

Woodstock, Greene County, New York. April 1966. Spring. Strange greenish lights six feet in diameter were shining from fields and would occasionally fly off to investigate passing cars. The lights emitted whining noises and there was also a poltergeist attack and problems with the T.V. There was a strange sound over the house as well as an oscillating noise inside the house. There were also invisible jabbering sounds like voices as well as odd telepathic messages and visions. Telephones went haywire. There were several individual witnesses as well as the activity focussed family. Some areas are very busy and some areas that are nearby are relatively speaking so quiet as to be dead.

Tamiami Trail, Dade County, near Miami, Florida. Everglades. 6th May 1966. It was morning when William Karelas was driving his car when a large UFO raced the car at high speeds up to 120 miles per hour the craft was 100 feet long and made no noise, just a whooshing sound. We expect a Hairy Hominoid here like the legendary Skunk ape. He’s not here yet. We’ve only had a gigantic bird here in 1961 and now a UFO.

Marisela, Caracas, Venezuela. 10th May 1966. Several men saw UFO taking off from the sea and two entities emerged in light beams and examined things including plants through instruments. Their belts sent out rays of light. Venezuela has not been left out though it has been quiet lately.

Morristown, Morris County, New Jersey. 21st May 1966. Raymond Todd and three friends were parked in a car in the Morristown Historical Park when they saw a seven foot tall faceless entity ambling across the lawn. The creature had huge shoulders and was black and hairy and had scaly skin and was walking erect though with a stiff rocking motion. It was not a bear. The four witnesses drove to the park entrance where they warned people about the monster lurking inside. Raymond Todd, one of the witnesses, caught a ride with a young lady who told him that she had encountered the same monster the previous year in the same area when she and several friends were in a car parked in the area late at night. The huge broadshouldered something had loomed up in their rear window and thumped on the back of the car. This particular Hominoid had been first seen in 1965 where it was surprising courting couples in lovers lanes. Some researchers speculate that the Alien animals and especially the Hominoids are attracted by the scents produced by courting couples and menstruating women. What were the four friends up to?

Back in Corndale in New South Wales in Australia on 25th May 1966 between 9.30 pm and 10.00 pm Mrs. Jim Fairfull saw a stationary object hanging in the sky above the trees near Corndale. She was driving with her husband at the time home to Caniaba.

Sault Saint Marie, Algoma County, Ontario, Canada. May 1966. A landed UFO was seen. Average.

Coonalpyn, South Australia. June 1966. 2.00 am. A farmer investigated a glow on a hilltop. It was a ten metre oval, white blue in colour. The light followed the witness before vanishing soundlessly.

On 4th June 1966 at 8.00 pm Constables E. Mercer and P. Woodman were sitting in Grafton Police Station when a man called stating that there was a funny thing in the sky. The two policeman went outside and saw a bright object hovering over the town and they looked at it through binoculars as it began moving to the south at slow speed. By now the police switchboard was jammed with calls and the constables got into their police car and followed the light across the town. The object travelled at 1,500 feet above the ground and its colour changed from white to red and then back to white. After two hours the light moved off at high speed and disappeared. Also on 4th June 1966 at Lismore, eighty miles from Grafton, the Police at Lismore reported seeing the bright light hovering over Grafton and stated that it had been sighted in the area five times within a fortnight. From Lismore the object looked like a great multicoloured disc.

Kingston, South Australia. 8th June 1966. A brilliant object was seen hovering over a vehicle for twenty minutes. The luminous object had a white spotlight with a light on top of it. Two icecream truck drivers were the witnesses. Were the UFOs or their alleged occupants hungry? A dome-top after a choc-top?

Westport, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 11th June 1966. The witness in a car saw an oval object like two plates placed one on top of the other ahead of him. The object swooped the car and then hovered ahead over the road. There was a central dome on top and white, yellow, blue and green lights flashed around the circumference. Ho-hum.

Aveyron, mid-Pyrenees, France. 15th June 1966. A woman, 76, in an isolated farmhouse looked out of a south facing window and saw unusual fires outside. These fires frightened the witness. The fires moved about and hovered over the vineyard. The woman called her son-in-law to see. The fiery object was spherical and had a deliberate motion as it crossed the fields. The son-in-law saw the objects rounded on top but flattened underneath then they suddenly vanished on the spot as if controlled by a switch. At one point there were six of them. They had been less than a mile away and moved in one line at slow speed. They then entered a larger luminous object like a fiery tree or an illuminated shell and everything then vanished. Tedious to the point of repetitious boredom. What was once regarded as a laughable and rarely happening occurrence is happening so often that it is often now disregarded due to its banality and repetition. There had now been over 1791 UFO reports singular enough to be listed since 1800.

Georgetown, Halton County, Ontario, Canada. 17th June 1966. Friday. The witnesses were in separate cars. The first car was swooped upon by a bright round silver object with a long light coloured tail. This object sprayed a chemical onto the car that set like concrete and made transparent chemical blisters on the roof. Another car saw this and stopped as well. Was it a machine or a creature of totally unknown composition to us? Had we just been mated with? Are our vehicles regarded as sentient entities, namely living things? Is this why there is such a fascination with our machines and metallic structures? Are we, the passengers actually invisible to the occupants of flying UFOs due to our differing time scales? For example if we were to look at frames of a movie and we were only to look at every tenth frame or some such, we would then lose a lot of detail such as the humans inside the car and not the car apparently moving around on its own.

Nha Trang, Vietnam. 19th June 1966. A sudden bright light appeared over Nha Trang Air Base. The assembled troops thought that it was a flare but it was not. The light was moving from real slow to real fast at an altitude of 25,000 feet. Then the light suddenly dropped down towards the witnesses who were 40,000 Army personnel. The UFO then stopped 300 feet up and lit up everything. Then the light descended vertically and the base generator stopped as well as the generators at the Airbase half a mile away. So did the engines of two planes taxiing to take off. No vehicles ran for four minutes including eight bulldozers cutting roads. There were no lights. A Shell tanker ship offshore had also lost power. The North Vietnamese did not have weapons capable of doing things like this. Neither did the Russians or the Chinese. But someone did. What sort of energy sucker was at work.

Also on 19th June 1966 Mr. H. Lewish of Currumbin in Queensland in Australia saw a strange light in the sky but did not pay much attention to it. Later at 3.00 am Mr. Lewish then saw a white light about the size of a torch light about one hundred yards away. There appeared to be rays of light coming from it and it lost altitude quickly then moved from east to west. He then called his wife and they watched the light which was almost directly above them and moving slowly up and down for half an hour. That same night at 11.30 pm he saw the light travelling from east to west again though this time it did a high loop in the sky and then began travelling back towards the east. The light turned red as it disappeared behind some trees.

Lake Menindee, New South Wales, Australia 23rd June 1966. Thursday. Noon. Four adult witnesses. Nothing visible had been seen on the surface of Lake Menindee. Suddenly a loud splash was heard and a UFO was seen rising up diagonally from the lake before it vanished in only a few seconds. What rises up out of shallow inland lakes? Many of Australia's lakes are so shallow that it is unusual at times for them to have water in them for much of the year.

Alfred, Prescott County, Ontario, Canada. 24th June 1966. Friday. Mr. R J. Revers shot and killed a black flying cat that had hairy wings on its back and could glide fifty to 60 feet after a running start. The cat had been terrorising wild animals and family pets and had been chasing the neighbours cat when shot. The cat also had needle-sharp fangs and a wingspan of 14 inches and weighed ten pounds. The town had been terrorised for weeks and others had seen it as well. Where had Canada's flying pussies come from? There were several Canadian flying pussy reports in 1966. One was shot at Lachute, Argenteuil County, Quebec, and the other in Ottawa, Carleton County, Ontario. There were no others ever reported before or after. Just a sudden flurry of flying pussies. Absurd but reported.

At 3.30am on 24th June 1966 Patrolman William L. Stevens Jnr was cruising near the intersection of Laburnum Avenue and Meadowbridge Road in Richmond, Virginia, when he noticed some lights hanging low in the sky. He approached to investigate, leaned out of the car window to make sure he was not being misled by a reflection and saw a light coloured dirigable-shaped object with a string of alternating yellow and white lights along the edge.When he tried to get closer the UFO started moving away, stopping until he caught up and then taking off again. Soon Stevens was chasing the UFO at more than one hundred miles per hour on the Richmond-Henrico Turnpike running generally northeast out of the city. The UFO kept ahead of him following evey twist and turn of the road until finally it sped up and went out of sight in the distance in five seconds. The chase had lasted ten to fifteen minutes and Stevens had radioed for assistance but by the time help could arrive the UFO had gone. The sighting was confirmed by two Henrico County officers and a few citizens of Richmond.

At 8.30 pm on 24th June 1966 hundreds of residents of Rochester in Monroe County in New York State saw a silver pipelike object which spun across the sky for fifteen minutes at an altitude of one hundred and fifty feet. The object seemed to be fifteen feet long and two feet thick and it had blue and white lights and resembled two saucers fastened together.

Ravenna, between Randolph and Atwater, Portage County, Ohio. June 1966. Deputy Dale Spaur was alone in his Patrolcar on Interstate 80 when he saw a hovering UFO. Dale radioed in and soon quit the force. Dale Spaur had a personality change and eventually disappeared. Dale never recovered from the original Ravenna sighting earlier that year.

North Parramatta, New South Wales.Australia. June 1966. Friday. It was the night of the Queen's Birthday Weekend and the children in a boys home were sent to bed early at 6.30 pm so as to be rested for the fireworks the following night. At 8.00 pm a boy and his room-mate heard a humming sound outside the second floor window and their initial reaction was one of sheer terror. They huddled together under a bed and the humming continued.After ten minutes the boys peeked out of an open window. It was a clear night and the moon and stars were quite visible. For the next thirty minutes the boys stared in awe at a hovering UFO to the northeast that was hovering fifty metres from the ground. The luminous object was cigar shaped, made a pinging noise and had a red light on top. Suddenly the humming sound became louder, the brightness increased and it shot off like a bullet and suddenly stopped over the boys home, then descended behind some nearby trees. Next morning several boys were sent out to collect firewood for the Bonfire and the boy and his mates made their way to the landing spot. Trees had broken branches as if something had pushed them down from above and the grass underneath was flattened in a ten metre diameter circle. Whilst the surrounding grass was covered in frost the circular patch was quite warm. Very unusual for a frost in Parramatta being on the coast.

Lough Attarif, County Cork, Ireland. June 1966. Mr W. J. Wood was fishing on Lough Attarif when a long dark brown object with glittering eyes surfaced 100 yards away. The lakemonster faced the witness and had a head like a well-grown calf. The eyes were almost at the waterline and the body was ten feet long. Previously there had been a sighting of a longnecked Seamonster in Cobh Harbour in 1907 and beforethat several sightings of a seamonster in the Bay of Kinsale in 1850.

Guildford, near Worplesden, Surrey, England. 4th July 1966. Monday. Inspector Eric Bourn, 55, of the Special Constabulary watched a gigantic cat from his garden 100 yards away. A Post Office Engineer walking twenty yards away yelled out “Look at that Puma!". A giant cat like a Puma was seen stalking and killing a rabbit and was watched for twenty minutes and followed for half a mile. The creature was shot at but missed though it was the size of a Labrador dog with a catlike face. Motorcycle Policeman Robin Young arrived after Mr Bourn had rung him. The cat had ginger brown coloured fur and had a long tail with a white tip on its end. Tiddles is still back.Casually wandering through one of the most densely populated countries on Earth and disappearing whenever she wanted to.

Norfolk, Madison County, Nebraska. 5th July 1966. 10.00 pm. Four witnesses saw a large octagon shaped object with coloured lights that dimmed and brightened swooped twice over a field and then went back into the air.

Muskegon, Muskegon County, Michigan. 6th July 1966. 11.00 pm. A green object with a long white tail in the sky was seen travelling horizontally from east to west. There were many witnesses including the Police.

Moltema, Tasmania. Australia. July 1966. 11.15 pm. A UFO was pacing a person named Stephens and his passenger in the same car travelling from Dunorian. Mr. Stephens saw a flying object over the hills to the east and it travelled quickly to get to them. Both witnesses in the car were being paced by the hovering UFO. The UFO made no sound, was ballshaped and heading north and at times was only three metres away from them. It was red, round and soundless and six to ten metres off the ground and was the size of a large model car's tail-light in the sky. The luminous object then vanished to the north.

Ashtabula, Ashtabula County, Ohio. 11th July 1966. 10.00 pm. A round blue object was observed hovering over Lake Erie and appeared to be facing Michigan. The craft seemed to be a round ball of bright blue light with an outer rim of pale gold as well as a long tail. the luminous object descended westward.

Muny Park, near Cozad, Dawson County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. 10.10 pm. Scores of people saw a very bright object with multicoloured smaller Stars trailing it that was travelling southwards from the northwest. Nebraska had been so quite over the years and now was having a little flap of its own.

Monmouth, Warren County, Illinois. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm. The Sheriff was sitting in front of his Police Station when he saw a fiery orange ball arcing across the sky toward the northeast. The same item as seen over Nebraska?

Galesburg, Knox County, Illinois. 13th July 1966. After Monmouth. A woman and her three children were driving along the U. S. Highway 34 bypass when she saw a green light skirting the treetops. The light had a white coloured fire burning from it and dived towards the ground in the northeast. She thought it was a plane crash and rang the Sheriff who went to Monmouth Park but found nothing. There were eight other individual witnesses of the same event. The luminous object was a green object with a ring around it that trailed a short tail. July13th was off to a good start. Previously in this area there had been a fall of fire from the sky over Brown County, Illinois, in 1871, the same day as the great Chicago fire, in April 1897, a grimy letter written in code and addressed to Thomas Edison was found attached to a reed after an Airship had flown over a farm near Astoria, Illinois, in mid-afternoon, in 1946 at Havana between Canton and Lincoln, Illinois, a ball of fire that filled up the entire roadway one mile ahead of the witnesses in their vehicle and proceeded rapidly towards them forcing them to abandon their vehicle was seen, the same day as another energy ball sighting at Mason City, also in Illinois, and the same day as Galesburg a fiery orange ball was seen heading northeast over Monmouth, Illinois.

Brewster, Blaine County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. A newsman saw an object the size of a basketball. It had a white fore end and changed colours going from blue to green and trailing a long tail. There were several witnesses of something unusual.

York, York County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. Several witnesses saw a round, green object in the sky.

Pleasanton, Buffalo County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. Witnesses saw a bright, whitish-yellow light. It was obviously not flying high enough to be seen from further away.

Arcadia, Valley County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object was seen hurtling across the sky heading southwest to the southeast. People driving near the town saw a flashing light and heard strange explosions coming from the sky. The luminous aerial object was travelling in a beeline heading southwest to the southeast.

North Loup, Valley County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object was seen hurtling across the sky.

Scotia, Greeley County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object was seen hurtling across the sky heading southwest to the southeast. One witness said it was round like a basketball with a brilliant band of orange light around it. The light crossed the southern sky and was visible for thirty seconds.

Ord, Valley County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object hurtled across the sky heading southwest to the southeast. And was seen by many. If the blazing aerial object was seen heading northeast from Galesburg, Illinois, and southeast of Scotia, Nebraska, then there must have actually been two of them at least. One aerial object as far as we know cannot be in two positions relative to the Earth at the same time as it passes over it.

Burwell, Garfield County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object was seen hurtling across the sky heading southwest to the southeast. Over and over again. No one saw where it went to though.

Comstock, Custer County, Nebraska. 13th July 1966. After 10.10 pm a blazing object was seen hurtling across the sky heading from southwest to the southeast. No, I cannot make it more interesting. It is boring but it is all that it is.

Richmond, Lulu Island, Vancouver County, British Columbia, Canada. 14th July 1966. Don Gilmore saw a big woolly bigfoot-like animal stampede one hundred cattle on the Number eight Road. The creature was manlike. Had we met him before in the same area? Only once! Along with several Seamonsters, Airships and an earthquake but up until now very few Hairy Hominoids here. Why the sudden bursts of activity?

Lachaud, Correze, France. 15th July 1966. A farmer in a field heard a bang and then felt a sticky dust settle on him. The dust gave him second degree burns on his arms, hands and face as well as giddiness, sight problems and anaemia. A fall of burning matter? Previously there had been UFO sightings in the area in 1947 and in 1954.

Hope Valley, South Australia. 18th July 1966.10.30 pm. A large white light was seen to take off at great speed from where it had landed on the edge of a Reservoir. They still love lakes and reservoirs.

Near Richmond, Lulu Island, Vancouver County, British Columbia, Canada. 21st July 1966. Thursday. John Osborne, a commercial artist, at the foot of Number three Road saw a Hairy Hominoid that was six foot eight inches to seven feet tall. The manbeast was seen for ten to fifteen seconds in the woods. It left no footprints. Now you don't see them and now you do. Don Gilmore saw a Hairy Hominoid here, the first ever reported in the area, only one week before. Was it new to the area?

On that same day and also near Richmond, Lulu Island, Vancouver County, British Columbia, Canada,on 21st July 1966 Darlene sheaf saw the head and shoulders of a Bigfoot standing above six foot tall raspberry bushes at night.

The following day on 22nd July 1966 and on the Fraser River near Richmond, still on Lulu Island, John McKernan was in a car when he saw a Bigfoot cross a dirt road.

Montsoreau, Maine-et-Loire, France. 28th July 1966. Thursday. Evening. Mr and Mrs Lacoste were out walking when they suddenly saw a red sphere cross the sky like a Meteor. The luminous object seemed to touch the ground and then rise again and hovered at mid-height for several minutes. The light from the sphere was so intense it lit up all of the countryside and the witnesses got to 400 yards from it. On the farm of Alain Rouillet a nine square yard area was found flattened and covered with a yellowish substance. An oily substance covered the wheatcrop. Ho-hum. Previously there had been a UFO and Hominoid sighted on 14th October 1954. near Meral where the witness was covered with a paraffin wax like substance produced by a strange fog. On 8th November 1954 at La Tessoualle the witness in a car was swooped by a blue light wherein he became temporarily inarticulate, paralysed and had pricklings in his fingers. The car had also been rendered immobile.

Erie, Erie County, Pennsylvania. 30th July 1966. Police found tracks at the beach similar to those found at Lake Erie the following day. Something eerie was wandering around Erie and leaving odd spoor that made people sick.

Erie, Erie County, Pennsylvania. 31st July 1966. Police found tracks near Lake Erie similar to those found at the beach the previous day. A strange liquid was also found that formed puddles but did not soak into the sand. A Policeman took a sample and fell ill shortly after.

Presque Isle Park, Erie County, Pennsylvania, Lake Erie. 31st July 1966. Sunday. Douglas J. Tibbets,19, Betty Jean Klein,16, Anita Haifley, 22, and Gerald La Belle were parked in a car. They saw a UFO as big as a house that landed on the beach. The ground shook on landing. The mushroom-shaped craft had rows of lights on it and it made a buzzing noise like a telephone receiver. It was sweeping the beach with rays of light as if looking for something. A Patrol Car arrived lights flashing with Police Patrolmen Robert Loeb Junior and Police Patrolman Ralph E. Clark in it. The lights on the UFO went out. Mrs Anita Happey, 20, with her two young children in a bogged car was honking the car horn in terror and crying. She had seen a Hominoid from the UFO that was six feet tall and with no neck and Anita had heard scratching on her roof. A quantity of Silicone was found at the landing site as well as a strange liquid that was taken away by the Airforce. All who came in contact with the fluid became violently ill shortly afterwards. The Hominoid was described as tall and dark. In the morning a number of triangular impressions were found as well as skid marks on the beach. As well there were tracks of clawlike marks from the landing site to twelve feet from the bogged car which were six feet apart. Later in the day similar imprints were found leading down to the water's edge. These were found by Police Officer Paul Wilson and Police Officer J. Robert Canfield on Beach Seven. Modern mythology or nightmare come to life? Once again the fascination with courting couples. It seems as if when a Monster shows up, especially of the Hominoid variety, there is hanky-panky going on somewhere close.

Glacier National Park, Glacier County, Montana. July 1966. Brilliant fastmoving lights were seen that passed from the northwest to the southeast. There were many individual witnesses. We shall all now sleep for a while.

Ovalle, Chile. July 1966. A landed was UFO seen. Zzzzzzzzzzzzzzz.

Old Saybrook, Middlesex County, Connecticut. July 1966. Dusk. A group of teenaged boys was having an outing when they saw a hovering UFO rimmed with blinking lights that had fluttered into view at treetop height and then stopped over the clearing that the boys were standing in. One of the boys wanted to run home to get his .22 rifle but then thought better of it. The object floated in the air like a cork in water and seemed to be observing the witnesses for at least five minutes. After this it took off after turning a pearly-grey colour. Now they were visiting Old Saybrook.

Old Saybrook, Middlesex County, Connecticut. July 1966. A woman in a car noticed a light in her rearview mirror as she pulled into her garage. There was a strange, luminous blue lightsource hovering above her garage and the tiny egg-shaped object was emmitting light. It was football sized and fuzzy around the edges and hovered, darted and swooped though it seemed to be observing the witness at the same time. The light took off after a few minutes. Were they tourists? Was it a drone?

Between the Pennsylvania Turnpike and Poconos, Monroe County, Pennsylvania. July 1966. Near Allentown. A young couple in a car were on their way to the Poconos and were driving along a fairly deserted road when they saw a hovering UFO overhead. It seemed as if it was going to directly land in front of them. The husband pulled his car over to the side of the road. The UFO stopped and swooped low over the car. The husband started the car again and they continued to the Poconos. Later when the witnesses looked at their watches they discovered that it had taken them four hours to make the thirty minute journey. Were they in Love? Emmitting pheromones or electromagnetic signalling that UFOs just cannot resist? Previously there had been the sudden and unexplained lifting and carrying of two men through the air by an invisible force in Wilkes-Barre in 1891, cloudless rain over Carbondale several times in 1922 and the fall of a silvery cigar into Harvey Lake in 1956 after it had been seen flying around for a while. Amongst other things.

La Feria, Cameron County, Texas. July 1966. Hundreds of the curious and faithful came to observe water that had started pouring out of a knot hole twenty feet up an Acacia tree. It was recorded to have lost six gallons in one twelve hour period. The tree soon became an object of pilgrimage with healing powers attributed to the water. A religious miracle?

Haverhill, Essex County, Massachusetts. July 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it.

ZZZZZZZZZZZZZ

Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. July 1966. A youth driving in town at night saw a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid that was standing on the road ahead. The witness braked and stopped and the car died. The Hairy Hominoid just stood there looking at the witness through the windscreen, walked around behind the car and then turned around and came back to the drivers window and just bent over and looked at the witness again and then left. The car started again and the witness sped off. UFOs if they are primarily electromagnetic fields probably can stop cars. But Hairy Hominoids? This is not an isolated case though. We have met it happening before. If we have just wandered through from the other side then we may carry exceptionally strong electromagnetic fields as a consequence of travelling through the Quasar Vacuum. This would help explain the strong electromagnetic reactions to many Phenomena.

Near White Rock not far from Richmond in British Columbia in Canada during July 1966 Mr. Letoul saw a light coloured Bigfoot come up to his house and start fooling around in the moonlight.

Jessore,Bangladesh, Ganges River. July 1966. There were many witnesses of a huge hairy thing that was not a bear that killed four people. The Army was called out. The creature seemed like a hairy giant Human. A homicidal Yeti on the loose? Previously there had been a rain of mud from a clear sky here in 1897.

San Diego, San Diego County, California. July 1966. Five witnesses in a car and around it. A six foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen ransacking the car of the five witnesses. The other Hairy Hominoid was nonchalantly sitting on the side of the road. They were Hominoids, not bears, and had long hair. The first tried to reach into the car window as they drove past later. This is our first Hairy Hominoid report for this area though local mythology referred to Bushbeasts further north near San Bernadino where disappearences of children are more the norm.

Lytle Creek, San Bernadino County, California, near Fontana. July 1966. Several boys saw an apelike creature in the woods and one boy claimed to have his clothes torn as well as his skin scratched by it. Called a Bush-Beast by the locals. Speak of the Devil?

Llano, Taos County, New Mexico. Santa Barbara Valley. July 1966. 4.30 pm. There were hundreds of local witnesses including Police and others including Mrs Jane Quintan and her husband Alfares Quintan. Around 4.30 pm every afternoon for several weeks rocks commenced to fall down from the sky onto an adobe house high on a slope overlooking the valley. There were no concealed areas nearby and the happening was seriously investigated by State and local Police. Shots were even fired at the probable sources but it did not stop the showers. Meanwhile in New Mexico nothing much was happening in this state where falling rocks are not a rarity. There had been another fall of them onto Lovington in 1942 and in 1951 Tucumcari was flattened by a massive Fireball from the sky that crashed into a 750,000 gallon watertank. Better a few rocks.

Danville, Boyle County, Kentucky. July 1966. Summer. There were several sightings of a big cat like a Lion or a Cougar. What with giant cats they are all getting so common.

Deseret, Millard County, Utah. July 1966. A huge bird the size of a Piper Cub plane was seen circling over the town. There were hundreds of witnesses. After birds this size isn't there anything unusual at all? In 1877 a seventy-five foot long horse-headed Saurian came out of the Salt Lake in Utah and approached the camp of a Mr McNeil and his friend, leaving a very visible track of huge footprints.

Elfers, Anclote River, Pasco County, Florida. July 1966. Ralph "Bud" Chambers, in his early twenties, was walking in the woods when he saw something big to the side of him standing in the trees. There was a harsh coughing sound and the witness went to get his rifle and a friend. They came back and found large footprints. There was also a vile smell, a rancid odour like stale urine. They tracked the Monster and called the Sheriff who sent two Officers. Both smelt it but they could not catch it. Chambers' hunting dogs refused to follow the tracks and were frightened. They found fingerlike markings on the riverbank where it had slid in. There were four distinct fingermarks but no thumb. As for Bigfeet and Sasquatches, they are literally everywhere.

During Summer July 1966 three boys saw a Bigfoot called the "White Demon" near Sawyer in Yakima County in Washington State.

At 11.00pm on 1st August 1966, Dr Vasil Uzunoglu was driving on the Washington Beltway through Prince Georges County in Washington D.C. when he encountered a dark object with brilliant body lights of red, green and yellow moving at tremendous speed yet at one time hovering over a house. The speed was assessed at 4,000 miles per hour and the UFO was larger than a house. When the craft hovered a definite upper surface could be seen that was slightly peaked and of a dark non-shiny material. There was a region of clear yellow light set off centre to the right of the object. Finally the craft flew off to the south.

Erie, Erie County, Pennsylvania. Lake Erie. 3rd August 1966. Wednesday. 5.30 am. Mrs Julie Helwig woken by sound of barking dogs. A 5'6"tall Hominoid was seen through a bedroom window. Wore yellow coveralls and had a Moon shaped head with a flat back to it. Had straggly muddy coloured hair. Had big shoulders but slender build. Moved with stiff mechanical motion. Held arms close to sides. They did not move and it did not bend knees. Walked like old fashioned wind up toy. The local dogs were barking at the Hominoids heels and it seemed to just ignore them. A mechanical Hominoid? Or just a bit arthritic?

Erie, Erie County, Pennsylvania. Lake Erie. First week August 1966. Witness in a car on Third Street saw Hominoid. Witness stopped the car. Hominoid came up to it. Pounded on hood and then vanished into the darkness. We've seen them as well before. Even English alligators.

Leicester, Leicestershire, England. 11th August 1966. Mystery alligator found amongst the roses of a house in Westleigh Avenue. It was six foot long and asleep in the front garden.

Kamloops Lake, British Columbia,Canada. 14th August 1966. Mr Gord Anderson and Mike Tarchup saw a muddy coloured eight to ten foot long animal with three humps swimming only one hundred feet away from them. The humps would emerge and remain above the surface for three to four second intervals before sinking and repeating. Seen through binoculars. Canadian Lakemonsters? Are they rare at all?

Kununurra, Western Australia. 14th August 1966. 11.53 pm. Mr P. Johnson working on bulldozer. UFO swooped him for four to five minutes. Originally was 200 metres away. White and red lights on it. Came back later that night.Another tedious sighting and probably only exciting to the observer at the time.

Kununurra, Western Australia. 15th August 1966. Mr P. Johnson in a car paced by hovering UFO again. Was 100 metres away. Witness shone his torch on it. Saw two doors, windows and a front window. Incredibly boring to the Researcher after so many reports as well. This was Mr P. Johnson's second sighting in two days.

Malvern, Geneva County, Arkansas. 16th August 1966. Tuesday. UFOs seen in area. Six days later five different sightings of Hominoid. Amazing how often now we have sightings of odd creatures or Hominoids in an area after an alleged UFO sighting.

Niteroi, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, Atlantic coast.17th August 1966. Thursday. Miguel Jose Viana, Manuel Pereira de Cruz, electronics technicians, were found dead and wearing lead masks on the top of a mountain. Were saucer sightings in area. Cause of death unknown. A large saucer was sighted in the exact area the same day. Were slips of paper on ground written on in Portuguese. “At 4.30 pm we will take the capsules. After the effect is produced, protect half the face with lead masks, wait for agreed signal”. There was no possibility of poison, asphyxiation or violence. Second note “Sunday. One capsule before meal; Monday. One capsule in the morning ;Tuesday. One capsule before meal; Wednesday. One capsule before sleep”. There were also slips of paper in notations like code. The bodies were lying side by side, arms at the side, no signs of struggle. Also electrical charts, simple mathematical formulas, a Lady’s handkerchief, a raincoat, sunglasses, a toothbrush and blood on the ground. Was not from the men. Both men were wearing their best suits. They had been seen with two unidentified men going up the Mountain with them. This sighting could be described as weird or at least weirder than normal weird. Were they planning to go somewhere?

Edinboro Lake, Erie County, Pennsylvania. 17th August 1966. Wednesday. eighteen miles from Presque Isle Park. Two Hunters saw a six foot tall Hairy Hominoid Both witnesses fired at it but did not hit it. There were also UFOs in the area at the time. On Peninsula jutting into swampy area at North end of Lake. August was a very busy time indeed in Erie County.

Lions Lake, Morris County, New Jersey. 18th August 1966. Thursday. Many witnesses. A disc shaped UFO discharged pieces of flaming metal over telephone poles. They were like honeycomb Aluminium castings that rapidly disintegrated shrinking quickly to the size of a pea. Did we say honeycomb? We have met UFOs composed of honeycomb-like material before. More air than metal? Like solidified bubbles? As if a metallic solution had bubbled up and then started decomposing. The mass of the metal would be very minimal in total as the bulk of the object would be comprised of whatever gas was inside the honeycomb itself. If we had a very strong lightweight metal we could do the same even to the point where the equalisation of airpressures inside the craft to the outside would act as a buffer to outside forces inside the very thin cocoon walls. If by using the Quasar Vacuum we are eliminating the concept of travelling through Time and Space then we would not need vehicles that could travel great distances over incredible periods. Little vehicles for travelling short distances would be fine as long as they contained the ingredients for life support for the occupants in many cases. The honeycomb filled with a super lightweight gas, possibly as yet undiscovered, would possibly keep the craft aloft for observational purposes, as well as provide a buffer with outside atmospheric forces once through the Quasar Vacuum.

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. 18th August 1966. Thursday. That night a rumbling that sounded like a flight of heavy aeroplanes came from somewhere in the sky. Night was clear with no breeze. Were not thunderclaps. Echoes of thunderclaps?

Donnybrook, near Minot, Ward County, North Dakota. 19th August 1966. Responsible Federal Official saw UFO touch landing on hillside. Electrical system of witness's car effected. Violent interference on car radio. Suddenly developed highpitched whining sound and series of beeps. Light like daylight. Round metallic craft with domed top was 200 feet from car. Several rocks displaced by landing. UFO then took off.30 feet in diameter. fifteen feet high. They have physical mass or they would not be able to interact with our physical environment. Even if this physical mass is only in a transient or temporary state.

East Liverpool, Columbiana County, Ohio. 19th August 1966. Friday. Four boys camping in backyard of house. A swooping light had projected a lightray from out of an open door that hit one of four boys on the side of the head. The boys hearing was temporarily impaired after this. How would a light, an object with very minimal mass, effect hearing? The light would have to be accompanied by something with the ability to interact with solid matter such as a sound vibration. A very highpitched or very low pitched vibration could interfere with hearing either temporarily or even permanently.

Malvern, Geneva County, Arkansas. 22nd August 1966. Monday. Five separate individual witnesses saw an eight foot tall walking luminous orange and yellow creature. UFOs were seen in the area six days before. They've landed and they're heading out!

Lytle Creek, San Bernadino County, California, near Fontana. 27th August 1966. Two teenage girls in a car saw a moss and slime covered Hairy Hominoid which suddenly stood up beside the car of the witnesses and scared them. Jerri Mendenhall was backing the car down a rough track when the Bigfoot stepped out of the bushes and grabbed her through the open window. She screamed and accelerated and it walked back into the bushes. It smelt like a dead animal. Was seven feet tall. Later an officer from the Sheriff's department found a large two-toed footprint that was seventeen inches long and six inches wide. Called a Bush-Beast by the locals. Speak of the Devil?

Towards the end of August 1966 at 8.15 pm a hunting party of seven people saw some odd objects in the sky over Binalong Bay in Tasmania. The objects were round with little lights all around them and a bright light in the middle underneath. Mr. J. Singline shone his spotlight at the lights and saw that they were black on top and white underneath. The objects which had been approaching from the northeast on being hit with the spotlight slowly turned themselves off and only relighting after the spotlight beam was a fair distance away. Then whilst still in formation they shot off to the east. The spotlight had a range of one quarter of a mile. There were independent reports of the same cluster of UFOs from Wivenhoe at 8.30 pm, Ulverstone at 8.30 pm, Burnie at 8.35 pm, Spreyton, and Hobart.

Roxana, Sussex County, Delaware.1966. August 1966. And the UFOs were still landing as did one here.

Anita, Cass County, Iowa. August 1966. And still another landing, almost as per normal. Previously there had been a huge Airship seen over Fontanelle, Iowa, in 1897 from which strange music could be heard and in 1951 several Hunters near Madisonville, Indiana, saw a metallic disc in the sky that was leaving a vapour trail. And that was it for 94 west 41 North.

Sodus, Wayne County, New York. August 1966. Many people saw brilliant hovering light moving about area before heading northeast over Lake Ontario. Up to thirty minutes on one spot. Light oscillated, flashing red and green and white before vanishing over the lake. Other areas were continuing. By now you would think that all of New York State was covered with a long history of Phenomenal sightings yet there are areas virtually next to high sighting areas that have very limited histories of Phenomenal events. 77 West 43 North is one of them. Now it is suddenly having a flurry after a history of only three sightings over the last 177 years.

Port Gibson, Wayne County, New York. August 1966. Many people saw brilliant hovering light moving about area before heading northeast over Lake Ontario. Up to thirty minutes on one spot. Light oscillated, flashing red and green and white before vanishing over the lake. It was only a brief flurry in the grand scheme of things that would only last from August to October 1966 and would be centred on only one type of aerial Phenomena with a fascination for Lake Ontario.

Eden Prairie, Meeker County, Minnesota. August 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it. Oh no! They're still landing!

Richland, Benton County, Washington State. Summer. August 1966. In the area around Richland a whitish grey eight foot tall hairy creature was seen over the Summer. What was unusual with this creature was that its eyes were bright red. The creature weighed six hundred pounds and walked like a human.

Richland, Benton County, Washington State. Summer. August 1966. In the area around Richland a whitish grey eight foot tall hairy creature was seen over the Summer. What was unusual with this creature was that its eyes were bright red. The creature weighed six hundred pounds and walked like a human. A group of young men saw it on several occasions and used to drive around looking for it in an old gravel pit. On another occasion one of the witnesses repeatedly shot at it with a .270 calibre rifle but it didn't even fall over. The witnesses were Greg Pointer, Roger True, Tom Thompson, Carl Franklin and Bob Franklin, John McNight, Alvin Anderson, Selby Green, Roger Howard, Bob McDonald and Ron Blackburn.

Richland, Benton County, Washington State. Summer. August 1966. In the area around Richland a whitish grey eight foot tall hairy creature was seen over the Summer. What was unusual with this creature was that its eyes were bright red. The creature weighed six hundred pounds and walked like a human. On another occasiona group of teenagers had thrown rocks at it and then tried to run over it with their car and as the car passed it the creature scraped its hand down the side of the vehicle.

Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. Summer August 1966. A young man claimed to have been chased by a white Bigfoot which had climbed out of a tree at night. The youth was found lying on the ground in a state of shock and clutching white hairs from an unknown animal. Was this the "White Demon" again?

Segamet, Johor, Malaysia. August 1966. Many individual witnesses saw a shy twenty-five foot tall hairy creature that left eighteen inch long footprints. Was apelike and regarded as harmless by the locals. Visitor or resident or does the Earth have both? Quite often there are no single answers.

Chiddingfold, Surrey, England. 1st September 1966. Thursday. Lady farmer walking through a thistle patch when she accidentally stood on the tail of a large catlike creature resembling a Puma. The Puma or whatever it was scratched her cheek and the witness hit it on the nose with her stick. The Puma ran away and hid in a tree. It vanished whilst in the tree. It was never seen leaving the tree. Some hair was found on the tree when the witness came back with a Fisheries and Agriculture official. For animals as cunning and elusive as cats these big ones seem to be a tad clumsy and careless. Granted they are hard to find intentionally but an amazing number of people walk into or onto them. You never hear of this happening with our normal large felines such as Lions and Tigers. There are usually no witnesses left wandering around in their normal habitats. Are the animals convenient camouflage for something else? Biological robots capable of surviving in the wild for long periods and yet due to some incidental error ending up in the wrong locations from that type of creatures perceived usual habitat? There is an inordinate level of clumsiness or even humanlike error in a lot of the Phenomenal reports that is not necessarily the fault of the observers but seems to be a lack of planning on behalf of the creators of the Phenomena.

Pineland Plantation, near Greenville, near Cairo, Alexander County, Illinois. 1st September 1966. Thursday.2.00 pm. Mrs James Ikart saw flying Hominoid in the sky. Several individual witnesses. Large humans with enormous wings physically cannot fly around. You cannot put on a large pair of wings and zoom around in the sky. Your bones are too heavy. There are physical mass ratios that negate the ability to fly. Unless you are a giant Bat which would need a very large pair of wings indeed. But giant bats do not exist! Neither does anything else in this book so that is not avalid excuse for discounting the existence of them either as residents or visitors.

Scott, Bolivar County, Mississippi. 1st September 1966. Thursday. Several individual witnesses saw a Bigbird that resembled a white flying man. Was going up and down in an erratic manner. There are isolated reports of Hombirds or Manbirds and suddenly the whole chicken coop is left open and flocks of them are suddenly seen in a variety of locations. The Devil’s chicken coop has certainly been left wide open.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 1st September 1966. Several individual witnesses saw manlikeobject with wings flying in the sky at low altitude. The invasion of the Gargoyles?

San Joacquin, Ica, Peru. 7th September 1966. Wednesday. 9.00 pm. A pair of UFOs descended to only a few inches from the ground in front of a crowd of over 200 witnesses. The craft then flew straight up and vanished. Left a pattern of scorched holes in the ground. Another day in Peru.

Bogota, Bogota Department, Columbia, Cordillera Orientale Mountains. 7th September 1966. Wednesday.Thousands, all of City. There was a three hour blackout over the entire City as UFOs were seen in the sky. No physical cause could be found by Power Company officials. Peru and Columbia on the same day? Maybe no great matter.

Durand, Pepin County, Wisconsin. 7th September 1966. Wednesday. Barney Bruns, six years old, and his mother, Mrs E. D. A. Bruns. The mother saw a strange object hovering between the house and the orchard 200 feet away. Was four feet off the ground and thirty feet across. The boy who had been nearest to the craft complained of hearing difficulties and a soreness in the ears afterwards. Ear problems again? Ear problems that children are more susceptible to? Higher frequencies that adults with encroaching deafness may not be capable of responding to? Peru, Columbia and Wisconsin on the same day as well? A very wide curved line could pass through all three places whilst heading south. Coincidence or part of something larger?

Gwinner, Sargent County, North Dakota. 13th September 1966. 7.30 am. Farm of Emmanuel Rotenberger. Wife home babysitting child of friend, Randy,11 years old. Outside an object landed 300 yards away in ploughed field. Randy ran inside. Object metallic like two bowls fastened together lip to lip.Two red lights and a green one along rim. three legs with circular feet. Transparent bubble on top. Craft eight to ten feet high.30 foot in diameter. After one minute Blue glow on bottom. Made roar followed by buzzing noise. Left three impressions. Each one foot in diameter. Formed triangle with sides 26 feet,23 feet and 22 feet. What had Randy seen? Something that a lot of other people believe that they have seen too.

Gaurulhos, Pernambuco, Brazil. 14th September 1966. Wednesday. Mr Antonio Pan Ferro da Silva, farmer, saw several little men emerge from a UFO in his tomato field. The witness hid behind some trees. The Hominoids examined the tomatoes and gesticulated wildly and chattered excitedly amongst themselves in an unknown tongue. They were quite Human except for their repugnant facial skin. Obviously Aliens in the search of cosmetics.

Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts. September 17th 1966. 4.45AM. Mrs David Rogers woke up to get glass of water. Noticed light shining through window from shoreline. Over waters edge half mile away huge elongated cigar-shaped object standing on end. Glowed dim, golden pulsating white light which brightened at times so that beach sand could be seen at its base. At times tilted to 60 degrees from vertical. David Rogers stepped outside to see. Clear night. No wind. Suddenly two small lights appeared moving towards cylinder. Had skipping motion. Merged with top of cylinder. Almost immediately three similar lights emerged from the top of the cylinder and sped off low over the Ocean. One elliptical object, ringed with a yellow glow, approached within quarter mile of witnesses. Kept entering and leaving larger object. Then the larger object dimmed and vanished from sight. A Mothership? We've seen these vertical light formations before as well. Even with their attendant little ones. A Mothership of a very large energy flare from an interdimensional portal opening. A Wormhole entrance?

Rockcastle County, Kentucky. 17th September 1966. Saturday. Groups and individual witnesses. Joe McFarland,17, and Edward Alcorn,17, began to feel weak and woozy in the woods. Suddenly a strange light appeared above and around them. It became real bright. They could also see a bright circle of light above them that was thirty feet across. This lasted a few seconds. Died down. No noise. The boys went and got Alcorn's brother, sister and a friend. All saw the strange light in the sky plus smaller light between the trees. It would blink once and then three times.It repeated this several times. There were also individual witness sightings of UFOs in the area at the same time. Could wooziness be mistaken for giddiness? If it is giddiness then there are already correlations with hearing related problems in association with Phenomenal activities before, primarily UFOs. Giddiness is generally associated with problems within the inner ear which is responsible for balance. So we are not just interacting with Phenomena on a visual level but in many cases on an auditory and even extra-auditory level as well. The problem could be a pressure field event as well?

Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. 19th September 1966. Monday. Mr Ken Pettijohn driving car. A giant silverhaired tall Hairy Hominoid was standing in the middle of the road. It had a flat nose, thin lips and flourescent eyes. Was nearly run over by witness in a car. The witness slammed on the brakes and the engine failed. The silverhaired one raised its arm to shield its face from the headlights glare. It walked around to the back of the car as the witness succeeded in restarting the engine. Was a lightning storm at the time. A bad night to be out and about unless you are a piezoelectrically generated or released Phenomena. Was the rapid braking responsible for the engine stopping or was it the electrical charge of the Phenomena?

Peoria, Peoria County, Illinois, Illinois River. 24th September 1966. Saturday. Mr Leon Gaines in a car with girlfriend, Miss Geneva Robinson. A UFO was seen to land. The witnesses car went intentionally towards it but the UFO had left by the time the witnesses car had got close. After the witness had dropped off his girlfriend he ran into the UFO again. The car started to pick up speed. The brakes failed and the doors would not open. The UFO seemed to have taken over the vehicle and steered its course. The craft left after a few minutes of playing at this. There are some times when you do not want to be on autopilot.

Gastonia, Gaston County, North Carolina. 26th September 1966. Saturday. Mr Robert Glover, cabdriver and two passengers. The cabdriver had shone his spotlight onto two unusual clouds to show his passengers when suddenly from out of one of the two weird clouds there swooped down from the sky a great thing that resembled a flying eye. It headed down straight towards the cab before correcting its dive and departing The pupil was black and the iris was orange The woman passenger had to be taken home as she had become hysterical. There were several individual witness sightings of UFOs and strange strips of Aluminium with traces of Magnesium and Silicone were found in a field that had caught fire for no apparent reason nearby. A giant eye from the sky that possibly left Aluminium-like traces behind?

Broken Hill, New South Wales. Australia. September 1966. 1.30 am. Light stopped in midair for three to four minutes before taking off and leaving a Rainbow coloured trail. Ho-hum.

Glines, Utah, of America. September 1966. A UFO was seen to land and Hominoids emerged from it. They are landing again. Or is it still?

Parke County, Indiana. September 1966. Various individual witnesses saw a ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid covered with fur. Left footprints 21 inches long and killed two dogs.

Alexander Springs, Marion County, Florida, Ocala National Forest. 1st October 1966. Saturday. Nancy Liechner and Pamela-Ann Nater went up the nature trail at Alexander Springs. It was too cold for swimming they had decided and they went for a walk instead. They were never seen again and no traces were ever found of them. In the late 1970s there would be several Hairy Hominoid sightings around here. Is there a connection?

Sarca, Appenines, Italy. Early October 1966. Giant bird attempted to lift Flavia Vidoli,3. The girls mother Angela heard the child's screams and ran out to where the girl had been playing, grabbing a rake on her way . Flavia was nearly two feet off the ground being hoisted up by a vicious looking Eagle with a seven foot wingspan which dropped the girl and attacked the mother who defended herself with the rake eventually killing it. What happened to the body? Shades of Marie Delex in Switzerland in 1838. Switzerland and Sarca are not that far apart either being only three degrees apart and virtually on the same latitude. Previously there had been a fall of Meteorites at Bescia wherein one Meteorite was found to have an impression of a hand in it. Maybe not that amazing as it could merely be an astrogeological freak. The rarer thing is that there was a pinpoint fall of Meteorites wherein it is inferred several Meteorites of good size were found after the fall.

Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. Early October 1966. Carl Timberbrook saw a tall grey Bigfoot walking by a canal near a road at 8.00 am.

Wanaque Reservoir, Passaic County, New Jersey. 11th October 1966. Tuesday. Police Sergeant and hundreds of tourists saw brilliant flying light bobbing over the Reservoir. It blinded Police Sergeant Ben Thompson for twenty minutes and sent him hoarse for two weeks. There were hundreds of witnesses in cars parked around the Reservoir. The light was like trying to look into a light bulb and trying to see into the socket when it was on. Fifteen minutes later seven helicopters flew low over the Reservoir in formation as well as ten to twelve jets. All with no markings. Military denied their presence. This was the second sighting over the same Reservoir that year. There had been quite a few Lakemonster reports in the area in the previous century followed by aerial reports in the twentieth.

Elizabeth, Union County, New Jersey. 11th October 1966. Cluster of UFO sightings in previous week around Turnpike slicing through City. James Yanchitis and Martin “Mouse” Munov walking home along Fourth Street and New Jersey Street. Near corner parallel to Turnpike the boys saw a Hominoid behind Turnpike wire fence on very steep incline down from the Pike. Huge man. Over six feet tall. Sparkling green costume. Shimmered and reflected in street lights. Very broad. Dark complexion and little round eyes set far apart. No hair, ears or nose. Strange grin. Boys fled.Had been incidents of violence in area. UFOs seen in area that night. 74 West 41 North has had twelve sightings over the years. 74 West 40 North is up to its Fortieth. These two reports on the same day are only 44 kilometres apart.

Connorsville, Fayette County, Indiana. 11th October 1966. 4.30 pm. Terry Eversole and his sister watched disc shaped craft with segmented compartment on bottom hover over stand of trees. Silver with dome on top. Three green doors on bottom.After several seconds it flew to horizon. 11th October was quite busy.

South Valley, Albuquerque, Bernalillo County, New Mexico. 14th October 1966. A Hairy Hominoid with a black face was seen by the Clifford Mcguire family. Was five feet tall Hairy. Crying like baby. Roamed through backyard for three weeks. Witnesses son,18, was struck by it one night. Knocked unconscious. When coming to noticed fork shaped footprints near him. After this every time it approached the house the radio would stop and the son would feel pain in the chest. Another creature exhibiting electromagnetic effects. Previously there had been strange aerial explosions here over the Airport over several nights in 1949 and in 1964 Miss Sharon Stull, ten years old, grabbed at a membranous material that fell from a flying eggshaped object that caused her to become very ill with inflammation under the eyes as well as first degree burns under the eyes and nose. Within four weeks Sharon had grown six inches and seemed to have suddenly matured into a young woman. She had to wear sunglasses though for she was extremely sensitive to sunlight from then on.

In mid-October 1966 Mr. George Ashton was on holiday in his caravan, trailer, at Chapel St Leonards near Skegness in England. He and his wife were strolling on the beach with his wife May Ashton when they saw something like the Loch Ness monster less than one hundred yards offshore. The creature had a head like a serpent as well as six or seven pointed humps trailing behind the head. It was travelling parallel to the shore and was watched for some time coming from Chapel Point and disappearing in the direction of Ingoldmells.

Lake Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. 24th October 1966. Crocodile seen in river. Sighted in bayou in area. Was between three and six feet long. Was seen in hotwater ditch entering Lake. Thirteen other crocodiles about one foot long were caught. Crocodiles are not supposed to be native to this area as it is too cold for them though with a hotwater ditch nearby it might help though short-term or long-term we do not know.

Between Vancouver, and Chilliwack, British Columbia, Canada, Fraser River. October 1966. Autumn. Several engineers on geological survey. A Hairy Hominoid was seen on the shores of a lake. Was viewed for half an hour. Footprints were left behind in the snow which were photographed when the witnesses came back later. This seems to be a regular stomping ground.

Winona, Winona County, Mississippi. Autumn. October 1966. Seven foot tall Monster seen by several individual witnesses.

Bright eyes. covered with hair. Four foot shoulders tapering to narrow waist. Size of Kodiak bear. But is this a regular stomping ground as well?

Sodus, Wayne County, New York. October 1966. Many people saw brilliant hovering light moving about area before heading northeast over Lake Ontario. Up to thirty minutes on one spot. Light oscillated, flashing red and green and white before vanishing over the lake. The Sodus light still hasn't gone away.

Port Gibson, Wayne County, New York. October 1966. Many people saw brilliant hovering light moving about area before heading northeast over Lake Ontario. Up to thirty minutes on one spot. Light oscillated, flashing Red and green and white before vanishing over the lake. Something luminous had been intermittently hovering over the lake for the previous three months.

Gulf of Siam. October 1966. The Captain and crew of Merchant ship saw a Lightwheel. Another Gulf of Siam Lightwheel again?

Winona, Winona County, Mississippi. Autumn. October 1966. Seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid seen by several individual witnesses. Bright eyes. covered with hair. Four foot shoulders tapering to narrow waist. Size of Kodiak bear. The Winona Beast is still at large as well.

Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. October 1966. Mike Corey stated that his dog had attacked a bigfoot. Corey had shot at the creature and it had ran away. Later Mr. Corey's dog was found mysteriously killed. Did the Bigfoot do this ?

Lower Bank, Burlington County, New Jersey. October 1966. Autumn. Married couple found footprints seventeen inches long outside their house. Saw hairy face peering in through window. Seven feet tall. Witnesses regularly left vegetable scraps out for it which it ate. One night they left nothing. It could have been annoyed for it threw the dustbin against the wall. A gunshot fired into the air did not deter it. So the male fired at it. It ran away. Did not return. What is it about New Jersey? We have lists of material for various parts of the state, such as 74 West 40 and 41 North and yet 74 West 39 North, right next door, has only six Phenomenal sightings in the historic period that we have covered and the other five of these were between 1900 and 1933. The area is not exactly abandoned so our difference cannot be explained away by a scarcity of population.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. November 1966. 1st. National Guardsman at armoury on Camp Conley Road saw a large brown mansized figure standing on limb of tree. The Gargoyles are still around and they seem to be centering their attentions on one particular area.

Marietta, Washington County, Ohio. 2nd November 1966. Wednesday. Mr Woodrow Derenberg driving home. Saw object shaped like the chimney of a kerosine lamp land on Highway directly in front of his truck. Slammed on brakes. Saw man emerge from machine and come towards him. six feet tall, dark complexioned, slightly elongated eyes. Wore dark overcoat and shiny blue pants. Witness told to roll down window. The Hominoid was at the door. Arms crossed over chest. Hands hidden. Fixed grin. Telepathy. Witness told man was named Indrid Cold, from another World. Flew off. Later returned. Established relationship with witness who later claimed to have been taken by Indrid to the planet Lanulos. Delusion or perceived reality?

Gallipolis, Gallia County, Ohio. early November 1966. The German Shepherd dog of William Watson was stolen. Several weeks later it was found near a saucer nest twenty feet in diameter with its blood cleanly drained out and every bone in its body crushed. UFOs had been seen in the area by individual witnesses. Cows had also vanished and were being found butchered in the fields. Tall Hominoids and glowing objects, and luminous spheres were being seen at tree top height. Only organs such as the brains were being removed and the blood drained out. Hominoids wearing white coveralls were also being seen. We have everything listed here and shortly later we actually would. Cryptic or self-fulfilling?

Winona, Winona County, Mississippi. 8th November 1966. Tuesday.1.30 am. William Cagle and James Cagle in truck heading for Marietta, Georgia. As they rounded a curve a Hominoid was seen running down a slope towards the truck with the two witnesses in it. Hominoid was on their left side. It seemed aggressive and angry and the face was a mixture of a Gorillas and a humans. It had large arms and legs. Chest three foot thick. It looked over at the witnesses and raised its left arm. The eyes it had were unreal though and really scared the witnesses for they were glowing bright, were two inches round and had no pupils. The witnesses then fled in the truck. Hair on body 1.5 inches long. Weighed 500 to 700 pounds. Left arm held up like stop signal. Narrow waistline. Eyes almost pleading, like Human in distress. What was the Winona Monster up to? Was it trying to hitch a ride?

Venice Center, Poplar Plains, Cayuga County, New York. 12th November 1966. 12.30 am . Meteor. Crater. fifteen miles south of Auburn on Howard Lacey farm between Venice Center and Poplar Ridge on town line. State Police, Cornell University Geologists and Army personnel examined gaping holes left by unknown forces on Howard Lacey farm. Strange light seen in the sky. Boom heard. Large hole found. Occurred on the same date the following two years as well. New hole would appear after a blasting noise 300 yards from the previous one. No Meteor fragments. Only craters. The crater was five feet across and three feet deep and surrounded by a 44 foot circle of exposed Earth. Around the perimeter the dirt had been thrown up as if an explosive device had gone off underground. No signs of Meteoric impact. The first of three strange visits.

Clendinin, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 12th November 1966. Saturday. five men digging a grave saw a brown man with wings flying over their heads and performing manoeuvres. There was also seen a six foot long thing like a flying birdcage. Had the bird escaped its cage? It certainly was no Tweety Bird, more like Sylvester with wings.

Clendinin, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 12th November 1966. Saturday. Kenneth Duncan saw Bigbird. Originally fluttering in some trees but then manoeuvred low over the witnesses head for one minute. The same day in the same town a giant bird, not a Manbird, was seen in some trees.

Salem, Harrison County, West Virginia. 14th November 1966. Monday. The television of Mr Newell Partridge started carrying on crazily. Started making noise like a generator. The witness went to look outside. His pet Alsatian dog “Bandit” was going mad. There were two red glowing lights in the neighbours field. The dog growled and ran into the field. The lights suddenly vanished and the dog was never seen again. As the Chinese say, black dog is best. How tasty is black and tan?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th November 1966. Tuesday. Midnight. Mr and Mrs Roger Scarberry and Mr and Mrs Steve Mallette in a car in TNT area, seven miles out of town. Saw Bigbird standing on the side of the road near the carcasse of a dead dog. Manshaped. 6.5 to seven feet tall. Had big wings folded up on its back. Two big eyes like car reflectors. It took off with a shuffle towards old power plant. four witnesses were followed in a car up to 100 miles per hour. Flying Hominoid was flying low overhead. Wings spread ten feet. Not flapping. Kept up with car. Made squeaking sound like big Mouse. Vanished at City limits. Dead dog on the side of the road had gone. Witnesses drove straight to Sheriff. Deputy Millard Halstead went back with them. Police radio emitted strange sound like speeded up phonograph record outside power plant. Eyes were set in the shoulders. No head. Wings did not flap. Mouselike noises? Seeing that a Bat is similar to a flying Mouse and that we have giant bats in the tropics then theremight be more validity to our giant Bat theory. Who knows it might be the origin of our Vampire Bat legends!

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 16th November 1966. Wednesday. 9.00 pm. Marcella Bennet, her baby Tina and Mr and Mrs Raymond Walmsley visiting the semi-isolated farm of the Thomas family near the TNT area. Parked the car out the front and got out. Only Rickie Thomas, Connie Thomas and Vickie Thomas home. Parents out. The figure of the Bigbird appeared slowly up from the ground. Was big and grey with terrible glowing eyes. The mother dropped the sleeping child onto the ground and collapsed. The two friends rushed into the house with three children of the friends that they were visiting. It shuffled around on the porch and peered through the windows for a while. It later went away. The female with the toddler spent the next few months under medication.

If this was an illusion then what sort of illusion is strong enough or indeed impactiveenough to make a mother drop her small baby? There had to be something there or there would not have been multiple witnesses of the event, the baby would not have been dropped and Marcella would not have required medication in the following months. Consistent fabrications are too hard to pull off in a group as there is always adaptation of the original story. It is much harder to remember a story in detail that has been told to you than to remember the event as a first-person observer, and even then there can be dissimilarities of descriptions between witnesses. Witnesses tend to perceive through their own versions of reality.

Cheshire, Gallia County, Ohio. 17th November 1966. Teenage boy in a car on Route seven saw a huge Bigbird that buzzed his car. Was grey Manshaped creature with red eyes and a ten foot wingspan. Swoop. Pacing. Giant fruitbats of the Tropics have brown eyes and look like flying foxes and that is what they are called in Australia. They do not have red eyes though, even after a hard night feeding.

Gaffney, Cherokee County, South Carolina.17th November 1966. Thursday. 4.00 am. Charles Hutchins and A. G. Huskey, Police Officers. A metallic disc, spherical with a wide flat rim around it, landed on a beach. Dull gold colour. Twenty feet in diameter. Small door opened. Short ladder dropped down. four to six feetlong. Little man in gold stepped out of it and climbed down ladder and walked to fifteen feet from witnesses. Talked to Police. Asked them why they were dressed alike. Talked casually. Lasted three to four minutes. Talked very carefully and precisely. Other little men darted into the forest as if looking for something. The craft was projecting several beams of concentrated light in all directions like laser lighting. The light beams seemed to end definitely and ended abruptly as if they were more solid then light but not much more. Small footprints were found and the home of the main witness was plagued with strange hums later on. We have met this solid appearing light before in South America.

Point Pleasant, Mason County West Virginia. 18th November 1966. Friday. Fire-Captain Paul Yoder and friend, Benjamin Enochs saw Bigbird with big red eyes. Was huge as were eyes. The nocturnal visitor was certainly getting around.

Campbell Creek, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 20th November 1966. Six teenagers saw a grey Manshaped and man-sized Bigbird with red eyes. Almost every night someone was seeing the Manbird or Mothman as the Author John Keel called it.

Charleston, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 21st November 1966. Monday. 10.15 pm. Richard West saw six foot tall Bigbird on neighbours roof. Had a wingspan of six to eight feet. Had great big red eyes popping out of its face. Flew straight up. Mothman, Manbird, Bigbat? Whatever you call it, too many people were seeing it.

Coulsdon, Surrey, England. 23rd November 1966. Witness saw Lion on the road. In England, all was normal. Lions have always seen sitting on the roads over there. It's such a large country with so many places for big cats to hide.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 24th November 1966. two adults and two children saw giant flying Bigbird with red eyes. The red eyes are a consistent feature.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 25th November 1966. 7.15 am. Mothman. Thomas Ury,25, saw a large grey thing rise up from nearby field. Came up like helicopter and veered over witnesses convertible. Swoop. Witness accelerated to 75 miles per hour but bird was still casually circling car. six feet long, wingspread of eight to ten feet. Large round glowing eyes. Stayed at altitude of two to three telephone poles. Every night someone was seeing it. This grey version was being called Mothman.

Saint Albans, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 26th November 1966. Saturday. Mrs Ruth Foster saw a six foot tall strange bird on her front lawn. Had red popped out eyes and no beak. Sounds like something from Warner brothers cartoons. Was a cartoon character loose in the area?

Cat's Creek, near Lowell, Washington County, Ohio. 26th November 1966. Saturday. A flock of Birdmen were seen by Marvin Shock and his two children Marlene Shock and Philip Shock who watched the birds for two hours. Were later joined by Ewing Tilton.

Were 100 yards away. Birds had dark brown back with light flecks and grey breasts. They had reddish heads. Four to five feet tall. Bills five to six inches long and straight. Ten foot wingspans. Unknown type of bird. The birds bodies were dark. Lowell is seventy miles due south of Point Pleasant. These birds do not fit the descriptions in the plague of other descriptions of the Manbirds, especially that they looked like birds and did not have luminous red eyes, and yet they are regarded as an unknown type of bird as well. Was the camouflage getting better?

Saint Albans, Kanawha County, West Virginia. 27th November 1966. Sunday. Sheila Cain,13, and her sister Eve Cain saw a seven foot tall grey and white bird with red eyes. It flew low over the running girls. Was of a totally unknown type. Were there various types of bird on the loose?

Mason, Mason County, West Virginia. 27th November 1966. Sunday. Connie Carpenter,18, in a car saw Mothman with ten foot wingspan standing on edge of deserted Golf course. Was dull grey colour. Heading for witnesses car. Was flying. Swooped car. Had horrible face with bright red eyes. Later the witness developed Conjunctivitis for two weeks afterwards. Her eyes became red, itchy and swollen after exposure to ultraviolet rays. Mothman had a manlike body and was more like a Birdman than a true Bigbird. Mothman preferred chasing cars and people. Was Mothman's redeye condition caused by exposure to ultraviolet rays as well? Normally Klieg Conjunctivitis effects as described are a consequence of looking at a UFO or very luminous Phenomenon. Was our Manbird alsoproducing these type of rays? We already know that electromagnetic or high frequency sound pitches produced by many Phenomena can effect the ears and that in many cases peoples' eyes have been effected as well. Whatever these Phenomena are they are either composed of high frequency light and soundwaves or in association with sources of them.

Brooksville, near Weeki Wachi Springs, Bradford County, Florida. 30th November 1966. Wednesday.Girl changing flat tyre on her car when she heard a strange noise in the bushes and smelt a most unpleasant smell. Then she noticed a huge thing standing on the side of the road. Had green eyes and a greenish glow to one side of its torso. Was watching her. Seemed more interested in the tyre changing operation than in the witness though. It then vanished into woods. Was not a bear. Was hairy all over. We have mentioned sight and smell. The Hairy Hominoid smells might have a more mundane origin.

Deltox Marsh, Waupaca County, Wisconsin. November 1966. Six young men in Deer drive. Were hunting. Flushed out tall Hairy Hominoid instead of Deer.Was large and powerfully built with shortish dark hair all over it. Walked on two legs. Was barrel chested with a thick short neck. Had heavy body tapering to hips. Had manlike gait and very long arms which it swung around. Seemed more inquisitive than aggressive. Soon went. Appeared unafraid. We might appear to have primitive Hominoid Marsh, Forest and Desert dwellers where man has not encroached too fully yet. Yet let us conjecture that what a great camouflage it would be physically as well as psychologically to use facsimiles of these legendary and therefore discredited creatures as we roam around checking the environment. Even if we were seen the witnesses would be discredited so that we could at times make our appearence to be totally absurd as the more absurd, within certain parameters, our appearence is the more discredited the witness's statements are. Isn't the Devil in all mythologies called the Great Liar and Deceiver? Who is being camouflaged though? Us or them? Or both? Is there an invisible war going on that no-one wants anyone else to know of?

Mason County, West Virginia. November 1966. Three tall Hairy Hominoids were seen sniffing around an oil pump on banks of Ohio River by Mr Cecil Lucas. Just off Route 62. They were not bears and bears are rarely seen in the area anyway. They walked upright like humans and ran erect like humans towards the river. Vanished into a thicket. Very rare for bears in the area. They aren't no bears in there?

Salem, Harrison, West Virginia. November 1966. A UFO was seen to land.The witness's German Shepherd dog ran over to it. The dog soon came back all bloodied and frightened. Other dogs had disappeared in the area. Even the Dognapper is here!

Greenbank, near Ipswich, Queensland. Australia. November 1966. 10.00 pm. Farmers had seen bright glow in night sky. Then saw and heard fragments hitting ground which were collected. No known alloy. Honeycomb material. Mrs Joan Fraser saw light size of train approach her house from the west. Within one kilometre it hovered over pinetrees. Light went out on landing. Appeared to change colours from orange to blue to green. Exploded. Reeds found flattened and browned. six metre in diameter at spot. Thousands of fragments found. Not metallic or known and subject to great heat stress. Once again the honeycomb construction that we have met before. We are starting to get more consistencies amongst our various themes. Not many of them but enough. The technology always appears higher than ours or stranger. As do the creatures associated with it. It almost always associated with highpitched soundwaves that effect the ears of the witnesses as well as high intensity ultraviolet light waves, visible or invisible, that can effect the eyes. We have even had some cases where cancers have been arrested or the thyroid effected indicating large radiation-likesources though not necessarily radio-active though there have been some cases where radio-active traces have been found. The few traces of craft or residue from craft are either in an unknown honeycomb structured alloy similar to Aluminium with or without Silicone or in a foam-like form usually referred to as Angelhair that disappears, or disintegrates, in a short period of times. Is the Angelhair a total decomposition of the honeycomb metallic structure so that if craft were indicated in accidents they would simply vanish leaving no evidence of their existence at all? We might also be indicating biological craft as well that we rarely if ever seem to find the remains of.

Mason, Mason County, West Virginia. November 1966. Several individual witnesses. Mothman was seen by several individual witnesses. Can our Bigbirds melt away as well? Some of our Hominoids, hairy and otherwise, seem to have had this ability as well as possibly some of our Alien big cats.

Logan County, West Virginia. November 1966. Many individual witnesses saw Bigbird. Or Mothman in the area that month. What an understatement.

Kanawha County, West Virginia. November 1966. Many individual witnesses saw Bigbird. Or Mothman in the area that month.

Nicholas County, West Virginia. November 1966. Many individual witnesses saw Bigbird. Or Mothman in the area that month. I'm sorry I appear to have been stuck.

Lincoln County, West Virginia. November 1966. Many individual witnesses saw Bigbird. Or Mothman in the area that month. Flying Hominoid. Four different Counties that for a brief period were being bedevilled by giant flying birds.

Middleboro, Plymouth, Massachusetts. 1st December 1966. Oval object carrying two bright red pulsating lights dived in front of witness's car. Swoop. Stopped to hover over woods on the side of the road. Route 25th . Curved shape behind lights.As were other Counties by strange flying and swooping lights.

Bayshore, San Mateo County, California. 3rd December 1966. Saturday. 11.00 pm. Police Patrolman Vern Morse and wife Charmion Morse saw a flare like light in the sky.Was a cylindrical object 9' by 3'. Moving at angle of fifteen degrees below vertical at fifty to 60 miles per hour Solid lower portion was connected with struts to the upper portion which was topped by nosecone resembling a crash helmet. There was a being standing in it that seemed to be strapped in. Resembled flying birdcage. Was vertical and 300 to 400 feet up. Appeared intelligently manoeuvred. There was no noise and a light on it. This suddenly went out and the craft vanished over Baymeadows Racetrack. Baymeadows is between Bayshore and Redwood City. Last seen heading north. The return of the flying birdcage. Totally absurd if it were not for the fact that we had also met this contraption before, indeed even in the late Nineteenth Century. In fact only twenty-one days before on 12th November above Clendinin in West Virginia.

Gallipolis, Gallia County, Ohio. 4th December 1966. Sunday. 3.00 pm. five pilots, Everett Wedge, Henry Upton, Leo Edwards, Ernie Thompson and Eddie Adkins at Airport saw what at first seemed to be a small plane. On closer sighting was Bigbird. Was 300 feet up and doing 70 miles per hour. It did not flap its wings and had an unusually long neck. Was turning head from side to side. Was travelling downwind. Gliding low over River. Seemed prehistoric. Saurian, not crane. Neck too long. Was type unknown. Surely five pilots would know the difference between a giant bird and a plane at only 300 feet? Pterodactyls on the loose? Were they here or only visibly here. After all we may have to allow for possible changes in how we adjust to perceiving alleged and possibly actual reality.

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida. 4th December 1966. Sunday. John Reeves' dog started going crazy. A UFO was seen with blinking lights. Was on ground. Then it rose and vanished. Later Alien footprints were found in the sand. These went to John's bedroom window and then off for 1/4 mile. The imprints of landing gear were also found. They were ten inches square and wider at the bottom than at the top. The footprints were 11" long by 4.5"wide down to 2.5" wide. They left a dumbell shape of a distinct grid pattern. Would have had to weigh 250 to 275 pounds to leave such impressions. Had stride of thirty inches. Strange metal fillets were also found. They were composed of Aluminium, Bauxite, Borax, Iron, Calcium, Phosphate and Sulphur plus three milligrams of Sheetlite which is only found on Earth in the Shadow Mountain Range in California. Sheetlite gives off bright blue radiation when in an upper Space atmosphere of heavy concentrations of ultraviolet light. Will only glow if in upper reaches of X-ray band, ultraviolet, atomic radiation rays or in blacklight. Was not normal composition of Earth at Brooksville, Florida. What was the Sheetlite doing in Florida? Once again we have Aluminium compounds as well as Sulphur.

Coudersport, Potter County, Pennsylvania. 5th December 1966. MondayDr I. John. Irving Bentley,92 years old. Only a skull, resting on some waterpipes, half a leg and the brown charred stump of a single foot were all that were left of Dr Bentley. A three foot wide scorched hole in the floor opened down to the cellar below. That is where he suddenly vanished in a blaze. Highly inflammable plastic and rubber objects around him were untouched including the rubber tips of the Doctors walking frame lying over the hole. The paint had not even been blistered on the bathtub nearby. Dr Bentley's body was reduced to a five inch cone of sooty ashes that had fallen through to the basement. Embers were greasy. It was a freezing Winters day and the poor Doctor was discovered by the gas meter reader, Mr Don Gosnell who had gone into the cellar to read the metres. There was no obvious source for the fire. In the basement a light blue smoke of unusual odour hung in the air. Fire that selectively consumes the inflammable items around it? What had previously happened around here? In 1865 there were three disappearences of children in and around here, two in McKean County and one in nearby Germania, in 1882 Fred Murray saw a flock of gigantic birds with sixteen foot wingspans near Dent's Run, in 1905 a youth disappeared near Medix Run, near Lowell in 1909 a Meteor hit the ground but all that was found there was a fetid jelly-like mass, in 1940 giant birds were seen north of Coudersport with wingspans of twenty to twenty-five feet and in 1941 an anonymous youth disappeared near Emporium. Is there a connection between the giant birds and the history of disappearences in an area affectionately referred to as the "Black Forest"?

Drachten, Belgium. 6th December 1966. Afternoon. Pacing. Greenish coloured oval shaped craft thirty feet in length seen by number of train passengers. Paced train for six minutes. emitted whistling noise. Distinctly heard. Rose and headed for Holland. They like trains.

Flashed beams of light towards the car. Size of helicopter but was not one. Followed it for a mile. Finally hovered above electrical transformer Station. This was not a Bigbird but it was in the same area at the same time. Was it the bird coop?

Haynesville, Claiborne County, Louisianna. 30th December 1966. Friday. 8.15 pm. American nuclear physicist driving South with family. Overcast and raining. Saw stationary light in Forest near ground level. Pulsating dome of light. Alternated between dim red and bright orange. At one point luminousity became greater than cars headlights.Woke two children in back seat. Professor so impressed with amount of light that he returned next day with a scintillometer. Light had been one mile from car. The next day there was no bird, animal or insect life in the area at all. Large numbers of cattle had disappeared that night. Had the Intergalactic Butcher Shop arrived again? Life had left?

In the Teton Forest near Jackson Hole, Teton County, Wyoming. December 1966. Two young men, university students from Marshalltown Iowa, were hunting Coyotes when they shot a Gorilla-like figure that they originally thought was a bear. When they ran up to it turned out to be massive and hairy creature about seven feet tall with a bare face and huge hands and feet. The creature was dark brown, humanlike and haircovered except for the soles of the feet and the palms of the hands. The two men thought that they may have shot a local freak, left the body where it lay and leapt into their car and fled home to Iowa. We don't shoot them or capture them or even see them? Read on, McDuff.

Anclote River, near Elfers, Pasco County, Florida. December 1966. Two hunters spotted a huge, hairy apelike figure.

Mount Misery, Suffolk County, Long Island. New York. 1966. Hairy Hominoid. Many witnesses, especially lovers in secluded locations, have seen giant seven foot tall Human shaped beings. Turn up periodically. Low flying glowing saucershaped objects also seen in area. UFOs and Hairy Hominoids?

Melbourne, Victoria, Australia. 1966. Female witness saw a bright light in the sky. It landed and a tall figure in a loose green tunic came from it and took her into the saucer. He then had sex with her. Had electric eyes. During this the female witness burnt her leg. It is reported that she became pregnant but what eventuated if anything is unknown. A female version of Antonio Vilas Boas?

Matsushiro, Japan. 1966. Strange aerial lights were seen here during an earthquake. Had anything unusual happened here before? In 1847 a fiery cloud travelled over the area during an earthquake. In 1906 there was volcanic activity here and in 1965 there was obvious luminescence over mountaintops at Matsushiro.

Holopaw, Osceola County, Florida.1966. Several individual witnesses. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. Was very hairy and five foot tall. Had very broad shoulders. Walked on two feet like a man not a bear. You never see Hairy Hominoids anywhere, do you Pa.

Lachute, Argenteuil County, Quebec, Canada. 1966. Several witnesses. A flying wild cat weighing ten pounds was shot and killed by a Hunter. Its' wingspan was 14 inches and the wings were stumpy. The colour was black. What sort of cat was this? The flying pussies are fluttering around.

Ottawa, Carleton County, Ontario, Canada, Ottawa River. 1966. A flying wild cat was killed by a Hunter. Was there a plague of flying felines in Canada in 1966?

Shawnee Forest, Alexander County, Illinois. 1966. A black Panther like Beast was seen. There was no plague of big Pussies in Canada. Fortunately this one did not fly.

Nannup, Western Australia. Between Busselton and Manjimup.1966. Mr Tom Longbottom, farmer, heard noise in calf yard. Saw animal for two to three minutes. It ambled away. Was fifteen to twenty feet from it. Size of Kangaroo dog. Big head. Long body. Heavy shoulders.Long tail with brush on last twelve to 24 inches. Some dark bands went around the body. Not dogs eyes. Witness would often leave milk out for it. Would drink it. Could never be trapped. Left tracks. Not dog tracks. Made funny sounds at night like choking or soft barking. Was it a Thylacine? Didn't it know that it was extinct?

During 1966 on a farm owned by Samuel Knight, three miles from Nowra in New South Wales in Australia a large, black, panther-like animal was cornered by two large guard dogs. The big cat tore the two dogs to pieces before escaping into the bush. Nowra is just over Cambewarra Mountain from Kangaroo Valley with its legends of giant black cats.

Presque Isle Park, Erie County, Pennsylvania, Lake Erie. 1966. a Hominoid was seen on the beach. Independent of UFO sighting of 31st July. Was 5'6" tall wearing a yellow jacket and trousers. It moved mechanically and had a moonish head. Moonheads been seen before but not necessarily here. Previously here though we have had a Crocodilian Lakemonster at New Hamburg, Ontario, in 1953, in 1965 Bigfoot was seen in some tobacco fields at Tillsonburg, on July 30,1966, something eerie was wandering the beach at Erie and leaving footprints. For the rest of the month there were UFO sightings in the area as well as Hominoid sightings.

Scraheens Lough, also called Glendarry Lough, Achill Isle, County Mayo, Ireland. 1966. Lakemonster seen. We've got some of our old regulars.

Salt Lake City, Salt Lake County, Utah. 1966. A Bigbird the size of a small plane was seen.And some new visitors in the most unexpected places.

Beaver Falls, Beaver County, Pennsylvania. 1966. Several witnesses. A Bigbird that was seven feet tall and resembled a grey Ostrich walking around was seen. The Ostrich is not a native of North America and there were no stray ones reported in the area.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 1966. A UFO was seen to land. From it emerged a being in a silvery suit with long blonde hair. A Venusian? As well as unexpected visitors in expected places.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 1966. Several individual witnesses at different times. A 6.5 foot tall Manbird was seen. It had big red blazing eyes, was black, had huge batwings and the head seemed to be set into the shoulders. There was no neck. Were we having Phenomenal swapovers? Or is it all still in the eye of the beholder?

Preston Brook, Daresbury, Cheshire, England. 1966. Two Fishermen saw something swoop down during the early hours and almost sink a barge upon the Canal. It was an enormous bird, larger than a man, with glowing eyes. The Bigbird has crossed the Atlantic.

Yorba Linda, Orange County, California. 4th January 1967. The family of a boy named Tom saw a huge silvery football shaped thing that made a hissing noise and floated Eastward. What really is the difference between a hissing silvery football and a giant bird? Is it nothing?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 11th January 1967. 5.00 pm. Mrs McDaniel saw a Bigbird in broad daylight. At first she thought it was a small plane flying down the road at treetop level but as it drew closer she realised it was a manshaped object with wings which swooped low over her head and circled “Tiny’s", a nearby restaurant before vanishing. The Bigbird had no head or neck and made no sound. All was still busy in West Virginny.

Aveyron, France. 11th January 1967. The son of the woman in the earlier Aveyron sighting saw a shell landing near the house and drove near it. The luminous shell was very large and two small spheres entered it whereon it became very bright and the witness heard a whistling sound. Then the UFO vanished after tilting at 45 degrees. Another object then came which was disc shaped and had two transparent cupolas on it, green light inside it and an odd light around it. It looked like there were two Hominoids inside it that were wearing green coveralls trimmed with white. The object was hovering with a forward and backward, pitching and rolling motion. Then the witness felt a wave of heat and was paralysed as long as the wave hit him. After a week the witness started sleeping twenty hours a day and occasionally felt paralysed but still conscious. At times he was occasionally struck mute. The witness believed that he met Spacemen in his dreams and that he would write a book though he was functionally illiterate. Does it all sound so unusual after all? Previously there had been a UFO spitting out Angelhair over Gaillac in 1952, at Figeac on September 27,1954. there was a rather odd box on the ground with a strange man standing next to it, at Montbazens on 11th October . same year, a round craft landed and then took off from a pasture near Montbazens, on 27th October cigar shapes and discs were seen flying in zigzag movements over Gaillac as well as spewing out Angelhair, this is twice for Gaillac, and in 1966 a woman on an isolated property in Aveyron saw what appeared to be mysterious fires on her property which actually were one large light which entered another even larger light like a fiery tree or illuminated shell and then vanished like a lightswitch had been flicked.

Boxford, Essex County, Massachusetts. 15th January 1967. 3.00 am. Over a country pond a witness saw a bright red oval object looking like an upside down saucer with a white glowing rim which approached and circled his house. Ho-hum.

Shelbyville, Shelby County, Kentucky. 15th January 1967. 9.00 pm. A male teenager saw an erratically moving bright light southeast of town. The light was elongated, almost cylindrical and was soon joined by another one. Both hovered over the one spot and then vanished. Fifty minutes later a power failure threw most of the City into darkness. Just before the blackout a soft blue light was seen over the substation. Several residents claimed to have seen the unusual craft over their houses. What else is new?

Freetown, Jackson County, Indiana. 17th January 1967. 9.30 pm. Mr and Mrs Phil Patton were in their car when a UFO swooped down at them. It was silent and the Patton's had a queer cold feeling. The object blinded them and then took off to the north. Mr Patton's eyes were very sore from flashing lights. Conjunctivitis again. A very difficult symptom to fake I would believe.

Freetown, Jackson County, Indiana. 17th January 1967. 9.30 pm. Mr Francis Bedel Junior was driving south on Highway 135 five miles from town when he saw a bright light in the sky that came rapidly out of the north and approached his car. Francis lost control of his car and ended up in a ditch. The disc was oscillating with red, yellow, blue and white lights on it and was thirty feet in diameter. All seems normal if odd for the 17th January around Freetown.

Williamstown, Berkshire County, Massachusetts. 18th January 1967. Four witnesses saw a flash in the sky preceding a power failure. Soon after they saw a lighted domed object near the ground on the opposite bank of the Green River. When the witnesses drove away to find help the red glowing object buzzed them. Another powerfailure in connection with a UFO sighting? Strange enough one might say. What is even stranger is that many areas in Massachusetts have phenomenal numbers of Phenomenal sightings yet this area has a history of four in total. Including this latest one these are daynight over Albany in 1881, an Airship in 1908 over Pittsfield and at Waterford on July 13,1965, a UFO was seen hovering over powerlines during a huge blackout of New York State as well as the local area.

Dunbar, Kanawha County, West Virginia, 19th January 1967. Thursday. A large metal sphere was seen hovering above a road. It was twenty feet in diameter and the colour of dull Aluminium and was on top of four legs that seemed to have castors on them. The craft also had a nine inch in diameter window and an idling propellor underneath that began to spin rapidly just before the UFO rose and then vanished into the sky. Later huge tracks of an animal that must have weighed several hundred pounds were found. They came from and led to nowhere. There was also a single giant Human footprint. Did they stop their flight to give Fido Stellaris a walk? Interstellar petwalking again? Other than that pretty ordinary.

Methuen, Essex County, Massachusetts. 20th January 1967. Miss Kimberly Lodge, Ellen Kenney and Janice Shafer, all students, were in a car when they saw a string of nine to ten glowing red lights up ahead over a field to their left. The object stopped and spun around on its' axis. Now there were different lights and configuration. Kim pulled the car over whereupon it stalled and the radio and headlights went out. The object was hovering 100 feet up about 300 feet away. There were four glowing lights that formed a trapezoid, two red lights on top and two white lights on the base that were blinking slightly. The object was as big as a house. The generator lamp on the car's dashboard was pulsating on and off. The object then vanished and everything came back on again and the engine started on its own. There were several individual witnesses of the UFO in the area. Normal again. Almost prepatterned in a way. But why should this part of Massachusetts at 71west 42 North have such a large number of sightings so far at 56 and growing and the previous part of Massachusetts at 73 West 42 North that we visited only just before have a total history of four? Are there more loonies in one area compared to another or is one area just a bit weirder in general than the other?

Yorba Linda, Orange County, California. 24th January 1967. Tom, the boy from the earlier sighting, was upstairs doing his homework. It was raining and when he glanced outside he saw a peculiar top hat shaped object hovering over the houses across the street. Tom grabbed a camera and took a snapshot photograph and then ran downstairs to call his parents. The object had vanished by then. The object was metallic, had a dull black surface and did not reflect light. Four slender legs extended from its bottom side. Tom's family had seen the same odd craft only recently in the same spot on 4th January .

South Ashburnham, Worcester County, Massachusetts. 25th January 1967. Betty Andreasson saw a pinkish glow outside her house. Then a number of Alien beings came in through a closed wooden door. When the beings entered the house the other members of the family lapsed into a coma. Betty was a devout Christian Fundamentalist and thought they were Angels. They weren't. She and the group leader exchanged greetings. She asked if they would like something to eat. They could only eat burned food. Betty gave the Hominoid a copy of the family Bible and the leader, called Quazgaa, gave Betty a thin blue book. Betty was then floated out of the door toward the craft. The bottom of the saucer became transparent. Once inside she was subject to painful physical examination. Had a needle put into her navel. Same as Betty Hill. A probe was pushed up her nose as well. She was placed in a chair inside a plastic bubble that was then filled with liquid. Air hoses were connected to her nose and mouth. Apparently taken to another World. Given message of peace and warning by Aliens. She returned home. No memory of events after seeing lights in backyard. She recalled her father looking through the windows and seeing creatures that reminded him of Halloween freaks. Betty claimed other encounters from 1944 onwards. The Aliens were small creatures with bald pear-shaped heads. Large, slanted black eyes. Three fingers on each hand. Four feet tall. Blue coveralls. Insignia of bird on sleeve. Leader of group had one white eye and one black eye. Also another creature three feet tall with two arms and two legs but no head. Had eyes at ends of long stalks that could move independently. Slugcreatures again? Oddly enough there was also a sluglike creature that was consumed by fire and then rose again as a big bird. Delusions or alleged realities? And in an area with a very high number of Phenomenal sightings? This is one thing that Betty would not have known which gives greater credence to her undergoing a Phenomenal event. She possibly had a better than average chance being in that place at that particular time.

Osorno, Chile. late January 1967. A man trekking in a forest saw a beam of light and a UFO. He became paralysed. Then a Humanlike form appeared from thin air that was 4.5 feet tall and wore a wrinkle free translucent suit. And this witness was just Lucky.

Malta, Philips County, Montana. January 1967. A Farmer and his wife were awakened by the barking of their dog. Then they saw a large rectangular object with red and amber lights moving rapidly in the distance that finally landed in a nearby field. Nothing much ever happens in Montana unlike Brooksville, recently.

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida, near Weeki Wachi Springs. January 1967. A huge hairy skulking thing was seen in the backyard of a house. Left strange Hominoid tracks and was not a bear.

Near New Port Richey, near Elfers, Pasco County, Florida, near Anclote River. January 1967. Four teenagers were in a car in Lovers Lane when one of the two female witnesses complained of an unpleasant smell. As the others took deep breaths and smelt a powerful, stifling, nauseating odour an animal the size of an ape suddenly sprang onto the hood of the car. The creature was a greenish colour with glowing green eyes. One of the witnesses started the motor in panic and the hairy manbeast jumped off and ran into the woods. The four in the car tore back to the dance that they were supposed to be at. A Police Officer later found an unidentified green sticky substance on the right side and the hood of the car which he scraped off with his penknife.

Anclote River, near Elfers, Pasco County, Florida. January 1967. Several hunters spotted a huge, hairy apelike figure walking along the Anclote River. The hunters were so frightened that they ran away from the creature without even thinking of using the highpowered rifles that they were carrying. Something is definitely roaming around in this particular area and a group of well seasoned hunters would definitely know what a bear looked like and would have welcomed the arrival as a possible addition to their trophy cabinet rather than running away in fear!

Anclote River, near Elfers, Pasco County, Florida. January 1967. The “Abominable Sandman” as the locals began to call it was seen several times by individual witnesses, campers, hikers and motorists. The creatures were seen along the Highway and sometimes approached the witnesses. The reported creatures were six to seven feet tall, very heavily covered with long hair often of a greenish tint and emmitting terrible odour. Could anyone suggest a decent shampoo and conditioner?

Wildwood Inn, Trinity County, California. Near Mount Shasta. January 1967. Bob Kelley heard a strange moaning noise from outside and saw a Bigfoot that was dark brown with silver tipped hair, a flat nose and no hair on its face or hands looking into his house through a window.

On 2nd February 1967 seven people saw a small football-shaped object that was bright red and falling very slowly over Cremorne in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. The object fell to the west and was watched through binoculars before it fell behind some trees. It was not seen to reappear again and nothing was found of it. Where did it go?

On 6th February 1967 Ruth Ford sighted two fast-moving cigar-shaped aerial craft that each had two small propellers on them and a row of windows whilst she was driving between Deming and Las Cruces in Dona Ana County in New Mexico.

Monterey, Nuevo Leon, Mexico, Sierra Madre Orientale. 7th February 1967. Tuesday. A titanium sphere fell from the sky. Ours or theirs or whose?

Tularosa, Otero County, New Mexico. 10th February 1967. 4.30 am. Richard Martinez of Tucumcari was driving home from Alamogordo when he saw a round bottomed metallic object with a domed top hovering beside Highway 54, twenty-five miles north of Tularosa. There were three lights attached to the outer circumference and one greenish coloured light blinking on and off. He reported the sighting to the Police. This is New Mexico, home of frequent Meteor Falls, and occasional UFOs. Previously in this area there had been a fall of fish at Bingham, Socorro County, in 1952, near Round Mountain, Otero County, on April 25,1964, a motorist saw a great Meteor or bright object coming down during a flap, and on April 30,1964, five days later, the Pilot of a B-52 aeroplane was paced by a white egg-shaped craft that had the same insignia on the side as the famous craft that had landed at Socorro on 24th April , at 106 West 34 North as well as been seen in other places over the next few days such as the north range of the Stallion Missile Site near San Antonio on 30th April .

Big Fork, Flathead County, Montana. 12th February 1967. Monday. 10.00 pm. Mrs James Thompson and her two small children were in a moving truck when the engine suddenly died and the headlights went out. There was a bright greenish blue light hovering overhead. The light veered to the right and changed its' colour to reddish orange and the truck then started again on its own. The mother had felt heat coming from the light. Normal occurrences? They seem to fit recognised patterns of behaviour. If there is a behavioural periodicity so to say to our Phenomena independent of place or time then this thematic structure would lend credence to Phenomenal sightings as independent witnesses would generally have no comprehension of many of the smaller details that are repeated over and over again. Things such as heat coming from swooping lights.

On 12th February 1967 Mrs. Pile in Wollstonecraft in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia was watching the news on television with her husband at 7.20 pm when she saw a bright object travelling very slowly at eye level that then hovered over a nearby house 150 yards away. Mrs. Pile observed it with a pair of binoculars and saw that it was a perfect sphere surrounded by a belt of smaller spheres just below its middle. It was three times the size of the moon and pulsating glowed a bright red and then drifted out of sight. Other people in the area also saw it.

Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts. 17th February 1967. 6.55 pm. Several witnesses including a salesman for Flying Tiger Airlines saw the cars ahead slow and stop to observe a silent object of unknown shape hovering low over the road. The witnesses amazingly passed directly underneath it and saw a rectangular pattern of floodlights on its undersides. This was on Routes 93/495. The cars did not stop though thus ruling out automatically associated auto malfunction caused by electromagnetic fields as a standard byproduct of Phenomena. The Phenomena of vehicle stalling might then have to be regarded as intentional due to its erratic nature. What was weird was that the cars continued driving under the hovering craft instead of locking on their brakes, U-turning and heading away from the craft as fast as they could go!

Dorchester, Norfolk County, Massachusetts. 17th February 1967. 1.05 am.. Several witnesses saw what looked like a cymbal with a dome on top over the City Rest Home. The cymbal made a whirring beeping sound and there were four to five purplish lights around its perimeter whilst it hovered at treetop level. There were several individual witnesses. Did this one stop any cars?

Around 10.15 pm on the night of 23rd February 1967 four people on the Patawolonga in Glenelg in South Australia saw a red-orange triangular object which rose up out of the sea and then sank in again and taking five minutes to do so. It resembled an approaching ship on fire but with no flickering flames. The object only moved up and down.

On 24th February 1967 three tourists from Adelaide were travelling past the Three Sisters Islands near Penguin in Tasmania when they spotted a row of strange flying objects above the water. Mr. W. Jones leapt out of the car and photographed them. Another youth also took photos. Mr. Jones photo shows four flying things at different levels surrounded by dark shadowy rings.

Winsted, Litchfield County, Connecticut. February 1967. A businessman, as well as two other witnesses, saw an object that hovered over the town for fifteen minutes before disappearing with red and green flashes.

Winsted, Litchfield County, Connecticut. February 1967. Several days after the businessman sighting two girls heard a lawnmower like noise coming from the barn. Then they saw three Hominoids approaching their house but a passing car frightened them off. Minutes later the girls and a Neighbour saw a UFO take off from a nearby hill. Avon calling and why three of them? Why in the majority of Hominoid cases near landed craft is there an Unholy Trinity, namely three Hominoids? Remember that we are concerned primarily with themes, not erratic details, unless they too can fit into themes.

Hartley Bay, British Columbia. February 1967. Two men were on an island near Hartley Bay when they saw and shot at a Bigfoot which then screamed as it ran off.

Eden, Erie County, New York, Lake Erie. 1st March 1967. A UFO landed and from it came a being in a skin tight black suit, helmet and Goggles, approached the witness and took his gun and examined it. You always hand over your weapons to every strange Alien that you meet?

Hoquiam, Grays Harbour County, Washington State. 1st March 1967. 8.20 am. Mrs Ernestine Brower saw a UFO land in a field. The craft had flashing lights and made a Beep-Beep noise which was also heard by the Police.

Beep-Beep-Beep-Beep-Beep!

Towanda, Butler County, Kansas. 1st March 1967. 9.00 pm. Four young men and Marshall Virgil Osborne saw a flying craft with revolving red, white and blue lights which had landed and then rose 300 feet before heading southwest.

Blodgett, Oregon. 3rd March 1967. 8.00 pm. Mrs Lucky Newell and her three daughters were four miles north of town when one of the daughters heard a metallic beeping noise. All of them then they saw a round light yellow-orange and blue green glow hover over the treetops before vanishing. The Beep-Beep-Beep was back.

Beep-Beep-Beep-Beep-Beep. Was it reversing? Or had someone left the door open?

Hallam, Victoria. Australia. 5th March 1967. 5.30 pm. John Coyle and his sister Miriam Coyle took six photographs of a silver object that was below the clouds which then circled around. The object was initially seen at fifteen degrees East, approached the witnesses in a straight line before circling and then vanished over the horizon but still below the clouds. Did it smile for the camera? Was it curious?

Between Midland, Stanley County, and Pierre, Hughes County, South Dakota. 5th March 1967. Mr and Mrs Russell Carter Junior, and their three children saw bright light following their car that eventually came closer to the car ten miles east of town. The light was hovering as low as the telephone lines and was Vee shaped with a bright light on it. The road and the area around the car were bathed with a light so bright that you could drive without headlights. There was also a humming noise and the witnesses felt a numbness in their bodies. The car still did not stall though. Better cars? Previously there had been several sightings of cigar-shaped Airships over South Dakota here in 1897.

Canterbury, Sydney. New South Wales. Australia. before 8th March 1967. Over a Lawn Bowling Green off Wairoa Street Mrs Manhood and her sister Mrs Coleman had a UFO sighting that lasted ten minutes during the mid-morning. Mrs Manhood went to fetch her small daughter from the vicinity of the Lawn Bowling Green as it was raining when she saw an odd object come from her left and pass over the Bowling Green. There were no markings on it and it gradually changed from a circular to an elliptical shape. The flying object was dark grey black in colour and the size of a small car at treetop height. It also made a noise likea humming top. The the time of the sighting Mrs Coleman's telephone had died whilst she was ringing her mother. After five minutes the UFO which was still travelling on a level and straight course passed over the nearby Railway embankment and was also seen by Mrs Clavis before reappearing after one minute before it climbed at an angle of 70 degrees into the sky. Mr Manhood now saw it as he joined the Ladies. The telephone was out as it passed over?

Leominster, Worcester County, Massachusetts. 8th March 1967. Sunday. 1.00 am. Mr William Wallace and his wife were parked in their car in a thick patch of fog near Saint Leo's Cemetery when they saw a bright light appear in the nearby Cemetery. They drove into the fog to investigate the strange glow coming from the Church fearing that it might be on fire and parked the car level with the Cemetery and stared in amazement. The UFO was bright as acetyline, like a flattened egg and making a whirring noise and was hovering several hundred feet above the ground. Mr. Wallace got out of the car with a torch in his hand and shone it towards the craft. As he raised his arm the car lights, radio and engine died and William then felt an electric shock followed by a prickling sensation. His body became numb and paralysed, his torch arm was pulled against the roof of the car with such force that it left an imprint in the packed ice and snow and the UFO then vanished. Was there a light short circuit as the two light beams hit each other? The paralysis wore off after thirty to forty seconds and the car was back to normal. A fog had also surrounded the craft but otherwise it was a perfectly clear night. Incidentally no moisture from the strange fog accumulated anywhere. What were they doing in the Cemetery? We have had sexually based connections suggested before in regard to many of our Phenomenal events. Why else would they be parked in the fog that early in the morning instead of at home? What was the fog that was not a fog? Was it the beginning of the transformation of the craft as it re-entered the Quasar Vacuum or was it camouflage? Was it a fog of light?

Letart Falls, Meigs County, Ohio. 12th March 1967. A UFO was seen. In association with it there was a ten foot tall long haired creature with curved wings. It was a white coloured thing with a ten foot wingspan and it swooped in front of the witnesses' car. You tell me what it is then? A flying Hairy Hominoid?

Juan de Fuca, Clallam County, Washington State. 13th March 1967. 8.17 pm. Three teenage boys in a car were passed at high speed by another car containing an Airforceman and a screaming girl which was being followed by an intense light. The Airman's car turned into the driveway of Cecil Perkins and the Airman got out. At this moment the boys' car died. The engine had suddenly stopped and the headlights were inoperable. The boys then saw a UFO on the brow of a hill that was ducking in and out of the trees and then hovered over the Airman's car whilst giving off a pulsating light. Then the UFO took off into the sky and the car started again. Even on the ground the Airforce aren't safe. And the cars are still no good.

Minot, Ward County, North Dakota. 15th March 1967. Wednesday. Hundreds of witnesses who were personnel at the Minuteman Missile Base were scrambled when a circular metallic UFO one hundred feet in diameter was seen hovering over it at an altitude of 500 feet. Was it merely curious? This was only ten days after the South Dakota sighting.

Salem, Marion and Polk County, Oregon. 16th March 1967. Ronald Baker with his brother and a friend photographed a disc-shaped object hovering near his home. The hovering object was dark and oval-shaped and hovered close above the boys. It was flatbottomed with a domed top. Smile for the camera please!

Lebanon, Warren County, Ohio. 16th March 1967. Mrs Robert Smith and her daughters Cindy Smith and Lee Smith werein her car when they saw a bright white craft flying around. The object was shining and almost as big as a house and the light hurt their eyes. Sometimes the light turned red. There was also a halo around it and it was hovering at treetop height and spinning like a top underneath. The witnesses drew nearer and the lights of the car then died. Mrs Smith was so fascinated she got out of the car and stood in her driveway waving her arms for 45 minutes. The object also emitted a highpitched noise that hurt the ears and the family dog scurried under a bed. Sore ears? Sore ears? Dead car headlights? All hallucinations? Was Mrs. Smith only remembering that she had stood in the driveway for fortyfive minutes waving her arms? Had she actually been doing or been somewhere else?

Between Saint George and Mitchell, Queensland, Australia. 16th March 1967. 8.30 pm. Mr. Barry Morris and his fiancee's mother, Mrs Vera Lidden, were driving along about 64 kilometres from Mitchell when they saw a greenish light nearby. The light came from an object four metres high by five metres long that was hovering just one foot above the ground in a nearby paddock in a clearing near some trees. There appeared to be a doorway in its' front and a fold up hatchway which led to the ground. From smoke-haze inside this doorway a very bright blue light like a welding arc seemed to emanate that was a blue-green colour at first and then changed to silver. The object itself was a silvery colour like unpainted metal. As the witnesses drove closer it took off. At this moment the radio stopped working though the lights and engine were unaffected. About three kilometres further on the UFO reappeared and followed the car until it vanished about eight kilometres out of Mitchell. Barry returned the following day and found three rectangular holes each about fifteen centimetres wide, thirty centimetres long and seven centimetres deep forming an equilateral triangle with sides one metre long. The UFO followed the car for fifty-three kilometres and effected the car radio but not the lights and engine.

Brewer, Perry County, Missouri. 17th March 1967. Several individual witnesses including Police Patrolman K. O. Walley saw a UFO land in a field. The craft had revolving red, white and green lights and Police Patrolman Walley took photographs of it. Four imprints were also found in the field at the landing site later. Why aren't there ever any trustworthy and reliable witnesses? You never hear of Police seeing these things! Sure Dude. Police are actually amongst the most common witnesses. Why did no one report the UFO leaving?

Munroe Falls, near Kent, Butler County, Ohio. 28th March 1967. Tuesday. 2.30 am. Mr. David Morris, twenty years old, was in his car when he saw an orange-red glare behind a hill. Then twenty-five yards to his left in a wheat field David spotted a wedge shaped object that was twenty-five foot tall by twelve foot wide and was hovering at only three feet off the ground. On the pointy top was a ballshape. On looking back at the road in front of him David then saw several Hominoids that were only 3.5 to four foot tall on the road scurrying around and across fifty feet ahead of the car. David braked hard but hit one though the other Hominoids did not seem to notice the car. The hand of one of them had flown up as david had heard a thump. Instinctively he made to stop and then realised that what he had hit was not Human. David then tramped the accelerator and sped home. It was a slightly foggy night. The next day David went back to the site with a friend and there were skid marks there from the car. The chrome trim was also dinted in three separate places and scratches were visible on it. The object had been hovering over the field and at the time the witness had smelt something like hot brass that he knew was not his car. The four or five Hominoids had an orange glow to them and were stockily built with enormous heads in relation to their bodies. They were wearing coveralls and were very agile, much more than humans. The car functioned perfectly during the incident. Obviously the Hominoids were not agile or not alert enough to spot a car travelling down the road and to take evasive action. Is it breaking the Law to not stop and render assistance after a motor accident in which one is involved even if one has had the accident with an alleged Alien? Did the Aliens see the car approaching? Were they agile at all or running in a different time space to that of David that appeared much faster?

Peterborough, South Australia. 30th March 1967. 8.30 pm. Mr Smith and another witness saw an object emanating a blue purple glow and flashes underneath it. At the same time their car died. One hour later at 9.30 pm they saw a stationary purple glow in a creek bed. At 10.30 pm the same witnesses saw a six metre disc take off from the ground. The ascending object gave out blue, purple, green, orange and yellow colours. A whole litany of sightings in a single long sighting.Previously in 1854 a hairy long necked creature came out of the Rocky River near Mount Remarkable here and startled a Gentleman who was camping near a large and deep waterhole and on 5th March 1953 two railwaymen at Quorn saw a UFO fly over.

Wellington, near Loco, Collingsworth County, Texas. 31st March 1967. 10.30 pm. Mr Carroll Wayne Watts, a farmer, was returning home when he saw a strange light. He drove to within twenty feet of it on dirt road. The Light was one hundred feet long by eight to ten feet high. Watts walked up to it and found a door and knocked on it three or four times. A voice began speaking to him. The voice was genderless and asked if Watts could submit to a rigorous physical examination and if he passed it he could make a flight with them. No woman or child could though. The voice asked Watts to stand before a machine. Watts saw a map on a wall and the voice continued coaxing Watts to come inside. Watts left and got back into the car and turned his lights on the ship. It gave off a clear flourescent glow and began to move and then took on a reddish cast. The UFO took off and headed south as Mr. Watts drove away. There was no noise from the machine. The promises continue as does the mythology.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. March 1967. Harold Sonny Harmon, a Police Officer, was cruising around the TNT area when he suddenly came upon a large dark elliptical form that was hovering a few feet above a small pond. The craft had windows and rocked like a boat hitting waves and then floated away silently over the trees. Everything is happening at Point Pleasant. What a name!

Huntington, near the Ohio River, Wayne County, West Virginia. March 1967. One morning early in the month Mr Bean Shetzer, the driver of a Redcross Bloodmobile and a Nurse were on Highway two when the Nurse first saw a glow which became a circular glowing orange. The UFO had taken off from a hill and headed in the van's direction. After a few minutes the light was hovering directly over the van. An aerial disc with extensors like two flattened tongs coming down from it tried to pick up the Redcross Bloodmobile. The UFO retreated as the headlights of oncoming cars appeared and retracted the grapple. It is after all only fifty-five kilometres as the Gargoyle or Bigbird flies between Huntington and Point Pleasant.

Route 33, near Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. March 1967. It was a rainy night and an Ohio man in a car was pursued by a huge winged something. Where the Gargoyle was still very busy.

On 1st April 1967 Mr. W. Wilson of Para Hills in South Australia saw a large circular object the size of a plate in the sky. Clouds obscured it at first but through a break Mr. Wilson saw a small object leave from below the larger one and leave at fantastic speed.

Crestview, Okaloosa County, Florida. 6th April 1967. Hundreds of children, Teachers and nearby adult residents saw circular metallic objects hovering over the Crestview Elementary School. How many massed schoolsightings have there been so far? The first was in 1883 at Segeberg near Hamburg in Germany when the Teacher and students of an elementary school saw two fiery spheres the size of Full Moons travelling side by side. The second was in 1930 when the Headmaster of Barton High School near Bristol called the Teachers and pupils outside to see a wonder in the sky. It was a silvery-white metallic cigarshape moving in a stately manner through the sky. The third was in 1955 over Whitsett, North Carolina, when ten objects resembling shiny steel balls flew over whilst dropping Angelhair. In 1959 there was a sighting by students and staff at the Boianai Mission School in what was then Papua-New Guinea and the list continues on to Lima, Peru, August 24,1965, followed by Spring Grove Elementary School in New York State on 16th October , the same year, to March 1966 when the students and staff of Point Pleasant High School saw a hovering saucer and its Venusian appearing occupant on to Westall High School in Clayton, Victoria, Australia, on 6th April ,1966 where a grey domed object took off from behind some trees and remained in view for twenty minutes. This does not include sightings on schoolgrounds by individuals or groups of individuals of which there are several as well.

Wellington, near Loco, Collingsworth County, Texas. 11th April 1967. Carroll Wayne Watts saw a strange light on the way home. Again. The engine of his pickup truck stalled and Mr. Watts got out. There was an eggshaped object directly behind him and a door opened. Four small men appeared that were less than five feet tall with a muscular build, elongated eyes and slitlike mouths that did not move when they spoke. The hominoids wore white coveralls and asked the witness to again go with them. This time Carroll went with them and was flown to a much larger machine where he was examined by a machine which probed his body with wires. In the months following the witness saw the Hominoids again and photographed them eleven times. Carroll Watts again. The only other events to have happened in the area were in 1897 when an Airship was seen over Childress and more recently on 31st March when Carroll first allegedly met the Aliens.

Orange, Franklin County, Massachusetts. 11th April 1967. 6.45 pm. Three witnesses saw an elliptical object resembling a squashed egg that was hovering at 100 feet over Tully Pond before moving off at great speed. The craft had a rotating red light on its' bottom. Some parts of Massachusetts have very long histories of Phenomenal events. Some do not. This is one of them. The first sighting occurred here at Amherst in 1819 when a bright light was seen in the sky from which a bowl fell to Earth containing an unknown substance. In 1908 an illuminated Airship passed over Ware on 21st October and then again in 1908 on 31st October ten days later. In 1922 crocodiles up to six feet long were sighted in Dismal Swamp and one two feet long was captured followed by more crocodiles on the Franconia Golf course at Palmer.In 1961 in Springfield over one hundred automobiles had their rear windows shattered by unknown and unfound objects. Near Westfield, in May 1962. a UFO that could be seen from two miles away landed on Highway 23 near the junction of Highway 20. At Brimfield in 1964 a landed UFO was seen the same day, 13th November as another landed UFO was seen at Sturbridge.

Coon Rapids, Anoka County, Minnesota. 24th April 1967. Mr and Mrs Willard L. Hays saw two oversized bunnies during the evening in an open area one mile west of Highway 47 near the Anoka County Fair-grounds. Giant Bunnies? This area had had numerous giant kangaroo sightings since 1957.

Clinton, Custer County, Oklahoma. 27th April 1967. A Motorist was pursued by a pacing UFO hovering at an altitude of 200 feet. The UFO shone a bright light down on to him and followed the car for some distance. There were a number of individual witnesses as well. All is normal.

Sjaellands, Zealand, Denmark, Odde Peninsula. April 1967. Two witnesses saw a dark object swooping down. The craft was hovering and lowered three legs as if about to land but then retracted them and sped off over the Kattegut Strait at a low height. The craft then evacuated some lumps over the sea and near the shore. Then the craft turned over whilst above the sea and came back to the original spot and hovered. Then the craft lowered a box on a cable and eight little Hominoids got out of it. They seemed to have cameras and appeared friendly and waved stiffly and smiled. One was in a black suit and the others were in stripes and they all carried electrical torches with lights on both ends. They then re-entered the craft and it rose with a soft humming noise. The evacuated lumps were found to be lime and inorganic coal mixed in an unknown way and were examined by the local Institute of Technology. Why should the United States have all of the fun?

Haverhill, Essex County, Massachusetts. April 1967. Spring. 2.00 am. At Pond River Airport Mr Seaman saw an oval object that made a whirring noise and had an electrical smell. The craft resembled two silver plates placed rim to rim. There were two moving Hominoids that were seen inside the transparent dome and dome ports glowed on the perimeter. What is the electrical smell? Is it ozone?

Edmonton, Alberta, Canada. 7th May 1967. Sunday. Ricky Barnyard, 14, saw a UFO manoeuvring over a graveyard. The object cast a rectangular-shaped light over the area and the areas that the light beam had hit on the ground, the drive and the walkways were charred. A heatray? Shades of Mount Kilimanjaro.

Holbak, Zealand, Denmark. 11th May 1967. Thursday. A lone witness saw a bright light land in a field. The object left behind a fine cotton substance that disintegrated within three days and it was a strange colour that the witness had never seen before. This is commonly called Angelhair. The last Danish sighting was only in the previous month.

Wareham, Plymouth County, Massachusetts. 11th May 1967. 2.05am. Four witnesses saw two objects shaped like inverted dishes with red and white lights rotating around a rim. They hovered and descended behind some trees in a cranberry bog and went up and down like Yo-yos. Police spotlights caused them to move away. What is a Cranberry Bog? Were the Ufohoms making jam or jelly?

Philadelphia, Philadelphia County, Pennsylvania. 18th May 1967. 6.35AM. Mrs Ruth Smythe was driving six miles out of town following a large moving van when she saw a disc-shaped craft with no fins, wings or other protuberances except for an exhaust pipe from which a thin stream of steamlike vapour came. There was no sound and the object was a dark, dull gunmetal colour with a black band around the middle. The craft had portholes and was hovering no higher than the height of three telephone poles. It had a domed top which was rotating on a central axis. Below the middle or belt section was a rather flattened saucer-shaped bottom. Ruth watched it for three minutes and suddenly cherry red sparks came from the exhaust and the craft took off vertically into the overcast sky. At that moment Ruth got the most awful toothache. After few minutes the toothache went. This is our first tooth-ache amongst other aches and pains.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 19th May 1967. 10.30 pm. Two women saw a Mothman fly to meet a hovering UFO near the TNT area on Route 62. Brenda Stone saw two redlights on a shadowy form high in a tree just off the road when suddenly a big red light appeared and approached the tree and the shadowy form rose up towards it and vanished. Then the big light took off to the north. A Bigbird or Hombird hitching a lift in a UFO?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 19th May 1967. A group of witnesses saw a brilliantly lighted object land briefly in a field next to Ohio River Junior High School. Back to school again?

Falcon Lake,75 miles from Winnipeg, Manitoba, Canada. 21st 1967. May, Sunday. Noon. Steve Michalak was out fossicking when he saw two luminous UFOs that were like stainless steel. The second one landed and the other one left in the direction that they came. They were circular. Steve commenced to sketch the remaining one. After twenty-five minutes a door slid open and revealed dazzling purple lights. Steve pulled down the visor of his welders helmet that he wore to protect himself from flying rock fragments and through the dark glass of the visor the lights appeared to be arrangements of red, blue and green lights on a panel. Steve had thought that it was a Secret craft. As Steve moved closer the UFO emitted a high pitched humming noise like a motor being run at highspeed and there was a burned out electric smell followed by a whoosh of air. The witness thought he had heard voices inside the craft and walked up to the craft and asked who they were in Polish and English. He touched the side of the craft with his gloved hand and the glove melted. The door in the ship suddenly closed and the UFO began to rotate counterclockwise. Steve was blown to the left by a blast of hot air and the craft gave off heat that set his clothes on fire. The craft then sped away. The ship was 35 foot long by eight foot high with a three foot protrusion on top. The flame caught the witness full in the chest as the craft left and knocked him backwards. Both his skin and the shirt were burnt with a chequer-board pattern. Eventually Steve suffered blackouts, nausea and lost 22 pounds but returned to normal after a few weeks. Later a burnt smell came from within him and 124 days later the burns reappeared and his body swelled up. Then he returned to normal. The illness from then on reappeared every 109 to 124 days. Steve seemed to be suffering radiation sickness. Whatever it was the craft emitted extremely strong electromagnetic waves that left symptoms and burning similar to radiation burns. Thankfully for the witness he was wearing his Goggles or he would probably have a case of Klieg Conjunctivitis without equal. For the body to swell up might even indicate abnormal microwave radiation. For a period Steve might have even been cooking from the inside.

Murray Bridge, South Australia. 28th May 1967. 2.00 am. Four young people watched as two very bright pale yellow coloured balls, some ten metres across, crossed the road behind the car they were in. Then a third similar ball was seen in an adjacent paddock hovering six metres above the ground. Was the car moving or parking?

Beausejour, Manitoba, Canada. 31st May 1967. A woman saw a hovering UFO approach him with a brilliant white light. Her husband checked out the site the next day and the soil had been scorched. Scorched ground? Quite normal for many alleged landing sites.

On 31st May 1967 a sixteen inch long alligator was captured in a horticulture pond at Michigan State University, Lansing, Ingham County, Michigan.

Malagasy Republic, Africa. May 1967. Noon. A platoon of twenty-three soldiers, four NCOS and Officer Wolff of the French Foreign Legion were on a reconnaissance mission. It was noon when they saw a bright shiny object resembling a metallic egg. The egg landed rapidly making movements like a falling leaf and made a piercing, whistling noise and then thumped into the ground. All witnesses at the time were paralysed. Almost immediately the witnesses looked at their watches. It was now 3.15 pm. There had been a massive timeloss of three and a quarter hours. The object was 23 feet high by ten to 13 feet wide and rose slowly at first then vanished at high speed as though being sucked up into the sky. The egg left three marks on the ground that seemed to be made by legs. Also there was a ten foot deep crater at the bottom of which was a vitrified ring of coloured crystals. For two days afterwards all of the witnesses had headaches with constant beating in the region of the temples and a constant buzzing sound in the ears. It is reported that the witnesses lost time which is not an unusual side-effect of UFO sightings either. Where did three hours fifteen minutes go?

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida. May 1967. There were many individual witnesses of a tall Hairy Hominoid that left three toed tracks in the area. Cattle were disappearing at the same time and there might have been a connection. There were no traces of rustlers or trucks and no remains were ever found. All is normal around Brooksville. The intergalactic butcher is getting some stock.

Naples, Napoli, Italy, Bay of Naples. May 1967. There were thousands of witnesses over a large part of the City that encountered a fog that acted like an overpowering toxic gas that had drifted into the city. It was unidentifiable and a large part of the city had to be evacuated. Toxic fog or toxic smog? Volcanic or industrial? Previously Naples had been visited by a falling lump of coal in 1818, a giant Meteor over the city during an earthquake in 1821, Vesuvius erupted in 1872 and during this the city was veiled in fog and darkness, in 1885 an artificially worked piece of stone fell from the sky, ashes fell from the sky at Avellino in 1901, in 1906 on the same day as the San Francisco earthquake Vesuvius erupted, on October 17,1954 a UFO landed on Cape Massulo on Capri from which four little beings emerged and in 1958 a shell casing fell from the sky that bore the date of 1942.

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. May 1967. Group of teenagers, Dennis Taylor (19), Dave Churchill and others, saw seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid on several occasions. On the first occasion the Bigfoot was following them. The boys carried guns but did not fire them. Left nineteen to 24 inch long by eight to ten inch wide foot or hand prints. We have met this one probably before.

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. May 1967. A group of witnesses saw a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid that left nineteen to 24 inch long by eight to ten inch wide foot or hand prints. On one occasion the witnesses were chased into a field by a Bigfoot that burst through a fence and then stopped to watch them. The group got onto the nearby road and saw in the cars' headlights that the creature was crossing the road in front of them. The group went to a nearby café, rounded up some friends and armed with sticks and rocks they returned to the sighting area. The creature was now halfway up a hillside and easily outdistanced them.

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. June 1967. A same group of witnesses saw a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid that left nineteen to 24 inch long by eight to ten inch wide foot or hand prints the following night. The group had returned armed with guns but only saw the Bigfoot at a distance.

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. June 1967. The third night the group returned now numbering twelve people and they were armed with high caliber guns. Dennis Taylor and Dave Churchill became separated from the others and as they passed a tree on the hillside the branches of which hung down to the ground, they pulled aside the branches peering into the gloom and saw a large figure that was seven feet tall even though it was crouching. Dave Churchill blasted it twice in the chest with his shotgun, knocking the creature down with such force that it rolled over twice and and smashed its way through a fence snapping off three fence posts at ground level. The next day the group returned to follow any tracks but after one hundred yards they ran out as well as the blood trail.

Santa Monica, Madrid, Spain. 1st June 1967. Dusk. Four kilometres from San Jose de Valderas a UFO landed close to "La Ponderosa", a restaurant whose owner Senor Antonio Munoz was on a ladder that his chef was holding. Suddenly a lot of excited people streamed onto the patio declaring that they had all seen a ball of fire of enormous size passing right over their heads and that it was lowering three legs to land. Later some metal tubes were found at the landing site and a young boy picked one up and opened it with pliers. The liquid in it evaporated. The tube also contained two green strips like plastic bearing an embossed emblem of three vertical lines bisected by long horizontal line. The material was tested and was very pure Nickel. The plastic strips were polyvinyl fluoride that was not available commercially and only available from Dupont at the time. Insignias again and this time embossed on plastic like material dropped from a UFO followed by a UFO being seen with the same insignia on its side on both occasions in front of quite a few witnesses.

San Jose de Valderas, Madrid, Spain. 1st June 1967. Dusk. More than fifty witnesses saw a craft hovering low over them following a trajectory of electric powerlines. It was a large, lense-shaped object that was forty metres in diameter with a brilliant dome. Suddenly the UFO flipped on its side and there was an insignia or marking on the underside of the craft that was of three vertical lines with a horizontal line going through the middle. Then the craft swung to the right, stabilized itself, reached a point to the southeast, exposed the insignia again and then turned northwards and remained stationary near the Castle then flew up at an unbelievable speed. The craft's colour had changed from bright yellow to orange and finally to red.

Lake Kipissing, Ontario, Canada. 3rd June 1967. Saturday. 10.00 pm. The crew of a buoy tender saw green and white lights between two small Islands. They had been seen to rise from the water with a whoosh and speed off into the sky. The bouy tender thought it was a boat in distress and got to within one hundred feet of it when the UFO took off. Hello? Who have we here? Previously we had seen spontaneous combustion near here in 1828 and on Wasaga beach on Nollawasaga Bay a Lakemonster had been seen in 1938 by several witnesses.

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 13th June 1967. morning. Richard Raynor, seventeen years old, filmed an animate object of great size in the Loch. The film was examined by the RAAF. Ho-hum.

Caledonia, Haldimand County, Ontario, Canada. 13th June 1967. Tuesday. 2.30 am. First one and then two witnesses saw a 36 foot long UFO that was flashing multicoloured lights in a mine dump. The craft was cigar-shaped and had four small evenly spaced windows along the side as well as a boomlike aerial protruding from one end. There was another UFO twelve foot across there as well and they were both hovering twelve feet above the ground. There were three small Hominoids wearing miners helmets moving about under the boom aerial and they had four small amber lights on their helmets. They were only seen for ten minutes and there was no noise. When the second witness came the hominoids had gone though the UFOs were still there. They then left. The discs then took off to the southwest. A reasonably busy area over time.

Henrico County, Virginia. 13th June 1967. Tuesday. Mr Charles W. Fletcher, 65, was sitting in his yard reading a newspaper when a bright light swooped down from the sky and hovered above him. It ejected a purplish substance which fell onto his left elbow. While Mr Fletcher was wiping it off another glob fell which burnt the right side of his face. Caustic spoor or just an act of viciousness? Previously there had been a fall of flesh and blood from a little red cloud over Cloverlea in 1850, two men were struck by lightning from a clear sky at Cold Harbour in 1900, in 1947 a Meteorologist and his crew tracked the movement of a silver saucer in the sky over Richmond using a theodolite and in 1962 there was a fall of only beans and peas onto Blackstone.

French Creek, Idaho County, Idaho. 16th June 1967. A Hairy Hominoid was seen here. Previously there had been an object like an inverted pieplate seen flying through Hells Canyon on the Snake River by two boys and a man in 1947. It was flying below the rim. Had it left someone behind? Like a big hairy friend?

Burrinjuck Dam, near Yass, New South Wales, Australia. 17th June 1967. 12.40 am. A local couple saw a red glowing object some sixty metres up and half a mile ahead of them. Suddenly a blast of greyish white light in a Vee shape came from this object towards the ground. It was quick. The male witness stopped the car and got onto the roadway. The object was a fair size and shape and similar to an old style beer barrel lying on its side and it was moving towards Burrinjuck Dam and parallel with the road. The male witness got back into the car and followed it. The car was travelling at 45 miles per hour and got within 200 yards of the object. There was a flickering light all around it and it was much faster than an aircraft's light. The craft travelled slowly and made a clicking noise at one stage like cars' blinker lights. The object then made a left hand turn and headed off towards some hills between the towns of Bowning and Yass. The craft had a bouncy action from side to side and the sighting lasted fifteen minutes. Pretty normal we would say? Previously there had been a fall of fire onto Murrumburrah nearby in 1902, a Lion seen near Burrawang in 1933 and in 1954 a yellow Leopard with black spots and an upright tail was seen near Muttama.

Lake Decatur, Macon County, Illinois. 26th June 1967. A ten inch long crocodile was caught at 895 West Eldorado Street. You can find anything in Decatur, even Coldwater crocodiles.

On 27th June 1967 a mountain lion loped across the road in front of Anthony Viccone's car at dawn whilst driving south of Decatur, Macon County,Illinois. Anthony knew that it was a mountain lion from television. The creature was six and a half feet long and a shiny metallic bronze colour and was not a bobcat. Bobcats and Mountain lions are never bronze. Around twenty sheep had been mysteriously killed in the area over the previous two weeks.

Rapid City, Pennington County, South Dakota. 30th June 1967. 2.00 am. Police Highwaypatrolman Dennis Eisnach and Perchant Township Policeman James Ferguson saw an unusual object rising up off the ground from behind some trees and stopped in the air, hovering just above the branches. The object had flashing lights and through binoculars light could be seen coming through three windows. There were also red, green and white lights and the craft made several horizontal movements and then sat back on the ground again out of sight. Eisnach drove the Patrol Car closer to it and when he got behind it two blocks away it rose up and went over a hill. The closer the craft got to the ground the brighter the white light would get. Other Officers had arrived by now and thye all saw it. One of them saw three similar craft hovering a considerable distance away through binoculars that were the same as the first one. The group of policemen watched it for 2.5 hours. Never any trustable witnesses are there?

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. June 1967. A group of witnesses saw a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid that left nineteen to 24 inch long by eight to ten inch wide foot or hand prints. We have met this one probably twice before.

Youngstown, Trumbull County, Ohio. 4th July 1967. Tuesday. A strange fog appeared over much of the City. It caused difficulty in breathing and watery eyes and was luminous and smelt like burning tar. In many cases it caused collapse and caused dizziness before gradually vanished to the east. Killer fog or industrial smog?

On 10th July 1967 Mr. T. Appolini and his wife saw two strange objects in the sky above their tobacco farm twenty miles west of Mareeba in Queensland in Australia. One of the objects kept changing its shape from a half cigar to a half circle and the other was a luminous silver cigar travelling at tremendous speed. The two lights were signaling red and green lights together and the silvery thing was travelling northwest. There were three red flashes on its right side and two green flashes on its left side which were flashing at one second intervals.

On 11th July 1967 a falling meteorite struck a building in Denver in Denver County in Colorado.

Cronulla, New South Wales. Australia. 13th July 1967. Several witnesses saw a glowing red Orb in marshes that illuminated the area.

Millerton, Dutchess County, New York. 17th July 1967. Monday. 11.25 pm. Mrs Funk was driving along Route 22 when a shiny black object the size of a softball came from overhead and bounced off her windscreen. The car headlights went out and the car stalled. Suddenly a bright light flared inside the car and Mrs Funk lost consciousness. When she came to the car was pointing in the opposite direction to that which it had been going and was one mile south of where it had been hit. What happened to Mrs Funk? Something like this could make her quite depressed.

Arc-sous-Cicon, Doubs, France. 17th July 1967. 3.00 pm. A group of young children were walking through fields dotted with bushes toward a pine forest when suddenly one of the little girls who was in the straggled lead began to sob and ran back towards her mother. She said that she had surprised several little Chinamen who had been sitting behind a bramble bush and one of them had gotten to their feet with the intention of grabbing her. A few moments later two teenage girls claimed to have just seen a strange little entity with a protuberant belly running from bush to bush. The little man wore a short jacket and moved much faster than a human being. The girls also heard other entities speaking in a sing-song manner. If you go down to the woods today it might not be necessarily Teddy bears that you run into. Previously there had been a fall of coal onto Ornans on 11th July 1868, and later that year on 5th September a great light was seen above Tremont-sur-Saulx in the sky near Jupiter, incidentally which was only seen by one other City and that was Bergamo in Italy on the same day. On 6th October ,1954. two women in Villers-le-Lac saw a whitish light on the western horizon that rose up into the sky between the Railroad Station and a bridge and six days later at Orchamps Mr Beuc saw a landed craft with a small Pilot that glided over a road before taking off.

Youngstown, Trumbull County, Ohio. 18th July 1967. Many individual witnesses saw circular UFOs above the city two weeks after a luminous fog descended upon it. Fog and UFOs? We have met it before. Previously there had been a brilliant object hovering over Poland, Ohio, for more than one hour in 1825. In 1833 there was a brilliant hooklike shape in the sky over Poland, Ohio, again, during a Meteor shower. In 1959 a truckdriver though he saw the lights of an airliner crashing into Lake Pymatuning which was ice-covered at the time. This weird light then headed straight for the truck causing its engine to die as the entire area for one hundred yards was bathed in light. On 11th July 1966 a round blue object with a long tail was seen over Lake Erie near Ashtabula and at Edinboro Lake on 17th August two Hunters saw a six foot tall Hairy Hominoid which they both fired at but did not hit. There were also UFOs around at the time. On 4th July 1967 the luminous and poisonous fog rolled in from the lake into Youngstown, Ohio making thousands of people ill. It smelt like burning tar.

Cape Santa Marthe Grande,120 miles off coast of Brazil. 20th July 1967. 6.15 pm. The Argentinian ship “Naviero” was running at seventeen knots when Captain Julian Lucas Ardanza received a call from Jorge Montoya, a ships’ Officer, of something strange near the ship. There was a shining object fifty feet away on the Starboard that was luminous cigar-shaped and 105 to 110 feet long. There was a powerful blue and white glow, no noise and no wake and no periscope, railing, tower or superstructure. The craft was pacing the ship for fifteen minutes before it suddenly dived and passed right under the ship and then vanished rapidly into the depths. The craft glowed brightly beneath the water. The ship as carrying explosives at the time. No one has glowing submarines anywhere. They would be too easy to find and destroy if you could illuminate them.

Newton, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 26th July 1967. Wednesday. Gary Storey, a former Radar operator, his sister and brother-in-Law, Mr and Mrs Francis Frappier, sighted a hovering UFO that made several passes over the town. Through binoculars and a telescope the witnesses saw five lights flashing in definite sequence. Storey answered them with a torch and the craft had answered the patterned flashlight signals with exact responses. The UFO then returned to its original path when suddenly Air Force jets appeared and the UFO took off. Not the first parroting of light signals either and this does not necessarily take much intelligence as a parrot can indeed do that, not that I would like to put any parrots down.

Churchville, Monroe County, New York. 31st July 1967. Monday. Sydney Zipkin, 50, was in a truck when he saw a greenish cigar shape with blinking lights underneath it in a carpark. There were two small Hominoids near it who boarded the UFO and took off within 60 seconds when the witness shone the truck headlights onto them. Before the craft vanished into the sky it was seen to have a hump or dome on top. It seems that they did not respond to the truck headlights. Previously in this area a large planet with a ray of light coming from it was seen over Rochester in 1883, in 1948 a fiery ball moving at terrific speed vanished into Lake Ontario near Bear Creek Harbour, in 1958 a fiery object like a burning plane crashed into Lake Ontario near Wayne County, near Salmon Point the navigation equipment on the Star of Suez went erratic and the freighter went miles off course and ran aground. Later a mystery fire hit her. In August 1966 many people saw a brilliant hovering light heading northeast over Lake Ontario that would hover over one spot for up to thirty minutes flashing red, green and white lights. This light was also seen off Gibson at the same time. This happened for three months at both Sodus and Gibson.

Toledo, Lucas County, Ohio, Lake Erie. July 1967. Robert Richardson was in his vehicle when he collided with a large glowing object on a dark country road at night. There were found to be tiny metallic fragments found at the site after the object left by departing the scene through the air. The fragments were analysed and found to be composed of Magnesium with a few other trace elements such as Aluminium, Zinc, Manganese and a significantly small proportion of Copper. You never know who you are going to run into and we do not know if the occupants of the craft came out to exchange drivers licences either for their respective insurance companies.

Middletown, Butler County, Ohio. Great Miami River. July 1967. During the summer a huge bird was seen flying over the town. Mr. James Morgan stated that the creature had a wingspan between fifteen to twenty feet wide and was dark coloured. He described it as a pterodactyl and there were four other witnesses who saw the bigbird as it glided in the sky over their porch.

Lins, Sao Paulo, Brazil. July 1967. A ladder emerged from a landed UFO in front of a group of witnesses. Suddenly a young excited boy ran towards the disc and the ladder retracted and the craft rapidly took off. The craft had landed in the grounds of a Hospital and afterwards impressions were found in the ground from something heavy. Northern or Southern hemispheres, it does not matter.

Newport (Isle of Wight),England. July 1967. Strange whirligig patterns were left in a barley crop and the grass was flattened along a narrow strip three quarters of a mile long. There were no storms and very little wind. A UFO was seen in the same area by individual witnesses. The effected areas were six yards wide, sometimes clockwise, sometimes anticlockwise but predominantly clockwise. The centres of some vortexes had tufts with broken stems in them and others none and they appeared to have been threshed. There were no straying cattle and the damage went parallel alongside a road through three fields. The patterns also made neat rectangular turns and neatly skirted a dilapidated hut. No wind could do this. No wind seen or felt. Who knows?

Saint John, New Brunswick. Canada. July 1967. Summer. Two men were sitting by a lake at night when they saw a UFO with red, orange, green and blue lights that came down onto the water making a sizzling sound before submerging completely. Next day the water was muddy and hot at the spot. No one had reported an airliner as going down that night as they do tend to be missed. Previously there had been three sightings of a serpentine Lakemonster at Lake Utopia in 1867 and in 1872 a jawsnapping Lakemonster chased two men in a canoe.

Holopaw, Osceola County, Florida. July 1967. Several prominent witnesses saw a five foot tall Hairy Hominoid. It was not an ape and no apes are native to North America. Back in Florida the natives were restless.

Anclote River, near Elfers, Pasco County, Florida. July 1967. Summer. Ralph “Bud” Chambers saw a Hairy Hominoid in his backyard. It stared straight ahead and Bud’s dog attacked it. The hairy hominoid took no notice of the dog and very slowly and methodically turned and started walking down the road that leads back to the swamp and river. The monster had to turn its’ entire body to alter its course. Is it a robot? Maybe it just had a bad back?

Caracas, Distrito Federal, Venezuela. 3rd August 1967. Tuesday. 11.30 pm. The family of witnesses were sleeping in a car in front of their house shortly after an earthquake. Then they saw a disc that was 100 feet up in the air. The object was was white and an opening appeared and a teardrop shaped object descended from it. It had a pinched top and was upside down and descended and was glowing the same as the disc. A little glowing Hominoid stepped out of the teardrop and picked up stones and examined them. When the little man looked up at the UFO its' breath condensed in the air. The little hominoid seemed to be talking to someone above him. After a few minutes the little hominoid re-entered the teardrop and ascended to the UFO. It took off. The witnesses had been sleeping in their car in front of their house as they were unsure as to how safe the house was after an earthquake in late July How incidental or accidental are our UFOs and earthquakes connected? Scientific curiosity, testing or a side-effect of the use of the Quasar Vacuum?

Arrecife, Gulf of Venezuela. 4th August 1967. Friday. Dr Hugo Sierra Yepez was fishing north of the town when he felt an off vibration. Then the sea began to boil in big bubbles in a circle six metres in diameter and a grey blue flat globe emerged from it and hovered close to the surface dripping water from itself before it then ascended in a curve and shot into space. The craft had a revolving section with triangular windows. This was no Meteor returning to the Heavens but ascending even whilst still dripping!

Pilar de Goias, Goias, Brazil. 13th August 1967. Sunday. 4.00 pm. Inacio de Souza, a ranchworker, 41, and wife saw three Hominoids playing on a landing strip. Inacio thought they were naked and his wife thought they were wearing skintight yellow clothes. The Hominoids saw the witnesses at the same time and approached them. Inacio then saw a strange aircraft at the end of runway that was like an upturned washbasin. Inacio became frightened, unslung his .44 Carbine, took aim and fired a shot at the nearest Hominoid. Suddenly a beam of green light shot back at him hitting him on the head and shoulders and knocked him out. The UFO made a noise like humming or buzzing bees and left. Next day Inacio came down with a headache, numbness, severe nausea and the tingling of his body. By the 3rd day he had tremors of the hands and head. The Rancher was informed of this and flew Inacio 180 miles to Goiana where he was examined by a Doctor. There were burns on his trunk and head that were in perfect circles fifteen centimetres in diameter and he was covered with yellow blotches. The witness came down with leukaemia and died on 31st October that year. How much radiation do these things put out? Please don't shoot at the aliens!

At 11.00 pm on 13th August 1967 Lt. Colonel Lev Vyatkin, a Fighter Pilot First Class, was flying his interceptor plane on a night training exercise when at an altitude of 33,000 feet over Yalta in the Crimea on the Black Sea he saw a very large oval object that was somehow fixed to the port of his plane. Lev asked his flight commander who was in the zone but the flight commander replied that all of the other planes had already landed and no one else was in the zone. Lev banked to the right and tried to determine in what direction the object was going. Seconds later the objects lights dimmed as if a dimmer switch had been turned off. Lev then banked to the left and adjusted his speed and thrust when he noticed a flash of bright light above him straight on course with his plane. A slanting milky-white ray appeared in front of him and closing in. Lev leveled his plane out and avoided running into the ray with the fuselage or cockpit but still hit it with the left wing. The collision was at very high speed and no sooner had the wing touched the ray when the ray broke into a myriad of tiny sparkles like a spent firework. The plane shook violently and the instruments read off the scale. The strange sparkling pillar stretched downwards but he light above and the ray below quickly disappeared. Lev flew back to the airfield but for many days afterwards the surface of the left wing shone at night.

Joyceville, Frontenac County, Ontario, Canada. 23rd August 1967. Wednesday. 4.00 am. Stanley Moxon, a salesman, was in his car 40 miles southwest of Smith Falls on Highway fifteen near Glen Grove Road north of Kingston when he saw a huge glowing object giving off a brilliant green light as it descended from the sky. At treetop height it moved down the Highway ahead of the witnesses' car and went round a bend in the road. Minutes later Stanley rounded the same bend and saw an inverted soup bowl sitting on three legs in a field 200 yards away from the road. Stanley pulled up and switched off the cars lights. Stanley watched three small humanlike creatures that were collecting bits of soil and plants. The little hominoids were three feet tall and wore white coveralls with bubbletype helmets on their heads. After a few minutes Stanley switched on the headlights to highbeam to get a better look. Stanley beamed the headlights at them and they scurried into their disc-shaped craft and ascended noiselessly but rapidly into the sky. The craft went straight up at tremendous speed. Then Stanley were to the Police who had received several calls about a strange green light in the sky. The Police and Stanley went back to the site. There were burnmarks on the ground and three indentations from something very heavy were pressed into the ground. Scientific examination?

Near Wodonga, Victoria, Australia. 24th August 1967.

Thursday. 12.00 am. Mr Ron Hyde, a lone motorcyclist was suddenly surrounded by a blue glow coming from above him. He was temporarily blinded. There was a disc shaped object 100 feet to the left of the road like two saucers joined together at the rim that had a silver top and was dark grey or black underneath. No light shone on the ground and the craft was hovering and not landed. Ron tried to flag down a car that was going past. Next he saw two Hominoids on the side of the object closest to him that were five foot tall wearing metallic coveralls with no fasteners of any type, either zippers or buttons. The helmets on the heads were not transparent and were darker than the suits and were like fishbowls. Ron stepped forward and so did the Hominoids. Ron became frightened. One of the Hominoids then took more steps towards him and beckoned to him to approach. Ron panicked and dived onto his bike, the motor was still going unusually enough,and he took off down the road. The UFO kept company with him up to 100 miles per hour. Ron also heard a humming noise with it and at times it was 200 feet ahead of him. There were no houses or farms to pull into. Eventually both vehicles, the UFO and the motorbike, came to a standstill. The disc then tilted its base towards the witness and shot up into the air at a 45% angle and vanished in two seconds. It was now a pinkish colour all over. The incident had occurred on the Hume Highway in Victoria. It is a long stretch between townships on this stretch of the road but it is a closely settled rural area along the Highway. There should have been plenty of farms for Mr Hyde to drive into. The distance from Wodonga to Chiltern is thirty kilometres so at one hundred miles per hour or 160 kilometres per hour this distance should have been traversed in 11.5 minutes and that does not include a detour to Barnawartha which was just off the Highway between Chiltern and Wodonga. There could not have been more than six minutes between sightings of civilisation as such. Had Ron also lost time during the event, or only memories of it? Previously there had been a sighting of a UFO over Beechworth nearby in 1874, in 1885 there were Tiger sightings near Wangaratta, in 1902 fire fell from the sky onto Chiltern and set fire to some houses and in 1961 several witnesses at a caravan park at Bowna saw a landed UFO and some Hominoids wandering around near it near Hume Weir.

Also on 24th August 1967 at midnight Mr. M. Allen and his friend Mr. G. Mitchell were fishing four miles out to sea off Cronulla in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia when they saw what they thought was a plane with its' landing lights on. The two men then realized that it was a golden ball of light which had a flickering light like flames that was two hundred feet in diameter that swept across the sky and then descended almost vertically from 1,700 feet to sealevel over a period of twelve seconds and appeared to land near Cronulla golf links. An hour later the two men brought their boat into Botany Bay when they saw the luminous object again about ten miles away over Taren Point where it seemed to land behind the Taren Point Bridge.

Catia La Mar, Venezuela. 25th August 1967. Friday. Ruben Norato was on a beach when he saw a precipitous movement of water as three huge plate-shaped discs appeared out of the sea and streaked into the sky. More aquatic risers! Reversing meteorites?

Cussac, Cantal, France, near Saint Flour. 29th August 1967. Tuesday. 10.30 am. Francois Depleuch,13, and his younger sister Annmarie,9, were tending cows when they saw four hominoids that were 40 to 45 inches tall in a field. Francois thought they were children. The hominoids wore black skin tight clothing with a sheen like black silk, had long slender arms, webbed feet, pointed skulls, prominent chins, pointed noses and had beards of sorts on either side of their heads with tufts in the middle. They had no eyes, mouth or ears. One Hominoid was bending over holding something that reflected the Sun like a mirror that was flashing occasionally and the hominoid was waving its' hands and making signals to its'companions. Francois called out to them "Are you coming to play with us ?". The Hominoids then noticed the children and immediately shot into the air and into a bright sphere of light in the sky hovering over them. The 4th rose into the air and dived back to the ground, picking up the mirror object, and catching up with the sphere as it was rising in small circles fifty feet up. The light made a low fairly sharp hissing noise and as it became brighter the noise stopped. The UFO sped northwest and the children then noticed the smell of Sulphur in the air. This was also noticed later by researchers. The cows became restless and their dog "Medor" was barking frantically. The UFO was 6.5 foot in diameter and silvery. Francois, who wears glasses, had watering of the eyes for fifteen minutes after the event and this happened for several mornings afterwards. The girl who did not wear glasses had no ill effects. The Hominoids appeared to go right through the walls of the UFO. Cussac is twenty kilometres westsouth-west of Saint Flour. Only one sighting but it was a doozey. What a great description of the hominoids!

The Gardens, Tasmania. Australia. 29th August 1967. 8.15 pm. A party of Hunters saw six round saucers appear out of a gully and vanish to the east after the witnesses shone a spotlight on them. They don't like lights being flashed at them.

Caracas, Distrito Federal, Venezuela. August 1967. There were many individual witnesses to these sighting. There were quite a few reports of strange Hominoids flying in and out of windows of houses though with no visible means of propulsion or support. There had been a major earthquake in the area in late July We have had earthquakes and UFOs but this time it's earthquakes and Hominoids? UFOs had also been seen in the area after the earthquake.

Farmingdale, Nassau County, Long Island, New York. August 1967. There was a power failure whilst UFOs were seen cavorting in the sky. Many hogs had also disappeared that month. Many of them from special high fenced pens. Had pork replaced dog on the 11.53 pm from Alpha Centauri? UFOs and blackouts are quite common. UFOs, blackouts and Hognappings are not?

Between Naracoorte and Lucindale, South Australia. August 1967. A group of schoolchildren saw a strange striped animal running along in front of their schoolbus. The creature looked like an extinct Thylacine. There were other sightings in the area as well as well as numerous hearings of strange noises like a woman screaming. Tracks werealso found. The Thylacine is still around? Or does it only look like a thylacine?

Bentilee Estate, Stoke-on-Trent, Staffordshire, England. 2nd September 1967. 9.00 pm. On Beverly Drive opposite Wendline Close a child by the name of David McCue saw a brightly glowing object flying above the rooftops heading for the Close. The object was also seen by Mrs Stevenson. It had a scarlet glow, was domeshaped and made little sound. It sounded like wind and the dull orange disc was surmounted by a glowing bright red dome. Six children ran towards the landing site and two women followed with a dog before marshy ground stopped them. It looked like a Bonfire in the field. The women turned back to phone the Police whilst the children saw it hedge hop before vanishing. A Police Sergeant and two Constables arrived and gave up the search laughing and joking. As the Police left the fields to return to their van a man upstairs in a house saw a bright light arising from the field and everyone looked back. The light, now a yellow-orange rose to a height of 300 feet, held still for an instant and then dwindled out of sight like a T.V. being turned off. The Police suddenly stopped laughing. A pretty ordinary sighting?
Had it flown away into the sky or into another dimension?

Avon, Hartford County, Connecticut. 3rd September 1967. Three individual witnesses saw a shiny suited robot or Spaceman roaming about Talcott Mountain. The robot was apparently trying to stop cars on Route 44. The one piece silver suit covered the face, hands and feet and it wore a helmet or hood whilst it moved stiffly and awkwardly. Had he lost his craft or had no one noticed it?

Bethpage State Park, Nassau County, New York. 6th September 1967. 10.30 pm. Dr Howard W. Goldstein in his car circling Bethpage State Park on his way home to Long Island when he saw an odd illuminated cigar in the sky to the west only 300 feet away and fifty feet up. Howard then saw a second craft to his south which was rosecoloured. Then Howard's car slowed down and stopped on its own and he then heard four strange voices on the radio which was off at the time. This broadcast lasted thirty minutes! Howard had seen UFOs in the area the previous April. How do you get a radio that is turned off to pick up messages?

Shenango Valley, Lawrence County, Pennsylvania. 7th September 1967. There was a forty minute blackout of thousands of homes and businesses when a three phase power transformer shorted. During the blackout several UFO sightings were reported to Police Stations. Police Chief Earl Holby of Sharon saw a glowing white object north of the city. This was hovering and not Meteoric. A Police Captain also saw the object as well as a large crowd of onlookers who had joined them. Hadn't we had a blackout quite recently nearby on Long Island in August?

Vermilion, Erie County, Ohio. Lake Erie. 11th September 1967. A yellow object that was visible for twelve seconds to thirty seconds was seen. The witnesses say that it may have split into two or had been two separate objects that crashed into Lake Erie. How many is this for Lake Erie so far?

Brooksville, Bradford County, Florida. 11th September 1967. Monday. A family's teenage daughter saw a very tall Hairy Hominoid in the backyard from her bedroom window. The creature had extremely long arms and legs and was swaying andwas more like a Gorilla than a man. All is normal in Brooksville.

Great Sand Dunes National Park, Alamosa, Colorado. 13th September 1967. Wednesday. "Snippy" the horse was found with the flesh completely stripped from its head and neck and the vital organs were also missing. There were also fifteen circular exhaust marks found on the ground covering an area of 100 by fifty yards, the Chico bush was flattened and near it were six identical holes two inches wide by four inches deep. Individual witnesses had seen a strange object in the sky at rooftop level on the day the horse had disappeared and later there was a high radiation count in the area where the horse was found. Looks like the menu was getting exotic now. When were they going to add long pig to the menu? Or had they already? Quite a varied menu it seems. If you are not sure what Long Pig is just look in the mirror and view this formerly Polynesian delicacy.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. Mid-September 1967.

Mr. John Davis saw an eight foot tall Bigfoot that crossed the road in front of him and headed towards a river at 3.00 am. Why was John out walking then?

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. 21st September 1967. Mrs. Martha Washington saw a dark brown Bigfoot sitting on an oil drum in her neighbors yard. The creature had a human face but with reflecting eyes and sat with its arms straight and with its hands on the drum.

Ferndale, Whatcom County, Washington State, Nooksack River. September 1967. There were many groups of witnesses and individual witnesses during the Salmon Run on the Nooksack River northwest of the San Juan Archipelago. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Brudevold were fishing in a skiff when they saw a HairyHominoid standing with water up to its knees one night. The next morning 13.5 inch long footprints with distinct toemarks and heels with no discernible arch were found in a mud bank .

Ferndale, Whatcom County, Washington State, Nooksack River. 21st September 1967. During the Salmon Run on the Nooksack River northwest of the San Juan Archipelago. On another night to the previous sighting Mrs. Brudevold was fishing in a skiff alone when a HairyHominoid suddenly appeared near her one night. The manbeast loomed out of the dark water within four feet of the witness's boat. The next morning 13.5 inch long footprints with distinct toemarks and heels with no discernible arch were found in a mud bank that were the same as the prevous sighting.

Brandon, Manitoba, Canada. 28th September 1967. 1.45 pm. Jim Wall of Maple Leaf Aviation saw a flame followed by a silver object vanish north of the airport. The flame was pointing downwards. Around the same time UFOs were sighted at several points by individual witnesses. Mr Wall took to the air and searched the area. Nine miles northeast of the airport he saw smoke from a patch of bush that was burning in the middle of a dirtfield. Jim circled the area. Green willow trees were burned and the grass in a dried up slough was severely charred in a circular shape apparently with the hottest part of the fire were in the centre and all that remained was white ash from the extreme heat. We know where it landed but where did it go? No-one saw the UFO go back up again. Had it burnt up?

On 28th September 1967 three young women from Junee in southern New South Wales reported to the police that they had been chased by a UFO for fifteen miles on the Temora-Junee road as they returned from Temora. They informed the police and Constable Apps of Junee police who viewed the object through binoculars. Miss Campbell who was driving thought it was a star at first but it kept getting closer and when she dipped the lights on and off it got brighter. Near the wheat silos at North Junee she slowed down the object stopped and Miss Campbell and the girls drove to the home of Miss Withers, a passenger, parents who also saw the craft. They saw it at the end of the street and it appeared to be only six feet above a streetlight. They dropped off Miss Withers and continued to the police station where they reported the matter with the light following. The light was yellowish like a headlight.

Clare, South Australia. September 1967. 6.00 pm. Mrs Collins saw a very bright light hovering at that height of one metre about sixty metres away. She ran to get her husband and they came back as it took off vertically and shot off fast over the hills. The object was a white oval shape. Ho-hum.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. September 1967. Mr. Harold James smelled a strong animal smell and saw a Bigfoot sitting by the Nooksack River at dawn.

Near Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. September 1967. John Green, Reynold James and Randy Kinley were night-time fishermen who found that their nets were being pulled in by a Bigfoot on the Nooksack River.

Bellingham, Whatcom County, Washington. September 1967. Mrs. Carol Davis saw a Bigfoot wading out to sea. The last phenomenal event to occur here in Bellingham was in 1954 when there was a massive micrometeorite attack in the area.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. September 1967. There were many groups of witnesses and individual witnesses during the Salmon Run on the Nooksack River northwest of the San Juan Archipelago. There were at least eight sightings of a tall Hairy Hominoid that was seven foot tall and left footprints seventeen inches long as well as leaving a foul smell. The manbeast also had grey tipped hair and glowing eyes. It occasionally raided fishing nets whilst the farmers were fishing.The Hairy Hominoids in the northwest were certainly quite busy during the Salmon Run that year.

Brimpaen, Grampians, Victoria, Australia. 2nd October 1967. Around noon Bob Rethus and Wendy Rethus saw a strange animal eating a sheep carcasse only 180 metres from their home. They thought that it was a dog and looked through binoculars at it. It was not a dog. The creature chased away two wedge tailed Eagles that were also interested in the carcasse and it went for them. When they took off the animal jumped into the air trying to pull them down and the hindquarters were almost three feet off the ground when it jumped. After lunch Mr Rethus and a shearer took a utility vehicle, a pickup truck, and drove down to the spot and chased the Thylacine-like creature. They were doing thirty miles per hour but it kept up pace fifteen to twenty yards in front of them. The creature was a very dark brown with almost black stripes running around its rib cage and it was covered in short fur like a dog. The tail was long, stiff and smooth and curled back at end and it had a big head with small ears. The head sat up almost vertical to its body as it ran like a horse arching its neck and after 300 metres it vanished. The Thylacines are trying to disprove their extinction?

Melville, near Huntington, Suffolk County, Long Island, New York. 3rd October 1967. Phillip Burkhardt, an Aerospace computer systems Engineer was alerted by his son Donald Burkhardt, 14, and his son’s friend Shawn Kearns,13, to look at an odd machine that was hovering over the house on Roundtree Drive. Just above the trees was a hovering disc that was a silver metallic white colour that was illuminated by lights. There was a set of rectangular shaped lights blinking on and off revolving across the lower portion from left to right as well as another light on top that was not blinking. There was no noise and the object dropped down behind the ridge. Phillip went to get binoculars and set out to find it with others in a car. The object flew out of sight again. Phillip noticed that it was not flying regulation red and green lights. He phoned Suffolk Air Force Base in Westhampton Beach to alert them of the strange aerial vehicle. Afterwards all of the witnesses detected a peculiar odour of burning chemicals at the site of the sighting. Oddly enough the telephone played up for a while afterwards and there were odd blackouts in the area. The usual sighting mixture. Smells, dead telephones, shifting lights, blackouts and quite a popular area for them.

Shag Harbour, Shelburne County, Nova Scotia, Canada. 3rd October 1967. Tuesday. A sixty foot long UFO that had a series of bright portholes was seen to descend from the sky and glided into the harbour of Shag harbor and submerged into the Ocean half a mile offshore. The UFO was sizzling and floating on the surface before descending in a patch of strange yellow foam and bubbling water. This was no Meteor unless Meteors have windows.

Brewster, Putnam County, New York. 8th October 1967. Sunday. 3.30 pm. Patrolman Gene Blamey saw a big ball of fire fall from the sky that exploded on impact. Balls of flame seven to eight feet in height erupted from it and white smoke billowed out. Blamey thought that it would never stop. Was this a Meteor?

Shillong, Meghalaya, India. 17th October 1967. Tuesday. Many witnesses saw a UFO at a height of 500 feet that was then seen to swoop down damaging vegetation and sucking and churning the water of a river before speeding off into the sky again. This one went almost into the water and then took off again. Previously there had been a cloudless deluge during an earthquake here in 1897 that had been preceded by a green Moon in the sky the week before.

Bluff Creek, Humboldt County, Pacific range, California. 20th October 1967. Friday. Roger Patterson and Bob Gimlin were at the confluence of Bluff Creek and Notice Creek. A female Hairy Hominoid was shot on movie film by Roger Patterson who had suddenly came upon the Hominoid squatting on the bank behind a jumble of uprooted trees blocking the creek bed. The horses panicked and reared and Patterson's horse fell over onto him. He worked himself free, pulled out the movie camera from its saddlebag and ran after the fleeing Hominoid that was filmed from 100 feet away. He used the remaining 28 feet of film. The horses had bolted and Hairy Hominoid tracks led up to bare rock. The witnesses made plaster casts of the footprints that were half as large again as a Human foot with a stride 42 inches long. The depth of the tracks suggested a weight of 800 pounds. The height of the manbeast was between six feet and 6.5 feet. Old Faithful was filmed. Previously in the area in 1932 bolts of lightning were seen going up into the sky during an earthquake in Humboldt County, in 1950 a ten year old girl saw a redeyed Hairy Hominoid with strange fangs as well as tattered and torn clothing, in 1958 at Korbel, Bigfoot footprints were found around a worksite on 27th August at Bluff Creek before 12th October 1958. an irate Hairy Hominoid woke up Roy Wallace who gave it a candy bar and on 12th October 1958. at Elk River several dogs bodies were found that had been ripped apart by a giant Hairy Hominoid creature. Also on that same day Mr Ray Kerr saw an eight to ten foot tall naked Hairy Hominoid seen running away. At Bluff Creek in 1959 a husband and wife team in a plane spotted great tracks in the snow and followed them. The tracks led to an enormous Hominoid covered in brown hair. In 1963 and also at Bluff Creek a tall Hairy Hominoid appeared between two workgangs laying concrete culverts and upended a truck containing the 48 inch culverts. Culverts had previously been found as if thrown around after being lain. In the sea off Eureka the yacht "Hattie D" ran into a submerged metallic moving object 105 feet long that was moving around and was damaged. There was no conning tower thus ruling out submarines.

This particular sighting has been claimed to be a fake by several persons over the years but has not been proven to be a fake. No one has proved either way. No Bigfoot costumes were ever offered up or any explanations of how the very deep footprints were created.

Holsworthy, Devon, England. 24th October 1967. Two Police Officers, Constable Roger Willey and Constable Clifford Waycott, were in their Patrol Car near Brandis Corner when they saw a starshaped object hovering at treetop level which chased the Patrol Car before the Police chased the UFO for twelve miles to Okehampton. Two other Police Constables also saw it. The craft was cross shaped with the alternate arms shorter and was viewed over thirty miles for fifty minutes. It is boring playing catchies. Previously there had been the sighting of a pair of Plesiosaurs off East Looe in Cornwall in 1949 and Pumas were seen in Cornwall in 1964.

Reading, Berkshire, England. 25th October 1967. 4.30 am. Mr B. J. Collett was in a Ford Transit van carrying a load of Titanium castings on the A32. It was a clear sky and then the van stalled several times. The radio then failed and the headlights went out. The witness looked under the bonnet but nothing seemed wrong so he tried to start it again. Then Mr. Collett noticed a shadowy form up the road ahead that was set against the sky. After several more stalls of the van's motor there was the smell of electrical burning but is was not coming from under the bonnet. The object was now hovering only 100 yards away and resembled a flattened ice cream cone sixty feet across at the rim ande thirty feet from the curved upper surface to the point of the conical understructure. The UFO was watched for several minutes and eventually moved away. The witness's ears kept popping which was consistent with sudden airpressure changes in the vicinity. There was a feeling of tension. When he resumed driving Mr Collett found that he had difficulty in coordinating the movements of his hands and feet. It was as if the witness had to learn how to drive again. There was a tingling numbness and crawling feelings at the ends of his fingers. There are a good number of physical reactions to the sighting from olfactory to visual to electronic.

Reading, Berkshire, England. 25th October 1967. 4.30 am. This was the same sighting as that of Mr. Collett. Another witness was in a car travelling in the opposite direction to Mr Collett. His engine also failed as a large eggshaped object crossed the road in front of witness. The same sighting viewed from a different direction but with the same electromagnetic effects.

Moigne Downs, Dorset, England. 26th October 1967. Angus Brooks, a former RAAF photographic interpreter, was taking his two dogs, a German Shepherd and a Dalmation, for a morning walk. He lay down in a hollow to shelter from a strong wind whilst the dogs ran around. Almost immediately he saw a contrail in the sky which disappeared revealing an object hurtling towards the ground which stopped at an altitude of 250 feet. The central disc was twenty-five feet in diameter and twelve feet thick with four protruding fuselages that were 75 feet long by seven feet high by eight feet wide. As the object approached three of the fuselages were lined up next to each other behind the central chamber while the remaining fuselage was pointed forward. On deceleration the two outer fuselages at the rear swung forwards ninety degrees so that all four fuselages formed a cross with the disc at the centre. As soon as it had finished its descent the entire object rotated ninety degrees clockwise and hovered silently and seemed unaffected by the very strong wind. The craft was made of translucent material that assumed the colour of the sky above it changing as clouds passed overhead. The nose cones and groove fins were visible under the fuselages and dark shadows spotted the bottom of them and the disc. After twenty-two minutes the front and rear fuselages moved around to line up with one of the lateral fuselages and the object took off to the east-northeast, single fuselage in front and the three parallel fuselages in the rear. The German Shepherd was panicking. On future visits to the area she showed signs of nervousness. Within six weeks she died of Cistitis. The dog dies. Coincidence? Otherwise a very detailed sighting the day after Reading which was also cross-shaped as this one was from some views.

Belleview, Marion County, Florida. 26th October 1967. 5.15 am. Police Trooper B.J. Futch of the Highway patrol saw a UFO at a 500 foot altitude which followed his Patrol Car for half a mile.it was a giant white object which glowed like one thousand candles. This was the same day as Moigne Downs in England.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. Late October 1967. Rita Lawrence saw a hand covered with dark hair except for the fingers and knuckles reach into her bedroom through the window and feel around. Nightmare inducing stuff.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Nooksack River. Late October 1967. Frank Lawrence Jnr a few days after the previous case involving Rita Lawrence saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot outside the house. The Bigfoot then ran away.

During Autumn October 1967 by the Chehalis River near Chehalis in Lewis County in Washington State a hunter by the name of Billy Brown saw a white Bigfoot that was eight foot tall. Billy shot at the creature's head and the creature ran off into the swamp screaming and later Billy found traces of what appeared to be blood.

Dead Horse Creek, near the Grande Ronde River in Wallowa County in Northeastern Oregon. Mr. Joe Jackson saw a Bigfoot standing on the side of the road that then ran off into the bush during Autumn October 1967.

Boyup Brook, on Kojonup-Mayanup Road, Western Australia. 31st October 1967. Tuesday. 9.35 pm. Mr A. F. Spargo was in his car. Mr. Spargo was also called Mr Harris, a woolgrader, a married man with three children who were not with him at the time. He was doing 60 miles per hour heading from Mayanup to Boyup Brook when suddenly he saw a mushroom shaped bluish oval shaped object. This object shot a beam of light at him which was two feet wide and at the end of the beam was an oval shaped object. The craft was thirty feet long and hovering at an altitude of 100 feet. It gave off an iridescent bluish light and a beam of light coming from its' underside at a 40 degree angle that was pulsating. At the same time the car radio failed, the engine died and the headlights went out. Also the witness's watch played up and was now five minutes slow. There was absolutely no noise at all and the car had jerked to a halt. Even the insects were quiet. The witness lost memory of much of the event and for two weeks he had a constant headache. The sighting lasted five minutes. The colour of the craft darkened as it vanished swiftly to the west and the car started working again and there was no sensation of acceleration as there had been no feeling of deceleration in the beginning. It was as if he had been momentarily frozen in time. Where did the five minutes go? Everything else seems normal so far. Maybe Mr. Harris and Mr. Spargo were different witnesses of the one event or different aliases used.

Winsted, Litchfield County, Connecticut. October 1967. A mother and her two small children driving along country road, rounded a bend and suddenly confronted by huge triangular shaped object resting on the road 200 feet ahead. Silvery grey colour, light at its vertices. The UFO took off silently as car approached. Vanished into gathering dusk. Always watch out for oncoming traffic even if you do not know where it's from.

Round Mountain, near Estacada, Clackamas County, Oregon. Late October 1967. Mr. Glenn Thomas, a logging contractor saw three hideous Ogre-like things lifting rocks from beneath which they dug up and devoured nests of rodents. The rocks weighed up to 200 pounds each and it looked like a family group of male, female and youngster. The creatures had catlike faces and were watched for fifteen minutes. Ogres? As good a name as any.

Branford, New Haven County, Connecticut. October 1967. Autumn. State Senator Lucy T. Hammer and her husband Mr Thorvald Hammer saw a huge cat stroll past their home on their Estate which walked into the woods on their forty acre estate. A Connecticut Kitten?

Hilltown, South Australia. October 1965-November 1967. 2.00 am. A family was awakened by a buzzing noise when they saw an oblong rounded yellowgreen ball of light 2.4 metres across with a red pulsating light on it nearby. There was a buzzing sound audible all of the time until the ball vertically took off. Quite a popular area for UFO sightings only unlike some other places.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia, 2nd November 1967. Thursday. A lone witness at first heard a sound like a squeaky fanbelt outside his home. Outside he saw a tall manlike creature, far taller than a man, moving swiftly among the igloos in the T. N. T. Area. The Hominoid was not walking but appeared to be sliding or gliding and was wearing grey and seeing it was hunting season grey was an unsafe colour to wear.

Sowbery, North Livingstone, near Thessalon, Algoma County, Ontario, Canada, 5th November 1967. Sunday. Orne Wolgemuth saw UFOs that night. The next morning one horse was found in a state of shock with a long slash in its neck and another horse was dead with its throat and jugular vein cut. Shades of “Snippy”! French Aliens?

Fordingbridge, Hampshire, England, New Forest. 6th November 1967. Monday. 2.30 am. Karl Barlow, a truckdriver, was driving on the Highway A338 when he saw a strange green object that was fifteen feet wide. The eggshaped light was over the trees to the right of the road and were approaching the truck. When the lights were one quarter of a mile away the radio and lights of the truck went out. The diesel engine was still running and Karl stopped the truck. Then the object descended 45 feet away and a porthole opened in it. A tube-like contraption came out of it like a vacuum cleaner hose. There was a box on the end of it with four short tubes. There was a high pitched whining noise and the object sucked up sand, gravel and leaves from one side of the road and then from the other. The hose then retreated into the UFO which then hovered for twenty seconds. The craft was still whining and took off in the direction that the craft originally arrived from. The UFO was fifteen foot wide, eggshaped and with a small saucer shaped form on the underside. At the same time a white Jaguar car had stalled on the other side of the object opposite the truck. The UFO was blocking the road. The Jaguar could not start after the UFO left. Both vehicles’ batteries were completely burnt out. The truck driver was terrified. The Jaguar driver did not want to make a formal report to the Police as he had had a few drinks and did not want to go on the breathalyser. Two witnesses to a hovering UFO that acted as a Street sweeper?

Veksoe, near Ballerup, Denmark. 7th November 1967. Several witnesses saw a UFO land. Ho-hum.

Woking, Surrey, England. 12th November 1967. Sunday. A man was cleaning the windscreen of his car at night when a man became aware of a strange smell. It was not the engine of car which was on and was unpleasant. Then he saw a face through the nearside passenger window that was ten inches high by eight inches wide. The face was faintly luminous and seemed to have no features such as eyes, nose or mouth. The witness also saw an arm reaching up the cars hood that was attached to a very dark body that was 4.5 feet tall. The sighting lasted two minutes. Another missing UFO?

Venice Centre, Poplar Plains, Cayuga County, New York State. 12th November 1967. 12.30 am . Fifteen miles south of Auburn on the Van Nostrand farm on a wooded area 400 yards east of the Howard Lacey farmhouse between Venice centre and Poplar Ridge on Town Line Road a sharp blast stunned the area. This had happened the previous year on the same day and at the same time on the Howard Lacey farm. State Police, Cornell University Geologists and Army personnel examined gaping holes left by unknown forces. Strange lights seen in the sky when the boom was heard. A large hole was found. The new hole would appear after a blasting noise 300 yards from the previous one. There were no Meteor fragments, only craters that were five feet across and three feet deep and surrounded by a 44 foot circle of exposed Earth around the perimeter. The dirt had been thrown up as if an explosive device had gone off underground. There were no signs of a meteoric impact. Pinpoint accuracy on a Cosmic level?

Cranleigh, near Woking, Surrey. England. 13th November 1967. 12.30 am. Philip Freeman, 22, and Angela Carter, 20, were in a parked car when the smell of food being cooked badly appeared. It was a pitch black night and suddenly a luminous face appeared that was attached to a bellshaped body of a hominoid that was visible in the rearview mirror for two minutes. This was just the day after the previous Woking Hominoid sighting and smelling.

Yerecoin, Western Australia. 16th November 1967. 6.30 pm. Mr Poole, a farmer, was mustering sheep heard a humming noise which increased in intensity. Mr. Poole also saw a UFO half a kilometre away and he could feel vibrations coming from it. Then the object approached and stopped just by his vehicle being only two metres away. The craft was like an inverted saucer five metres across. It had four windows, two round and two square and was a grey colour and was two metres high. The craft hovered a few metres above the ground the farmer spoke to it and received an echo of his own voice. By the time Mr. Poole got out of the vehicle it had gone. Was it curious about sheep? Previously there had been a landed UFO seen at Moora near here in 1925.

Gull Lake, Saskatchewan, Canada. 19th November 1967. Cedric Cunningham saw a blinding ball of fire near Swift Current Creek. He later found a large circular burned area there. Meteor or UFO?

Calgary, Alberta, Canada. 19th November 1967. 5.45 pm. David Seewaldt, fourteen, was walking between houses across a paddock which normally took three minutes. This night it took 45 minutes.David arrived home in a daze with glazed eyes. Under hypnosis he recalled that he had heard a highpitched noise, looked up, and saw a hovering silvergrey UFO. Dotted around its' centre were coloured lights that were flashing on and off. David had no memory afterwards until he was under regression. On first seeing the craft he had turned and run away. Then an orange beam emerged from the bottom of the craft. When it reached him he had fallen into a trance after which the beam seized hold of him and lifted him into the ship. Once inside he saw two Monsters which had brown scary skin like a crocodile's, holes for their ears and noses and slits for mouths. They were six feet tall with four fingers on each hand but no thumbs. Four of them put him onto a cot and then started to examine him. They stripped him of all of his clothes including his underwear which upset him greatly. They lifted up his head and examined his hair, eyes and nose. One talked in a buzzing noise. They then let him put his clothes back on. He then went down a hallway to another room in which there were all sorts of bright lights. They laid him on a table and a grey blanket was thrown over him before a huge orange light descended and was shone onto him. One of the Monsters took a grey needle and stuck it into his arm. He then was walking through a computer room before emerging into a hallway. The orange beam then reappeared and the boy found himself back on Earth. A high pitched whine came from the craft as he dashed for his home. Just as he arrived home the craft shot up into the sky and vanished. Boring.

Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. 24th November 1967. Friday. Carlos Alberto de Mascimento,14, was in his 8th floor apartment on Rua Gomes Caneiro when he heard a highpitched whining noise. He looked out a window and Mr Ugo Battaglia also came to the window. They saw that whilst a large metal disc was landing it struck a tree and exploded in flames. Then three tall beings in white coveralls could be seen walking around. They had to be fifteen feet tall as the grass in the area was six foot tall and the grass was knee-high to them. The Hominoids walked stiffly and had their arms held tightly to their sides. The next day the tree was found bare of leaves with the trunk burned and charred with some limbs broken on the other trees as well. Learner drivers again? They run into as many trees as we do.

Komovi Forest, Montenegro. 26th November 1967. Sunday. Many individual witnesses during rainy weather saw a large section of the forest which caught fire for 24 hours. A round object had been seen low in the sky over it and trees were seen to be catching fire from the flames from the object. The same hopeless driver? Where are the Police when you need them? Or were the sightings at Gull Lake, Rio de Janeiro and the Komovi Forest in the one seven day period all misidentified Meteors or energy forms?

North Livingstone, near Thessalon, Algoma County, Ontario, Canada. November 1967. A very bright light in the sky chased Terry Goodmurphy and Steven Greyton,two youths in a car. There was a smell of Sulphur in the air during this event. Originally the two youths had seen a circular object 100 feet in diameter on Highway 17. The witnesses were so frightened that they reversed their car back down the Highway. Sulphurous smells again? Were they being chased by something from Hell? Previously there had been ghost-lights seen over Caseville, Michigan, in 1897 and on 5th November ,1967, a horse had been attacked by a UFO nearby at Sowbery.

Conway, Faulkner County, Arkansas. November 1967. A stainless steel sphere fell from the sky. Not our first one either. Previously there had been the fall at a very low angle of a Meteor at Cabin Creek, Arkansas, and in 1909 a strange light that was going up and down like a bird was seen over Mabelvale.

Portland, Multnomah County, Oregon. November 1967. A Hairy Hominoid was seen during the day. It was not a bear. They should know the difference between a bear and something else up there by now.

Candy Pass, Washington Cascades, Chelan County, near Little Wenatchee River Washington State. morning November 1967. Frank Kaleson spotted a tall Hairy Hominoid in the sights of his 30-06 rifle at a range of 75 yards. The creature was 7.5 feet tall, appeared to weigh 400 pounds and had bowed legs. The long arms were almost reaching its' knees and it had sloping shoulders and reddish hair all over its body. The manbeast had small dark eyes that stared at the witness. The creature also had black hair on its head, a broad flattened nose and protruding lips and chin. The man and the manbeast faced each other for five seconds and then left leaving footprints that were fifteen inches long and seven inches across at the ball of the foot and were 1.5 inches deep. Frank knew that it was not a bear and he could not bring himself to shoot it. The creature made a grunting noise. This is a Hunter and even he reckons that this war no bear.

Banasea Airport, Bucharest, Romania. 2nd December 1967. 9.30 pm. The witnesses saw a conical object hovering at 35 degrees over the northern horizon. It was a brilliant but vacillating light which suddenly dropped down to the ground and then rose up again to its original position before moving a short distance from left to right. The object then paused and then repeated the up and down manoeuvre once again and was at first seen by an Army Officer at a Military Airfield who alerted dozens of others. At 11.30 pm it vanished over the northern horizon. They like airfields too though they are usually not scheduled flights.

Ashland, Saunders County, Nebraska. 3rd December 1967. Patrolman Herbert Schirmer was driving his Patrol Car on the edge of town when he felt something was wrong. Near the intersection of Highway 63 he saw something ahead of him that he thought was a truck. When he flipped on his highbeam headlights the truck flashed up into the night sky. Early in the morning he returned to the Police Station and he ne noted a report of a Flying Saucer in the Police report. At home he had a headache, a red welt on his neck and buzzing in his ears that kept him from sleeping. Under regression Schirmer saw a saucer land when legs shot out from the bottom as if telescoping from it. He was prevented from starting his Police cruiser. Then a hatch opened and Hominoids emerged. Schirmer could not draw his weapon and the Hominoids surrounded the patrol car. One pointed something at Schirmer and there was a bright flash and he passed out. The Hominoids were 4.5 to five feet tall and wore closefitting uniforms that were of a silver grey material. They wore boots and gloves and had hoods like pilots helmet with a small antenna over the left ear. Their skin was grey-white, their noses were flat and they had slit mouths and slanted eyes with strange pupils that opened and closed like a camera lense. The Hominoids communicated by voice and telepathy in broken English. They took Herbert onto the craft and told him that the craft was vulnerable to Radar due to Ionisation. The Hominoids also stated that they had hidden bases on Earth, one of which was underwater near Florida and another in the Polar region. They came from another Galaxy. Then the Leader of the Hominoids showed Herbert a view screen showing three warships flying in front of the big dipper. The Leader of the Hominoids had also stated that they had stolen electricity from powerlines. During the event Herbert had lost twenty minutes. Nobody has ever actually reported seeing a big, red herring flying by.

Banasea Airport, Bucharest, Romania. 4th December 1967. 4.30 am. A Lieutenant-Major and several other witnesses saw similar object to the sighting two days previous. A return unscheduled flight?

Nooksak River, near Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State. Early December 1967. Frank Lawrence Jnr and another man saw a six foot tall Bigfoot with red eyes walk out of the river at night and then go into the fields which were covered by mist at the time. Real mist?

Copenhagen. Denmark. 7th December 1967. Hans Lauritzen with was with four friends in Hareskoven Wood in the evening. Lauritzen suffered from Hepatitis and had given up work. This night Lauritzen saw two big yellow dim globes about 100 metres away and another member of the party also saw them. Lauritzen walked alone for ten minutes and seemed to be under a trance. Suddenly he felt the presence of something above him and said “Please help Humanity. Please let me help you in helping Humanity ". A telepathic conversation followed and then he heard his friends calling him. An hour had passed. One member of the party had been blinded by a bluish light. Lauritzen ran down a slope to his car. Later it was found that his Hepatitis had been cured somehow and this was confirmed later by Doctors. Lauritzen’s mind started fragmenting after a while and he had difficulty with moral questions such as right and wrong. He felt something that had been done to his brain and every time he wished to talk about it an unbearable pain flooded his spine, neck and head. Turning his emotions off in regard to the UFOs turned the pain off and he was able to write about his experience. Lauritzen believes that thousands of people are manipulated in this way. Welcome to the wonderful World of paranoid conspiracy theories or are they? This could be the onset of schizophrenia as well. Or just another day in the Universe of Shadows and Illusions?

Ithaca, Tompkins County, New York State. 12th December 1967. Tuesday. 7.00 pm. A woman and her son were in her car when she became aware of a red light following her. At first she thought that it was the Police but she soon realized that it was an illuminated flying thing above the power lines to her left that was pacing her. Then the control of the car was overtaken and she shouted at her son to brace himself. They ran off the road, over an embankment into an alfalfa field. Then a white twirling beam of light flashed down and the witnesses heard a humming noise as well as heard voices that were broken and jerky like a chorus. The woman went hysterical and her son would not respond to her. He was in a trance. Then the woman heard the voices name someone she knew who was having a terrible car accident at same time miles away. The son would not remember any of this. Then the car moved itself out of the field, over a ditch and back onto the road and control of the car was then given back to her. She sped home. Remember that every report in this book is an alleged happening. It is up to you to decide if they ever were real or even not to decide at all. The question of what is real is a sticky one to begin with. Maybe nothing is!

Ventura, Ventura County, California. 12th December 1967. During the afternoon Henry Madrid was installing a fence around the Ventura County Sewage treatment plant when he saw a black panther pacing back and forth on the nearby mountain side. The big black cat was also seen by his fellow workers Dick Simmons, Fred Salinas and Manuel Portillo who kept an eye on it whilst the County Sheriff's Deputies were notified. The deputies spotted the big cat and charged across what appeared to be an open field towards it when they found to their horror that the open field was a thin dry crust over the sludge from the sewage treatment works. The police car sank beneath the sludge and the cat had escaped by the time the towtruck arrived. Imagine filling out that accident report.

Mahomet, Champaign County, Illinois. 19th December 1967. Tuesday. Since October the electricity usage in a lone witness's house had gone berserk everytime a UFO was seen in the area. That night the witnesses dogs were going crazy and the witness looked outside to see a golden object in the sky. The next day the witness suffered severe ear-ache and nosebleed and where his skin had been exposed the previous night it was like a bad sunburn. It would be funny if it were not so unpleasant, and almost predictable.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 24th December 1967. Sunday. Hundreds of witnesses. The "Silverbridge" over the Ohio River collapsed during a massive UFO flap. Several lives were lost. Was there a connection?

Woodstock, Greene County, New York. December 1967. There were many individual witnesses of UFOs in the area that month and at the same time fifteen dogs disappeared. Was dog favoured on long Interstellar voyages? As companions or as lunch?

Gallipolis, Gallia County, Ohio. December 1967. A cow had been found neatly cut in two in a paddock. The organs and blood in the lower half had been totally removed. Had the Intergalactic Butcher Shop been around again? Cows as well as horses?

Biloela, Queensland. Australia. December 1967. 8.00 pm. Mr S. Milno was in his car when he saw three men in silver uniforms on the roadside 100 metres below a lookout. Mr. Milno pulled up and reversed the car as he thought that he had run over one of the three men. No-one there. Was there a UFO lingering around as well? Usually is when there are three hominoids nearby.

Saint Brides Bay, Dyfed, Pembrokeshire, Wales. December 1967. There was a Flight of four Hunter RNAS aircraft out of Brawdy and the weather was good. Each plane had one Instructor and one Pilot practising formations when suddenly one plane touched the wing of another and both planes fell towards the ground. The Supervising Pilot Instructor saw four seats eject and four parachutes open all of which deployed perfectly. Then they dived through the cloud base with the planes heading out to sea. Under the cloud base were two parachutes waiting for the other two. Visibility was unrestricted for miles and it was a calm sea. Two parachutes and Airmen never came through the clouds. Disappeared! What was waiting or passing in the clouds? Where did they go? You can't land on clouds! Or can you?

Chief Cornstalk Park, near Marlinton, Pocahontas County, West Virginia. 1967. Ohio River Valley, West Virginia. Four men were out hunting when they saw a giant grey hairy Hominoid figure with bright red eyes. A West Virginia Hairy Hominoid? Previously in 1895 little Landy Jenkins,10, was taken by a giant bird in Webster County on 1st February. On 7th February, Deputy-Sheriff Rube Nihiser saw a giant bird carry off a fawn. On 12th February Peter Swadley, a bear-Hunter, was attacked by a giant bird that carried off his bear-hunting dog after it had ripped open its stomach with one sweep of its claws. That same month sheep had been taken through a hole in the roof of a shed that the bird had made on the farm of Hans Hardrick. In 1924 a farmer saw a plane as big as a battleship crash down near Gem in Braxton County. The Sheriff and a party of men found it soon after but there were already a group of men there who were in black business suits and who were all under five feet tall. On 12th September 1952, at 7.10 pm, several independent witnesses saw what appeared to be a plane crash near the Elk River near Sugar Creek. At James Knoll near Frametown two of the James boys saw an illuminated UFO on top of a hill. At 7.15 pm at Flatwoods five children reported seeing a disc in the sky letting out little sparks. After this a red light could be seen pulsating on top of the hill. A search party went out to investigate. As they got closer to the light a metallic smell was smelt. Then a Hominoid appeared and the witnesses fled back to the house. On 13th September ,the day after, a husband, wife and child were in a car when it stalled. There was a sulphurous smell in the air and the husband got out to investigate a light in the woods. The wife then saw an enormous Hairy Hominoid in the woods followed shortly after by the light rising into the sky. In November 1959 Mrs Ruth Foster saw a giant Manbird standing next to her porch. It had flaming big eyes that popped out of a funny little face and no beak. Several other witnesses also saw the manbird with six to eight foot wings. In 1960 near Marlington a car stalled when a Hairy Hominoid appeared with eyes like balls of fire. In December 1960 near Hickory Flats a hairy Hominoid with blazing eyes was seen standing in front of a truck. Also in 1960 in the Chief Cornstalk Hunting Grounds a five to seven foot tall bird with grey plumage and glowing eyes was seen. It resembled a winged man with its head set between its shoulders. In 1961 the winged man was seen in the Ohio River Valley. It had huge batlike wings. In Nicholas County in November 1966, many people saw the same winged man-creature again. Quite a busy area.

Ithaca, Tompkins County, New York.1967. During a UFO flap there were also sightings of Hairy Hominoids. One of these giants was supposed to have assaulted and torn the jacket off a boy. UFOs and Hairy Hominoids again? Where is Chewbacca?

West Rock Fall, Middlesex County, Connecticut,1967. A Busdriver saw a large black Panther wandering around the town. The big cat was walking around on Valley Street. None had escaped from circuses or zoos. The origins of the particular animal were unknown and it was seen on numerous separate occasions. The Connecticut Kitten was still loose even if it was changing colour.

Goroke. Near Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1967. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. The creature was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger and also called the Tantanoola Tiger. The Thylacines in Australia were still forgetting that they were extinct. In quite a few different places.

Dimboola. Near Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1967. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. It was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger and also called the Tantanoola Tiger.

Mount Arapiles. Near Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1967. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. It was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger and also called the Tantanoola Tiger.

Casterton. Near Ozenkadnook, Wimmera, Victoria. Australia. 1967. There were numerous reports of strange striped doglike animals. Witnesses said that they were Thylacines. The area was roughly bounded by Kingston, Horsham and Hamilton in the west, north and east and Bass Strait in the south. It was called the Ozenkadnook Tiger and also called the Tantanoola Tiger. Who or what else could they be?

Between Lucindale and Naracoorte. South Australia. 1967. After August Mrs Anderson and her son saw a Thylacine for fifteen minutes as it moved along a ditch in a Swamp. For something that's extinct it's sure getting around.

One day in 1967 “Red Jack Ellis”, a local identity, his wife and twelve year old daughter were driving across a weir on the Turon River in New South Wales in Australia. Jack’s daughter asked if she could dangle her feet in the water as they went across the weir and Jack agreed and pulled up. Then one of the thongs or flip-flops that the girl was wearing fell off and she ran off after it in the moonlit night. Around a curve in the river she waded out into the river to get it and whilst returning to the bank saw a hairy beast 2.4 metres tall standing on the riverbank looking at her. It was a well illuminated moonlit night. She described it as big and hairy and she ran through the water and down the bank to the car as white as a ghost and couldn't talk about what happened. This was the same weir that ten years later where George and Janice Gibbs saw their manbeast.

Springdale, Washington County, Arkansas. 1967. A seven foot tall hairy being was seen looking through a window. Business as normal.

Viojm River, Sweden. 1967. 1.30 am. Lenney Soderstrom, 18, and Tommy Soderstrom, 14, were returning home when they saw two big lights hanging motionless in the air near them. The left the car lights on and rushed into the house and woke their parents. Their mother, father and sister Elba Soderstrom,16, dashed outside and saw the UFO. The object was silent and hovering at an altitude of 150 feet about 350 feet away. The craft had a smooth surface, was dark grey in colour and the thickness in the middle tapered off to a round edge. It was 100 feet in diameter and accompanied by a smaller object that looked similar. After fifteen minutes the elder Soderstrom went inside to get his rifle and the objects began to drift or float north across the river before accelerating away. A few minutes later the same family saw a brilliant light approach their farm, hover, light up the area with white light whilst making a whining, whistling noise. Then the object made a right turn and vanished. Ho-hum.

Trout Brook Lake, New Brunswick. Canada. 1967. The witness saw a small Lakemonster that was three feet in diameter travelling across the lake in a spinning fashion and spraying water seven to eight feet high. The lakemonster zipped into bushes on the shore, came back out and submerged into the lake. Waterskiing? Who behind?

During 1967 there was a sighting by nearly twenty people on the southern shore of Lake Okanogan in Yale County in British Columbia in Canada of a lakemonster with a head like a bucket that was spouting water. Was this Ogopogo?

Ithaca, Tompkins County, New York. 1967. During a UFO flap there were also sightings of Hairy Hominoids. Hairy Hominoids and UFOs still together?

Ravenswood, Jackson County, West Virginia. 1967. There were several witnesses of a bright light that came from a UFO that bathed them in light. They became sunburnt from it and one of the witnesses eyes were swollen shut for two weeks. There was also a loss of two hours. Was their memory erased by others or by themselves? You could write books about West Virginny.

Lackagh Lough, County Kerry, Ireland.1967. Mr W. J. Wood saw a light yellowish brown Lakemonster that was seven feet long and surfaced only a few yards from him whilst he was fishing in a boat. The Lackagh Lough Lakemonster had been preceded by the Shannon River Lakemonster in 1933, the Mutton Island Seamonster that was shot and killed by the lighthousekeeper in 1935, the Lough Bran Lakemonster in 1940 and the return of the Lough Bran Lakemonster in 1954. Remember that we only use definitely dated reports of alleged events.

Mosque Point, Tarrant County, Texas, Lake Worth. 1967. There were many individual witnesses of a hairy Satyr like creature that resembled an Ogre that was seen on Mosque Point. It scared several people. An ogreish watermonster?

Allison, Fayette County, Pennsylvania. 1967. A nine foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen. Pennsylvania Hairy Hominoids?

Belpre, Washington County, Ohio. 1967. The witness was in his car when he flashed a torch at a UFO. Suddenly as if in response the torch went out and the electrics of the car were burnt out. The UFOs are very light sensitive. They do not like flashing lights.

Appleton, Outagamie County, Wisconsin. 1967. A UFO was seen hovering over the power lines. From the lines was found to be dripping balls of fire. This was from the high tension wires. But they love powerlines.

Berwick, Kings County, Nova Scotia, Canada. 1967. There were many individual witnesses of giant luminous snakes in the area. What can we say about giant luminous snakes? Very little except to acknowledge that they have been reported.

Olavarria, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 1967. Police and Military personnel in a Garrison saw a flat oval shape that was hovering that then landed on an emergency runway. Three Hominoids two metres high and wearing silver uniforms were standing near it. They advanced towards the Military Garrison and a Police Officer fired a volley of shots at them. All three Hominoids lifted their hands simultaneously displaying a small luminous ball and the witnesses were then overcome by a strange lassitude and a reluctance to use their weapons. The Hominoids then returned to their craft and it zigzagged away. After this the witnesses then recovered. A busy day at the Airport for another unscheduled landing. Was 1967 a freak year for Phenomenal sightings or for Phenomenal reportings? By far it has the majority of both but it had been building up to it as Phenomenal reports increased in numbers over the preceding years.

Whitehorse, Yukon. Canada. 2nd January 1968. Tom Banks and Errol Smyth were in snowmobiles when they saw a pulsating orange yellow hovering UFO. Both of the snowmobiles then stopped whilst the witnesses felt unusual heat coming from the hovering craft which was then hovering above them. Did it melt the snow?

Chiba, Japan, Tokyo Bay. 5th January 1968. Friday. Thousands of witnesses, most of the City, during a major earthquake saw that there were searchlight-like beams of light in the sky. Their cause was unknown. Lights and earthquakes together?

Confidence Ridge, near Sonora, Sonora County, California. 6th January 1968. Mr. Robert James Junior, a pilot was flying over an area north of Yosemite National Park when his passenger Leroy Larwick, also referred to as Warwick, saw a brown, fuzzy-haired creature about ten to twelve feet tall on the ground fifty feet below them. They took another pass and took a photo. They landed the plane and returned to the sighting area where they found twenty inch long footprints which they also photographed. More Hairy Hominoids.

Ventura, Ventura County, California. 9th January 1967. Kenneth French and his wife saw a big black cat like a panther on a mountainside whilst they were driving near Ventura.

Wattamalla Beach, Royal National Park, New South Wales. Australia. 13th January 1968. Four youths, A. Tory, J. Rizzo, T. Smith and M. Zines, who were camping noticed a silent erratic flying light which became larger and brighter. It was zigzagging in the sky and the rocks were lit up. Then the object switched off its lights and hovered 400 metres away at an altitude of 60 metres. It was clearly visible as a disc with a dim red band along its rim. There were ten lights on a row along each side and the object had a bell-like shape and glided closer to them. One of the boys flashed a torch at the craft and it responded to torch signals by switching its big lights on. The boys turned the torch off and the craft did likewise. They did this three times.At least this one did not feel threatened by the torch beams. Eventually the craft moved away slowly to the northwest. Soon afterwards Alex Garriock who was piloting an Airliner was startled by a strange green fiery object that flashed past his wing tip while at an altitude of 14,000 feet.

At 10.15 pm on 15th January 1968 Mr. M. Crowley of Bathurst in New South Wales in Australia saw a strange glow coming through his window. Mr. Crowley went outside and saw the glow flicker and dim and then disappear. A few minutes later the luminous object reappeared. It did this several times and each time drew closer to the house. After a while it stopped approaching and Mr. Crowley then saw several objects hovering over trees on a nearby hill. They moved about freely and the witness seemed to think that they were communicating with the glow in the sky. Finally one of the objects shot across the top of the hill and disappeared at 11.30 pm and Mr. Crowley went back inside his house though the glow was still flickering on and off. This was two days after Wattamalla Beach.

Three Hills, Alberta, Canada. 15th January 1968. An oddlooking object that was glowing a flourescent greenish blue and resembling a stunted dill pickle was seen by a number of observers. Beware the giant aerial dill pickle.

Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts. 17th January 1968. 9.30 pm. Three witnesses in a car saw an oval or boomerang shape with five horizontal white lights on it in the sky. It approached the car and stopped in midair before it moved slowly in front of car. Then it took off at great speed. And the flying boomerang?

Manhattan, Manhattan County, New York City, Manhattan Island. 19th January 1968. Friday. A strange fog appeared that caused a burning of the throat, difficulty breathing and collapse in several cases appeared. The fog was not from the New Jersey oil refinery as the fog that day would have had to fight a strong wind in the opposite direction. There were UFOs seen at the time as well as power failures occurring. The UFOs had been seen for a week prior. There were at least fifteen individual sightings. Phones were also cut out from the 13th to the 19th . There were massive powerfailures in the same period. New York! Oh what a town!

Wellington, New Zealand. 20th January 1968. Many witnesses including Airport officials saw a large yellow disc moving over the City towards Island Bay which then landed near the stretch of Cook Strait. The UFO was visible from the coast by binoculars and the sea was rough. The object appeared to burst into flames on landing. Landing UFOs onto water is not only a North American Phenomenon. Previously there had been a large arc of light seen in the sky near Island Bay in 1909.

Orford, Tasmania. Australia. January 1968. 9.00 pm. A family taking a weekend trip around Tasmania were on the east coast. The Husband was driving at 55 to 65 kilometres per hour and then they rounded a curve a bright light suddenly came over the drivers side. It was yellowish and they did not know where it came from. Seconds later the vehicles lights dimmed. Then the bright light went out and vehicles lights went back to normal. This happened at the next bend as well. When the car came out of the bend and into the straight the lights had failed completely. This lasted from fifteen to twenty seconds. The witnesses then stopped the car and the yellow light was gone. Then the car lights came back on by themselves. Pretty normal really.

Gerona, Spain. January 1968. Several individual witnesses saw a tall manlike creature in the woods during the month. It was apelike and had long arms. Footprints were found which were neither ape or Human though. What they were is unknown. The sightings continued into February. Suddenly the Hairy Hominoids appeared in Spain.

Criacao do Cabrita, Azores. 1st February 1968. A watchman at an Air Station saw an oval UFO with a glass tower and balustrade where two entities stood. Two other enitities were in the tower. The witness shone his light at the craft and was immediately covered in dust. The UFO then vanished and the witness fainted. They don't like lights shone at them most of the time.

Koorda, Western Australia. 8th February 1968. Around 10.00 am Mr Stephens was ploughing a paddock when he saw an unusual object nearby when he looked up and saw an orange red circular object hovering four metres above the ground less than 600 yards away. Mr. Stephens' dog took off and chased the craft for one hundred yards. The craft at the time had been travelling at fifty kilometres per hour and there were no windows or lights and it eventually vanished over the hill 300 metres away to the southsouthwest. I'd run away from one if I were a dog though. Or a horse or a cow. Mr. Stephens ran to his boss's house and they both saw the craft heading off in a southsouthwest direction.

Washington , District of Columbia, Potomac River. 8th February 1968. Thursday. A grapefruit sized lump of ice fell from the sky and through the awning of 89 Elmira Avenue. It was unusually pure ice and contained no organisms. The ice was so hot when travelling down that it had even left a burn mark, a sort of glassy spot, on the Aluminium awning. Hot ice? Was it the size of an iceberg when it started falling to get that hot? Ice does not normally get hot though, it tends to melt and turn into water or steam.

Campobello di Mazara, Sicily, Italy, near Trapani. 10th February 1968. Saturday. Throngs of tourists saw the remains of a giant Lizard-like creature found washed up on a beach. The carcasse had been initially found by Vincenze Croce, a fisherman, who had been walking on the beach. There was flesh still on it and the spinal column was still intact and it had obviously only died recently. The creature was 23 to thirty feet long with a duck-shaped head. The body was taken to a Museum and remained unidentified. We know that the Dinosaurs are dead but for how long ? A duckbilled Seamonster? Previously there had been a shower of stones from a small black cloud over Marsala, Sicily, in 1835.

Johnston, Providence, Rhode Island. 11th February 1968. 7.00 pm. The witness was in a car near Hawkins Pond when he saw an oval domed object which passed over his car. The craft had pulsating white or pinkish lights around the rim.

Newfield, Gloucester County, New York. 12th February 1968. Two boys saw a hovering UFO near their home. As the object tilted a six foot wide window was seen on top of it and two beings were standing behind it. Tourists? Who was watching who?

Koorda, Western Australia. 15th February 1968. 4.00 pm. Mr King was working on his tractor when he saw an object in the sky three kilometres away. The object rose up from a paddock in a vertical fashion, banked towards Mr. King and was lost to view over Lake Moore. On 8th February , just passed one week before, Mr Stephens dog had taken off when a UFO was seen in the same area.

Vashon Island, King County, Washington State. 18th February 1968. Sunday. Midnight to 1.00 am. It had been raining for several days with below freezing temperatures when Richard Frombach, Boone Powers and Chris Beachner saw an oval or crescent shaped glowing object in a gravel pit. It was a pale bluish-white colour and reflecting light from an unknown source. The witnesses then went back into town and dropped off Frombach who did not come back the the gravel pit with them. They picked up Joseph Frabush and returned to the gravel pit with him instead. The object had moved from right to left. The craft was lense shaped, the size of a compact stationwagon and apparently made of shiny metal and was thirty feet in diameter. All of the witnesses fled back to town and more witnesses came back to the gravel pit at 2.00 am. They discovered that a one hundred foot wide pond in the gravel pit was completely frozen over to a depth of five inches though the puddle around it was not. The ice was very dry and riddled with airbubbles and dirt. Something had agitated it whilst freezing it and it was unknown how it happened. The ice seemed very dry though it was still raining.

Bengough, Saskatchewan, Canada. 19th February 1968. Martha Heggs saw an inverted bowl. There was a smaller dome on top and six portholes. There were also riveted seams on the base as well as a highpitched whining noise that caused a tingling sensation throughout the witness's body. Prickling, tingling.Whatever. Are these hallucinations or physical contact reactions?

Claddaghduff, near Clifden, near Lough Nahooin, Galway, Ireland. 22nd February 1968. Thursday. 7.00 pm. Stephen Coyne, his wife and five children. At first Stephen and his son, 8, and their dog saw a black object in the water which they thought was another dog. Stephen whistled to it and his own dog went crazy. Suddenly a head shot up out of the water. It had a pole like neck that appeared out of the water and the head was one foot in diameter. The creature also had a flat tail, slick skin and was aimlessly swimming about. At time to time it put its head under its two humps and the flat tail also appeared at times. The dog started barking and the Lakemonster started swimming towards it. The creature came to within nine yards of the dog. The mouth's interior was pale though no teeth or eyes were visible. The creature then saw Stephen and swerved off. Overall it was twelve foot long, had humps on its back and hornlike growths on its head. By dusk the group of witnesses, now the entire family, left the Lakemonster and went home. Is dog a Lakemonster delicacy? A giant Lakemonster in a Lough the size of a large pond. Was it just passing by?

Pulham, Norfolk, England. February 1968. Mr Sydney Webb was walking home along Mill Lane when he saw a tall luminous shape glide from an entrance in a hedge, travel slowly along the road and then vanish. The object was half the height of a telephone pole. Watch out for traffic. You never know what is going to appear from behind the next hedge.

Gerona, Spain. February 1968. There were several individual witnesses. A tall manlike creature was seen in the woods during the month. It was apelike and had long arms. Footprints were found which were neither ape nor Human though. What they were is unknown.The sightings had begun in January and finished in February. Hairy tourists? The Spanish Hairy Hominoids are still on the loose.

Hostalrich, near Vilovi de Onar, near Barcelona, Spain. February.1968. Before the Hairy Hominoid on the pond sighting Ruperto Juher saw a Hairy Hominoid with long arms crossing the Highway. The manbeast walked with a weary sort of gait right in front of the witness's car.

Vilovi de Onar, Barcelona, Spain. February 1968. A Hairy Hominoid was seen drinking water from a pond. It left footprints in the clay that were 40 centimetres long. It was either a very big Hairy Hominoid or it had massive feet for its size.

Between Lucindale and Naracoorte. South Australia. February 1968. Mrs Anderson along with fifteen other people in three cars tried to corner a Thylacine in a reedbed. How do you succeed in catching the nonexistent? As are the Thylacines. Why drive in a reedbed?

Broughton Island. South shore, twenty-five miles northeast of Alert Bay, Queen Charlotte Strait, Vancouver County, British Columbia. Canada. February 1968. Tom Brown and Harry Whonnock, a pair of fishermen digging for clams, saw a six foot tall Hairy Hominoid looking at them. The Hairy Hominoid probably wanted the clams.

Beallsville, Monroe County, Ohio. 19th March 1968. Tuesday. 9.30 pm. Gregory Wells, 9, his mother and his grandmother. Gregory heard a noise like a generator getting louder and louder when a red football-shaped flying object with a row of brilliant red lights along its sides appeared. A tube-like appendage emerged from the bottom which r rotated to point towards Gregory and then emitted a flash of bright light which struck him on the right shoulder. Gregory's jacket ignited instantly and he fell to the ground and screamed for his mother who came over and pulled off the jacket. Then both of them saw the UFO just fade away. There was a burn the size of a fifty cent piece between his elbow and his shoulder. There was a smaller burn behind his shoulder almost under his arm. They were second degree burns and both blistered. Gregory had been carrying a pitcher of water from his grandmothers house to his mothers trailer home at the time. Some of them can be quite titchy, especially around little boys as we have seen before. Previously in 1878 three or four farmers had seen what appeared to be an opaque white horse in the sky over Parkersburg, West Virginia, on April 18th 1897, a cigar-shaped aerial object with lights was seen over Sisterville,West Virginia, as well as Cochransville, Ohio, shortly after, followed by the aerial crafts returning over Sisterville the following morning. It was three hundred feet long and seen by hundreds who were alerted by the frantic whistling of the sawmill whistle. On 2nd November 1966, Mr Woodrow Derenberg met some Aliens outside of Marietta, Ohio, and on November 26th 1966, a flock of Birdmen were seen over Cat's Creek, Ohio. Sometime in 1967 at Belpre, Ohio, a witness shone a torch at a UFO. Suddenly, as if in response, the torch went out and the electronics of the witness's car were burnt out.

Gulf of Mexico. 27th March 1968. Wednesday. 2.10 am. The crews of the tanker "Alfa Mex 11" and the Mexican Warship "Guanajuato" saw two or three objects in the centre of a bright ball of fire during an earthquake. The waters of the Gulf were churned up into fountains of spray as the object passed over. At the same time twenty-five miles from the ships at Vera Cruz in Mexico there was a deafening rumbling noise and a bright light seen in the sky. It got closer and the noise kept on. The strange Meteor that the ships had seen loomed over the scene. It dipped towards the ground and then shot up and off again heading back in the direction that it came. This was no Meteor. Aquatic UFOs? Technically USOs or Unidentified Submarine Objects.

Vera Cruz Llave, Vera Cruz, Mexico, Gulf of Mexico. 27th March 1968. Wednesday. 2.10 am. The population of the city heard a deafening rumbling noise that got louder as a strange light appeared from the direction of the Gulf of Mexico. The noise got louder and the earthquake which was happening at the time got more active. The strange light in the sky then dipped down and then ascended before virtually doing a U-turn and heading back over the Gulf. This was not a meteor. It seemed that the earthquake came and went with it. Was this the same light seen by the crews of the two ships? The same thing had apparently happened here on 27th March 1958.

Menghir, India. March 1968. Hailstones fell that were one kilogramme in weight each. Ho-hum.

One night in March 1968 Mr. John Noyce was driving on the Mount Kosciusko Road in New South Wales in Australia when he saw a large bear on the side of the road. The beast was standing upright on the road ahead of him and was illuminated in the car headlights. The creature was much taller than a man and was covered in long hair but quickly vanished into the scrub. There are no bears in Australia though. Nor are there big apes, actually any apes.

Lake Uppramen, Sweden. 1st April 1968. A perfectly triangular 500 square metre hole was found in 90 centimetres thick ice on the lake. Blocks of ice over one metre in diameter were found around the lake as well and divers sent into the lake found a reddish skin or crust of something. Small and equally as large triangular holes were found in nearby lakes as well. Odd holes are often found in ice but what was big enough to make a hole in ice three feet thick? In 1897 an Airship was seen in the sky over here that had an occupant in the gondola.

Cochrane, Buffalo County, Wisconsin. 3rd April 1968. Wednesday. 8.10 pm. Several people in two cars on the road saw a red boomerang-shaped luminous object swoop low over them. The lights and engines of both cars then failed and one of the witnesses reported a feeling of great stillness and a temporary weightless sensation whilst the craft was overhead. They also experienced a burning sensation in their feet some time after. The boomerang had returned and shouldn’t this be the case always?

Narrabeen Lakes, New South Wales. Australia. 3rd April 1968. 1.15 pm. Mrs Mabel Marsh was driving with her nephew when both witnesses saw a strange creature with both of its feet in the water nearby. The creature was one metre tall, had dark grey tough leathery skin and small front legs and walked on thick and round hind legs like an elephants legs. Eventually it ambled out of lake and into scrub. Was this a marsupial watermonster? A Bunyip. This is a pretty built up area yet we still have an odd creature even here. Maybe it is a reptilian version of a kangaroo?

Near Trinity Alps north of Weaversville in Trinity County in California on 6th April 1968 Larry Browning , who had seen a Bigfoot before, saw a Bigfoot wading in the river at night.

Near Trinity Alps north of Weaversville in Trinity County in California on 7th April 1968 Larry Browning, from the previous days sighting, saw a female Bigfoot that chased him after thirty minutes of watching him.

Near Trinity Alps north of Weaversville in Trinity County in California on 8th April 1968 Mike Melton saw a Bigfoot leaning over a river to drink.

On 12th April 1968 a house was hit by a falling meteorite in Schenectady in Schenectady County in New York State.

Westmoreland, Oneida County, New York. 15th April 1968. Monday. 2.00 am. Miss Shane Kurz,19, was woken up by her mother who asked Shane how she could sleep with the light coming through the window. Her sisters in the next room woke as well. The light though was only shining in Shane's room and came from behind the neighbours house across the street. There was no noise and the light then went upwards. Both witnesses had had UFO sightings in the previous few days and there were many other individual witnesses as well. It liked Shane.

Huntington Beach, Orange County, California. 16th April 1968. Tuesday. Louis Duenweg, 17, and three friends discovered strange whitish blobs bobbing at the waters edge. Louis broke one open and began to wash off sand particles in order to examine the unfamiliar pinkish substance within the plastic-like shell when there was a sudden hissing noise and the blob exploded which temporarily blinded him and burnt his face. Beware pink floating blobs. Rogue cordite? In plastic shells?

Fayetteville, Onondaga County, New York. 17th April 1968. A strange skyquake occurred here.

Parry Sound, Georgian Bay, Lake Huron, near Espanola, Sudbury County, Ontario. Canada. 18th April 1968. A vacationing family saw a brilliant UFO on the water. It was a fiery glow at first and seemed to be moving and came closer to them. It was a craft with red, yellow and green lights and they watched it for an hour until it sped across the channel and up into the sky. We've seen odd craft, and their occupants even, in Georgian Bay before.

Cleveland, Cuyahoga County, Ohio. Lake Erie. 22nd April 1968. Monday. Two boys, William Schwark and his friend, saw an eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid in the woods behind the Zoo. It was not a bear or Gorilla. The Hairy Hominoid ripped the jacket off William and left strange scars on his shoulders and then knocked him down a slope. There were several other witnesses. The Hairy Hominoid had been seen back in 1950 in the same area. Our friend is back but he is not very friendly. Nor was another Hairy Hominoid in Ithaca, New York, in 1967, that had done the same thing to another boy.

Seal Beach. Near Huntington Beach, Orange County, California. 23rd April 1968. A young man found an odd blob which he cracked open and tossed over his shoulder. There was a sudden blast which knocked him down and made a small crater. The pink exploding blobs are still being washed ashore. This was only seven days after the first sighting or exploding.

Lakewood, Los Angeles, California. 25th April 1968. Bert Martin saw large chunks of ice fall out of a clear sky onto a Hollywood Street corner. No planes were overhead or tall buildings and the largest chunk weighed twenty-five pounds. Ice can fall anywhere at anytime in any weather.

Selah, Yakima County, Washington State. 28th April 1968. A series of witnesses saw a hovering UFO. One witness in a car saw three Hominoids four feet tall emerge from it wearing orange shiny clothes. He blew his car horn and was nearly in a state of collapse when help arrived. Some people over-react to almost anything.

Ipswich, Essex County, Massachusetts. 30th April 1968. 1.50 am. An oval greyish object reflecting a flashing red light on its underside hovered low over trees and then dropped behind them before it suddenly ascended straight up, hovered a while and then streaked away at great speed. A reversing meteor?

Beverly, Essex County, Massachusetts. April 1968. Spring. 10.00 am. The witness was playing in the yard of Centerville School when the sky got dark and a beige coloured oval object with pulsating yellow and green lights descended and hovered for several minutes before moving away. The witness was joined by ten other witnesses.

Gobi Desert, Mongolia. mid April 1968. Military personnel working on an irrigation project saw a great disc of light trailing flames land onto sand. When a team of motorcycle troops arrived it took off leaving a seared cross on the ground. It must have been very hot.

Salem, Columbiana County, near Youngstown, Ohio. April 1968. Spring. Several individual witnesses. Mrs Alice Allison and her son Bruce Allison,7, both saw a black unlighted object hovering at a height of thirty feet. It had a clear dome with an occupant visible in it that resembled a man in a khaki shirt with olive skin and slanted eyes. The craft was making spluttering noises and rocking back and forth and then it took off to the southwest. Twenty minutes later a giant cat was seen that was three feet high by three foot six inches long and was seen quite often by the family, quite often in the driveway. Once pawprints were found that were three inches round with clawmarks half an inch deep and six inches long. The creature made growling panting catnoises. The Puma had been extinct in the area for over 100 years and this strange Panther-like creature that was seen around the house was large and black. In the same period there were several reports of a large hairy Hominoid moving around in the nearby woods. It was a big manlike creature with a black outline. It was not a bear. Were they dumping their unwanted pets here? Or were they cleverly disguised?

Salem, Columbiana County, near Youngstown, Ohio. April 1968. Spring. Several individual witnesses. Mrs Alice Allison and her son Bruce Allison,7, of a previous sighting were aware of a large shadowy manlike creature that would stand in the nearby woods and watch the house. Once when it was disturbed near their driveway it took off so fast that it did not seem to touch the ground. A large person running at the same speed would have stumbled and tripped over roots and rocks. Bruce also found the spot in the woods that the creature had been lying. There had also been UFO sightings in the area by the same witnesses as well as big cat sightings.

During Spring April 1968 Mr. Glenn Thomas was in the Clackamas River area in Clackamas County in Oregon when he had the opportunity to watch a female Bigfoot eating willow leaves.

Monteagle Mountain, Grundy County, north of Chattanooga, Tennessee. Spring. April 1968. Brenda Ann Adkins, a lone witness, became aware of a nauseating smell. There appeared in front of her a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid with an enormous chest and huge arms and legs and it was covered with blackish red hair. The creature was growling at first and stepped within six feet of the witness. It cocked its head in a quizzical way, stared at the witness, seemed to smile and then left and made little blubbering noises as it went away. A Hairy blubberer?

Glendarry Lough, also called Scraheens Lough, Achill Isle, Mayo, Ireland. 1st May 1968. Michael McNulty and John Cooney were driving home at night and as they passed the Lough a strange creature ran across the road a few yards in front of them and then vanished into thick undergrowth. It was seen clearly in the headlights and the witnesses accelerated away. The creature was eight to ten feet long, two and a half feet tall, had a long thick tail and a long neck like a Swan’s. The head was like a sheep’s or a greyhound’s and the skin was shiny dark brown and slimy and scaly. The eyes were glittering and the creature rocked from side to side as it ran. You don’t see them on land very often but then again you’re not even supposed to see them in the water at any time. Large lizards like monitors and perentis rock from side to side as they run but they are not native to Ireland.

Heyfield, Victoria. Australia. 2nd May 1968. Mr Whelan and Mr Lord, sanitary collectors, were with their truck which had broken down one and a half miles from town. They thought that they were about to get a tow as a string of red lights appeared. But it was not another vehicle that they were familiar with. There was object in a paddock with a string of lights and a dome on top. The two men stood on the bonnet of their truck to get a better view and the lights did not get any closer. Later they discovered that the grass in the area was wilted as if poisoned. This is one lift that they would not have wanted. Previously there had been a near collision between a dazzling golden ball that was hovering just above the roadway and a woman and her son in a car near Maffra in 1947 and near Mansfield in 1954 a UFO landed in front of witnesses for almost twenty minutes before departing.

The following morning at 4.40 am on 3rd May 1968 Mr. Whelan and Mr. Lord again saw the lights hovering above ground level.

Westmoreland, Oneida County, New York. 3rd May 1968. 4.00 am. Shane Kurz,19, a female nurses aide, who was also involved in a previous sighting, saw a UFO and then woke in bed with her mother shaking her. Muddy footprints led into her room from outside. After this Shane suffered nightmares, migraines, strange red rings on her abdomen, and was not capable of menstruating for a year. In February 1973, everything became normal. Under hypnosis three years later Shane remembered being kidnapped and taken into a room by small figures with off-white skin, probing eyes and no hair. They insisted that she get on a table. She did not want to. Ova samples were taken through a long needle. Shane is then told that she has been chosen to give them a baby and rape followed. Shane feels that the creatures know her. New York State has some of the highest rating areas for Phenomena and some of the lowest rating areas. This typical medical examination Contactee example is from one of the lower rating ones. Is any of it real at all?

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 4th May 1968. Police Sergeant Richard Yonge and others saw a long black shape in the loch 500 yards away. It was thirty to 40 feet long and seen for thirty minutes and changed to two humps, the one on the left being bigger than the one on the right. There was also a large fin sticking up and flopping about. The creature vanished towards Dores. Isn't the one on the left always bigger than the one on the right?

Arrecife, Gulf of Venezuela, Venezuela. 7th May 1968. Five aerial craft apparently travelling in formation were seen to dive into the sea. They did not seem to be Meteors. Another pinpoint Meteor shower?

Glendarry Lough, also called Scraheens Lough, Achill Isle, Mayo, Ireland. Second week of May 1968. Gay Denver, male,16, a trainee carpenter, was cycling home from Mass. He had dismounted and was walking up a rise when he saw a Lakemonster crawling out of the Lough in trees fifty yards away. The creature was humping itself along and climbing up the turf bank near the wood and moved in a jumpy way like a Kangaroo. It was much bigger than a horse and its hind legs were longer than the front legs . The animals length was twelve feet and it was a dark colour with a humped, bumpy back and a small head. This is a giant Otter? A misidentified cow?

Coogee Beach, Sydney, New South Wales, Australia. 10th May 1968. 5.00 pm. A rocket-like object rose up out of the sea, rotated 360 degrees, inclined, and then headed north. One photograph was taken of a blurred -ike shape. Rockets are always appearing out of the sea, aren't they?

Caconde, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 18th May 1968. Saturday. 5.00 am. Mr C.S. Dos Santos, a Nightwatchman, his wife and family and neighbours were witnesses. Mr C.S. Dos Santos found an object in the courtyard of his house. It was a strange metallic cylinder the size of a large coffeepot and there were glass or plastic encased dials on either end with Arabic style writing on the dials. The object was as heavy as a car battery. Mr Dos Santos put the object on the bathroom sill and went to work as a night watchman. At 12.45 am that night his pregnant wife was woken by the noise of a very large transformer and thought that there might be a short circuit. She got up and went to turn off the main light switch and upon emerging from the bedroom saw a brilliant blue light beaming from the bathroom. The noise was coming from there as well. Frightened she grabbed her son and fled to the neighbours. Mr Dos Santos soon after came home to check on her condition and the house was ablaze with light and his wife, son and neighbours were in the front yard. The wife related the events of the past few minutes and suddenly there was the sound of tiles shattering after which the light and the noise were absent. The man went into the bathroom to investigate and there was a pile of broken tiles on the floor. There was also a gaping hole in the roof just above where the object had rested on the sill. The object itself was gone. Had it blasted off? Unless you want to be up for a huge renovating bill never put UFOs in your bathroom as they are likely to destroy everything in their path, generally in an upwards direction. Such is their nature. This definitely indicates the physical state of this particular Phenomenal event. How transient is physicallity though?

Littleton, Grafton County, New Hampshire. 20th May 1968. Monday. Three witnesses on a wharf saw a whitish round light that was two foot high and was hovering one foot above the water. The light seemed to have two red glowing eyes. All the normal night noises had stopped and the glow moved towards the wharf that the witnesses were on and pervaded the wharf area. Previously there had been the famous alleged abduction of Betty and Barney Hill in the White Mountains only thirty or so kilometres south of here.

Roxbury, near Boston, Suffolk County, Massachusetts. 28th May 1968. 10.15 pm. Communities in the area heard buzzing noises and two witnesses saw three flying objects making an intermittent roaring noise. The nearest one was oval-shaped with a blue glowing square on its' underside. The sound vibrated from one witness's eardrums down to their stomach. More physical effects from UFOs.

Monroe, Butler County, near Dayton, Ohio. 31st May 1968. 2.30 am. A motorist on Ohio Route 63 reported to the Ohio State Patrol that he had seen a kangaroo hopping about. A patrolcar was sent out and Patrolman James Patrick reported back that the kangaroo had hopped right across the road in front of him leaping off in the direction of Lebanon, Ohio.

Monroe, Butler County, near Dayton, Ohio. late May 1968. 2.15 am. A Kangaroo appeared alongside Interstate Highway 75, south of Dayton. There had been numerous reports of hopping Macropodians in the area. As we know Kangaroos are not resident to North America nor had been or ever would be seen in this area again.

Chascomus, Bahia Blanca, Buenos Aires, Argentina. May 1968. Dr Geraldo Vidal and Mrs Geraldo Vidal were driving in their Peugot 403 following friends, the Rapallini family, to Maipu. Whilst still in the suburbs of Chascomus they were suddenly surrounded by a thick fog. Their friends wondered where they were. The next thing the Vidals knew was that they were on an unfamiliar side road. Both of them had pain at the back of their necks but were otherwise unhurt. Their watches had stopped and they were actually now in Mexico. The car had been scorched and 48 hours had passed. They then called their friends from the Argentine Consulate in Mexico City. There was no way that they could have driven overland and scorched the car let alone any reason for doing so. The car was shipped off to the manufacturer and later they received another one the same as a replacement. They had travelled 6,400 kilometres in 48 hours. This would have been at an average speed of 133 miles per hour. Urban legend or strange truth? After all if we are postulating that there are Quasar Vacuum induced naturally occurring Wormholes through Space as a naturally occurring consequence of Cold Plasma buildups then we can also postulate or hypothesise that there are little Wormholes as well. Had the Vidals driven into a pinpoint Wormhole of very limited spatial and temporal duration? If Wormholes occur as a consequence of flaring up of Cold Plasma so as to induce a Quasar Vacuum then allowing for our previously introduced concept of movement of Phenomenal points over the Earth's surface in periodic patterns based on a Sine wave then as the Cold Plasma builds up it would appear to jump from place to place as it flares up and then flares down whilst at the same time following the projected paths based on periodicity studies of the Earth's surface as discussed earlier and tested by Mr Illert. The Cold Plasma flare might well be triggered by multiple sine waves integrating to produce a chord, similar to a musical chord, that resonates at a particular pitch or tone. Each sine wave is an oscillation therefore when we have multiple sine waves integrating they would produce a chord that would produce a large Cold Plasma increase as the chords became more complex. As the pitch becomes full due to the apparent hopping of flares, merely the pitch increasing or decreasing, then we have chords produced as long as they occur at the same time in the same place. This would explain why Phenomena are not consistently ongoing like a giant snake of energy travelling across the planet, possibly even through it, but instead tend to flare up and then die down.

Maipu, Bahia Blanca, Buenos Aires, Argentina. May 1968. On the same night as the Vidal vanishing a man had checked into the Main Hospital in Maipu for medical treatment claiming that he had encountered a strange fog which had left him badly shaken and nauseated. Something was allegedly happening in South America.

Between Lucindale and Naracoorte, South Australia. May 1968. Mr Trevor Taylor, a Stock and Station Agent, saw a Thylacine, an extinct striped creature. A cast was made of the toeprints and it had small toes compared with the large palm pad. There were Hair samples as well. Thylacines again.

Calama, Antofagasta, Chile. 29th May 1968 - 27th June 1968. There were numerous reports of a UFO landing and three Hominoids in bright jumpsuits approaching and staring into huts. Chile was getting warm now.

Peine, Antofagasta, Chile. 29th May 1968 - 27th June 1968. There were numerous reports of a UFO landing and three Hominoids in bright jumpsuits approaching and staring into huts. Quite warm.

Socaire, Antofagasta , Chile. 29th May 1968 - 27th June 1968. There were numerous reports of a UFO landing and three Hominoids in bright jumpsuits approaching and staring into huts. A sudden flurry of strange brightly dressed Hominoids?

Tocanao, Antofagasta ,Chile. 29th May 1968 - 27th June 1968. Numerous reports of a UFO landing and three Hominoids in bright jumpsuits approaching and staring into huts.

Tilomonte, Antofagasta ,Chile. 29th May 1968 - 27th June 1968. There were numerous reports of a UFO landing and three Hominoids in bright jumpsuits approaching and staring into huts.

Lima, Peru. 2nd June 1968. A group of people saw six UFOs hovering over a Highway near Lima. Each flying object had a red light and made a noise like a helicopter but moved at speeds too fast for helicopters. They were shaped like soup plates and rounded at the bottom. Flying soup-plates? Remember that the traditional soup-plate is flattish rimmed and domed in the middle unlike the dessert dish that we associate with soup-plates today.

Achill Sound, Glendarry Lough, also called Scraheens Lough, Achill Isle, Mayo, Ireland. 2nd June 1968. Sunday.1.00 pm. Mary O'Neill and Florence Connaire were hiking home when they were given a lift in a car by a Dundalk businessman. As they were driving one of the girls pointed at an animal out on the shoreline one hyundred yards away. A twelve foot long dark Monster was seen that moved in a jumpy way and had a long head, neck and tail. The lakemonster was seen going from the lake into the woods. The hind legs were longer than the front legs and it seemed like a dinosaur. The businessman took photographs. It was a Full Moon. Irish dinosaurs? Coming out of lakes?

An eighteen inch long alligator was caught in the Capitol Building in Lansing, Ingham County, Michigan, before 11th June 1968.

Buffalo, Erie County, New York. Lake Erie. 12th June 1968. Two Police Officers witnessed landed UFO. Ho-hum.

Villa Carlos Paz, Cordoba, Argentina. 13th June 1968. Saturday. 1.00 am. Maria Eladia Pretzel,19, and her father, Pedro Pretzel, owner of the "La Cuestra" Motel were the witnesses. A strange looking Hominoid dressed in a blue helmet and suit that was made of shiny scales walked in off the courtyard of the house. The hominoid was six foot tall and glowing with an eerie light and smiled. The hominoid did not walk but seemed to glide whilst it held a blue ball in its left hand. The hominoid beckoned Maria with his hand, palm up and spoke in a strange language. Maria lost consciousness and was frightened out of her wits. Her father was with her when she woke up as he had just got home and had seen two red lights resting near the home which had moved on and vanished as he approached. Pedro hurried inside finding Maria unconscious on her bed. What had happened to Maria? In times past these would have been described in religious imagery as Archangels and some such but even imagery has to evolve.

Between Boulogny and San Martin, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 15th June 1968. Many witnesses saw a hovering UFO. Juan Carlos Barros, a Railway worker, said the passage of the UFO had caused the roof of his house to collapse. Many witnesses said there was a noise like thunder from it as well as a strange smell and a strange light. Not our first collapsing roof either.

El Choro, Oruro, Bolivia. 16th June 1968. 300 kilometres from La Paz. German Rocha, Chief of the Provincial Police and Police Major Niceforo Leon saw a round object giving off a vivid blue light. The luminous object left behind a strange and powerful odour and the surrounding grass and shrubs were burnt. Not our first smelly UFO either.

On 16th June 1968 near French Creek in Idaho County in Idaho Mr. Frank Bond was fishing when he saw a pair of silver grey Bigfeet that were respectively seven feet and eight feet tall.

Near Clipper in Whatcom County in Washington State in mid-June 1968 Frank Lawrence Jnr, a logger, who we have met before, saw a female Bigfoot and a child that were covered in black hair. Frank ran off on seeing them only one hundred yards away.

On 17th June 1968 at Banyule High School in Heidelberg, a Melbourne suburb, in Victoria in Australia, thirteen school pupils saw a UFO that was the size of two houses shoot past overhead. The craft was round, flat and seemed to have a hole in the middle and moved along a flat approach towards the witnesses and making no noise. Suddenly it changed course and streaked upwards at sixty degrees and vanished from sight. The boys reported the matter to their headmaster and their drawings tallied with their descriptions.

Cabreria, Bolivia, near El Choro. 19th June 1968. Wednesday. Mr Romulo Velasco, 25, saw a UFO land. A tall slim being emerged from it and tried to approach the witness who fainted.More fainting witnesses? Are we all getting fits of the vapours?

Scarborough Bluffs, Scarborough, York County, Lake Ontario, Ontario. Canada. 17th June 1968. 10.30 pm. Alderman James Bryers and his wife stepped from their car into their driveway when they saw a huge orange globe of light pass over their house at treetop height. The pass over took five minutes and the craft seemed to be breaking up. Orange chunks would fly off and the craft would glow brightly, vanish, reappear, still glowing, and then vanish seconds later. The object moved a few hundred yards over the bluffs at edge of Lake, went forward, paused, hovered, rose, moved ahead again and followed the bluffs into the distance. The witnesses then went to their house. It was 10.45 pm. The son, watching from a second floor, spotted a second object coming from the east on the same course as the first but at a slightly higher altitude. As it repeated the same manoeuvres as the first object the witnesses compared it to a commercial plane flying overhead at a much higher altitude. There was no Moon and the pilot must have seen the UFO. There was no confirmation from Toronto International Airport. At 11.20 pm a third object was coming in much lower than the other two. The craft was huge. It was one hundred feet across one mile away. Alderman Bryers took his binoculars to his yard and climbed on top of a three foot tall wall and held the object in view for three to four seconds. The craft was moving faster than the other two and went below the level of the trees. Then Alderman Bryers went to the Bluff and was joined by two teenagers. The trio took turns watching it through binoculars until it vanished. The craft was very round, large and flat and had a central hub and spokes which appeared dark against the rest of the craft. There was an intense yellow orange light coming from it yet the bright glow did not reflect off rooftops or trees. There was no sound from any of the three objects and altogether there were twenty witnesses. Were the three passing objects actually ever here or merely seen but not heard to be here. They were close enough to be seen but not close enough to be sensed in any other way.

San Lorenzo, Rosario, Santa Fe, Argentina, Rio Parana. 25th June 1968. Tuesday. J. J. Racoski, an employee of the Carmel Chemical plant. Something unknown had dazzled and paralysed him and he was found by his workmates unconscious and grasping a torch in his left hand. He came to half an hour later and shouted “I can’t see a thing". His eyes were bulging and badly swollen and the skin had turned red. He took three days to recover from the paralysis and the blindness. Afterwards he continued to suffer extreme nervousness and severe pain in the body. The cause was unknown and no earthly animal leaves such a wound. San Lorenzo is a suburb of Rosario. Eye problems again?

Saladillo, Rosario, Santa Fe, Argentina, Rio Parana. 27th June 1968. Thursday. 7.50 am. Several operators of a gas plant whilst unloading and loading boxes saw a UFO hovering at an altitude of 450 feet. The object was round, silvercoloured and flat and emitted an intensely red light from its centre and moved slowly from the northeast to the southeast. There were many individual witnesses including the Police. Boring. Unless we infer that this UFO was responsible for the attack two days before on Mr J.J. Racoski?

El Sosniego, fifteen kilometres from Mar del Plata, Argentina. 27th June 1968. Dr Marcelo Anibal Betnaza, a Lawyer, his wife who was a Professor, their daughter and various others. Marcelo had just got home and found his family and others observing an object that when seen through binoculars was shaped like a mushroom or spinning top. It was stationary and hovering not far from the ground and emmitting flashes of light that changed colour constantly. From the cupola came a steady green light and the part of the craft below was emmitting red and yellow flashes. The craft then started climbing, halted at an observed angle of twenty-five degrees, and then dropped again. It was wobbling. The witnesses got into their car and drove to 1000 metres from the hovering craft. The wife saw the object on her own and on the following day with her family. Good witnesses? Trustable witnesses?

Salmon Arm Inlet, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada, Salmon River. 27th June 1968. Thursday. Gordon Baum, a logger, saw a five foot tall small Hairy Hominoid that jumped over a four foot tall pile of logs and ran on two legs much faster than a man. “He was gone in two seconds!” Gordon said. A bear could not run that fast and especially not on two legs. Bears travel at speed loping along on four. If it was not a bear what was it?

Rolla, Phelps County, Missouri. 29th June 1968. On an airliner flying from Kankakee, Illinois to Dallas, Texas, Mr. Jerrold I. Potter disappeared from the toilet during the flight. The plane had given a strange jolt over Rolla but no doors opened and if they were they could not have been closed again in flight. The jolt was like hitting an invisible obstacle. A miniature pinpoint in between Time and Space. Remember that we are dealing with multi-dimensions here so openings might not merely be sitting or moving over the Earth’s surface but possibly even through it or over it.

San Luis del Palmar, near Corrientes, Argentina. 29th June 1968. Eduardo Sanchez Aguilar, Pastor Ortega and Damien Vega were in a car on Highway five when they saw a flattened circular object emmitting an intense bright light. At one point it was dangerously close to the car. The witnesses turned off the car lights and the car was shaken by a powerful vibration so strong that the gears went into reverse. It was no illusion that physically interacted with the car. Why didn’t the Pastor see a religious vision?

Mendoza, Mendoza Province, Argentina. 30th June 1968. Sunday.1.15AM. Jose Paulino Nunez was on a private beach reserved for analysts of a distillery when he met two people who he thought were guards. Then he realized that they were Hominoids with metallic voices and wearing onepiece suits. These strangers showed him a spherical object thirty centimetres in diameter in which colourful figures moved like film. One of the strangers said there were many more people like these. Then Jose found himself back in his laboratory. His partner Alberto Gonzalez noticed something wrong. They went to the beach together an hour later. Illusions or drifting realities?

Cordoba, Argentina. June 1968. Three children, 10, 11 and two years old saw an eggshaped object that had landed. Two hominoids came out of it wearing luminous suits. They were holding hands and walked around the craft a few times before getting back in and ascending into the sky. The craft flew away at tremendous speed. They must have been good friends.

Miramar, near Mar Del Plata, Buenos Aires, Argentina. June 1968. Oscar Vivas, 24, was cycling home when he was confonted by a mysterious craft on the road ahead. It was a very large elliptically shaped craft hovering half a metre above the ground with the upper portion rotating rapidly. There was a vivid beam of light coming from object as well as a buzzing noise as it zigzagged into the sky. The craft left a white powder on the ground and the soil was scorched at the spot. Boring.

Skamania, Skamania County, Washington State. June 1968. Evening. Mr Cal Houdeshelt saw a tall hairy homoinoid standing in a ditch on the side of the road. The manbeast was over seven feet tall and was covered with brownish to grey hair. It also had a head like a pumpkin, strange eyes and no snout. This ware't no bear Pa!

During June 1968 near Estacada in Clackamus County in Oregon a man saw a Bigfoot with no neck standing at the edge of the woods.

Between Bluff Creek and Fish Lake, Humboldt County, California. June 1968. Steve Martin and Bruce Cornwall saw a smelly Bigfoot at night in a clearing. That smell is familiar.

Ricardone, Santa Fe, Argentina. Rio Parana. 1st July 1968. 4.00 am. Monday. Raul Salcedo,17, was returning home from a dance during a UFO flap when he saw two hominoids that were three metres tall standing on an intersection. Raul felt drawn to them and had to physically resist the urge by running in panic to his home. He was in such a state that he passed his father and friends without stopping. More tourists or gourmet butchers? They certainly know how to impress a person.

Botacotu, Brazil. 1st July 1968. Three boys saw a grey circular landed UFO with a dome on top. The craft had a tripod base with a ladder on the bottom and was seen for forty minutes. There were deep symmetrical marks found on the ground afterwards. ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ.

Cofico, Salta, Argentina. 2nd July 1968. 8.15am. Near the sporting club a boy named Sola sawa bright object hovering above the "Peak of February 20th " when he saw a strange being 2.10 metres tall hanging suspended in the air from a luminous body. The luminous body suddenly turned around like a top yet the body remained motionless before it rose into the air and vanished only a few metres from the witness. There were many individual witnesses of the craft as well. The flying trapeze or the Alien version of the spacewalk?

Sierra Chica, near Ollavaria, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 2nd July 1968. Tuesday.11.30 am. Oscar Herberto Iriart, 15, was riding a horse on his fathers rancho. Near a wire fence he saw two Hominoids making signs for him to approach and he rode over to them. The hominoids were 1. seven metres tall, had short white hair and wore red clothing. The hominoids had deep set eyes and did not blink. The legs seemed semitransparent as Oscar could see grass behind them. The hominoids told Oscar that they would show him the World but not today as it was too big a load on the saucer and they showed him the machine that was standing in a muddy drainage ditch. The craft was elliptical with three legs, one behind the other that were 2.2 metres in diameter by 60 centimetres tall and fifty centimetres long. The craft was a silvery colour. After the contact one of the Hominoids extended an envelope from his clothing and gave it to the witness who was told to dip it into a nearby puddle. The witness did this. Written on it in crude Spanish was “Uste va a conocer el Mundo. P. Volador. " (You are going to know the World. F. Saucer.) The word “uste” was missing at the end. Then the hominoids re-entered the object through the top which lifted up and the UFO took off vertically. Oscar felt as if he had been asleep and ran over to his horse. The horse was paralysed though as was the dog. Oscar also had strange bulging eyes for a period and the paralysis eventually wore off. Oscar mounted in terror and was disoriented as if coming out of hypnosis. After the sighting his family and neighbours went to the spot and found three holes,12 centimetres deep, that formed a perfect isosceles triangle with a base side of two metres and the other two sides of 1.50 metres. The message meant nothing to them. This was the first sighting here and this was the second and last.

Wooler, in Murray Township, Northumberland County, eastern Ontario. Canada. 2nd July 1968. 11.00 pm. Fred Coulthard jnr, 24, and his brother Wayne Coulthard, 20, were standing outside of their house when they saw a flying object with revolving flashing lights hovering over the hill three miles north of them. The object took off and a brilliant flash of light lit upthe sky. Two carloads of men and boys went to investigate on this bright moonlit night. Fred saw a bush jerking around violently and a dark shape detached itself and hovered above ground before moving off towards the house. From then on poltergeist activity of a destructive nature occurred. The Coulthards were a Catholic family and there were many witnesses. The events calmed down by the end of July. When the odd things started happening were they the effects of the Devil or the effects of electromagnetics?

Sierra Chica, near Ollavaria, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 3rd July 1968. 11.15 pm. Five sceptics went to the landing site from the previous day and to their shock the UFO suddenly appeared and swooped them. The craft made a zigzagging motion and the witnesses threw themselves to the ground and were no longer sceptics. This was reported UFO number 2052, but who is counting, since 1800. Remember that we only deal with phenomena that leave traces, impact in a physical way with their environment or are multiply independent witnessed or both and also possess at least a year and a place at least. This leaves out the alleged other hundreds of thousands of sightings that were never definite enough or were merely of airborne sightings.

Quilmes, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 3rd July 1968. Wednesday. 11.30 pm. Mrs Alejandro Martinez de Fascucci was walking across an open space at the crossroads of Calle Alvear and Calle Saavedra when she suddenly found herself being held down by an invisible force. She was terrified and could not shout . Instantly she found herself in an enclosed space with two men in luminous metallic clothing, shoes and helmets. One was over two metres tall and the other one was shorter. Both talked in an unknown language. The heat inside the space was unbearable and the shorter of the two Hominoids pressed a button and the witness felt the space move as if it was in a machine. Suddenly and mysteriously she descended from the UFO opposite a Cemetery some distance away from where she was picked up. The craft was round with four or five windows. Anyone for a lift?

Gosford, New South Wales. Australia. 3rd July 1968. Two sisters saw a semi-circular craft aglow with flashing red and green lights hovering for two minutes over their parents car. ZZZZZZZZZZZZZZZ.

Dowerin, Western Australia. 8th July 1968. 8.30 pm. Peter Harris, a farmer, was moving some sheep when he saw a bright coloured light moving in a southerly direction at a height of the fenceposts. The object made no sound but was seen for twenty minutes. Sight but no sound?

La Nariz, near Cauquenes, near Maule, Chile. 10th July 1968. Wednesday. All the cars on the road were mysteriously and suddenly stopped for no reason. The drivers stayed with their vehicles till morning when the cars started again. One car that was already stopped was drawn up a hill for 40 metres. Shades of Saxony Woods Parkway in 1930.

On 11th July 1968 a family saw a Bigfoot walk past their camping site at night by the Trinity River near Salyer in Trinity County in California.

Murray, Calloway County, Kentucky. Before 11th July 1968. A Hairy Hominoid was seen on the road by Dr. Richard Young and Mr. Charles Denton. Ho-hum. This was boring. Previously around here there had been the sighting of a 28 foot long snake in Hazell in 1962 and prior to that in 1932 in Dukedom an ailing farmer who was suffering from cancer was cured by a bolt of lightning. What is the relationship other than time or place?

Cauquenes, near Maule, Chile. 14th July 1968. 6.30 am. A strange heat wave suddenly occurred when normal temperatures were below Zero. The temperature shot up to 26 degrees Celsius and lasted for several hours. A hovering UFO was also seen. Now its odd heat effects with UFOs?

Santiago, Chile. 14th July 1968. 7.00 pm. A woman and her husband were in their car when a mysterious luminous sphere appeared above them and emitted a strong flourescent, blue, blinding light that seemed to be surrounded by a rainbow aura. When the witnesses got too close the sphere vanished and when looking back was there again. The sphere was the size of a bus and had flourescent flashes.

Chile and Argentina are certainly busy.

In the early hours of 19th July 1968 several taxi drivers and a hotel manager in and around Scarborough in Western Australia reported seeing a strange flying thing whilst they were driving along Cambridge Street. The object was fifty feet wide and about twenty feet thick with a fiery tail coming from behind. The main body was an iridescent grey colour with a streak of green which could have been windows. It came down to an altitude of one thousand feet.

San Carlos de Bariloche Airport, Bahia Blanca, Argentina. 22nd July 1968. 2.00 pm. A UFO circled the Airfield at a 200 feet altitude and seemed to be landing. There were a huge number of witnesses and they all observed that this aircraft was unusual. It had an unusually long fuselage, Delta wings that seemed far too short and appeared to be moving too slowly to be actually capable of flying. The Control Tower tried to contact it but were unsuccessful. A green light flashed at it to signal permission to land and the gigantic machine continued to lope around the field at the end of Runway 28 when it suddenly rolled over on its axis and completed a 360 degree turn in too little room. Through binoculars there were no markings or insignia seen except for three small black squares and one large one on its fuselage. The craft seemed to glide rather than fly and made a faint hissing noise. After a few minutes it picked up speed and shot away to the southeast. There were hundreds of qualified observers but none recognised it.

Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. 23rd July 1968. Tuesday. 5.45 pm. Willie Walls, Bruce Johnson and Gwen Johnson, Renee Bliss and Sheri Campbell were out

waterskiing and got to within five feet of Ogopogo. Ogopogo is the local lakemonster and had blue green grey scales and was twenty feet long with no head or tail visible. It was seen at first by Sheri who was so alarmed she had dropped the towrope to the boat and was treading water. As the boat circled back the Lakemonster started moving with its scales glistening like a Rainbow Trout's in the Sun. The witnesses chased the Lakemonster up to 40 miles per hour in a motorboat but Ogopogo outpaced them. Ogopogo left behind a wake which streamed behind it in a Vee shape. Would you chase Ogopogo?

Mexico City, Mexico. 28th July 1968. A UFO landed on the Highway and had a great dome and was twenty feet in diameter with four legs. There were seventy-five witnesses. The craft was aluminium-coloured and made no sound until it made a humming nosie when its legs retracted. Boring. This is the eighth in a series of sightings that started in 1897 with a deluge of water during an earthquake in which the sky appeared to be ablaze under the cloudcover. In 1898 there was another earthquake during which an out of season mist appeared. In 1963 there was a rain of greyish mushroom-shaped objects near the Airport and on August nineteen,1965, two brothers near the Polytechnic Institute saw a landed UFO and Hominoids that departed leaving an engraved metal plate on the ground as well as a strange fluid that was composed of Alumina and Silicone. On 6th September 1965, a UFO landed in one of the many lakesized pools in the dried up lakebed of Lake Texcoco. Also during September 1965, a lowflying UFO was skimming roofs as it came down and traffic was stopped due to its electromagnetic field. In October 1965, three women in the southern suburbs saw three beings ten feet tall who were wearing shiny clothing.

Saint-Stanislas-de-Kosta, Beuharnois County, Quebec, Canada. 28th July 1968. Sunday. Evening. Five children saw UFOs and a sort of circle surrounded by a blue light.Then a second UFO landed in a cornfield near the house. Then the children saw a creature that was less than 45 centimetres tall, had an ugly black face and rough furrowed skin. The children then ran back into the house and the Hominoid looked in through the windows and was knocking on the glass and making a mooing noise. Shortly after the UFO took off with a red halo. The landing site was an area of flattened Oats. Were they misidentifying a blackfaced sheep?

Upton, Bagot County, Quebec, Canada. 28th July 1968. Night. Three hours after the previous sighting in Quebec by the five children a family saw a sparkling rotating cloud in their garden. Then they saw several Hominoids three foot tall who chased the cows in a nearby field. Had the first Hominoid sighted been mooing to attract the cows?

Barnstable, Barnstable County, Massachusetts. 29th July 1968. 1.30 am. Two witnesses saw a snow-white glowing object land on the grass at the County Airport. The object made a noise like a swarm of locusts. The Airfield had closed at sunset. Locust or bee noises again like loud humming? Like transformers? Like the hum of an electric field? Like the vibration of electromagnetic waves harmonizing?

Plaine-des-Cafres, Reunion. Indian Ocean. 31st July 1968. A farmer saw an oval object hovering just above the ground. It was fifteen feet in diameter and two small entities stood in it. Then the craft vanished in a blast of hot air. Pretty ordinary sighting by now.

Pacific Ocean, near New Zealand. July 1968. The crew of a Japanese fishing boat caught a creature in a net. It was six foot long weighing 200 pounds and had razor sharp side fins and was covered with polka dots. The seamonster also had nine thorny protrusions on its head and back and was an unknown type of Seamonster. The polka-dotted people eater?

Grodner Pass, Dolomites, Italy. July 1968. The witness, a male, 25, saw tall beings with domed heads and beautiful Oriental eyes that came from a UFO. There was telepathic communication stressing benign contact with useful information passed on and the hominoids stated that they were from a far away Galaxy. They stated that everything is God and other philosophical statements. They also gave some prophecies including that there was a Pole shift due soon, Earth's crust would crack and life would be in great danger. The usual bad news. It is quite common for UFO occupants to give forth prophecies that rarely come to anything along with unusual or puerile philosophies.

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. July 1968. Dr Kenneth McLeod of Cortland, New York, saw a greyblack object in Loch Ness. The object was fifteen to twenty feet long, three to five feet high and was speeding down the Loch in the same direction as his car. Its not often that one is paced by the most famous Lakemonster in the World. Or was it a very fast lump of wood or a marshmass accelerating along?

Borrego Sink, near Borrego Springs, San Diego County, California. July 1968. Harold Lancaster, a treasure Hunter, saw a sandy coloured giant Hairy Hominoid walking across the desert towards him.Harold fired at the manbeast to keep it away and this seemed to work as the startled creature jumped three feet into the air, looked at the witness and ran off in the opposite direction to the him. This one must have decided not to stay around. Quite often they don't seem to notice.

Yukon, Galena, Alaska. July 1968. Summer. A tall Hairy Hominoid was seen. Ho-hum.

Anthony, Dona Ana County, New Mexico. July 1968. Summer. There were sightings of an ape with long black wavy hair in the area. Further South but still rather ho-hum.

Anthony, Dona Ana County, New Mexico. July 1968. Summer. A young couple were out driving when they saw a Hairy Hominoid with long black wavy hair eating an animal that had been killed on the road.

Kinloch, Saint Louis County, Missouri. July 1968. A four year old child was playing in the backyard when a large hairy creature appeared from the woods and grabbed him and attempted to run back into the woods with him. The aunt who saw this screamed and the family dog started barking furiously and went after the tall Hairy Hominoid who dropped the little boy and ran off back into the woods. No tracks or signs of such a strange animal were found though. Was the child to become an adoption or a snack-pack?

Da Nang, Vietnam, South China Sea. July 1968. 1.00 am. Earl Morrison, First Division Marine Corps, and two other G. I.s were on guard duty and were sitting on top of a bunker when they saw a grayish-greenish naked black woman with wings flying over them. The arms had hands yet were also wings. This sounds more like Greek mythology than an hallucination. What were these guys on? Were they on anything?

Clearwater River near Golden, Idaho County, Idaho. July 1968. Summer. Mr. C. E. Rickets and Fred J. Richardson eventually saw a cinnamon coloured Bigfoot that had been visiting their camp unseen and which had left tooth marks on a bag and a tin and taken a bag of flour. Was it doing some baking?

Leavenworth, Leavenworth County, Kansas. July 1968. Summer. Dennis Williams and others were monster hunting when they almost caught one. They saw a seven to eight foot tall light coloured Bigfoot in broad daylight. What would they have done with it if they had caught one?

The Dalles, Wasco County, Oregon. July 1968. Summer. Two girls woke up whilst sleeping outdoors and saw a Bigfoot on its haunches watching them. The creature ran away when they screamed. I would too.

Oaxaca de Juarez, Oaxaca, Mexico. 2nd August 1968. Thousands of people, many of population, saw Searchlight-like beams of light that lit up the sky during an earthquake. They were yellow and red in colour and animals went berserk beforehand. Previously there had been the mass sighting of an aerial trumpet-shaped form in the sky that was seen for five minutes in 1874. It was estimated to be 425 feet long.

Lansing, Ingham County, Michigan. 3rd August 1968. There was a report to the State Police that there was a kangaroo hopping around the campus of Michigan State University near College and Jolly Roads. A student prank with an easily accessible kangaroo? Kangaroos in America are not very common at all.

Revelstoke, near Hanna, British Columbia. Canada. 7th August 1968. Harold Howery was driving late at night to the west of the village when a circular object descended sixty feet in front of his car. The luminous object swayed from side to side like a pendulum and was a light blue colour. It had one large light and made no sound. The craft then went southwards toward Glacier National Park in Montana. Why do some sightings never stand still?

Mendoza, Mendoza Province, Argentina. early August 1968. A female Nurse, 46, saw a mushroom-shaped UFO land in a courtyard of the hospital where she worked. Her ears buzzed and she shielded her eyes from the bright red colour of the object. A few minutes later it started flashing bright red and blue colours and went flying away. It left a burnt spot on the ground five inches by twelve inches in size. The witness was also found to have been exposed to some radiation from the object. They also like hospitals or is this merely a byproduct of a place where there is people traffic at times when there are normally no people around?

In early August 1968 Anthony Anable was near Rogue River in Jackson County in Oregon when he saw a silver and charcoal coloured Bigfoot that was an unusual twelve feet tall and with amber reflecting eyes. The creature approached to within five feet of Anthony who was sleeping outdoors at the time. Tracks were found that were fifteen inches long with a 78 inch stride. A Bigfoot with a big stride!

On 10th August 1968 at 10.08 pm Miss Hetty Miller and her friend Miss Lucie Smith were having a cup of tea on the verandah of Hetty's house when they saw a dinner plate sized light that was red-orange descending towards Woodward Street in Strathfield in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. It became a perfect sphere and descended to twenty feet and then moved towards some trees and then swerved towards the northeast and then whilst still large in size it vanished in midair. There were no protrusions or appendages on it and it was watched for ninety seconds. It did not seem to go anywhere but vanished where it was. Had it gone through a hole in the sky?

Chittyville, Williamson County, Illinois. 11th August 1968. Sunday. 8.30 pm. Tim Bullock and Barbara Smith were parked in a car when a ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid threw dirt through the window at them. This of course scared them. The creature had a hairy head the size of a steering wheel and had suddenly emerged from the bushes. A large depression was found in the area the next day. It was not a bear. Hairy Hominoids had been seen here in 1941. In the meantime there had been sightings of giant cats and a Hombird or giant manbird.

Near Stewart in British Columbia in mid-August 1968 two hunters saw a Bigfoot over seven feet tall running up a hillside at dusk. The creature had a short neck, flat nose and long arms.

Phelps Corner, Prince Georges County, Maryland. 19th August 1968. 8.20 pm. An oval object with a centre band of red and white flashing lights hovered over Rosecroft Racecourse. Mrs Gwen E. Donovan, one of many witnesses, saw seven helicopters circling the craft. Helicopters would normally be regarded as too slow and lumbering for chasing UFOs. Whose helicopters were they or did they only appear to be helicopters?

Terracina, Italy. 22nd August 1968. 12.25 pm. A busload of tourists were buzzed by a UFO. The craft was disc-shaped and flew parallel to the bus. The object was also metallic grey with a dome on top and moved in a straight line and had square windows on the outer edge and a small, darker spot in the middle. A bus full of witnesses. Previously there had been the fall of non-Meteoric stone near here at Supino in 1975.

Between Easterville and Grand Rapids, Manitoba, in Canada, on 23rd August 1968 three men saw a short-haired Bigfoot that walked onto a road only one hundred yards from their car. There was another sighting of a Bigfoot shortly afterwards.

Around 7.45 pm on 24th August 1968 numerous witnesses between Wollongong and Sydney's southern suburbs in New South Wales in Australia saw a high flying white glowing light which made no sound. Mrs. Watson of Caringbah stated that it was a tremendously powerful cigar-shaped white light around 7.45 pm.

On that same night of 24th August 1968 four Wollongong boys in a hostel in Fairy Meadow in New South Wales in Australia saw an intensely bright white light forming an elliptical pattern around 7.50 pm. This was five minutes later.

The following day 25th August 1968 in the morning Mrs. Ann Robinson of Belmont near Newcastle in New South Wales in Australia heard her children calling out excitedly. On going out to see what they were excited about the children drew her attention to a cigar-shaped object moving over the ocean towards them that looked like a giant tadpole with an enormous neon light shining brightly down its entire length.

The following night 25th August 1968 Mrs. Schweppes of Coogee in Sydney in New South Wales in Australia saw an oval object over twelve feet wide that was studded with lights around its perimeter that was darting in and out of the clouds over the sea. None of these aerial events seem meteoric in character.

Lins, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 26th August 1968. Monday. A female Hominoid appeared in the vestibule of a Sanatorium. The Hominoid was wearing silvery coveralls with a hood over the head and apparently pointed at the water purifier and said “Baura” to the attendant. The word and the gestures were repeated several times and eventually the attendant gave some water to the female Hominoid who then left the building and boarded a pear-shaped glowing object sitting in a nearby field. This took off into the sky in only a few seconds. Is a sanatorium similar to a Hospital in that there are always people around at odd hours?

Near Dores, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 26th August 1968. 9.30 am. Mr F.W. Holiday had been watching the Loch through his camera from first light. Mr Holiday then strolled fifty yards from his camera to chat when he saw a large black object ploughing through the water along the opposite shore. The large black object moved from right to left and though it was one mile away it was enormous and undulated into three connected humps. The lakemonster was seen by F. W. Holiday, Mr and Mrs Pickett and a couple of their children. As soon as Holiday got back to his camera fifty yards away the Lakemonster was gone. Funny how they do this, time after time after time?

Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 26th August 1968. 9.30 am. Mr Mackay and other occupants of a car pulled up for petrol when they saw a black hump 200 metres away. There was a much larger mass visible underneath it and it showed three humps. Mr. Mackay had noticed a black Mercedes following it. Who was in the black Mercedes? Not the men in black? Weren’t they supposed to chase only UFO witnesses? What sort of myths are these? This book is full of myths anyway. How dare I let rationality and sanity interfere!

Sao Paulo, Brazil. 27th August 1968. Tuesday. There was a massive fall of chunks of violet coloured spongy meat from the sky. They were two to seven inches long and fell two feet apart and covered an area of one square kilometer. Drops of what appeared to be blood were also seen to fall. There were no clouds in the sky at all. The fall occurred on the Via Dutra Highway between Coapava and Sao Jose dos Campos. Violet coloured spongy meat falling from the sky?

Cacapava, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 27th August 1968. Meat and blood fell from the sky for five minutes. At Coapava as well as Cacapava.

Montevideo, Uruguay. 28th August 1968. Two witnesses saw a landed UFO in a field that gave off blinding lights of many colours. Afterwards oil-like drops of a strange substance were found on the ground. Previously in 1928 the Danish training ship “Kobenhavn” disappeared in Montevideo Harbour and was never seen leaving it even though other ships were sailing in.

Smithton, Tasmania. Australia. August 1968. 12.00 am. A commercial Pilot driving home saw very a bright light 75 metres away that was hovering thirty metres up. It had a bluish white glow, made a swishing sound and paced the witness for four kilometres. Even when the Witness increased his speed to 160 kilometres per hour and then back to 75 the craft still paced him. Then he turned a curve in the road and it vanished. Boring.

Woodsmansterne, Surrey, England, near Banstead. August 1968. A hovering light was seen in a field and a strange whooshing noise was coming from it. The outline of a dark shape was seen rising into the air above the field and vanishing into the sky. The next day an enormous horseshoe with a tail to it was found gashed into the ground that was fifty yards long by twenty-five yards wide. The outer edges were cut sharply into the soil by something like a vacuum cleaner as the Earth from the depression was thrown up around it for eight to ten inches all around. Not really that unusual.

Seven Oaks, Kent, England. August 1968. Hailstones fell that were fifteen to thirty centimetres across. It's still continuing. Ice falling here, UFOs there,along with paralysis and periodic penis problems, not unknown either, as well as a Lakemonster here and there.

Catskill Mountains, New York State.August 1968. A bachelor alone on his farm saw a hovering UFO and at the same time heard a piercing shrill noise like a dynamo. His dog was paralysed and so was he! Whilst he was standing motionless he noticed that over the barn hovered two white holes in the sky. They were three feet apart and the size of car tyres and stayed still for ten to fifteen minutes. The phone would not work till next day. The witness developed some physical problems as well. His urine became burning like red hot poker, dysuria, and ten minutes later it was alright. Some hours later red streaks appeared on his penis. The witness had no strains of venereal disease at the time. Or at least any type known to us. Had the witness forgotten something? How many of our witnesses forget things?

Peachland, Lake Okanogan, Yale County, British Columbia, Canada. August 1968. Arthur Folden and his wife filmed a Lakemonster on eight millimetere cine film from a camera with a telephoto lense. The creature was sixty feet long and travelling at great speed. The head and tail were discernible and it had a three foot girth at the head end that tapered towards the end and was changing direction and moving fast enough to create a bow wave. The creature dived and surfaced three times and left a definite wake as well. The Foldens were on Highway 97 just south of town.

Loch Morar, Highland, Scotland. August 1968. John McVarish whilst fishing in a boat saw a head and neck emerging from the water. The neck was five to six feet long and eighteen inches wide and tapered into a flat snakelike head which was small in comparison with the neck. The skin was smooth and black and the movement of the water at the side suggested a paddling motion. It either had flippers or legs with which it propelled itself. When the witness started his engine to get closer to the Lakemonster it submerged.

Banff National Park, Alberta, Canada. August 1968. Mr. Gerald Martin and his family watched a black Bigfoot walking up a ridge. We have all of our old regulars.

North of Hyder, Alaska. August 1968. Two men stopped to shoot what they thought was a bear. It was a Bigfoot that walked off uphill on two legs. Even if in irregular places. Considering that Hyder is only 3.5 kilometers from Stewart where we had an earlier sighting of a Bigfoot as well this month.

On the Yukon River near Galena, Alaska, Hazel Strasburg saw a Bigfoot on the riverbank at dusk in 1968. There were other Bigfoot sightings in the area that year as well.

Some time in August 1968 on the banks of the Katherine River near Katherine in the Northern Territory of Australia a young woman was surpised by a 2.6 metre tall manbeast with long white hair trailing from his head. He had large genitals and was easily identifiable as a male. The creature also had very hairy muscular arms and large hands with long fingernails. The monster had suddenly appeared from the bush, grabbing the girl's dog and and hurling it against a rock which killed it. The girl ran away screaming back to her parents at the camp site. The creature was yelling and snarling all through the sighting and at first persued the girl until they got to the camp and he saw the people and vehicles that were there at which he fled.

Mendoza, Mendoza Province, Argentina. 1st September 1968. 3.30 am. During a UFO flap several employees of the Belgrano Railroad reported that the lights of the station house had been mysteriously turned off. At the same time the owner of a Renault car faced a similar problem.

Mendoza, Mendoza Province, Argentina. 2nd September 1968. The following day Carlos Peccineti and Fernando Jose Villegas were driving home from Casino where they worked. Suddenly the car stopped and Villegas got out to investigate. When Peccineti got out to join him, they found themselves paralysed. Facing them were three Hominoids who were less than five feet tall, had large hairless heads and were wearing coveralls. Across the road two others stood next to a hovering object twelve feet across by five feet high. A powerful beam of light shone from it. The Hominoids approached the two witnesses and apparently floated over a drainage ditch. A voice sounded in the ears of the witnesses like radio saying “Do not fear. We have just made three journeys around your Sun, studying custom’s and languages of the inhabitants of the system. The Sun benignly nurtures the system. Were it not so then the Solar System would not exist. Mathematics is the Universal language”. How banal. One of the Hominoids traced peculiar designs on the car with a small device like a soldering Iron. Then a circular screen appeared in mid-air and showed a succession of images. Fertile country with a waterfall, the mushroom cloud of an atomic explosion and then the waterfall now dried up in an arid landscape. Two of the Hominoids took hold of the witnesses left hands and pricked their fingers three times. They then turned and walked back to the craft and entered it by walking up a beam of light. There was a sudden explosion surrounded by vast radiance and the UFO simply vanished. It was not seen to go anywhere. Had it entered a portal at the site of the contact? The witnesses rushed to the local Military Academy where investigators found pinpricks on the left index and middle fingers of both men. Indecipherable markings were on the car as well as two metal objects that were found attached to the frame of the car. The metal objects resembled the Greek letters Alpha and Kappa. Always the happy and optimistic messages.

Near Clifden, Lough Nahooin, Galway, Ireland. 8th September 1968. 5.00 am.Thomas Connelly saw a black creature bigger than a young donkey in reeds on the lake shore fourteen feet from the waters edge. It seemed to have four stumpy legs and an unusually long body and was slithering off towards the Lough. It then sank into the water and vanished. The creature was two feet wide and lying down originally. It then stood up on its heavy stumpy legs, rolled and slid into the water. A funny type of Pony this one. An odd looking one as well.

Billings, Yellowstone County, Montana. 11th September 1968. Wednesday. Mr. Harold E. Nelson saw a huge and reddish Hairy Hominoid with a face more ape-like than Gorilla- like peering into the door of his camper wherein Mr. Nelson who was inside at the time scrambled for his gun. The creature had broad shoulders and weighed 600 to 800 pounds. It also had a pointed head and spots of white hair on the body and stood erect. They can display curiosity. In fact curiousity is one of the hallmarks of many of the sightings, irrespective of the phenomenon.

Lima, Peru. 12th September 1968. A Flying Saucer emitted light rays which doused a Peruvian Custom's Official who had been standing on the terrace of his house. The Violet-coloured rays shone on his face. Previously he had suffered from short-sightedness and rheumatism for some time and wore very thick glasses. Both conditions were completely cured following the event. The phenomena can produce the healing of the Gods. Previously around here there had been the appearence of a dense mountain-like cloud to the west of Collao shortly before an earthquake in 1868, in 1912 an aerial ship was seen at treetop height also in Collao, in 1947 two Amoeba-like creatures descended from a landed UFO near Lima and gave the witness a tour of their craft and in 1949 also near Lima, a lone witness entered a landed round craft and met several mummy-like Hominoids who could communicate in English as well as Spanish. On July 26,1965, a UFO hovered over the parking lot at the electric centre in Lima and on 1st August that same year a teenager was paralysed by a light from a landing UFO from which a froglike occupant emerged. On 17th August that same year, Mrs Hilda Santa Cruz and several neighbours reported Martian looking creatures looking through the windows of their homes. On August 24, twenty students and adult Teachers heard strange sounds on the top of the school and discovered a throbbing disc-shaped object that took of from the roof. Incidentally the paralysed teenager of August 1, was on the roof of his house as well. On 2nd June 1968, a group of people saw six UFOs hovering over a Highway near Lima. These were shaped like soup-bowls.

Dhekelia, Cyprus. September 1968. 3.00 am. A Military Guard was in his room with his Turkish Wolfhound when he heard a highpitched whine like electric equipment. He then saw a bizarre figure floating up the stairs that was glowing bright orange. Its hair was sticking out as if chock full of electricity. The Guard slammed the door but the sound came closer. He then shot the being through the door with an underwater speargun. The Soldier was found an hour or two later still shaking on his bed. The man later suffered muscular paralysis and the dog became very timid and hid at the least noise. Previously there had been the sighting of a huge reddish ball of light in the sky after an earthquake also in Cyprus in 1941.

Badajoz, Badajoz, Spain. 14th September 1968. A man riding a motorcycle saw a hovering disc giving off an intense orange light. The UFO then flew along above the witness pacing him for five minutes. The light changed to a brilliant blue and the witness turned off the motorcycle headlights and fled in fear. How come the motorcycle did not stall as others had? It could not have been a diesel one? They don't make diesel powered motorcycles. Ho-hum.

Near Chetwynd British Columbia on 14th September 1968 Eddie Barnett and another game guide saw a bigfoot.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. Sunday. UFOs were reported being seen in the sky as well as a strange white being six foot tall standing on the ground. The white being had glowing red eyes. Isn't there anything new happening anywhere at all?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. Three teenage boys saw hovering a UFO which shone a white light onto them. The light was so bright that the witnesses could not look at it and it came from a round object 300 feet long. Only the usual!

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. Over Jerrico Road a round object with long and short prongs was seen by several witnesses. There were also reports of an aerial object flying fast then slow that would hover displaying green, red and white lights.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. Timmie Clendedin and Johnny Love saw a bright light at the Ordinance School. When they went to investigate it they chased it to Route two as it eluded them.

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. People on Thomas Ridge saw an aerial object hovering for 35 minutes. It was circling the area and shone an extremely bright searchlight onto the ground. Were they rounding up the Bigbirds?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. A Teenager in the TNT area saw a big thing that he could not identify. He had turned a curve in his car and on the bank was a creature six feet tall that was white with glowing red eyes. The boyss stopped the car but the creature ran off. There were other sightings of the same creature as well. What the Hell, literally, was happening around Point Pleasant on September 15th 1968?

Point Pleasant, Mason County, West Virginia. 15th September 1968. Swoop. A UFO was hovering over a person's car whilst he was travelling home from his job.

Letart Falls, Meigs County, Ohio. 15th September 1968. A UFO was seen circling over the area for 35 minutes. Previously in the area around Letart Falls, Ohio, in 1952 in Charleston, West Virginia, a fiery ball disintegrated into ashes over the town, in 1965 a brown man with wings was seen over Clendedin, also in West Virginia, and on 12th December 1966 another winged man was seen by gravediggers, again in Clendedin as well as an independent witness. On 20th November 1966, six teenagers saw a grey Manbird over Campbell Creek in Kanawha County, and back in Charleston, the day later, a six foot tall Manbird with bright red popping out eyes was seen. The same red-eyed bird was seen in Saint Albans on 26th November , following as well as the day after in the same town. On January nineteen,1967, a large metal sphere was seen hovering over a road near Dunbar, West Virginia, along with giant dog tracks, which were not hovering, and on 12th March at Letart Falls a UFO was seen in association with a ten foot tall long haired creature with a ten foot curved wingspan. Later on in 1967 at Ravenswood, West Virginia, two witnesses were bathed in light from a UFO. They both became sunburnt from it and one witness's eyes were swollen shut for two weeks. Both witnesses had lost two hours of the event. How many events had not been reported as this portal of Hell periodically opened up?

Halifax, Cornwallis River Nova Scotia, Canada.15th September 1968. Sunday. Four boys saw a black circular object dive out of the sky and vanish into the waters of the Cornwallis River dyke after being seen hovering for a while. For ten minutes the object oscillated like a spinning top. It was fifteen feet across and six feet high, made no noise and the water did not splash when it submerged so it must have submerged very slowly. The object moved with the current like a black shadow underwater and actually broke the surface twice before it slowly moved out and sunk into the river. This would not be the last visitor to Halifax to behave in this same manner.

Taradale, New Zealand. 15th September 1968. Two youths who jumped from their car seconds before it crashed into a shop window claimed that they had to bail out because they were being pursued by a diving UFO. There were many reports in the area that week and numerous residents were frightened to the point of hysteria. The boys story was accepted by the local Police as well as the Insurance Company. Ominous rumbling sounds were coming from the hills at the time. Were there any earthquakes as well or just rumblings?

At 7.15 pm on 16th September 1968 a triangular orange coloured object was sighted over Jerramungup in Western Australia. The aerial object changed in brightness and pulsated and changed colour from rusty orange to bright orange. The object also moved up and down at least five times before vanishing below the horizon.

Steinbach, Manitoba, Canada. 18th September 1968. A farmer saw three grey football- shaped objects flying over him. They were all connected by a long white arc or loop three times the length of the objects. There was a fall of Angelhair afterwards that covered everything but it disintegrated by next morning. Cojoined saucers in the formative stage? Ectoplasmic saucers?

Whipsnade, Bedfordshire. England. 21st September 1968. At thebottom of Bison Hill Mr E. Bennett and his daughter,15, saw a conical shaped mass rising slowly out of a field twenty-five yards in front of them. The object was six feet tall and had a glowing aura surrounding it. The object then just seemed to vanish into an impenetrable hedge. The area around Whipsnade has its moments as well.

Cuernavaca, Morelos, Mexico. 23rd September 1968. A Lawyer saw a luminous object hovering near the City. There was a blackout at the same time. Ho-hum.

On 23rd September 1968 at Nyngan in New South Wales in Australia Mr. Gordon Brandon saw an object that looked like a full moon with green blue iridescent light tapering behind it like an ice cream cone. Mr. Brandon was driving home at 8.25 pm when he saw it and he reckoned that it was travelling at eighty to ninety miles per hour and was skimming over the ground at a height of ten feet with sparks coming from its tail.

Hamburg, Ashley County, Arkansas. September 1968. Hairy Hominoid or Apelike creatures were being seen by several individual witnesses. People described it as looking like a man but with a gorilla head. Might have been the only one for this latitude and longitude but not the first for Arkansas.

Lins, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 1st October 1968. 6.00 am. A bulldozer operator saw a car-sized UFO land near his bulldozer. He then saw three humanlike forms peering out of windows at him and suddenly a yellow light ray shot out from the object and knocked him semiconscious. The witness was dazed but saw two Hominoids leave the ship, pick up handfuls of dirt and reenter the craft which rapidly took off.

Shag Harbour, Shelburne County, Nova Scotia, Canada. 3rd October 1968. Tuesday. 11.30 pm. A sixty foot long UFO was seen to descend from the sky. It had a series of bright portholes and glided into the harbour and then submerged into the ocean half a mile off shore. The UFO was sizzling and floating on the surface before descending in a patch of strange yellow foam and bubbling water. The soon to be submerging craft had at first been seen as a bright, reddish orange light in the sky like pinpoint sources in a row blinking one at a time. The lights were at an angle of 45% dipping to the right. The area of foam was 80 feet wide and no traces of anything were found. How far from Halifax was this? Only 212 kilometres and seventeen days later.

Curitiba, Brazil. 3rd October 1968. An oval hovering UFO as seen hovering two hundred feet up. Several hundred bathers on the beach on Ilha do Mel, off the Pana Coast saw it as the craft blinded the witnesses with multicoloured lights. The flying object was fifty feet across and had round portholes as well as square lighted windows. There was also a series of terraced decks with a large dome on top. Another Brazilian beachside sighting.

Correa, near Rosario, Santa Fe, Argentina. 14th October 1968. A Rancher discovered a dead cow near seven unusual circular patches of burned grass. A few days later fungi the size of basketballs were growing there. Neighbours had seen strange lights hovering in the area around that same time. Previously there had been the fall from the sky of a large mass of boghead coal at Entre Rios in 1880 and in 1962 a well known Physician near Crespo saw a large saucer land beside the road and giants allegedly came out of it. On June 25th 1968, something that was very bright attacked the Nightwatchman at a chemical plant in San Lorenzo and two days later on 27th June several operators of a gasplant saw a round saucershaped aerial object at an altitude of 450 feet. On 1st July 1968, a witness walking away from a dance saw a group of giants standing at an intersection.

Deltox Marsh, Waupaca County, Wisconsin. 17th October 1968. Thursday. Three male witnesses saw a powerfully built Hairy Hominoid in the swamp. The first of several sightings here. Why were there none before?

Medulla, near Lakeland, Polk County, Florida. 18th October 1968. Friday. 7.30 pm. Mrs McMullen and her family heard the family dog going crazy with howling and barking. A purplish red object was then seen hovering ten feet up. The hovering object was completely transparent and there were two normal sized men inside it that appeared to be pumping a horizontal bar up and down. They wore coveralls and hoods like parkas and there was a strong odour of ammonia in the air. The thirty foot wide sphere ascended slowly and flew off. There were strange explosions in the area at the time. Intergalactic Railway trolley workers? Haven't we met the smell of ammonia before as well?

Stewartville, Olmsted County, Minnesota. 24th October 1968. Richard Anding, a Department Store owner, his two sons and a teenage friend were raccoon hunting when they saw a UFO hovering over a knoll near their car. The object was twenty-five feet in diameter and the light was too bright to directly look at. The craft sped along at an altitude of 200 feet and then suddenly stopped and turned off the main light. It then turned on a red and green whirling light and rose up, did a couple of figure eights in the sky and vanished towards the town, six miles north of them. The craft then hovered momentarily over a farmhouse and then took off at steep angle into the sky. Ho-hum. Typical meteorite behavior.

On 28th October 1968 two girls, Sandra Noble and Pam Cuneen, were walking along Denman Road in Muswellbrook in New South Wales in Australia when they noticed two rectangular flying objects that were travelling together in the sky and coming towards them that emitted an orange glow. There was a bright light coming from them which followed the girls as far as the subway adjoining the Greyhound track.

McCall, Valley County, Idaho. October.1968. Autumn. A logger by the name of Roy Fletwood saw a Bigfoot whilst driving a skidder. There's not only potatoes here.

During October 1968 a fisherman near Estacada in Clackamus County in Oregon was chased back to his truck by a Bigfoot that was waving its arms. When the fisherman fell over the Bigfoot stopped running and waited for the fisherman to get back up before the chase began again. Was this part of a game or part of a plan?

Point Isabel, Clermont County, Ohio. October 1968. Autumn. At 10.00 pm one evening the Abbott family heard a noise like metal being hit outside. Larry Abbott, fifteen, his father and a relative, Arnold Hubbard went outside to look around for the source of the noise and heard a rustling in the bushes and in the torch light a massive creature rose up about fifty feet away and headed towards them. The creature was ten feet tall, its shoulders were four feet across and it was covered in light brown hair. The arms hung down to the knees. The teeth were prominent, the ears were pointed and the eyes were glowing. According to Larry he and the others were in a trance and could not talk. The creature then vanished. Later they heard it near the garage again and Hubbard borrowed a .22 rifle from Mr. Abbott. As the group crossed a field they saw the same creature again fifty feet away. Larry shone his flashlight at it and Hubbard made a direct hit at it. The creature screamed terribly and two more shots were fired at it. The next moment a white mist enveloped it and the creature abruptly vanished. Was it dematerializing into the Quasar Vacuum?

Lacrescent, Houston County, Minnesota. October 1968. Autumn. Dawn. The witness and his friend were in a duck blind but the friend had gone back to car to get something. The witness was left alone in the blind when he heard heavy clomping noises approaching him. He abused his friend stating that the loud noise would scare the ducks back to Canada. He then stuck his head out of the blind and straight into the chest of a big, black, hairy Monster that had apparently been looking for roots etc. The witness was six foot three inches tall but stood at chest height on the Hominoid. This scared the witness who fired his shotgun and ran off screaming. The gun was not aimed at the Hominoid as it was too manlike. Why aren't all of the Hairy Hominoids up in Washington State where they belong but instead literally spread across North America?

Lorain County, Ohio. 9th November 1968. 5.45 am. Mr and Mrs Cataldo saw a Hairy Hominoid that resembled a Lion. It weighed 600 pounds, was six feet tall, and the hands were turned backwards. Pawprints were found on windowsill that were were humanlike but reversed and running in a straight line. The creature was a greyish brown colour with the front side lighter and initially the Cataldos had heard a loud bump on the roof which woke them. The bump was followed by the sound of something moving near the bedroom window. Suddenly there was a huge face staring down at them through their bedroom window with the two front paws or hands resting on the window-sill. Mr Cataldo leapt out of bed, frantically searching for his gun whilst the animal ran off on two legs dashing around the east side of the house whilst weaving from side to side. The creature crossed two streets and vanished into the woods. Even if some of them are weirder than others? Is this a cat or a Hominoid? How did it know to weave when being chased by someone chasing you with a gun?

Cannifton, Prince Edward County, Ontario, Canada. 11th November 1968. A lump of glass and pure Zinc amalgamated together was seen to fall from the sky. It was a soft brown oval lump and weighed twelve ounces and fell onto a driveway of Wesley Reid. Another impossible fall.

Floodwood, Saint Louis County, Minnesota. 12th November 1968. Mr. Uno Heikkila, a Hunter saw a 4.5 foot tall small Hairy Hominoid which jumped from a tree and walked into the woods about 125 feet away. How far from Lacrescent is Floodwood? About four hundred kilometres. A bit far for a walk thus indicating the possibility of at least two colonies of Hairy Hominoids active in or visiting Minnesota.

Venice Center. Poplar Plains, Cayuga County, New York. 12th November 1968. 12.30 am. Fifteen miles south of Auburn on the Howard Lacey farm between VeniceCenter and Poplar Ridge on the town line. State Police, Cornell University Geologists and Army personnel examined gaping holes left by unknown forces on the Howard Lacey farm. A strange light had been seen in the sky and a loud boom heard. Afterwards a large hole was found and this had occurred on the same date the previous two years as well. The new hole would appear after the blasting noise 300 yards from the previous one. There were no Meteor fragments, n0 signs of Meteoric impact. and only craters. The crater was five feet across and three feet deep and surrounded by a 44 foot circle of exposed Earth. Around the perimeter the dirt had been thrown up as if an explosive device had gone off underground. The last hole was eighteen feet wide and five feet deep in an alfalfa field. Army Ordnance Sealed off the area and tested it and concluded that no explosive device had been planted there. How can we have pinpoint repetitions of apparently colliding celestial Phenomena down to this small area?

Necochea, Buenos Aires, Argentina. 12th November 1968. Tuesday. Necochea is 310 miles south from Buenos Aires. A UFO had been seen to land by several individual witnesses including a civilian Pilot. From the air the Pilot saw a strange formation on the ground. When he investigated the site with some military men the following day he saw that it was a circle six yards in diameter. The Earth was calcined in it and this could only be produced by great heat. There were also eight giant mushrooms inside the circle the largest being three feet in diameter. Mushrooms or UFOs? Haven't we met the intergalactic mushrooms before? Were there giant fairies and goblins as well?

On 14th November 1968 there was the fall of an iron meteorite at Alandroal in Evora in Portugal that was described as still being incandescent after crashing into the ground.

Hill River, South Australia. 18th November 1968. 5.45 pm.Two children saw UFO 60 centimetres by twenty-five centimetres in size that resembled a golden football only fifty metres away and landed in paddock. Later a flattened two metre square oval was found at the site and the flora there had been tangled in corkscrew fashion as if a giant top had been spinning on the spot. Once there was a theory of vortex fields that swirled like miniature tornadoes and were composed of various types of energies. What happened to that theory? Is it forgotten but still active? Was this a baby crop circle?

Albany, Dougherty County, Georgia. 22nd November 1968. Hunters had seen a UFO which had swooped them and spooked their dogs. Once again, dogs that are hallucinating as well as people! And meteors don't swoop either!

Albany, Dougherty County, Georgia. 22nd November 1968. A bank employee's car's electrical system went hay-wire when a UFO approached it. As well as a car and a bank employee that were also hallucinating. Had the area around Albany had other hallucinations beforehand? There had been cloudless rain here at Dawson in September 1866, more pinpoint rainfall also at Dawson in September 1886, and there were numerous sightings around Edison and Loveland in 1955 and 1956 of little clawhands, a naked little grey man terrorizing the area.

Vermilion, Erie County, Ohio, Lake Erie. 24th November 1968. Sunday. Something resembling a plane crash occurred. An aerial object that seemed to be on fire skidded along the surface of Lake Erie for a distance until the flames eventually vanished. There was no sound or smell and no planes were reported missing. This was not a meteor as it was too controlled in its descent and it was not our first falling light for this body of water either.

Deltox Marsh, Waupaca County, Wisconsin. 30th November 1968. Saturday. Three male witnesses from the October sighting, Bob Parry, Dick Bleier and Bill Mallo, plus nine other deer hunters, strung out on a line on a deer drive saw the same or a similar Hairy Hominoid as seen before. The creature was watching the men and keeping a certain distance from them. None of the men attempted to shoot it as it looked too manlike before it vanished into the swamp. This one is relatively new visitor but already familiar.

Between Oakwood, Dewey County, and Canton, Blaine County, Oklahoma. November 1968. Roger Boucher saw a non-human primate creature like a gorilla running across a road at night. It had a long beard and dark coloured fangs. Some reports state that it was wearing a sort of plaid jacket. A survivor? A feral used car salesman?

Clackamus River,Oregon.November 1968. Glenn Thomas studied two female Bigfeet as they slept and ate.

Tannum Valley near Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State. November 1968. Two students saw a Bigfoot that was eight to nine feet tall that came to within twelve feet of them. Tracks were found the next day.

Minersville, Otoe County, Nebraska. November 1968. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. Was this one a feral used car salesman too? Previously there had been a sighting of an Airship near here in 1897.

North Lansing, Tompkins County, near Ithaca, New York. 12th December 1968. 7.00 pm. Rita Malley and her son Dana Malley were on Route 24 heading south. There were snow flurries but no traffic when she noticed a brilliant red glow on the inside of her car that was coming from the rear. Rita assumed it was a Police car following her but there was none there. Suddenly a strange object appeared to her left over a telephone pole. The luminous object had red and green lights underneath it, was 55 to 60 feet in diameter and had a dome on top which was visible when it tilted once. It was too bright to look at for long and was three to four telephone poles over the road. Then Rita's car stopped when a white beam of light extended from under craft and hit it. In a panic Rita grabbed her son fearing the worst. The accelerator did not work and Rita was suddenly aware that the car was moving sideways off the road. At the same time there was a humming noise coming from the craft that made a sound like bees. Then the humming stopped and Rita heard voices from the craft like coming from a loudspeaker. The voices seemed synthesized and told her that Paul Donald's of Moravia had been killed in Massena in a tractor trailer owned by Joe Etinger. Rita knew Paul's sister. Rita had no memory of anything from then on until the car was back onto the Highway with the steering wheel turning by itself. Once on the highway the engine started again and the lights went back on but Rita still had no control over the cars movement. Then some cars appeared from the opposite direction and immediately the craft took off to the south and Rita regained control of the car. Next day she was informed by her sister that the prophecy had come true. Before it used to be Demons and Angels that gave forth prophecies as well as the occasional burning shrub. Had we merely updated?

Wairakei, South Auckland, New Zealand. 18th December 1968. 10.30 pm. Two witnesses in a car saw a Hominoid in a divers suit striding along like a Zombie beside an isolated Road. The hominoid did not even notice the car of the witnesses. Could be anyone out walking though. In a divers suit. On the side of the road.

Goulburn, New South Wales, Australia. 28th December 1968. A landed twelve metre in diameter craft that was three metres high was seen by a man who approached it. The man then saw a Hominoid 167 centimetres high with long hair and youngish features and wearing silvercoloured clothes near it. The man spoke to the Hominoid for three minutes and apparently the Hominoid replied in English, stating that he had come from Saturn. The object left after a while. Orthon from Venus, Anonymous from Saturn? Mind you we have had others stating that they were from Saturn as well.

On 29th December 1968 the crew and passengers of a Pan American Boeing 707 flew into Sydney in New South Wales in Australia. At 2.00 am they had seen the Apollo eight capsule after its return from the moon. The captain of the plane J. Marcum of Saratoga California told reporters that he was amazed to find an odd red and yellow object flying underneath the space capsule on its re-entry. This odd light disappeared quickly without leaving a trail.

Also on 29th December 1968 hundreds of Melbourne residents in Victoria in Australia reported flare-like objects streaking in formation from north to south over the city early in the morning. The Weather Bureau, the Navy and Air Force could not explain them. What a welcome home for the Apollo eight capsule when all of the neighborhood gets involved!

Clackamus River,Oregon. December 1968. A female Hairy Hominoid was seen that left footprints in the snow. Old Faithful or one of its relatives from Oregon. Whose family are scattered everywhere.

Clackamus River,Oregon. December 1968. Glenn Thomas turned around to find a nine foot tall Bigfoot standing behind him. What Glenn Thomas's reaction was is not stated.

Fontana, San Bernardino County, California. 1968. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by a neighborhood boy.

Fontana, San Bernardino County, California. 1968. Witnesses were Geri Lo Whelchel, two children she was babysitting and a girlfriend who had asked her to go out to where a Hairy Hominoid had been seen by a neighborhood boy the night before. Geri went there with her friend and saw it approach her. It was hairy and big and smelly. In fact it smelt terrible. The bigfoots' hand reached inside the car as she started it and brushed against her face and scratched it.

Evans, Stevens County, Washington State. Sometime in 1968 Mrs. Gruber saw a Bigfoot walking near the Columbia River.

Haymarket, Prince William County, Virginia. 1968. A large bird was seen in the sky. It was eight to twelve feet tall with large red eyes that were really striking and had huge wings. There are no birds that size in North America. There are no birds that size on Earth. Imagine trying to call in the chickens of an evening. Colonel Sanders would love to get a hold of it. How he would catch it would be another matter. Imagine the carbon footprint of the deep fryer!

Salmon Run, Yale County, near Cedar Swamp, British Columbia, Canada. 1968. A Logging crew heard unusual hooting noises and catlike but unusual footprints were also foundin the area. Shortly afterwards Mr Peters, the Foreman, was walking and heard the hooting so close by that he was terrified and ran for safety under a caterpillar dozer.

Salmon Run, Yale County, near Cedar Swamp, British Columbia, Canada. 1968. Eventually Mr Woods, whilst driving a caterpillar, saw a tawny coloured Hairy Hominoid. It was a cross between a big cat or Mountain Lion and a Monkey. The cat creature would leap from trees and land on its back two legs only, stretch out and then jump across the skid to another tree on the opposite side.As well there was an apelike creature wandering around as well which was not a bear. We have met these cat-Hominoid crosses as well before.

Muskrat Lake, Ontario, Canada. 1968. A Lakemonster was seen by Mr Don Humphries who was canoeing along the Snake River. The creature was 14 to 16 feet long and a gray colour. It resembled a part alligator and part fish animals and was easily seen as it left the water and began feeding on the shore. A Single tooth hung downward from its mouth. A single middle tooth which is absurd but possible or a single oversized left or right tooth? Was it a mutant muskrat or did it eat them?

Cambewarra Mountain. Kangaroo Valley. Southern Highlands New South Wales. Australia. 1968. Mr Harold McMahon saw a big cat like a Black Panther in the area overlooking the southeastern end of Kangaroo Valley on two separate occasions. Here Kitty. Kitty, Kitty! Hang on, giant cats aren't native to Australia! Or are they?

Stanislaus County, California.1968. A small Hairy Hominoid was seen that was five feet tall, disproportionately broad and square at the foreshoulders and with arms of great length. The legs were short and the body was long. The head was small compared to the rest of the creature and it seemed to have no neck. The entire creature was covered with dark brown and cinnamon coloured hair with a shock of hair on its head that grew down close to its' eyes. We've seen big Hairy Hominoids here, why not children? Or at least adolescents?

Pretoria, Transvaal, South Africa. 1968. There was a report of a lone female who saw a pair of strange Hominoids who appeared in her house. One wore grey coveralls and the other had long hair and long dark curved fingernails. Both of them made amorous approaches to the witness in the house for a period. They were not humans. Not an unusual event either though not often reported.

Pinar del Rio, Cuba, Greater Antilles,1968. Four times during the year there was a rain of mud, stone, pottery, wood chunks and broken glass onto the area. Selective whirlwind or Intergalactic dump truck with a litter problem?

Scarborough, York County, Lake Ontario, Ontario. Canada.1968. John Alexander saw a twenty foot long waterserpent near Toronto. Scarborough is usually more famous for UFOs going into and out of Lake Ontario.

Delaware County, New York State. 1968. A grinning giant covered with silver hair was seen. At least this one appeared happy.

Kookaburra, near Grafton, New South Wales, Australia. 1968. George Gray was sleeping in his hut with his two sons when he suddenly woke up with a small Hairy Hominoid on top of him that was trying to choke him. George wrestled with it until it gave up and ran out of the hut. The creature was built like a wellbuilt little man and was four feet tall and felt greasy. The little manbeast was covered with six inch long hair that was a grey colour. It tried to drag

George out of the hut but George managed to escape. The creature also had short arms, a short and bullish neck and large legs and its skin felt loose and slippery. Kookaburra is 80 miles north of Kempsey. A pigmy variety or Junior on the loose? Mind you this year we have had a disproportionate number of juniors.

Jacksonville Beach, Duval County, Florida. 5th January 1969. Sunday. Hundreds of witnesses saw multicoloured lights and UFOs in the sky at 9.00 pm. At 9.30 pm there was a blackout. Mystery clouds were seen that emitted sound like someone walking on pebbles. The clouds were pursued by the Police to the edge of the Atlantic Ocean where they dissolved into nothingness. Funny weather. Funny area.

Mount Misery, Suffolk County, Long Island, New York. 12th January 1969. Sunday. 8.00 am. Mr Jay B. Paro, Richard Dimartino and Barbara Lamonica saw a tall Hominoid that had black hair and was wearing a long black garment. The hominoid had a Human like but seemingly disfigured face and the hair was long and wild. It made no sounds and three photos were taken. The odd hominoid also had pale long fingered hands. A feral Human or a humanlike feral? Unusual enough though for three people to want to photograph?

Childers, Queensland, Australia. 14th January 1969. 4.30 am. The Vas family were sleeping in their caravan (trailer) when they were woken by the frenzied barking of their dog. They then heard a noise like a big swarm of wasps and outside the caravan (trailer) the witnesses saw a twenty-five to thirty metre wide violet-coloured glowing sombrero. Three tall Hominoids descended from it in a smaller similar craft. The three Hominoids were three times Humansize and they gave off a violet-yellowish glow. The hominoids collected plants and sugarcane which were sucked up into the craft by a transparent tube and after ten minutes the they re-entered the craft and it took off into the sky. The hair on the witnesses' heads and arms stood up. The collectors are back. Is the sound of wasps similar to the sound of bees?

Indiana, Indiana County, Pennsylvania. 24th January 1969. A witness in a car saw a UFO hovering over a pond one hundred yards away. The saucer was at eyelevel and the front was transparent with the interior visible.Two Hominoids were inside. They were of average height and wore coveralls and seemed to be making repairs. Their backs were to the witness. One of Hominoids then glimpsed the witness and worked faster. Then the other shook his head as if agreeing with first and ran over and pulled two levers. Suddenly everything just vanished. It was not seen to go anywhere, it just vanished. Or was it made to appear as if it had just disappeared?

Saint Mary's City, Saint Mary's County, Maryland. January 1969. Hundreds of ducks appeared to have crashed into an invisible something in the sky that exploded and was heard but not seen. Many fell with multiple subfractures and severe haemorrhages acquired before they hit the ground. The ducks were Canvasbacks, Redheads and Scoups.What invisible exploding something did these hapless ducks crash into and at great speed? At times there appear to be gaps between dimensions. Are there sometimes solid shields as well? What would it be holding back from the other side? Or did the ducks collide with something on its way out?

Jacksonville Beach, Duval County, Florida. 2nd February 1969. Hundreds of persons on the beach including Police Chief James Alford heard strange sounds coming from two clouds that sounded like someone rattling cellophane or walking on pebbles. The two clouds had arrived and departed individually. Chief Alford ordered one of his men to follow the cloud whereupon Captain Harold Bryan did so to the edge of the Atlantic where the cloud vanished. Listeners shrugged and started going home when another cloud promptly repeated the same performance. This cloud too was followed by Officer Bryan. A repeat of an earlier Phenomenon or a mismatch of dates. Impossible to work out with limited means.

Houston, Harris County, Texas. 6th February 1969. Thursday. Many of the population of Houston noticed the effects of a nausea-inducing fog that appeared and crept over the south side of the city. There were also UFOs seen before and after the fog. Smog again coming in from the Gulf of Mexico.

The residents of Orange in New South Wales in Australia were startled in the early hours of the morning by the appearance of a luminous arrow to the north side of the moon on 6th February 1969 at 5.25 am. There were dozens of witnesses of this strange light which occasionally sparkled.

Pirassununga. Brazil, 7th February 1969. Friday. Tiago Machado,19, and several hundred others saw a strange circular craft swoop low over the town. It settled on tripod legs in a valley nearby. Tiago was closest to it. The craft was Aluminium-like and luminous, and the rim was spinning around a transparent centre. There were shadowy figures in the craft standing around what seemed to be an instrument panel. Tiago got to within thirty feet of it with scores of people watching from nearby hills. Suddenly a bright beam of light struck him in the legs and he fell over partially stunned and paralysed. The object leapt into the air and vanished quickly. Tiago's legs had no visible marks but became bright red and painfully swollen. Nothing unusual here either.

Pueblito de Allende, Sierra Madre Occidentale, Chihuaha, Mexico. 8th February 1969. Saturday. 1.09 am. The residents of the whole town saw a blinding blue white Meteor that had been tracked for 1,000 miles over Arizona. There was a sudden blinding flash followed by a tremendous explosion and a shower of metal fragments ensued that covered ten square miles. These fragments contained Carbon. One 40 pound piece narrowly missed striking the Post Office. There was also organic matter in the Meteor. The Fireball had exploded in the air and showered the area with four tons of fragments. Thousands of stones fell and they were classified as CV3 chondrites. About two tons of carbonaceous chondrite were recovered from an area about fifty kilometres by ten kilometres. The fragments contained Amino Acids, the building blocks of life, both Alien and normal types. Where did it come from? It would have scared the crap out of the Chiahuahuas!

Miami, Dade County, Florida. 9th February 1969. The crackling clouds of Jacksonville Beach repeated their performance here. Is this the second or third occurrence?

Dartmouth, Bristol County, Massachusetts. 10th February 1969. 10.30 am. A Truck driver left his vehicle to get closer look at a hovering ball of flame that was low over the snow-covered trees. When 200 feet from it the witness shone a flashlight at it at which the UFO took off at a 45 degree angle causing snow on the treetops to swirl. Ho-hum. It did not even flash back. Or attempt to hit him with a lightbeam.

Flinders Park, Adelaide, South Australia. 17th February 1969. 2.50 am. Ms Ballestrina was woken by a noise like a whirr and looked out a window. She saw an object in an adjacent area that was ten metres across and only 100 metres away. Near it was a Hominoid 1.8 metres tall with a lean build and with light hair.The Hominoid stepped out of the shadows wearing white coveralls and then walked around the object several times. Ms Ballestrina went to get her neighbours but the object was gone when they got there. The area in this latitude and longitude has been very busy for years!

Sremcica, Serbia, Yugoslavia. 18th February 1969. Tuesday. Whole village. There was a tremendous explosion in the sky and several windows of a house were broken. Four trees were burnt and there was a crater in the ground that was found to contain an oval object twenty centimetres in diameter. This object was dark grey and ribbed and weighed 1900 Grams and was apparently artificial and made of Magnesium. We do not shoot up ribbed masses of Magnesium to have them fall back to us and if they did they would burn up completely in re-entry and not remain intact. Magnesium flares up very easily. Previously there had been a fall of a single stone from the sky in this area during an earthquake in 1889. This stone was identified as an exceedingly rare substance called Banjite which had only ever been found once before. This was at Soko-Banja, also in Serbia, in 1872, and fell also during an earthquake. Earthquake Falls and pinpoint accuracy again? Over Belgrade, capital of Serbia, in 1898 a strange light like a Meteor was seen for six minutes. It was not seen to land and was too slow for an ordinary Meteor.

Norseman, Western Australia. 20th February 1969. 3.00 pm. The witnesses' fully fuelled car gasped as if out of petrol as a 9.5 metre wide cigar was seen hovering 24 metres away from the road. The craft was moving above trees and kicking up dust and leaves before it vanished taking ten seconds to rise. The car then sped ahead. Previously there had been a swooping of a car here in 1963 by a UFO.

Awanui, New Zealand. 22nd February 1969. A Maori met several tall entities with thin faces, very white skins and long fair hair in a wood beside a big glow. The Hominoids tried to grab him.The Maori had no idea what was happening so he ran around carrying out a ritual for warding off Spirits. This consisted of running around in a circle whilst urinating. Seems logical to me. I would probably be urinating myself too!

Renown Park, South Australia. 22nd February 1969. 3.00 am. Mrs Daniel was woken by what she thought was a noise of a strong wind. She then noticed that her curtains were not moving though and then saw a pyramidshaped object 61 metres away that was six metres in diameter. The pyramid was a dirty white colour and hovering close to the ground Her daughter also saw it. After an hour of watching it both witnesses went back to bed. This seems to be unnaturally calm UFO watching the same day as the New Zealand sighting.

Tecolutla, Vera Cruz, Mexico, Gulf of Mexico. 28th February 1969. Friday. Many witnesses saw a 35 ton in weight thirty foot long serpentine creature that was covered with jointed armour and was washed up alive onto a beach. It died there. The creature also had three tusks that were ten inches long. The seamonster itself was eighteen feet wide. An armourclad three-toothed Seamonster?

At Khutze Inlet in British Columbia in late February 1969 Ronnie Nyce and two other men shot at a Bigfoot which ran screaming into the woods.

Near Trumann, Poinsett County, Arkansas, in February 1969 Nathan Russell saw a creature that was a cross between a dog and an ape with a human head and shoulders. The creature was jumping from tree to tree and chased him briefly.

Penrith, Sydney, New South Wales. Australia. February 1969. 2.00 am. A young man saw a huge disc with windows. He also saw Human shaped beings inside it. After five minutes the UFO rose to a height of twenty metres, all of its lights went out and then back on again and it took off into the sky. The witness and his friends followed it for several miles. Ho-hum.

Bracknell, Berkshire, England. February 1969. A house roof was fractured by a falling icebomb. This is not an unusual English activity either. Funny how there sometimes appear to be regional specialities.

Beacon Rock State Park, Skamania County, Washington State. 5th March 1969. 4.00 am. Wednesday. Don Cox was in his car rounding a bend on Highway 14 when an eight to ten foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen in the headlights! The manbeast had a face like an ape and leapt up a 40 degree slope after running across the road. It then made an eight foot jump up an embankment that would have been impossible for a bear. The creature was covered with fuzzy hair. A very athletic bear?

Squamish, Westminster County, British Columbia, Canada. March 1969. A Hairy Hominoid was seen. Footprints were found as well.

North Saskatchewan Valley, Alberta, Canada. In March 1969 Mark Yellowbird saw a bigfoot.

Near Skamania, Skamania County, Washington. March 1969. Mrs. Ellen Satterthwaite saw the legs and body of a Bigfoot that crossed the road in front of her car. The car lights were set too low to see more. She estimated that the Hairy Hominoid was eight to ten feet tall.

Near Skamania, Skamania County, Washington. March.1969. A Hairy Hominoid eight to ten feet tall was seen.

Little Neck Bay, Queens, New York. March 1969. A huge slimy, black and grey creature that resembled a Seaserpent was seen. It was much bigger than a Whale and was chased by the Harbour Police. This little Seamonster then went from here to the Bronx.

The Bronx, Bronx County, New York. Hudson River. March 1969. Police and many others saw a huge slimy grey black creature that was not a Whale pass under the City Island Bridge. It went up the Hudson and was much bigger than a Whale. The creature successfully escaped a Police hunt. This was in front of a mass of onlookers and Police, all of whom were probably considered not reliable enough witnesses. Surely there was at least one reliable witness amongst them? And it was not the first time here either for unusual Phenomena. The latitude of 73 West 40 North has had a long and varied history since 1877 when a flying Hominoid was seen by hundreds of witnesses over Brooklyn. In 1880 the same manlike creature with batwings was seen over Coney Island. In 1891 two men were momentarily blinded by an explosion in the sky and were then hit by invisible projectiles in Vanderbilt Avenue, Brooklyn, and in 1895 there were spontaneous fires, up to twenty in one day, in the Colwell home in Brooklyn. Over Yonkers in April 1897, a brilliant Airship was seen heading northwards over the Atlantic and another Airship was seen and heard over Long Island in 1909. In 1913 a Seamonster was seen in Rockaway Shoals, Long Island, and in 1922 big cats were seen around New Rochelle in Westchester County. Forty cars all stalled simultaneously on the Saxon Woods Parkway in 1930 and in 1931 there was a rash of big cat and dwarf Hairy Hominoid sightings around Babylon, Malverne, Mineola and Huntington, Long Island. During a blizzard in December 1933, a mystery aircraft buzzed Manhattan from 72nd Street, over central Park and onwards to The Bronx. In 1935 a three foot crocodile was caught in North Yonkers followed by a four foot one in East River Harbour in June Also in June 1937, another crocodile was caught in the Brooklyn Museum Subway Station. In August 1938, five crocodiles were caught in Huguenot Lake in Westchester County. Where are the alligators that incidentally, like crocodiles, could not survive here anyway? In 1952 a pinpoint skyquake over Glencove, Long Island, hit twelve square miles, where walls collapsed and young children were blown over. There had been several Skyquakes recorded that year in the United States. Off Rye, Long Island, in 1957, the Police reported seeing a large object with two white lights and one red light plunge into Long Island Sound. In the Seaford, Long Island, in 1958. the Hermann family were tormented by paranormal Phenomena after seeing what appeared to be a giant flaming bird crash to Earth. In 1961 a spherical object was seen bobbing up and down in the waves off Bailey's Beach, Long Island, until it suddenly took off into the sky and on 13th July 1965, flashing lights moving in unsteady patterns were seen heading over Fire Island heading towards New York City. After this a blackout hit the state. In 1966 there were numerous reports, especially by young lovers, of giant Hominoids and UFOs being seen around Mount Misery on Long Island. In August 1967, there was a power failure whilst UFOs were being seen cavorting in the sky over Farmingdale, Long Island. Incidentally there were also occurring that same month in the same area. In September 1967 Howard. W. Goldstein was circling Bethpage State Park on his way home when he saw a large disc-shaped flying object to the west followed by a second one to the south. Then his car stopped and he heard four strange voices on the radio which happened to be off at the time. In October 1967, an odd machine was seen hovering over Melville, Long Island, and in January 1969, several people saw a tall Hominoid with black hair and wearing a long black garment on Mount Misery. The face was humanlike but disfigured and the fingers were very long. And this was only a small part of New York State. There had been58 different phenomena in this latitude and longitude up until now.

Hong Kong. March 1969. Benjamin Chae, Lulu Chow and a group of students on a beach heard a crying noise from nearby but in the water. Twenty yards out to sea they saw a big black creature rising up out of the water. The creature was thirty feet long with big green eyes and had a big head but was not a fish. The seamonster sank again after thirty seconds and vanished. A Seamonster? What were these students smoking?

Raspberry Strait, Alaska. 15th April 1969. The Captain and crew of M. V. “Skylark” saw a creature two hundred and fifty feet long and dinosaur-shaped pass under the vessel at a depth of three hundred feet. How did they see it at three hundred feet though? Human vision does not stretch that far. The seamonster was registered on a sonar machine called a Simrad which actually drew a picture of the creature under the sea surface.

The interesting and bizarre have seemingly been reduced to normality and regularity. Like old and worn favourite slippers.

Bungawalban, New South Wales. Australia. 16th April 1969. Two men working night shift on a flood mitigation dredge saw a glow in the sky 400 yards away to their south over a sacchaline patch. A neighboring farmer had also seen toplike hovering objects. Four flattened areas were discovered in the sacchaline crop. All of the stalks lay in a north-south direction. More vortex winds?

On 16th April 1969 on the road between Paradise, Butte County, and Stirling City, also in Butte County, in California, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Behme saw a Bigfoot with short black hair flecked with white that limped across the road in front of them.

Harwood Island, New South Wales. Australia. 20th April 1969. 7.30 pm. Sugar cane rustled as a UFO landed in a sugar cane field and then took off again. Then the craft hovered three metres above the crop for a while. The witness thought that part of the crop had been flattened. A small flap in New South Wales.

Itacu, Goias, Brazil. 20th April 1969. Mr Dolor Roque saw some strange lights in the sky as he rode towards town to get some medicine from the pharmacy. Next he remembered finding himself at Itumbiara, 250 miles away on the banks of the Paraiba River. His horse was still in Itacu and had gone back to its stable on its own. Dolor took a bus back to the relief of his distressed family. Why hadn’t the horse been carried away as well? It wasn’t a shared hallucination probably because it was not an hallucination?

Greenacre, New South Wales. Australia. 24th April 1969. 7.30 pm. A Taxidriver and his woman passenger and her young daughter saw three tall Hominoids in a football-shaped object hovering over a floodlit field. Were they waiting for a football match?

Port Huron, Saint Clair County, Michigan. 24th April 1969. A Hairy Hominoid was seen that frightened children in the woods. The creature was six feet tall and grey-coloured. No Hairy Hominoids had been reported here before. In 1880 there had been rising stones in East Kent, a crocodile near Mount Clemens in 1958, a saltwater monkfish in the Saint Clair River in 1963, a UFO over Port Huron also in 1963 and a landed UFO near Harrow in 1966.

On 25th April 1969 a building in Bovedy in Londonderry in Northern Ireland was struck by a falling meteorite.

Choccolocco, Calhoun County, Alabama. April 1969. Spring. Several individual witnesses saw a hunchback cross between a bear and a Panther. The creature resembled a Hairy Hominoid. It was also reported that cars stalled near it and there were hovering lights in the vicinity as well. The creature was the size of a cow. The bearcat is certainly getting around. In 1968 we had reports of a cross between a cat and a Monkey roaming around. This was at Salmon Run in British Columbia.

Berwick, Kings County, Nova Scotia.Canada. April 1969. Many individual witnesses saw an eighteen foot tall Hairy Hominoid that was reported seen striding around on the edge of town at speeds up to twenty miles per hour. As I said this creature was seen by many individual witnesses. This is a World height record. How come no one had ever reported him before? The only previous Phenomenal report from here was of giant luminous snakes in the area in 1967. These would also return in 1969.

Bossburg, Stevens County, Washington State. April 1969. A seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen. There's a bear out there or at least that is what the scientific establishment would want us to believe.

Between Bossburg and Northport, Stevens County, Washington State. A woman saw two Bigfeet looking in her dustbins during April 1969. They were definitely not bears as she knew bears and their habits quite well. And you reckon raccoons can be a problem?

Sterling City, Butte County, California. April 1969. A six foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen.

Williams Lake, Stevens County, Washington State, near Columbia River. Spring April 1969. A pair of Hairy Hominoids were seen going through trash cans on Williams Lake Road.

Kettle Falls, Stevens County, Washington State, near Columbia River. April 1969. Mrs Betty Peterson saw a pair of black Hairy Hominoids over seven feet tall and heavy that ran quickly across the road. They were not bears. There were several individual witnesses in the area as well. This was five miles up the Highway from Williams Lake.

Marietta, Whatcom County, Washington State, Nooksack River. April 1969. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by a sailor and three other people with him. When the car was parked the headlights lit up a seven to eight foot tall white long-armed Bigfoot that ran off into the woods.

Near Oroville in Butte County in California in April 1969 Mr. Ed Saville and Mr. Eldon Butler saw an eight foot tall greenish eyed Bigfoot which came to their rabbit call at night.

Clackamus River,Oregon. April 1969. A logger saw a Bigfoot standing in a small lake.

One night in April 1969 five young teenage friends were driving in a Mustang on a gravel road south of Park Forest in Cook County in Illinois when he noticed his friend leaning over the steering wheel and staring up at an angle out of the windshield. The witness could not get his friends attention so he looked up as well and saw silhouetted against the full moon was a pteranadon sitting on the top of a telephone pole. The body was covered with fur like a bat and it had its wings tucked up tight against its sides so that the little claws were visible at the end of each wing tip. The tail was similar in length to that of a cat but smooth like a rat's tail except for a single tuft of hair at the end. There was no hair on the head or neck and they were smooth like leather. All the time the tail was swishing like an aggravated cat's. The creature then looked down at the car and threw back its head and opened its mouth showing some impressive teeth and with a blood-curdling screech and three flasp of its wings it sailed softly toward a foggy marsh to the south.

Choccolocco, Calhoun County, Alabama. April 1969. Spring. Several individual witnesses saw a hunchback cross between a bear and a Panther. On one occasion one of these bearcats ran the car of the witness off the road. More Bearcats?

Choccolocco, Calhoun County, Alabama. April 1969. Spring. Johnny Ray Teague and three friends in a car which suddenly stalled got out to look at the motor. They then heard something crashing through the leaves and branches and also heard its loud breathing. The boys jumped back into the car and locked themselves in. they then saw a hunchback cross between a bear and a Panther that was the size of a cow that proceeded to circle the car. It was grey to black in colour and humped like a camel with a large head and prominent teeth. The creature did not try to attack the witnesses and shortly afterwards left. Then the car started again. Whilst the witnesses were driving half a mile down the road they saw three to four more creatures larger than the first.They tramped on the accelerator and got out of there. Bearcats and cars stopping? Too incidental for incidence? We have had reports before of hairy hominoids stopping cars just by being nearby. How natural are they?

Bebedouro, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 5th May 1969. Monday. Jose Antonio da Silva was fishing beside a lakewhen he claimed that he had been abducted by Aliens and taken into a Flying Saucer. This was his explanation as to why he was found 200 miles away from his tent site the following morning wandering around dishevelled and trancelike near Vitoria. He was clearly frightened. Jose, the Orderly to the Deputy Commander of the Military Police, had been fishing and around 3.00 pm he heard voices and thought that they were of other campers. One of them uttered harsh rasping groans and Jose felt his legs being burned by a blast of fire from, apparently from one of these Hominoids. Then Jose saws the Hominoids. One of them was holding a weapon. This Hominoid was stockily built, masked, and seized Jose by the arms and dragged him across the swampy ground. They passed another Hominoid who was four feet tall. They wore metallic helmets that covered their heads as well as humanlike bodies. There was apparently breathing apparatus running from the front of the helmet to a container on the back. Then Jose saw a machine that was like a tumbler with an upside down saucer on top and below it. Slanting tubes ran from the rim of the saucer into the bottom of the tumbler. The object was six feet high by eight feet deep and they entered inside by a small door. There were stonelike walls lit by sodium light and a bench along one wall. The Hominoids pushed Jose down onto it and forced a helmet onto his head. Jose was fastened into a seat and then a third Hominoid entered who pushed a small lever on the floor. There was a humming noise and a sense of movement that seemed to last for hours. Then the light began to pulsate brilliantly and there was a sudden jolt. The Hominoids released Jose by covering his eyes. He was taken out and he heard many voices and footsteps. His eyes were uncovered and the Hominoids were no longer in spacesuits. They had long beards, hair below their waists, big noses and bushy eyebrows. They also had big ears and toothless mouths. Had Jose been kidnapped by ZZTop? Or trolls? One of the Hominoids was the Leader. There were pictures of earthly scenes including a giraffe on the wall. On a wide shelf beneath were the naked bodies of four Human men. Jose was terrified. The Hominoids then searched through Jose's belongings that he had clung to all along and took away everything that there was a duplicate of. They also took his I. D. Card. The Hominoids were jabbering and excited and one let a weapon fire which left a scorch mark on the wall. The Chief Hominoid attempted to communicate with Jose by symbols of concentric circles drawn on greyish tablets and somehow told Jose that he should stay on Earth for three years and then go with them for several years to learn their ways and after ten years he could be their guide. Jose said "No!". then the Hominoids grabbed his Rosary beads and broke them. Then a Monk appeared that was invisible to the Hominoids and gave Jose a message in fluent Portuguese. The Chief Hominoid then covered Jose's eyes and he went on a journey again. The Helmet was pulled off and Jose was dragged out into the open air. He was semi-conscious and sprawled on the ground. Four days had passed and his leg hurt from where he had been shot. His neck and shoulders were visibly rubbed raw from the pressure of the helmet and he was obviously tired and hungry and constantly darting his eyes Skywards. Jose was also now terrified of bright lights. Trolls? Trolls from Space? Or red herrings from elsewhere? Who was the monk? Which reality was Jose actually interacting with?

Kelvedon, Tasmania. Australia. 7th May 1969. 7.30 pm. Two boys saw a red glowing object fifteen metres by twelve metres in size with lights on its centre that was on the ground and then took off towards the Freycinet Peninsula. Boring.

Casino, New South Wales. Australia. 12th May 1969. A witness had a lowlevel sighting of a hovering UFO. Afterwards there was a faint luminous patch where the craft had been. The sighting lasted over half an hour and there was heavy rain at the time. Still boring.

Aston, Birmingham, Midlands, England. 12th May 1969. A small rock three inches by four inches in size fell from the sky in front of a man who was gardening. The rock was warm and sticky and expanded as it cooled. A warm and sticky and expanding rock or a spore?

Merritt, British Columbia. On 18th May 1969 David Ludlam and several army cadets saw a hairy ten foot tall Bigfoot near their camp during the day as well as during the night. In 1966 a lakemonster had been seen near here in Kamloops Lake.

Rising Sun, Ohio County, Indiana. 18th May 1969. Sunday. All town. There was a two hour blackout over the whole town. There were also strange lights and UFOs seen in the sky that night. A six foot tall Hairy Hominoid was also seen in the area as well as during the blackout.The Daily Double is still around. UFOs and Hairy Hominoids!

Rising Sun, Ohio County, Indiana. 19th May 1969. Monday. 7.30 pm. Mr G. Kaiser was walking through his farmyard on the way to his tractor when he suddenly froze. He saw a strange figure twenty-five feet away. A five foot seven inch tall Hairy Hominoid covered in black fur was standing there. The manbeast had normal looking hands which were not hairy and footprints were found from which plaster casts were made. The creature was in the farmyard and had a very muscular structure with no neck. The hair stood out on the back of what should have been the neck and it had very close-set eyes. The creature also had a very short forehead and was covered in hair except for the backs of the hands and the face. When Mr. Kaiser eventually moved the creature grunted, turned and leapt over a ditch and then vanished down the road at great speed. It ran off quickly. It was quite busy around Rising Sun.

Rising Sun, Ohio County, Indiana. 19th May 1969. Monday. A Hairy Hominoid that was five foot seven inches tall was seen. It was covered in black fur except for the normal looking hands which were not hairy. Footprints were found which plaster casts were made of. All of a sudden the combination of UFOs and Hairy Hominoids and even blackouts is quite unnerving at times.

Rising Sun, Ohio County, Indiana. 20th May 1969. Tuesday.10.15 pm. That evening a Neighbour of Mr Kaiser, Mr Charles Rolfing, watched a glowing greenish white object moving about in the sky for eight minutes.

Rising Sun, Ohio County, Indiana. 20th May 1969. Tuesday. There was a spectacular UFO sighting over the town that lasted eight minutes. The previous two days there had been Hairy Hominoid Reports and a blackout. For the previous few weeks a strange light had been seen on a nearby ridge.

Glenorchy, Tasmania. Australia. 22nd May 1969. 11.30 pm. Mr G. Lange saw a bright white glowing object hovering in the backyard that was 6.5 metres by three metres high. It left a scorched circle 3.3 metres by 2.5 metres wide. There was no noise. Meanwhile back in Tasmania all was normal.

Mount Lloyd, Tasmania. Australia. 23rd May 1969. 11.30 pm. The following night half a dozen people saw a red light like a spotlight in a paddock that was hovering at a height of 4.5 metres. Previously there had been sightings of Bulldog-like watermonsters in Lake Echo near here in 1863.

Nun’s Island, Quebec, Canada, Saint Lawrence River. 23rd May 1969. Friday. A round shiny object with flashing red lights plunged from the sky and vanished into the Saint Lawrence River.

Nothing was found at the site and it was not an airliner crash or a Meteor. No planes were reported missing of the dimensions of the craft that plummeted down. Maybe it had been aiming for Lake Ontario and missed by a bit. Incidentally there had been a fall of metal into the Saint Lawrence River in 1960 that seemed of artificial origin. There have also been several UFO sightings.

Dublin, South Australia. May 24th 1969. 2.55 pm. Mr Stevens was driving car his when he heard an engine noise and looking up saw a hovering UFO hovering at an altitude of fiftyfour metre. It was a six metre oval of a silver colour that moved sideways ten metres before shooting off at 45 degree angle to the northwest.

Dublin, Dublin, Leinster, Ireland. 89 Prussia Street. May 1969. Mrs Margaret Hogan was found charred to cinders in a burnt armchair. The only other thing that was touched at all by the flame was the linoleum under her feet which was scorched. Goodbye to Mrs Hogan and to Dublin as well. Previously there had been a cloud as white as snow seen in the sky with three beings standing under it near Warwick in 1843. In 1849 and 1856 there were black, foulsmelling rains and in 1867 a fall of seemingly fossilised nuts or berries onto Dublin which was witnessed by the Police amongst many others. In 1898 a yellow luminous triangle the size of the 3/4 Moon was seen above Wicklow for five minutes and in 1913 an exceptional Meteor was seen. In Dublin in 1919 a floating luminous ball with two protuberances was seen in the sky before suddenly vanishing with a thunderlike noise and the following day was replaced by another without protuberances. In 1952 a flying disc ten inches in diameter landed in Dublin and a child nearby was burned by it. In 1963 a huge Lakemonster was seen in Lough Bray and in 1966 near Rath House in Drogheda a couple in a car braked hard as a Monster reared up ahead, blocking the road. It had a horses body but a huge leering face. This lasted for two minutes and terrified the witnesses so much that on getting to the home of one of them they did not even stop to open the gate but drove straight through it.

Eden Valley, South Australia. 4th June 1969. 6.35 pm. A latticework of red lights held together by white rays passed over the top of the car of Mr G. Koch,16 years old, at high speed at Angaston on the road two kilometres northwest of Eden Valley. It was soundless. The following day three circular scorch marks were found on the car bonnet. Eden Valley had been busy before.

Istanbul, Turkey. 17th June 1969. Fall of frogs. An Old Faithful returns. Obviously not sophisticated enough for our modern crowd. And not even in France.

Dallas, Polk County, Oregon. 26th June 1969. Mrs. Doris Newton saw two black Bigfeet walking upright across a field 150 yards away. In 1961 Larry Martin lost a deer to a Bigfoot near Alpine, in 1964 at Hubbard a cow and a boy were both panicked by a landed UFO, on March 3rd 1967 a beeping UFO was seen by a family in Blodgett and a little later on March 16th 1967 another family saw a landed UFO near Salem, all in the same latitude and longitude.

Minlaton, South Australia. 27th June 1969. 4.00 am. A farmer working at night on his Combine Harvester was followed home by a four metre light. Arriving home his wife also saw it as it came so close that the light reflected off a neighbours shed. Finally it vanished behind a hill. They still like machines.

Dover, Norfolk County, Massachusetts. June 1969. The Acheson family saw a barn-sized hovering UFO with red lights rotating on its bottom and a white triangle underneath. Ho-hum.

Mamquam, near Garibaldi, near Squamish, British Columbia, Canada. June 1969. A Hairy Hominoid with a large bushy tail was seen. It left three toed tracks. It was not a bear or a Wolverine. Another Bearcat but this time back in British Columbia.

The Dalles, Multnomah County, Oregon. June 1969. 5.00 am. Four young witnesses driving to Portland saw a Hairy Hominoid climbing up a high rocky Bluff. The sighting lasted several minutes. It squatted up there until the witnesses left. Something normal for a while.

Wildwood Inn, Trinity County, California. Near Mount Shasta. June 1969. About 8.30 pm Bob Kelley and his family heard a lot of noise outside and discovered a six foot tall dark brown hairy hominoid fighting with some of the local dogs. The creature was throwing the dogs four to five feet into the air and one of the dogs was covered in saliva though there were no bite marks on it. When the people arrived the creature ran away up a steep embankment. Bob had shot at a peeping tom Bigfoot here before in January 1966.

Orofino, Clearwater County, Idaho. June 1969. About twenty miles north of Orofino in a sawmill the nightwatchman and several others saw at least three different types of hominoid footprints in the sawdust. They were from very large to childlike. The watchman, Mr. Moore, also heard the creatures jabbering and throwing timber about. One time Mr. Moore saw a black haired six foot tall creature with large red eyes and very large breasts. The nipple area, hands and face were not covered by hair and the skin was pink. The creature also had an unpleasant smell. Also an enormous dog was seen running with Hairy Hominoids in the area. Granted not every neighborhood has one but if it waits long enough one might just appear.

Witheridge, ten miles west of Tiverton, Devon. England. June 1969. Colonel U.A.C. Haines saw a giant cat fifteen feet away. It was like a Malay Leopard and the size of a calf with a brown head, large prominent eyes and a pug nose. The left ear was pricked and the other ear hung down as if torn. Torn by whom? Another big cat? The ribs were a bright chestnut colour turning to ginger and the hindquarters ere darker still. There were three black spots there as well that were the size of a penny. Along the spine there was a ridge of hair two inches long which waved in the breeze. The body was smooth-haired and thin with a tail that was long and thin like a piece of dirty rope. The legs were very long for the body and a pale fawn colour. Was it a giant Burmese cat? They can be a real bother. Kitty's back! But where does she go when she's not being seen here?

Anolaima, Cundinamarca, Columbia. 4th July 1969. Friday. Mr. Arcesio Bemudez, his family and friends, comprising five adults and four children, were in his farmhouse when they heard shouting from Mauricio Gnecco,13, and Enrique Osorio who had seen a low level yellow orange light 600 feet away over a farm field. Arcesio attempted to signal it with a flashlight whereupon the object sped up and approached the house hovering over two tall trees for five seconds. It then landed. Only Arcesio saw it land. The object was four to six feet tall and an arc of light surrounded it. It was supported by two blue luminous legs with green tips. When the object started moving again Arcesio ran towards it waving the torch. Then the object blinked on and off and took off towards Bogota. Arcesio had got to twenty feet from the object. It had blinked off but in time for Arcesio to see a person inside it. From the waist down the Hominoid was shaped like the letter “A” and was luminous.Otherwise normal. Within two days Arcesio took very ill. His temperature dropped to 95 degrees and he had a cold touch. He did not claim that he felt cold though. Within a few days his condition deteriorated and he had black vomit and diarrhoea with blood flow.He was taken to Bogota for specialised treatment but died on 12th June . The symptoms indicated Gamma Ray poisoning. He had been exposed to a very strong radio active powersource. Was he attacked by the saucer with a black light when he was flashing at it? Try not to go near them. This is not a one off report.

Ossipee Lake, Carroll County, New Hampshire. 4th July 1969. 7.00 am. Ed Moore was fishing in his boat when he heard a splash behind him that sounded like a horse falling into the water. Ed swung around to investigate what had disturbed the area of water 55 feet away.Then Ed saw a silver oval object thirty feet in diameter hovering at an altitude of 300 feet which then rose to 3000 feet. The object had made a humming noise. What if it had risen up underneath him? The noise was not falling in but the mass of water falling from it as it was falling out.

Finiskaig, Moeble Bay, Highland, Scotland, Loch Morar. 8th July 1969. Tuesday. Bob Duff was travelling at two knots in his boat.

The visibility in the water was like glass and one could see down to the bottom which was 16 feet down. One could even see leaves on it. One could also see a large Lizard-like creature walking around. It was twenty feet long and it was looking up at the witness. The witness revved up and left the spot.The head was snakelike with a wide mouth and slit eyes and had four legs with three digits each. The colour of the skin was greyish brown and it was rough like burnt coke. Is what you are looking at quite often looking back at you?

Lake Worth, Tarrant County, Texas. 9th July 1969. Wednesday. John Reichert, his wife and two other couples, witnesses in a car, saw a Hairy Hominoid that resembled a Satyr that pounced onto the hood of the car with the six people in it. The creature was covered with scales as well as fur and looked like a cross between a man and a goat. The attack left scratches. It was a Hairy Hominoid and it might have been offended by the group courting or wanted to join in. This is not the first time for attacks on courting couples or groups either. The three couples raced to the Fort Worth police station and reported the matter to the police who sent four patrol cars to the site and saw an eighteen inch long scar running along the side of the Reichert's car. All of the witnesses stated that had never seen the scratch before.

Two days later on 11th July 1969 almost exactly twenty-four hours later Jack Harris was driving on the only road leading into the Lake Worth Nature Centre when he spotted the same creature crossing the road in front of him. The manbeast ran up and down a bluff and was soon being watched by thirty to forty people who had come to the area to see it after the Fort Worth Star Telegram headlined a story entitled "Fishy Man-goat Terrifies Couples Parked at Lake Worth". With a short time sheriff's officers were also there and observing the same creature. When it appeared that the onlookers were getting too close the manbeast fired a spare tyre complete with rim at them and they jumped back into their car. The seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid weighed three hundred pounds, walked on two feet and had whitish–grey hair. It also made a pitiful cry like something was hurting it. The manbeast was seen to throw a tyre and rim more than 500 feet. The Hairy Hominoids don't like cars or machines very much at all. The creature was high up on a bluff and apparently annoyed by the carloads of witnesses who were looking for it. This was in Lake Worth, Tarrant County, Texas.

Oroville, Butte County, California, 12th July 1969. Saturday. 9.30 pm. Mr Charley Jackson, his six year old son Kevin and his dogs ran for cover. They had been watching a bonfire they had built when they saw a female Hairy Hominoid standing on an old building fifteen feet away. She had black skin on her chest and face which was almost bare though the rest of her was covered with filthy grey hair. She was seven to eight feet tall and had no neck and also had giant flat breasts which hung down to her navel. She had a puzzled look on her face. Her arms were longer than a human's arms and she swung her arms when walking. The hairy hominoid was three to four feet wide at the shoulder and had a yellowish chest area. The feet were 14 to fifteen inches long and very flat and very wide. So much for Miss Oroville, 1969. The three normally very fierce dogs were cowering under the furniture inside the house.

Los Llanos, Venezuela. 22nd July 1969. A grey, hollow kidneyshaped object fell from the sky here. They can fall anywhere.

Hoquiam, Grays Harbour County, Washington State. 27th July 1969. Sunday. 2.35am. Deputy Sheriff Verlin Herrington was driving home along Deekay Road near Copalis Beach when he saw an eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid that was standing in the middle of the road in front of the car. Verlin hit the brakes hard to avoid hitting it and got out of the car with a spotlight. Verlin aimed his spotlight at it, cocked his pistol and was ready to shoot. The manbeast had a humanlike face and was covered with dark brown hair except for the feet and the hands and ran away. The hair on the head was longer than on the rest of the body and five to seven inches long. The creature also had breasts but unlike other Bigfoot reports these were with hair on them except for around the black nipples. The face was black and the fingers, face and buttocks were like a Human's. The creature appeared to weigh three hundred pounds. Next day footprints. eighteen inches long by seven inches wide found. It was a female Hairy Hominoid. The females are appearing.

Greer Island, Lake Worth, Tarrant County, Texas. July 1969. Several witnesses. A swimming Gorilla-like creature was seen in the lake. It looked like half man and half goat and was covered with fur and scales. Though we are not so sure about this one.

In the last three weeks of July 1969, after the tenth of July, parties of searchers, many carrying guns, descended onto the area around Lake Worth, usually at night, and many stated that the manbeast resembled a big white ape. Tracks were also found that were sixteen inches long and eight inches wide at the toes. On one occasion searchers fired on the beast and insisted that they followed a trail of blood and tracks to the edge of the water. On another occasion three men insisted that the creature leaped onto and jumped off only after the car collided with a tree. Other witnesses stated that they heard the beast and also smelled it as it was associated with a foul odour.

Kettle Creek, Potter County, Pennsylvania. Blackforest. Summer July 1969. Three roadworkers saw a huge Bigbird. It flew over a lake and picked up a live fawn weighing fifteen pounds. This was too heavy for an Eagle to pick up. Had one of these also picked up young Denis Martin that same summer?

Also in Summer July 1969 at Little Pine Creek in Lycoming County in Pennsylvania the wife of the Sheriff of Clinton County John Boyle was sitting in front of their cabin when she saw an enormous gray-coloured bird land in the middle of the creek. A few moments later it rose to fly away and its wingspread was as wide as the creekbed which was about seventy-five feet.

Loch Morar, Highland, Scotland. 16th August 1969. Saturday. 9.00 pm. Dusk. Duncan MacDonnell of Bracorla and William Simpson of Mallaig were in a motorcruiser passing the islands at the west end of the Loch returning from a days fishing. McDonnell was at the wheel when he heard a splash or disturbance in the water astern or ahead of them. He looked up and twenty yards behind them was this creature coming directly at them in their wake. The beastie only took a matter of seconds to catch up with them and grazed the side of the boat which tilted up beneath them and then shuddered. William Simpson came out of the cabin to see Duncan fending off the Beast with an oar. Both men looked down into two huge tortoise eyes like saucers with a wide gash of a mouth. The creature was huge and twenty-five to thirty feet long with three shallow humps or undulations and the skin was rough and dirty brown. The head was snakelike and one foot wide at the top which was standing eighteen inches out of the water. The oar broke and William grabbed his deer rifle and fired a bullet at the Beast which then sank slowly away from the boat. There was no blood. The creature was like an overgrown eel. The locals called it Morag. The body of the Lakemonster was quite solid and did not give. This was no hallucination. Though there were others that still were where we expected them to be even if we refute their existence. Who said that a hallucination need not be solid?

Big Horn Dam, North Saskatchewan River, Alberta, Canada. 24th August 1969. About 9.30 pm Guy L'Heureuse, nineteen, and Harley Peterson, seventeen , were building the foundations for a pumphouse near the river when they saw a tall dark figure standing on top of a three hundred foot bank about half a mile away and appearing to watch them. During the hour that they watched it they were joined by Harley's father Stan, fortysix, Mr. Floyd Engen, also fortysix, and Dale Boddy, twentyone. They were all sure that the creature was quite tall and calculated after two of the men went to the place that the creature had been that it must have been fifteen feet tall. The size was judged by comparing it to the size of the men in the same area. They watched each other for thirty minutes. Who is watching whom? And where?

Between Moonah and Chigwell, Tasmania. Australia. 24th August 1969. Mr Lodge spotted a round bright object moving towards him and a still photograph was taken. The UFO moved behind a ridge at the same instant. This was in the small hours of the night. Tasmania was still active as was the Eastern Australian seaboard.

San Diego, San Diego County, California. 31st August 1969. Sunday. 7.30 pm. Mrs Potter and eventually others saw red rocks fall from the sky. The rocks had arrived with a gust of wind and had fallen on Mrs Potter, her house and parked cars which they bounced off. The falling rocks came from the north in two lots and were lightweight like pumice. The total haul of them filled a half pint coffee jar. They were rough and pitted and the largest was the size of a quarter. This sounds similar to the material that fell from the sky at Maury Island in 1947. Once again we have themes. Were there any volcanoes around to account for the pumice stone? Not in this neighborhood that we know of. Previously there had been the landing of an aeroplane that appeared to have been shredded by a Micrometeorite shower that killed all on board in San Diego in 1939, at 9.00 pm at Point Loma and 11.00 pm at Chula Vista on January 4th 1952, there were massive Skyquakes that shook the areas. These had also occurred over Los Angeles at the same time. In 1955 off Ocean Beach a giant waterspout was seen with what appeared to be the rear end of a strange and massive machine sticking out of the top end of it, and in 1962 walnut sized rocks fell onto the home of Kenneth Snyder at Allied Gardens. In 1966 in San Diego a pair of Hairy Hominoids was seen. One of them was ransacking the car of the five witnesses and the other was nonchalantly sitting on the side of the road.

Buckland, Hampshire, England. August 1969. In the early morning the Bigbird that was seen and indeed heard the previous month was seen again. A Bigbird was seen that made a frightening eerie screeching with two distinct notes that lasted as long as thirty minutes. It was a large brown bird with a wingspan of four feet that was seen and of a type that was unknown. Bigbird is certainly busy in Hampshire.

They were twelve metres sixty centimetres in diameter, had three V-shaped grooves ninety centimetres by ninety centimetres and twohundred and seventy centimetres apart and fifty to seventyfive millimetres deep in them. Even trees twentyseven metres away were burnt and bleached. Plants in the circle were vaporised and bone dry and brittle. There was sudden evidence of vaporisation of Coca sap. (?). There was also unexplained radioactivity in the area. It must be nesting season again. What are they laying?

Rice Lake, Northumberland County, Ontario. Canada. 12th September 1969. Evening. Robert McConkie, a High School Teacher, saw a brightly glowing object come down in a lake near a small island. The 3rd was eight metres seventy centimetres, and the 4th was nine metres ninety centimetres.The grass was brown and dying and the Earth had sunk twenty-five to seventy-five millimetres. There was indented dark green grass encompassing all four circles that was one hundred to one hundred and thirty millimetres wide. The nests were twenty-seven to thirty-six metres apart in a direct line with the coast. This was during a UFO flap. Still nesting season in New Zealand?

This lasted several minutes and there were several witnesses. This was during a UFO flap. But how often do they nest? Previous sightings in this area were at Dargaville in 1909 as well as in Kaihu that same year when Airships were seen in the sky. In Awanui earlier in 1969 a Maori was startled and frightened by a group of Hominoids and in

It was also radioactive.The islands frog population and four tame ducks disappeared and the other ducks and cows would not drink from the islands pond. They ran away from it. Previously there had been an Airship seen at North Auckland in 1909, a USO in Kaipara Harbour in 1965, a Globster found on Muriwai Beach in Auckland in March 1965, and UFOs and nests seen and found in and around Takapuna in October 1969.

At one end of the diamond was a small diamond shaped area not dug out as well as a line seven and a half centimetres long which curved away from the end of the diamond. Three of these shapes with one smaller than the others. Ordinary seeming now though at times physically not predictable.

Lake Worth, Tarrant County, Texas. 7th November 1969. 2.00 am. Charles Buchanan was sleeping in the back of his pickup truck when he suddenly awoke to see a tall Hairy Hominoid towering over him. The manbeast seemed to be a cross between a Human and a Gorilla. The creature jerked Charles to the ground, who was still in his sleeping bag and gagging from the stench of the Beast. Charles in his desperation grabbed bag of leftover chicken and shoved it into the creatures face. The creature grabbed the bag from him and with its long arms it took the sack into its mouth, made some gutteral noises and then loped off through the trees, went into the water and swam towards Greer Island with powerful strokes. The mouth had large square white teeth set into a big head set right into the shoulders with apparently no neck and there was hair two inches long on the head. The creature had a jutting chin, a receding forehead, a wide nose with big nostrils and glowing amber eyes. Glowing eyes? Does this indicate nocturnalism or supernaturalism?

Quincy, Adams County, Illinois. 19th December 1969. Friday. 6.15am. Three witnesses were in a car behind Marvin Mixer in a late model Ford pickup truck with a camper installed on it. On Ellington Road between Columbus and 36th Street in the northeast of the town and unknown force lifted the small truck off the road for a short time. The truck was lifted into the air at 80 miles per hour and then came down again. Marvin felt as if he had hit a bump though there was no bump or ridge on the road. The camper unit on the back went up 28 feet into the air seemingly in slow motion and landed, one would expect completely demolished, on the road a short distance away. The only damage though was a broken glass window on the camper door. The three witnesses in the car behind who did not know the camperdriver helped him put the camper back into the six foot by one and a half foot stake holes in the back of the truck. Even gravity goes in slow motion sometimes.

On Christmas Eve, 24th December 1969, a Fuji light aircraft disaapeared in Bass Strait on a flight from King Island to Morrabin Airport in Victoria. No traces were ever found. The plane was piloted by Mr. Peter Phillips, twenty-five years old, and was eight kilometres off Cape Otway in Victoria when it disappeared without trace. It all feels normal to me.

In the Numinbah Valley in northern New South Wales in Australia a farmer reported seeing a three metre tall hairy manbeast that was carrying a dead calf whilst walking across the field that the farmer was working in. The farmer grabbed his .303 rifle and fired at the monster as it effortlessly cleared a wooden paling fence in a single stride and vanished into the forest. There are local legends around here of hairy giants that live in the area of the Lamington National Park. The famer had previously seen giant footprints and heard weird cries at night. This was in 1969.

Texas,1969. Several individual witnesses. There were several sporadic reports of Dinosaurs wandering around that year in Texas. It even seems normal now even when we are discussing dinosaurs in Texas and giant luminous snakes in Nova Scotia.

Berwick, Kings County, Nova Scotia, Canada,1969. Giant luminous snakes were seen in the area by several individual witnesses. These giant luminous snakes were also seen in 1967 in Berwick and also in 1969 an eighteen foot tall hairy hominoid was reported in Berwick as well. Was he looking for his snakes?

Davie, Broward County, Florida.1969. Mr. Charles Robertson met a smelly, growling Bigfoot in an abandoned guava orchard. They seem to pop up in the strangest of places.

Also that same year 1969 near Davie, Broward County, Florida, Henry Ring saw a huge Bigfoot that had been treed by dogs in an orange grove. The creature swung away through the trees and dived into a canal. How do you swing through orange trees? Henry would also see a Bigfoot again in August 1971.

Near Massett in the Queen Charlotte Islands, Canada, in 1969 local Indians saw a tall Hairy Hominoid at least twice.

During 1969 a woman passed a Bigfoot that was standing by the roadside at night in the Klickitat Valley in Klickitat County in Washington State.

Lake Catemaco, Vera Cruz, Mexico,1969. A huge black Seaserpent with two horns on its forehead was seen waddling ashore at night. There were legends of a giant crocodile in the lake. Only one dated sighting though being this one.

Pullman, Allegan County, Michigan. 1st January 1970. 12.15 am. A gigantic explosion rocked the town. Windows were broken and things fell from shelves. A mysterious large hole had suddenly appeared in the surface of Lake Michigan only two hundred yards from shore and threw great chunks of ice high into the air. The blast was felt up to four miles away. This was the same time as the Upper Scott Lake event on the eastern side of Lake Michigan. Was antimatter hitting the area? How many places in between were hit and not known about? Pullman is one and a half miles from Upper Scott Lake.

Upper Scott Lake, Allegan County, Michigan. 1st January 1970. 12.15 am. Following a mystery explosion a hole in the ice on the lake was found that was forty feet across. Ice chunks were scattered up to one hundred feet away. Initially the buildings at the YMCA camp were rocked violently and the witnesses, Mr. and Mrs. James Eastep who had been playing cards with their relatives, were thrown from their chairs. Storm windows blew out of the walls. Picture windows were also cracked as were small window panes, a light fitting and the fireplace frame. Wooden window shutters on several cabins looked as if they had been cut to ribbons with an axe. Mr. Eastep and his brother-in-law Dale Lamb also noticed a strange mound of mud containing seaweed from the lake bed had oozed upwards through a three foot wide hole in the ice covering the lake about thirty-five feet from shore that created a bulge two feet high. The bulge subsided by that afternoon.

At the same time in the town of Bravo in Allegan County, four miles to the north of Upper Scott Lake books fell from shelves and windows rattled at 12.15 am on 1st January 1970.

Cowichan, Nanaimo County, British Columbia, Canada, Vancouver Island. 1st January 1970. Thursday. 5.00 am. First Doreen Kendall, a regional Nurse, and then six nurses including Mrs Freda Wilson, saw a brilliant circular light with a transparent dome at the same height as the 2nd floor of a Hospital. The craft was only sixty feet away from the window and hovering. Two Hominoids in it seemed to be making repairs to the craft which had a fifty foot diameter and was tilted slightly downwards towards the Hospital. There was a necklace of lights around middle of the craft and it made no noise. One of the Hominoids saw the witness, placed his hands on the back of the second Hominoid at a console who pulled a lever and appeared to be changing gears. The UFO tilted sideways even more, circled five times and then vanished to the southeast. By this time there were five more witnesses.

Whitewater, near Gallup, Grant County, New Mexico. Early January 1970. Four young men, Clifford Heronemus, Robert Davis, Carl Martinez and David Chiaramonte were out driving when a Bigfoot ran beside their car at forty-five miles per hour. The Hairy Hominoid was five foot seven inches tall. Car accelerated to sixty miles per hour and one of the witnesses fired at the Bigfoot and hit it. The creature fell down but no blood was found. Then the Hairy Hominoid just got up and ran off. I would too if people were shooting at me. There was apparently no blood and it got up and ran off. How odd? The two sites of Hairy Hominoid shooting for January in New Mexico are 330 kilometres apart. Misreporting or incredible coincidence?

On 7th January 1970 in Cheakamus Canyon near Squamish in Westminster County in British Columbia Bill Taylor, a road works foreman, saw a seven foot tall Bigfoot that crossed in front of his car. This Bigfoot was carrying a fish in its hand.

Imjarvi, Finland. 7th January 1970. Wednesday. 4.45 pm. Aarno Heinonen, thirty-six, and Esko Viljo, thirty-eight, had heard a buzzing sound and saw a flying object surrounded by a red-grey cloud. The buzzing noise got louder as the object descended further and there seemed to be a short tube hanging from underneath the craft. The buzzing stopped when the craft was nine to twelve feet above the ground and a bright light was emitted from the tube. The light beam was three foot wide. A three foot tall being seemed to walk down the light ray. It had thin arms and legs and had a black box in its hands. The box shot out a blinding red grey mist that hit Aarno’s right side which became insensitive and he fell to the ground and he could not ski. By the time the red grey mist had lifted the craft and the Hominoid had gone. It took one hour for Viljo to take Aarno two kilometres home. Afterwards Aarno suffered severe internal complaints, pains in his back and limbs, headaches, nausea, vomiting, black urine, breathing problems, balance problems and became tired easily. Previously he had been very fit. Esko Viljo, the other witness, one hour later developed a swollen reddish face, unbalanced walking, and the next morning had difficulty with balance, lightness in his legs and hands and his chest became red. From January 9th they had headaches for a few days as well as swollen painful eyes. This continued for a time. Both men were nondrinkers or smokers and had been out skiing near Heinola, one hundred and thirty kilometres from Helsinki. Several individual witnesses of a hovering UFO saw odd lights in the sky.

Rouillac, Charente, France. 10th January 1970. Saturday. There were several individual witnesses in the area where a UFO had been seen on the ground the previous day. That day a hole had been found from which the soil was missing and the boulders at the bottom were pulverised. The sand at the bottom of the hole was like ash. What sort of energy force does this ?

Foyers, Loch Ness, Highland. Scotland. 15th January 1970. Mr M. K. Smithers, B.SC, B. E. M. I. E. (Australia) the on site Engineer at the Power Station was on the shore at Fiyers when he saw a huge hump near the mouth of the Foyers River. The hump was thirty to forty feet long and rising five to ten feet out of the water like a large upturned boat. Mr. Smithers then quit his job. Do hallucinations cause you to do this?

Brussels, Belgium. 24th January 1970. A luminous cloudy area twenty-five feet long by five feet high was seen above the city centre. It became a phosphorescent green colour and vibrated and then changed shape and form and moved away. The cloud was formed of tiny luminous particles. Not cooked long enough in the Quasar Vacuum?

The witness’s dog continued to lie near her house and watch it but would not bark.

A Police Officer was lying in wait for the creature in his patrol car when without warning something picked up the rear end of the Police Patrol Car in the dark. The Police Officer spun the car around and had a good look at a huge hairy creature lumbering away in his searchlight between houses. It was like a huge bi-pedal bear. Bears are not bipedal when they are running though. Definite non-Bearlike tracks were found. What was this non-bear apart from very strong?

Onslow, Western Australia. 9th April 1970. 11.00 am. Bob Manton and others saw an Aluminium coloured object with a white tail that appeared to touch the ground A fire was also seen at the spot. Was the fire caused by the apparent touching?

Olive Branch, Shawnee National Forest, near Cairo, Alexander County, Illinois. 10th April 1970. Friday. 8.30 pm. There were two separate witnesses. Mike Busby was driving his car on State Road Three when his car engine faltered and stopped and he got out of it to investigate what had happened . A six foot tall black catlike creature suddenly appeared and looked straight at him with dime-sized almond-shaped glowing greenish eyes. The body had a wet look like steelwool and was fuzzy around the mouth like whiskers. The creature was covered in short hair or fur and made deep growling catnoises. The Pantherlike creature walked on its hind legs over to Mike and hit him hard in the face with its paws. They then wrestled. Busby held the cats head back at arms length whilst it clawed at him with dull two inch long claws which left wounds on his left arm, chest and abdomen and shredding his shirt. The creature also had long, yellow feline teeth. This most unusual wrestling match was only stopped by the chance intervention of a passing truck that scared the feline away. The truckdriver saw the fight and stopped and assisted the badly scratched witness. The cat loped off into the forest but not before the truckdriver saw it. Busby staggered back to his car which then started with no difficulty. When he arrived in Olive Branch the truckdriver confirmed the story. In the next few days Busby was frequently dizzy and once fainted.

Kursu, near Salla, Lappi Province, Finland. 15th April 1970. A man saw a UFO land outside his backwoods cabin. Then the witness saw inside a room whose door was closed in which stood a Hominoid in a helmet and shimmering clothes. The Hominoid had big eyes and the man and the Hominoid talked about Apollo 13 before the Hominoid vanished through a wall.

On 23rd April 1970 the crew of the seiner “Bruce” saw a beige-brown coloured Bigfoot that was standing on a beach near Klemtu on Swindle Island in British Columbia. There had been a similar sighting here in early February just passed. At Kwakwa Kitasu Bay on Swindle Island in 1930 a Bigfoot had been seen, on Price Island in 1960 another Bigfoot had been seen and later that same year at Watson Bay, Roderick Island, in December 1960 Timothy Robinson and Samson Duncan shot at a small Bigfoot and in February 1970 at Klemtu on Swindle Island a bigfoot was seen.

Between Rabaraba, and Goodenough Bay, Vogel Cape, Nuigini. April 1970. 2.00 am. Albert Robins and five Papuan crew in small coastal boat saw a brilliant light approaching from under the sea to their Starboard. The submerged light rose up so as to be easily seen and was twenty-five metres long by six metres wide. It was a cigar so bright that it hurt the eyes and was pacing the boat for several minutes. It kept six metres from the boat at all times and then descended into the sea again.

Over several nights in April 1970 Buzz McLaughlin and several others saw a bad smelling nine foot tall Bigfoot from a ranch school window in Hyampom, Trinity County, California. It was described as a like a giant gorilla. Previously around here in 1964 a Bigfoot had shaken the car of the witness near Blue Lake and in 1968 a family saw a Bigfoot at Trinity River near Salyer.

Madison, Dane County, Wisconsin. April 1970. 1.30 am. A male Attorney, thirty-two years old, was driving on the Interstate Highway when he saw a bright light low in the sky and thought that it was a helicopter. The UFO hovered over the Highway and the witness passed under it and at that moment there were static on the radio and the interior of the car heated up. The sitness started getting a severe headache and swallowed two aspirin from his glovebox without water. Everything then returned to normal. He reached the exit on the Interstate and took it and ten miles from home he inexplicably and suddenly applied the brakes, twisted the wheel and turned into a deadend gravel road that led to the marshes. He did not know why. As the car crested a hill he saw a Flying Saucer that had landed in a dip and almost crashed into it. There was a row of lights on it and they started glowing a bluish green colour. Then the witness put the car into reverse to get away but the engine stopped and the headlights and dashlights went out. The radio also stopped and he started to whimper and cry when hesaw shadowy forms walking around his car. The witness then blanked out and there was timeloss. Next morning he found a small tender welt on the back of his neck directly over the spinal cord that became extremely sore and painful. His Doctor found scores of tiny perforations of the skin within the welt. The witness's behaviour became erratic and nervous and he had severe headaches. He became obsessed with politics and his father talked him into seeing a psychiatrist. Under hypnosis the witness recalled meeting Hominoids who were collecting plants. Sometimes they stated to him that they would take people and had placed a metallic device against the back of his neck. The device tingled and the fear of the Hominoids left. There were five Hominoids with the captain being six foot five inches tall. They all wore white coveralls with a black belt around the middle and a greyish silver box on the side. One Hominoid remained on guard in the craft. The crewmen were five feet tall, apparently weighed one hundred and twenty-five pounds, had flat elongated faces with slanted eyes and thin lips and wore helmets. The craft was silvergrey in colour and one hundred feet in diameter standing on tripod legs. There was a small antenna on the rear.

Big Cypress Swamp, Collier County, Everglades, Florida. April 1970. Spring. Mr H.C. Osborn, also spelt Osbun, an Engineer and amateur archaeologist, was with four friends in the Big Cypress Swamp digging up an Indian mound when suddenly a creature like a Hairy Hominoid popped up in front of them. It was seven feet tall and weighed seven hundred poundsand left footprints in the soft earth that were seventeen and a half inches long by eleven and a quarter inches across at the toes. Isle La Motte Bridge, near Enosberg Falls, Lake Champlain, Vermont. 17th May 1970. Mrs Grace Lee, her husband and six friends were fishing from the bridge when Mrs Lee saw the water begin to churn and a huge snaky head emerged followed by three humps. It was greenish-black in colour. Mrs Farnham, one of the party, felt a tug on her line and reeled it in and found that she had caught an eel. Mrs Lee also had a strike and reeled in the biggest eel of all except that it was so strong that it snapped the line and vanished. At this point the Monster turned and swam away in the direction of Isle La Motte which is at the end of the lake seventeen miles northeast of Plattsburg, New York. Were Mrs Lee and her friends reeling in “Champ’s” children?

Festus, Saint Louis County, Missouri. 26th May 1970. A small red-hot cylindrical object fell from the sky. Mrs Elida Kent heard an explosion and saw a red-hot cylindrical object about two inches long lying in the grass outside her house. The article remained smoking hot for five minutes and then became heavily charred. She neither saw nor heard aircraft at the time. The object had a leadlike interior and was turned over to the Saint Louis Planetarium and never seen again. Keeping it safe is not the word.

Roscoe, Winnebago County, Illinois. May 1970. Tom Ferry and five other people saw a pair of big cats along the Rock River whilst they were loading sod on a truck two miles east of Roscoe. They saw a lion run off with a bag of meat put out for stray dogs and some of them followed it in a car.The cat was eight feet long with a long mane and a long tail. The lion jumped a fence and vanished. Maybe literally.

On 14th June 1970 in Yakima, Yakima County, Washington State two young couples were besieged in their car at night by an enraged, or was that aroused?, nine foot tall bigfoot. One of many theories about Bigfeet is that they attack and are interested in human mating and this is only a suggestion as there were possibly other reasons two young couples were parked in the bush at night. Maybe they were doing homework?

Trinity Forest, Trinity County, California. Mount Shasta. 18th June 1970. A seven and a half foot tall Hairy Hominoid was seen by Archie Buckley. Archie had hung a fish in a tree as bait and waited in his Volkswagen. After 3.00 am the moon went down and then Archie spotted something at the campsite. He swung a light onto the fish which was untouched and still swinging the light around saw two glowing eyes one hundred feet away. They belonged to a seven and a half foot tall dark hairy Bigfoot that weighed 450 pounds. The next morning footprints fifteen and a half inches long and six and a half inches wide were found coming close to where the Volkswagen had been parked.

A UFO was seen 500 metres out to sea off Avenida Niemeyer. It was obviously a disc and was visibly bobbing on the sea surface for half an hour. There were two Hominoids inside it who were also visible. They wore helmets and bright grey Aluminium coloured coveralls. The disc took off and left a ring on the sea like a stabilizer. When the UFO took off it was then that witnesses who had been watching it for forty minutes realised that it was not a crashed motorboat. The craft skimmed the water for three hundred yards throwing off a wake from its bows and then lifted up from the sea and took off to the southeast. An hexagonal shaped appendage retracted into it. A number of lights on it glowed in sequence, green, yellow and red. On the sea where it had rested witnesses saw a white hoop-shaped object that suddenly sank then reappeared. A yellow oval section separated from it that was sixteen inches across by eight inches out of the water.After three minutes this object moved towards shore with the longer axis aimed directly at the witnesses. More manoeuvres occurred and then the object headed towards Gaveal. A Police launch headed to spot, picked up a red cylinder from the water and sped back to its' base.

Emerald Beach, New South Wales. Australia. June 1970. Near Woolgoolga. A Truckdriver travelling from Coffs Harbour to Grafton saw a bright circular object rise up near the Highway just after Midnight. The luminous object was on the ocean side of the Highway only 450 metres from the road. The object was circular and hovered for half a minute at an altitude of eighteen metres. It was nine metres in diameter and had flames along its' bottom. It then returned to the ground and was partly obscured by timber. It had lightrays coming up at an angle from its' top and sides and flames along the bottom. the witness drove away in fear. Burnt tree limbs and circles of poor grass were found at the landing site as well as six circles that were found. Two of the circles with 9.1 metre diameters. The grass and fern growth was stunted and there were a number of dead and burnt trees as well.

There was also a strange odour in the air and they felt as if they were being watched. As they worked their way down through the mountainside scrub they spotted a 2.6 metre tall dark hairy manlike creature that was staring at them that as suddenly as it appeared vanished again into the thick scrub. Local legends mention the “Doolagahl” with this description that inhabited the area.

All eighteen years old were camping out when they heard something moving in the tall Buffalo grass. Whatever it was moved between the witnesses who were around the campfire and their tent. Lamb turned the car headlights on and they showed a Hairy Hominoid with widely separated eyes, gleaming at them. It was squatting by the tentand then ran off on two legs. All of the witnesses ran off as well. Ennis, with one foot in a cast, he had a broken ankle, was so scared he left his crutches behind him.

All three men were on the north shore of Loch Morar when Dr Bass noticed a black, smooth-looking hump shaped object three hundred yards away. Dr Bass called the others but the creature had submerged by then. Half a minute later all three witnesses saw a disturbance of water at the same spot followed by circular wake or ripple radiating to fifty yards in diameter. This could not have been caused by fish, singly or shoally.

Farmer City, De Witt County, Illinois. 15th July 1970. .2.15 am. Police Officer Robert Hayslip heard something running through the grass and saw a pair of extremely bright eyes watching the witnesses whothen fled and later returned to the site. At 6.00 am the heavy steel grommets in the tent which were intact at 3.00 am were found ripped out and a quilt was nearby torn to shreds. After this the Police Chief locked the gate to the area to keep people out. Our Hairy Hominoid was still on the loose?

object travelled to mid-Loch turned North and then ank. The Strone camera belonging to the expedition was unmanned at the time as the Person who was meant to man it had left the post to go to Achnahhanet just beforehand. How often does this happen? Tripod-like marks and circular compressed areas of grass were also found and electrical appliances played up or stopped. The ignition system of the car failed often and the phone went haywire. At times a UFO would also pace the witness's car as well. There was also a strong odour at times like rancidity that was very offensive.

Foster Jnr, Sharon Gorden and Richard Foster were camping on a fishing trip and had left out a bait of food items for a Bigfoot. Just after 8.00 pm Sharon saw a Bigfoot watching them from a hilltop one hundred and fifty feet away. Ben approached it to within 75 feet and the boy and the Bigfoot watched each other for a few moments and when Ben approached closer the Bigfoot tossed a rock at him. The rock landed seven feet to his left whilst the creature retreated up a ravine. Half an hour later Ben and Richard walked up the track looking for the Bigfoot and Sharon saw another Bigfoot about thirty feet away. Sharon tried to start the car motor and the creature took off. During the night the group saw forms of creatures and at least four pairs of bright red glowing eyes in the darkness. Sharon stayed in the car. There were several other sightings that night and huge footprints were found as well. The Bigfeet were described as eight to ten feet tall, weighing 500 to 800 pounds, heavily built with eggshaped heads, no hair on the faces and small eyes beneath a heavy brow ridge. The boys saw dark coloured creatures whilst Sharon's was light. Up until 10th August 1970 tracks, a dead fawn and faeces were found. The car aerial had also been flipped by the creature as well.

The car was surrounded by a bright bluish white light and the radio was dead. The temperature in the car rose and light rising from a circle was forming around the car. The light cone ended at a huge greyish object that was hovering directly above the car. The light vanished into it and the object vanished vertically. Evald had stepped outside of his car and by then the car worked normally. He photographed the object three times. Also the road was lit up by headlights afterwards three times. The object was round, ten metres in diameter and the light was projecting from a hole in the bottom. There were two domes also underneath. The same event was seen by the same witness three years and one day later as well.

Puente de Herrera, near Vallodilad, Castilla-Leon, Spain. 15th August 1970. 11.00 pm. Near Rio Duero a female witness was watching television when she suddenly heard a whistling noise and the T.V. cut out, blotted out by a mass of lines. After five minutes the witness went to the front door and saw a weird object with various lights hovering in the driveway. The UFO was twelve feet wide by eight feet high and had a hemispherical cupola uppermost that seemed to be made of crystal. A bluish light revolved erratically on top and this light dimmed whenever it slowed down. The cupola was surrounded by a ring of coloured lights and the colour changed constantly from white to purple to yellow. Nearby was a strange looking man looking at the alfalfa crop. The Hominoid was five foot ten inches tall and wore dark tightfitting garb and a helmet. There were glowing white bracelets on the ankles and wrists and a square buckle of similar material on the belt. The witness was scared and went back inside and shut the door. The whistling sound started again and the witness looked out of the window. The UFO was gone. Later on shoeprints were found with heelmarks narrower than the sole where the Hominoid had been seen.

The manbeast was a coconut brown colour and covered with shaggy and dirty brown hair and had one huge fist up to its mouth at the time. Wigneswaran and Mohamead Zulkifli. The boys saw a soup-plate sized Flying Saucer which landed near them. What looked like a plank was put out of it and five tiny Hominoids came forth. Four were in blue uniforms and the fifth was in yellow with Stars on its shirt. The miniature Hominoids ignored the boys and began to rig an antenna on a nearby tree. Wigneswaran tried to capture the leader at which it fired a small gun at him. The other boys fled in terror abandoning him. He was later found in the bushes by School officials. There was a small red dot on his right leg where he had been struck by something from the weapon. The Hominoids were three inches tall and their leader, yellow shirt, had horns on his head. Are we talking fairies? Even updated fairies? It is all fantasy? You forget that everything in this book is all fantasy. Why does it seem so real though?

Narken, Norrbotten, Sweden. 19th August 1970. Three witnesses were in a car driving through the forest south of town when they saw a little man that was three feet tall standing on their path ahead. When the car headlights shone on him he covered his face with his arms and the witnesses heard a sound like a shot and saw a flash of white light. The little man had disappeared. During the sighting he wore a greyish raincoat and a helmet. Other witnesses in the area had also seen a similar little man.

She put her shotgun down as she got through a barbed wire fence on the edge of the woods and before she had time to straighten up something grabbed her and threw her back over the fence. It was big and hairy and had a terrible smell and she landed ten to fifteen yards away in a patch of thistles which scratched her but cushioned the impact. The creature had departed by the time that she had gotten up.

Funil Dam, near Guanabara. Rio de Janeiro State, Brazil, near Itatiana. 30th August 1970. Sunday. It was almost deafening him and he fired his service revolver at the lights several times. Suddenly a light flash burst from the lights and struck Almiro and blinded him as well paralyzing his body with great heat. Almiro was later found by a passing motorist and still had the revolver clutched in his hand repeating “Don’t look! Beware of the flash! I am blind!" The watchman only regained the ability to move when he was put into the car. Tests later show that the blindness had been brought on by shock of a massive order and Almiro was hospitalised. There was a circular area of dry ground where the craft had been seen yet the ground elsewhere was still wet from recent rain.

Twickenham, London, England. August 1970. A single huge ice block fell from the sky.

Tongham, Surrey, England. August 1970. People were puzzled over a large bird seen around the village that was cross between a Peacock and a Turkey. Caldwell, Essex County, New Jersey. About eight miles northeast of Newark on Bloomfield Avenue. Two silvery threads converged on the general area of Forest Avenue and Hillside Avenue. One of them ended up about 150 feet above the Smith house at 85 Forest Avenue and the other hung over a swimming pool not far away. The lines ran upwards at thirty to fifty degrees from horizontal and in different directions of the compass. They remained tight and stationary for a month and were undisturbed by several bad electrical storms and high winds. Finally on the afternoon of Monday 31st August 1970 Mrs Smith heard a loud thunderclap and shortly afterwards saw some of the string had dropped to the ground. Mr and Mrs Smith hauled down quite a lot of the stuff which somehow still remained suspended in the air until its angle dropped so low that it snagged on tall trees. The skyline over the swimming pool dropped at the same time and was pulled down for almost one hour by a group of young people until they grew tired of the task and had acquired a pile big enough to fill a 44 gallon drum. In some cases the line ravelled up as soon as it came to Earth. It was translucent and quite stiff like plastic broom fibres. The material was analyzed by Dupont Chemical people who were unsure as to what it was though it seemed similar to various nylons used in fishing lines. It was hollow in cross section. What was keeping it taut in the sky was unknown.

Pana, Christian County, Illinois.19th September 1970. Saturday. Mr A. V. Hamm and five others in a car saw a cat-like creature on the side of the road where it had seemed to just materialise. It was tan and grey and running alongside the car and looked at the witnesses, not all of whom saw it though they all could have, and then jumped a fence and vanished. Why could some see the cat whilst others couldn't?

Beverly, Essex County, Massachusetts. 20th September 1970. 6.30 pm. On the Country Club Golf course four witnesses saw a bright red orange ball the apparent size of the Full Moon descending slowly behind trees. It appeared to have spikes or rays sticking out at all angles which also glowed a red orange colour.

Georgian Bay, Ontario, Canada. Lake Michigan. 26th September 1970. A Cessna 21.5 collided with an invisible something like a glass wall. The right wing was ripped apart like Aluminium foil. Georgian Bay again? Previously here in 1902 the “Bannockburn”, a steel ship vanished in front of numerous witnesses and in 1914 several witnesses saw a UFO and its occupants floating on top of Georgian Bay. There have also been several other sightings of phenomena in the environs of Georgian Bay.

The dog would submerge at five minute intervals and never let the boat get within fifty feet of it. Eventually they got close enough to the dog to see that it was in fact thirty feet long with a huge head. Maybe it was not a dog after all?

It reached the end of Waikanda Crescent and hovered fifty feet above the rooftops. It was a rocket shape. Joan got out of the car and stood in the middle of the road. The rocket was doing thirty-fivemiles per hour, was white, rounded in front and had two square windows like dull yellow perspex edged in black. Silently it passed to her right and she saw that it was the length of a telephone pole and ten feet across at the centre. It appeared to be made of white metal with no seams or weld marks and appeared to be moulded in one piece. At the back was a round hole five feet in diameter with a central hole with six metal spokes around it from which white smoke was trailing out of the central hole forcefully.

On 28th October 1970 in Jersey Shore in Lycoming County in Pennsylvania several people driving west of town, we are only one County east of Clinton, was a gigantic winged creature soaring towards Jersey Shore. Near Easterville, Manitoba, in Canada, during November 1970 a schoolteacher saw a Bigfoot. Incidentally the last sighting in 1969 here also involved a schoolteacher. Was it the same one? Was it the same sighting misdated?

Vader, Lewis County, Washington State. 4th December 1970. Mrs Wallace Bowers heard her children calling her to come outside. They had discovered footprints in one inch deep snow that were sixteen inches long by five to seven inches wide and so heavy that the animal had broken through the snow with every step plus leaving one and a half inch deep impressions into the gravel below. The family dog had been acting oddly the night before.

The star then flew closer to the witnesses and they saw that it had a centre dome around which a large circle was revolving. It had a deep orange centre and a definite bright rim and was tipped sideways.

The craft hovered over the Bonneville powerlines with its colour changing from orange to bright and clear. It made one last sweep closer, again turning orange and the children saw a grey shape drop from it. From then on every night between 2.00 am and 3.00 am the sound of a thudding jar going across the yard was heard yet the house was so well insulated that you cannot even hear a car coming down the drive.

The thumb was crooked inward, either from being deformed or previously injured.

Lake Elsinore, Riverside County, California. December 1970. Winter. Two separate witnesses saw a twelve foot long snakelike thing in the lake. The lake serpent was three feet wide and moved through the water with an undulating motion. Lake Elsinore had completely dried up though in 1951 and 1955. Had it burrowed? Was it an amphibian capable of living in deep mud for long periods? Where do our lakemonsters sometimes go when there is no water to be found? Underground or elsewhere?

Lake Elsinore, Riverside County, California. December 1970. Winter. Bonnie Pray, a local identity, saw the Lakemonster twice. It went through the water with an up and down motion. This was reported as a separate sighting to the previous two.

Lake Elsinore, Riverside County, California. December 1970. Winter. Same day as Bonnie Pray. Three officials of Elsinore State Park in a boat saw a Lakemonster fifty feet from them. They could not agree on details but was unusual being snakelike and very large. You don't see them for ages and then there is a glut of them as if they have just escaped from somewhere.

Machapuchare, Nepal, Himalayas. December 1970. Don Whillans claimed to see an apelike creature above the snowline after being alerted to its presence by his Sherpa. Don turned around just in time to see it drop down below a ridge. It left tracks nine to ten inches long that were not bear tracks being long and narrow. Later that same day Don saw it or another one again bounding along with an ape-like gait over a distance of half a mile. Don was part of an expedition climbing Mount Annapurna.

On Highway 63 near Welasco in Hidalgo County in Texas Mr. Jesus Martinez claimed to have seen a brown bird that was as long as a car with a sixteen foot wingspan and the head and beak of an eagle. Odd things happen in the Rio Grande valley. I wonder if these are also illegal Mexican immigrants?

Sometime during 1970 a farmer near Nerriga in southern New South Wales in Australia reported seeing a three metre tall male hairy hominoid eating apples from a tree in his orchard. The farmer was too scared to approach it. Eventually the manbeast walked away into the scrub. Local Aborigines and whites have long reported the “Doolagahl” with this description in the nearby Budawang Range. Why is it then that with all of these anecdotal reports that we never catch one? Or at least catch one with the catching making world headlines and filling pages of scientific journals. This happened with the gorilla in the nineteenth century. Why not the “Doolagahl” and its relatives. Indeed all of the relatives in this very mixed and bizarre uncatchable, so it is said by science, family?

Timothy Lake, Clackamus County, Oregon.1970. Dawn. A Hairy Hominoid was seen by a fire lookout from his fire tower. It was strolling along the road towards the tower and then suddenly turned off.

This was when a large long necked animal came into view around a headland and was joined by a similar but smaller creature. Photographs were taken but the mechanism had inevitably failed with the shutter simply clicking onto a piece of static backing paper. Why does this seem common when photographing our phenomena?

Ouse River, near Little Barford, near Huntingdon, Cambridgeshire, England. 1970. Mr Walter Tomlinson, a crocodile Hunter, was called in to catch a four foot long Saurian or Crocodilian in the warm water near the outflow from an electricity transformer station. 1971

Scargo Lake, near Dennis, Barnstable County, Massachusetts. 7th January 1971. 7.10 am. John Brogan was on his way to catch the schoolbus when he saw a hovering UFO. Then Martha Koempal and her mother who was watching from a window also saw it. It was a metallic cylindrical object that was descending over the frozen lake. The leading edge tipped forward and a trail of flame issued from its rear end. An elongated hole was found in the ice on Scargo Lake as well as steam from agitated water as if something large had just fallen in. Another witness, Paul McCarthy also saw it as it moved slowly in horizontal flight towards the lake. The object had no wings and nosed down as it went into the lake behind some trees. The resulting hole in the ice was one hundred and twenty-five feet long by twenty-five feet wide and had been melted through three inches of ice.

The animal had a striped brindle coat, small round ears, a stiff low set tail that was thick at the base and was thin at the end. The hind legs were ugly and bent and many clear footprints were left by it of which plaster casts were taken. They were three toed prints with no claws and from an animal that was unknown. They were only two and a half inches by two and a quarter inches in size but pressed very deeply into ground indicating that the animal that made them weighed sixty pounds.

against the window pane. It was a small being who had appeared outside of his window. The being had no hair and had the shape of a small saucer. The man immediately felt a force that seemed to suck him into the air and he was too terrified to run away and seemed to be drawn towards the face. His wife was in the next room and heard glass breaking and ran into the kitchen just in time to see her husband vanishing horizontally through the top section of the bottom window. He was smashing through the window pane above a sink covered in dishes. When found outside he was not even winded or stunned by fall. The witness blacked Out and was found cut and shaken seven feet below the window which was smashed. An Iron bar across the middle of the window was still there leaving only a thrity-two inch by ten inch hole. How the witness got through it is a mystery. His wife ran outside to see him rush like Hell down to the gravel near the house where she found him crying and shaking.

On 3rd April 1971 Mr. Ewen Gillies, who had lived all of his life on a house overlooking Loch Morar as well as his twelve year old son John who had alerted him to the lakemonster, saw Morag for the first time. This was in Loch Morar in Scotland. It was a clear sunny morning around 11.00 am. Half a mile away a huge was lying in the water. The neck was three to four feet long and pointed straight up though bending at the top with the head barely distinguishable from the neck. There were twoor three humps that were moving up and down slightly and were running along the creature's back. The skin was black and shiny and the total length of the beast was thirty feet long. Mr. Gillies went into his house to get a Brownie camera and took two pictures of the beastie from an upstairs window just as the creature lowered its head, straightened its body and sank below the water. The UFO was one hundred yards away and was a glowing yellow-white colour. It was also silent and followed the contours of the hills and always staying equidistant from them. The witnesses pulled off the road and stopped the engine. The UFO took off into the sky and became a pinpoint and then returned to the same spot again. It looked like two bowls placed together at the rims and was luminescent and the size of a one and a half storey bungalow. Then it dropped behind a hill and the witnesses followed it. Now it was only eighty yards away and hovering and the witnesses parked the car and noticed an odd odour. The object was twenty-five to thirty feet wide and twenty feet high and a misty area was now around it. Suddenly a shaft of light shot up from it. There were several windows in the upper portion like vertical rectangles and three round windows in the bottom half. There were also two humanlike forms visible through the windows. The Hominoids were ten feet high and the witnesses got back into their car and fled the scene.

Near a wood beside the house Bobby saw what looked like a man about six feet tall covered with hair and very massive. His brother Douglas fired a gun at it and it lurched away. Bobby notified Constable Ernest Walraven who searched the area. One hour later the creature kicked in the backdoor of the house but at a second gunshot it vanished. Later as Bobby walked around the house the thing grabbed him from the darkness pulling him to the ground. Next morning Sheriff's Officers found several large footprints outside. I wonder if the rent was especially cheap?

Willi Willi, New South Wales, Australia. 10th May 1971. 5.15 pm. Sue Johnson, fifteen, was holidaying with her grandparents. When she was feeding carrots to a horse in the paddock it became very skittish and began prancing about and snorting excitedly. At the same time the dog ran out of the house barking and whining. Then Sue noticed that the evening sky had suddenly changed from grey to pink and the clouds to flaming red. She then noticed a red streak above her head that was quite long and travelled quite fast across the southern sky. A moment later it became a metallic thing that slowed down and seemed to hover over her head. Sue started yelling. The object seemed right over her head and not at a great altitude and she was frightened and ran for the house. The UFO then moved forward accelerating and arced over Mount Sebastopol. The UFO had a bally shape like a football with the top peaked and the sides sloped. There were strange marks at each end and a sort of door at the front. The tail or exhaust was very red and long. During the entire sighting there was no noise at all. Mr Fischer and his married daughter Helen Ross watched the UFO take off to the north.

They were walking along Buffum Beach when they noticed a bright erratically moving light that appeared from the west. It was a bright bluish white light that seemed to be bobbing up and down as well as moving from side to side. The light then assumed the shape of a glowing rectangle that seemed attached to a dark object that hovered silently three hundred feet from them at treetop level. The object then flipped up on its' edge and revealed a round bottom with seven to eight different white lights spaced evenly along the perimeter. Then the light backed off at terrific speed and vanished only to reappear a few minutes later. It streaked right at them and stopped suddenly two hundred feet away on the opposite shoreline. They saw the ports reflected on the water surface as it hovered and seemed to watch the witnesses before it streaked away. All of the witnesses fled home.

They both saw an eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid near a fence. Mr Brown went inside his house and got his rifle but could not shoot it. The creature was too Human. twenty inches long by nine and a half inches wide by three and a half inches deep. How heavy was it?

His dog “Zipper” was lunging at a thing that was standing in a low spot. As he got closer he realized that it was a Hairy Hominoid that was taller than the witness and only twenty-five feet from him. When the witness stepped out of his house door the creature looked at him. The head was not apelike but not like a mans’ head either. The creature was furry and had a rank and sickening smell like decaying meat and vegetable composition. The height of the beast was nine feet and it had dirty hair and stood in a stooped manner with no neck visible. It had long arms and was growling in a deep rumbling manner and seemed to swing at the dog in slow motion for two to three minutes. It seemed confused or uncertain as to what to do with the dog or the situation.

Louisiana, Pike County, Missouri. July 1971. North of the town on Highway 79 Joan Mills and Mary Ryan were having a picnic lunch when they encountered a Hairy Hominoid on River Road. They both wrinkled up their noses at the same time as an incredibly bad smell assaulted them. Behind a bushy thicket was the top half of a hairy manlike creature with a human face and not a gorilla's. It was a hairy half-ape, half-man and made a gurgling sound. The arms were covered with hair but not the hands or palms and it walked upright while its arms dangled way down. The women rushed for their Volkswagen. The Hairy followed and tried to open the doors which the women had locked as they got in. Mills though had left the car keys in her purse which was still with the picnic stuff on the ground. They were in the car and the keys were on the other side of the Hairy Hominoid. Mills then hit the horn ring and the hairy jumped straight up and moved back eventually to what it must have believed was a safe distance where it picked up a peanut butter sandwich and ate it in one gulp. Then it picked up the purse with the keys in it, probably to eat it as well, but dropped it instead and disappeared back into the woods. Joan Mills retrieved her keys and the two women drove at ninety miles per hour to Saint Louis where they reported the event to the Missouri State Patrol. Ninety miles per hour in a Volkswagen? Now that is hard to believe. The rest of the story was quite credible up to that point.

The disc made a buzzing or purring noise and then left to the southeast. The car then started again. The witnesses drove past them and returned home at 4.30 am which was two hours longer than it should have taken. Under hypnosis it was revealed that there was contact with a sixfingered Hominoid using telepathy. The Hominoids were monitoring Earth because it had too much power. There was great danger and the witnesses were shown pictures of destruction. Same old message. Why had they decided to go for a drive that should have taken thirty minutes at 2.00 am in the first place?

Downy radioed the Easton Police as soon as he got home and they looked for it but were unsuccessful. How did Bird Hill get its name? The lights illuminated an object like a giant button mushroom that was nine feet in diameter and hovering two feet off the ground. The glow grew so intense that it hurt Ronald's eyes. The animals went crazy probably thinking that the Intergalactic Butcher had arrived. The family dog went berserk, the sheep began to bellow and the UFO took off with a whine like a jet engine. Robert's parents arrived in time to see a small blue light fading away on the horizon shortly afterwards. The Johnsons photographed the spot and it revealed a flourescent glow in the shape of the object that had landed. The UFO left a shiny doughnut ring on the ground. The ring would not absorb water and was found to have a layer of Silicone formed on it. The landing site was also irradiated and radioactive. Elvio only saw a bus. Afterwards Elvio helped Paulo back to the car but then they both took a bus into Itaperuna where Paulo was checked out at a First Aid Station. The figure then returned to the beam of light and was pulled up into the bullet which vanished with a brilliant flash of light. The face was chocolate brown and the body was covered with dark hair. The witness was paralysed. Her body went numb and she shook with fear. After the creature left and the paralysis wore off Mrs. Harada picked up her little boy and ran home. Four witnesses hunted for it that night but saw nothing but trampled shrubbery. The smell like a dead body after it starts decomposing was still haniging in the air. This was the legendary “Hibagon”.

Fortunato Zanfretta, twenty-six, a night watchman found himself pushed to the ground by a huge green being that was ten feet tall whose body was a mass of dark fleshy folds and whose oddly shaped head was framed with spikes. There were two horns on either side of the forehead and the face was dominated by two triangular yellow eyes that were inclined upwards. There were luminous wrinkles on the forehead which might have surrounded a third eye. Abruptly it vanished and a huge triangular craft rose into the sky from behind a nearby building with a loud whistling noise. We haven't been to Genoa for years, but we have been here before. In fact we have been to many of our phenomenal sites several times before.

The witness then heard a loud humming noise like a swarm of bees and then saw a powerful light hovering above the eucalyptus trees. The light belonged to a UFO that was twenty to twenty-five metres in diameter. In the middle of the light was an enormous object whose colour kept changing from orange to purple. There was a round cabin with windows and two figures wearing helmets in the cabin. The Hominoids wore dark grey divers suits made of inflated tubes that were joined together to give an accordion effect. A tube from the helmet ran down the Hominoids back. Their faces had slanting eyes and their mouths were thin lines. The craft tilted towards the witness and instruments and dials could be seen inside the cabin. There also seemed to be an emblem or symbol on one side of craft that resembled a Seahorse wearing a crown. A brilliant searchlight then hit the witness and blinded him momentarily. The humming rose in pitch and the UFO took off to the northeast. Immediately after the witness felt a strong tingling sensation in his legs and for several weeks suffered unbearable headaches, violent nausea, and diarrhoea, abnormal loss of hair, swollen red pustules on the back of the neck, difficulty in speaking and his eyes were watering constantly. A new set of teeth were even growing back. At the landing site the tops of the trees were scorched or completely burned and a large number of catfish were found dead in a nearby stream. There was a strong smell of sulphur in the air. A mother cat which had been with the witness came back forty-eight days later suffering scorchmarks to her back. Previously the witness was almost totally illiterate. After the attack he became very worldly in speech and thought and began discussing philosophy, theology and astronomy, including mathematics and has had prophecies of geological cataclysms that were to come. More happy news?

Two boys were plinking with an air rifle in an Arroyo one evening and gradually became aware in the fading light of two huge red eyes staring at them. They looked like bicycle reflectors. One of the boys shot at the eyes with the air rifle. The next thing that they knew both boys had been picked up and dumped unceremoniously into a nearby ravine by an unknown force. A large wooden fencepost came out of the ground and struck one of the boys on the head. Thoroughly cowed the pair headed for their truck where they found that they had lost the ignition keys. They scampered back towards the road attempting to hitchhike towards Beulah. They found that every time they headed west on the road an entity that resembled a mobile haystack with two huge red eyes would materialise and herd them away from the canyon where they had started their adventure.

There was no

Moon and it was raining. Onilson then noticed a bright blue line of light directed at him from the top of a Hill. The light was coming closer and Onilson pulled over. He thought it was an out of control truck. Then he saw an object thirty-five feet up in the sky. The interior of the car got very hot and stuffy ande Onilson opened the car door. It was just as hot outside. Onilson then heard a buzzing noise as the object which resembled two upside down soup plates swooped down at him. The craft was twenty-five thick by thirty-five feet wide. The entire area was illuminated as a transparent curtain slowly encircled the object. The witness thought that he was being kidnapped and panicked and ran for one hundred feet into the woods. He felt as if he was being tied back with a rubber band attached to his body. There was nothing physical holding him or behind him though. Onilson then looked back at the car. A blue -like beam of light seven inches in diameter was coming from the UFOs brim. Wherever it struck the witnesses car it became transparent and the witness fainted. The car's headlights did not go out. Two passing men saw the car with the lights on and the drivers door open and the witnesses body lying down in the rain. They went to the Police as they thought that it might have been a murder or an assault. The witnesses suitcase, the key was still in his pocket, was open and the contents were strewn about the car. There were no wounds on the witness and the car again operated normally. That afternoon in Hospital the witness noticed a small itch on his back and stomach. The next day these areas turned into irregularly shaped purplish blue spots that were large and especially visible on the buttocks and hips. They turned yellow and began to bruise. The witness had a complete medical and the cause was unknown.

There was a foul odour like rotting flesh surrounding them. The creature peered through the rear view window and Ricky, the driver, took off in a hurry. Within the next few hours they saw the creature or its twin three more times, crossing the road in front of their car and later at Ricky's house where it ambled off into the woods. The creature was still shrieking but now in altering tones. It was definitely not Human and was seven feet tall. The creature was covered in short body hair that was matted with river mud. The creature got within twenty feet of them before leaving. Later Police Officers Meryl Lindsay and Jimmie Nash checked the area and found footprints that were impressions in mud ten to twelve inches long by three inches wide. At 2.00 AM the Police returned to the scene and found better defined prints but deeper and smaller. No two were the same distance apart and some were five to six feet apart. Randy Creath and Cheryl Ray saw a Hairy Hominoid in the neighboring yard to Christian Baril when they were sitting on the back porch. It had glowing pink eyes, was white and dirty and appeared to weigh 350 pounds. The creature stood seven feet tall, had a large round head and had arms that were described as ape-length. It was standing in waist-high grass before it ambled off making a considerable noise. Later investigators found a trail of crushed weeds and broken brush as well as imprints in the ground. Cheryl's mother, Mrs Harry Ray, called Police who smelt a strong odour like a sewer for a while. Police Officers Jimmie Nash and Ronald Manwaring arrived and followed its path. They brought a German Shepherd. As they went along the track they found a slimy substance on weeds that left black colouring on their fingers and the dog hesitated each time some slime was found. They went towards a pond and the dog attempted to pull Nellis down the steep embankment. The scrub was too thick to go through and they returned to the Police car with the dog. They then went to another area south of this area. At the end of the first road past the Westwood Hills Turnoff. As the police officers approached an abandoned barn the dog suddenly would not enter. Ms Ringer, 32, a passenger in a semitrailer driving on the Nullarbor Plain had been asleep for an hour when she heard a strange voice call her name. It seemed like telepathy. The voice told her to wake up and look out of the truck window and the witness saw an eggshaped craft surrounded by what appeared to be a forcefield on the ground. There was a figure of a man walking towards the egg and another man sitting inside it. The first man entered the egg and the glow died down leaving only a white light on. The driver pulled up the truck but did not go back to the location.

It was early morning and two Military Policemen, Bart Burns, 22, and Randy shade, 23, saw an odd object hovering at an altitude of 2,000 feet. Then at high rate of speed it suddenly dived for their Patrol Car. The UFO had quick flashing lights on it that were mainly blue, red, white and amber. of the ditch and craft was pacing them all way back to headquarters with the object vanishing shortly before reaching their destination.

The object twisted as it fell and there was a sharp report in the sky and a cloud of smoke as it touched the ground, vanishing in smoke and an explosion as it landed. The object had vanished by the time that it had landed but the soil remained extremely hot for an unusually long period afterwards. Four hours later the temperature at the spot was still three hundred degrees Fahrenheit.

Quartz Hill, near Lancaster, Los Angeles County, California. 17th September 1973. Two young people were in a car when the headlights showed up a Bigfoot standing at the edge of the driveway. The creature had matted hair and footprints were later found.

Saint Joseph, Buchanon County, Missouri. 21st September 1973. Friday. 10.45 pm. The witness was looking out of their front window when a strange flying craft approached at treetop level. The object was a brilliant red and blue bright light and passed over the garage and house and settled above the lawn about six feet from above the garage roof high. There was no sound and the sighting lasted six minutes. The witness was petrified and the UFO hovered perfectly still for a minute or two and then started to rotate. Then a sort of ribbed shield came into view which extended ten inches from the side of the craft rising up and slanting inwards towards the transparent dome. The craft was circular.

Brignoles, Var, France. 23rd September 1973. Sunday. Tens of thousands of little toads and nothing else fell from out of the sky during a freak storm. Why only little toads? Why only little toads in France and frogs everywhere else? Did the French have a first preference for toadfalls so that the rest of us had to be content with frogfalls?

Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. 23rd September 1973. At 9.30 pm two girls were waiting for a lift in a country area when they saw a white, furry creature with bright red eyes that was seven to eight feet tall. What was unusual about this Bigfoot was that it was carrying a luminous sphere in its hand or paw. The girls ran home in shock and told the father of one of them who went into the woods to find the creature. He was away for an hour and forbade anyone to go into the woods. At the same time several people in the area saw a stationary object like an aeroplane above the woods that was shining a bright beam of light down into the trees. After this event the father acquired a book of prophecies and often talked about the end of the world.

hominoid had red glowing eyes in a grey face and pointed ears and a hooked nose as well as long hair . One hand was missing and the creature walked with a limp. Amazingly it could leap forty to fifty feet at a time. The creature had a medallion on its chest that it seemed to be using for communicating. There were many witnesses from the 21st to 26th of September including a radio disc- jockey and his friends who saw it. One of the witnesses fired five or six shots at it. Previously volcanic ash from a possibly nonexistent volcano fell at Summerville near here in 1876 .

Beaver County, Pennsylvania. 26th September 1973. Two teenage girls saw a seven to eight foot tall Bigfoot with white hair. This particular creature was running into the woods whilst holding a luminous sphere in one of its' hands. Is it getting weirder? Penn, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. September 1973. Three women in a car saw a UFO land. The UFO was large, metallic and rectangular and a ramp came down from it and down this ramp came three Hairy Hominoids that were seven feet tall. They ran into the woods and the UFO took off. Were they delivering biological probes?

Tabor City, Columbus County, North Carolina. late September 1973. The family of Rose Williamson were living in a trailer park four miles north of Tabor City. Several times they saw two Spacecreatures roaming around the neighborhood. They were seven to eight feet tall. And were dressed in brown shirts with black pants that were ragged at the bottom. They had also been seen in the area the previous year. A tall Hairy Hominoid was also seen that had big red eyes that glowed in the dark.

Albany, Clinton County, Kentucky. September 1973. Many individual farmer witnesses saw a Hairy Hominoid with a long black bushy tail. The creature also had its mate and cub with it on one occasion. The creature was three feet tall at the shoulders when walking on all fours and six feet tall when walking upright on two legs. The tail was catlike and it also had mule like ears, an Apish-human-like face and it left three-toed tracks. The longtailed creature was also seen to be eating scraps by houses' backdoors.

Albany, Clinton County, Kentucky. September 1973. Rick Hall saw a catlike animal that was very cunning, agile and strong and left ten to fifteen feet between footprints. The creature could toss around a 300 pound sow with ease and had wiped out two herds of pigs, a calf and a dog. All wildlife had suddenly moved off the Mountain. Dogs would not track it and the tracks were 3-toed. Rick saw the Hairy Hominoid with a long black bushy tail also had its mate and cub with it on one occasion. It was three feet tall at the shoulders when walking on all fours and six feet tall when walking upright on two legs. The tail was catlike and it also had mule like ears, an Apish-Human like face and left three toed tracks.

Albany, Clinton County, Kentucky. September 1973. An aunt of Rick Hall's girlfriend saw ananimal eating old table scraps outside her backdoor. She shot at it six times with a pistol and seventeen times with .22 rifle but mysteriously missed at close range. Latrobe, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. September 1973. A catlike creature that seemed to have its hands or paws turned on backwards was seen.

Near Latrobe, Westmoreland County, Pennsylvania. September 1973. A woman was woken at 2.00 am and saw a dog attacking a Bigfoot which then broke clear and ran away with tremendous leaps. It's not very often that the dog wins. And what relationship is there to the cat creature also seen in the area? Are they one and the same? Throw in luminous spheres and UFOs and it gets quite interesting. Are we still talking psychological camouflage? Meaning that the more absurd the disguise the more unbelievable the witness?

Woodinville, King County, Washington State. September 1973. A man met a six to seven foot tall Bigfoot that was running down the road towards him with its arms up in the air. Was it trying to get his attention? What happened next? Did they dance or did the man run back as fast as he could to where he had come from?

Frederick, Frederick County, Maryland.. Autumn. October 1973. Mike Bershad was driving on Route 40 heading for Baltimore. He had been visiting his girlfriend. Suddenly he was overwhelmed by a feeling that he was being watched. It took a long time to go home and he wished that his car could go faster. Mike could not exactly remember whether he had seen a light in the sky or had pulled the car over for no known reason but was disturbed by this. Under regressive hypnosis Bershad remembered that he had pulled over and got out of the car. Some black clad figures with chalky putty white skin then emerged from behind a fence and then placed a brass clamp over his shoulder that held his head in place. The brass clamp was connected to a Flying Saucer. Bershad was then led up a ramp into the humming craft. After walking around for a while he found himself lying on a table in a round white room Mike remembered that he was wearing a kind of nappy. A round metal bulb which was extended on an arm from the ceiling seemed to soothe him and all sorts of blades and other instruments stuck out of it and one of them dug into his back painfully. Then the Hominoids pushed a tube into his stomach and stirrups grabbed his thighs before lifting and spreading his legs while a Hominoid examined what was between them. The Hominoids are quite fascinated with our genitalia.

Rainbow Lake, Rockingham County, New Hampshire. 1st October 1973. John Hanson, 68, saw two UFOs land onto Rainbow Lake. There were other individual witnesses as well. Remember, they landed on the lake and not into the lake.

In the Doctor Rock area near Big Flat in Curry County near Brookings in Oregon Mr. Rick Blagden, a hunter, saw a dark coloured barrel chested Bigfoot that was six foot plus tall and watching him from a close-standing position. After watching Rick for a while the creature slowly walked away. Are the west coast Bigfeet normal creatures, of sorts, and the east coast ones, especially in Pennsylvania, visitors? Or are they all visitors? Some better at using their camouflage than others? This was early in October 1973.

Galveston, Cass County, Indiana. early October 1973. A sandy coloured haircovered Hominoid was seen watching a fisherman on a lake. The witness was Jeff Martin or Jim Mays, one name could be a pseudonym, who was only twenty feet away. The Hairy Hominoid approached the witness and touched the witness's shoulder and then ran away in leaps and bounds. The witness heard its feet slapping on the ground. The manbeast was very fast. Soon after a glowing bronze object rose up from behind some trees a short distance away. We do not know what the witness's reaction was though! Cheeky Chewbacca!

Galveston, Cass County, Indiana. early October 1973. Jeff Martin, the original witness from the previous sighting where the sandy coloured Hairy Hominoid was seen to touch a Fisherman, was with his fiancee, her father and two friends, when they saw the Hairy Hominoid again. They threw rocks at it but they seemed to have no effect on it. Was eight to nine feet tall and standing motionless in the tall growth. The witnesses had originally seen a strange white light low in the sky.

Inside a rotating transparent plastic bubble on top of the triangular object was a Hominoid in a silver wet suit. It glanced at Chopic who then leaped from sight. The bubble began to rotate faster as it went into the object. There was a whirring sound as a fog engulfed it and it disappeared. There is that convenient fog again.

They saw a Greyhound bus and several cars that were pulled up to the side of the Highway. They then saw a group of people standing by the side of the road who were watching a flying disc surrounded by a glistening vapour. It vanished at 1,200 feet and vapour drifted towards the ground. After a minute or two it evaporated but none hit the ground. Is the fog part of the rematerializing and dematerializing process? In earlier times this would have been called transmogrification.

Saint Mathias-sur-Richelieu, Quebec, Canada. 6th October 1973. A man and wife saw a bright spotlight bouncing over the ground and thought they were cattle rustlers. Next morning he watched an orange-yellow dome-shaped tent hover near a cloud of smoke one quarter of a mile away. Later he saw what appeared to be a small bulldozer a quarter of the size of the UFO and five scouts near it heading towards a spring. They wore bright yellow clothes and helmets and ran between the two objects. Afterwards the grass was found matted at the landing site.

Petal, Forrest County, Missouri. 9th October 1973. Constable Charlie Delk chased a UFO for over thirty miles. The chase was interrupted when the car and its radio both went dead at the same time and then started up again. The object vanished after doing a double flip. The object had at first been seen hovering over Petal High School. It was top-shaped and had yellow lights all the way around it. Near the Jones-Forrest County line it slowed down and some lights came out of its side like blowtorches. Then it went north toward Tallahalla Swamp and the car died.

Jimmy Fisher saw a big silvery hamburger-shaped UFO hovering 400 to 500 feet above his house. Fifteen or more witnesses were watching the craft including a Police unit including Lieutenant Robert Lonardo and Captain Huey Farrell. Lonardo had a tape-recorder and switched it on when the UFO made a noise like a generator hum that was rising in pitch and intense energy. The noise was a cross between tyres at high speed and noise inside a tornado. There were several sightings over the next few days.

Pascagoula, Pascagoula River, Jackson County, Mississippi. 11th October 1973. Thursday. There were individual sightings of hovering UFOs in the Pascagoula area.

Connorsville, Fayette County, Indiana. 11th October 1973. 7.30 pm. Bill Tremper and fifty others saw an oval object cross the sky. It hovered over a restricted area which was a Government owned ammunition dump. Then it was hidden for thirty minutes before rising and taking off to the northeast.

October 11 was certainly getting busy! When we look at the events later that same day in the same area could we safely assume that this wrinkled grey man was possibly an alien?

Laurel, Franklin County, Indiana. 11th October 1973. 8.00 pm. Randi Stevens, Joel Burns, and three others spotted a UFO like two saucers joined at the rim. The bottom was divided into three equal segments and it hovered until a truckdriver climbed into his cab and blew his horn.

Pascagoula, Pascagoula River, Jackson County, Mississippi. 11th October 1973. It was 9.00 pm on a Thursday and Charles Hickson, 42 or 45, and Calvin Parker, nineteen, were fishing on a pier on the west bank of the Pascagoula River in Pascagoula. A bright blue light attracted their attention when a strange zipping noise filled the air and a luminous silvery saucer was seen to land 40 feet from the pier that the two men were on. It made a whirring noise and was blue grey and hovering one foot above the river. There was no wind or blast from it and it was eight feet across and eight and a half feet high. It had two portholes on one side and no seams or rivets and had oscillating lights. One end of the egg-shaped object opened and three hominoids floated out of it. They were pale and fuzzy and ghostlike and were five feet tall, naked and with their skin hanging in folds like an elephants's skin. There were no eyes but a narrow slit and there were sharp pronounced noses and no lips. The hominoids had long arms that ended in lobsterlike claws and oddly enough the legs looked fused together. The hominoids legs stayed together and did not move. They made a buzzing sound. Two of the hominoids approached and grabbed Hickson and took him to the ship. Parker fainted. Both men later found themselves on board the ship. The had moved whilst they were unconscious. Whilst Parker remained unconcious Hickson could only move his eyes as he was laid down in midair. An optical device like an eye came out of the wall and examined him. No pain was felt and Parker floated. The eye scanned the front of Hicksons body who was in a separate room to Parker and was examined lying face down. The hominoids turned him over and he was moved to a 45 degree angle and the eye still examined him.When he was handled the hominoids were very gentle. At one point he was left alone in the room. The hominoids then returned and took him back to the original spot where they had been on the pier. He seemed to float down. Parker was returned at the same time and could hardly speak. The UFO vanished. The hominoids hands were like pincers or claws and they seemed to act more like robots rather than sentient beings. There were also independent sightings of UFOs over Pascagoula that night as well as the rest of Jackson County.

Pascagoula, Pascagoula River, Jackson County, Mississippi. 11th October 1973. 9.00 pm. Thursday. The same night as the abduction of Parker and Hickson Mr Larry Booth who ran a service station near the Pascagoula River was at his home when he saw an object drifting in the air at thirty to forty miles per hour. It had lights all around it and was spinning and was so close that had it been a helicopter it would have jarred everybody in the neighborhood. There was no sound coming from it at all.

Langford Budville, near Wellington, Somerset, England. 16th October 1973. 11.15 pm. A female witness, 33, was travelling in a car on B3187. Suddenly a light appeared in a field to her right to the southwest and the car started failing with the headlights going out. The car coasted to a halt and the witness got out and looked under her bonnet. She heard a faint humming noise and the glow was still in the field. The witness was scared and slammed the bonnet down. Suddenly she felt a force hitting her shoulder which pushed her downwards. She then saw a tall metallic man and lost consciousness. The tall robot had a light flashing on its head. There was timeloss and she briefly recalled being outside a metal disc with a flat base and a dome on top. A yellowish glow issued from the windows and the woman woke to find herself in a room strapped down to a table. There was a metallic man there like a Robot who was standing in a corner. Three normal height men wearing skullcaps, facemasks and light blue apron-like clothes stood next to her whilst the third performed a medical examination all over her body by moving glowing different coloured cubes on a guiderail around the bed. A fairskinned round-eyed man did the examination. He had an instrument in his hand which moved over her body. The witness was naked and the room was icy cold. A pencil-like device was used to prod her fingernails and blood samples were taken. A suction device was placed over her reproductive organs causing a pulling sensation. She felt sick and had a sore throat. One man returned, after they had left her, stared at her lower regions and placed a small pin in her thigh which made the witness go numb. She was paralysed and her eyes were closed. She was then raped. Immediately after this the pin was removed and she was helped off the table by the men. Later the witness came to fully clothed and standing next to her car which started again. The witness eventually got home at 2.30 am.

Drumright, Creek County, Oklahoma. 16th October 1973. Monday. William Hatchett and his wife Donna Hatchett were travelling on the Highway when they spotted a bright blue light to the south which was coming closer and began pacing the car. The light began descending and came towards them. Near the front of the truck was a blinding white light making a low pitched hum. When Donna climbed out of the truck William warned her to come back. She had begged William to stop the truck. She came back but got out twice more. When she returned Hatchett tried to escape. The UFO flew off in the opposite direction, gaining altitude but not much speed. The witnesses reported the pacing light to the Police in Drumright. The witnesses believed that the occupants of the UFO knew what they were thinking.

Albany, Athens County, Ohio. 16th October 1973. 7.30 pm. Monday. Mary Geddis, 21, was returning to her trailer home when she saw a tall ghostlike thing 1,000 feet away that was hovering fifty feet above the ground. It was like a person with a close-fitting sheet wrapped around it and it was four feet tall and thin with no limbs visible. The body was straight and there was a white light jetting about behind it. The light passed a side window and kept getting closer and closer. As the witness turned away the light flew low over a field and faded away. The light was twenty feet in diameter and hovering at twenty-five to thirty feet. Mary was still standing next her car when Joe Ben-Israel, her defacto, returned home. The light was also seen by the neighbours Chuck and Rhonda. Joe went outside to talk to them and just then Mary saw a little aqua thing looking in around the corner of the trailer door. It was like a little electric man and stared at Mary for ten seconds. The little man had spiky things at the top and sides of its' head and was 2.5 feet tall with stumpy arms but no legs were visible. The eyes were unblinking. Oddly enough the creature was almost transparent. There were many individual witnesses of the UFO .

Saint Joseph, Champaign County, Illinois. 16th October 1973. Four youths, Bill Duncan, Bob Summers, Daryl Mowry and Craig Flenniken, encountered a hairy Gorilla-like creature on the road south of town. Originally they stopped their car to investigate what they thought was a campfire near the bridge on Salt Fork. One of the boys lit a match that clearly showed the five foot tall creature only fifteen feet away. The witnesses fled.

Peetersburg Pike, near Boston, Summit County, Ohio. 16th October 1973. There were reports of a flashing hovering oblong object with blinking lights in the area. One was reported to have landed and killed a couple of cows. Does this sound like a repeat? It probably is.

Chattanooga, Hamilton County, Tennessee. 17th October 1973. A thirty to forty foot long by ten foot wide cigar-shaped flying object was seen by more than two dozen witnesses including the Police. Police Sergeant Lester Shell, 47, and Patrolman Harry Jarret, 35, got to within 100 yards of it as it was hovering twenty feet above the ground. It glowed a brilliant blue-white more intense than any airplane. Eventually it took off silently and slowly and straight up.

Lehi, Utah County, Utah. 17th October 1973. Ms Pat Roach, a divorcee, and her children Bonnie Roach, 13, and Debbie Roach, 6. Just after Midnight Pat was awakened when two of her daughters told her that Spacemen had been in the house. She disbelieved them though they checked out the area and neighborhood. They then spent the night with friends. Under hypnosis two years later she recalled that two smallish Hominoids were standing near the couch when she woke up. They reached down, touched her arms and lifted her up. She saw some of the children in the room struggling with the other Hominoids. They were lifted slowly and then were then floating in the waiting craft. Inside the ship Pat was separated from the children and taken to a metal table. She seemed to float as she was given a gynaecological examination. She was questioned about her past and her emotions and shown some technology. Pat was then given her clothes and told to dress. Her daughter Debbie said that they had been on a machine run by an Indian girl. Debbie also saw several of the neighbours standing in line to get on the ship. Bonnie remembered her mother being examined and remembered seeing a human Doctor working with the Aliens. He had regular ears. The Hominoids were small with large heads, big eyes, pasty white faces and long three fingered hands. They wore shiny suits like uniforms and a cap or helmet hid the top of their heads. They had small brown belts with chest straps that held small packs and they all wore gloves. One female had long hair and wore a long skirt and a headband. The human was balding and greying. Is this a posible shared hallucination? Except that you can't share them? Is this a possible shared self-created dominating reality? Or a fusion of several different self-created realities?

Watauga, Washington County, Tennessee. 17th October 1973. A copper-coloured UFO was seen hovering just above the ground. A tall creature with claw-like hands and wide blinking eyes reached out to grab two children.

Police Chief Jeff Greenhaw was in his patrol car responding to a woman in a house who had telephoned him to come and look at a Spaceship with flashing lights that had landed in a field west of the city. Jeff took a camera. A landed UFO with an attendant was reported in the backyard of the woman’s house. Jeff had seen the UFO on his way to investigate. The UFO was on the side of the road and the Hominoid was like the metal Mercury. The light reflected off different angles as it walked and it looked like it was made of tinfoil type stuff. The witness photographed the Hominoid four times and turned on the blue flashing light on the roof of the patrol car. The Hominoid then dashed off, walking stiffly like a robot and moving very fast. Later Jeff’s house burnt down and his car blew up. A photograph of the Hominoid had been taken.

Highway 29, near Danielsville, Madison County, Georgia. 17th October 1973. Paul Brown saw a bright light making a swishing sound pass over his car. He was forced to stop his car as the coneshaped UFO landed on the road 300 feet in front of him. The panic-stricken witness jammed on the brakes and skidded to a halt. Two creatures wearing silver suits and white gloves then appeared. Paul grabbed his pistol and stepped out of his car to challenge the oncoming beings. When they spotted the witness they returned to their craft and took off. Brown fired several shots from his revolver at them. They then re-entered the craft and took off back into the sky again with a whooshing noise after shutting off its lights.

Chatham, Pittsylvania County, Virginia. 18th October 1973. Two youths reported that they were chased by a white Hominoid three or four feet tall with a large head and no eyes which ran sideways. A hazy green cloud was seen drifting away and there were UFO reports in the area.

Ruston, Lincoln County, Louisianna. 18th October 1973. Angel hair fell from a clear sky. Glistening fibres were festooning trees and powerlines during a UFO flap. Shreveport is 104 kilometres from Ruston. They were both maifesting the same phenomena.

Between Columbus and Cleveland Ohio on the night of 18th October 1973 Lt. Colonel Larry Coyle and the crew of a U. S. Army utility helicopter saw a UFO. At first it appeared to be an aircraft with a bright red light that demonstrated erratic manouvres that was at first seen to the helicopters west and then to the east. Later the UFO was observed approaching the helicopter on a perpendicular course and was travelling at around 600 knots. Pilot in Command Coyle radioed Mansfield Approach Control on VHF radio and requested any information on high performance aircraft in the area. His call sign was agknowledged with a request for the message to be repeated. Nothing further was received. No communication was established. Coyne anticipated impact with the UFO. Later during the encounter Coyne noticed that while the helicopter was set for a 600 metre per minute descent the vertical velocity indicator showed that they were in fact climbing at one thousand feet per minute! He checked this by looking out of his window checking the ground to see that he was actually climbing. During this keytones and channel tones were heard on the radio but communication could not be established. The helicopter was bathed in green light coming from the craft which was fifty to 60 feet long and grey and metallic with no wings. Coyne noticed that his instrument panel magnetic compass was spinning. The encounter ended at an altitude of 3800 feet when a bump was felt and the UFO moved away. Coyne was terrified and at no time was there any other noise than that of the helicopter.

Covedale, West Cincinatti, Hamilton County, Ohio. 21st October 1973. Sunday. 2.30 am. Mrs Rose lived in a trailer court and got out from her bed to get a drink of water. There was an intense light coming through the windows that attracted her attention and Mrs. Rose opened the curtains. She saw a row of six individual lights forming an arc six feet from her window that were a silvery-blue colour, self luminous and hovering four feet off the ground. No light was cast on the ground below though. Mrs. Rose then saw another light further out over the carpark that resembled a seven foot tall bell-shaped vessel and to her amazement she saw an apelike creature inside it. The light moved to the rear of a parked car as if doing something to it. Mrs. Rose then dashed into her son Carl's bedroom. The creature was standing in the light 35 feet from the car and she could see that it was grey in colour and looking at a warehouse building. The face was featureless except for a downward sloping snout and it had no neck. The manbeasts' arms were moving up and down stiffly and the elbows never bent. It looked like a hairy robot. Mrs. Rose phoned the Police and heard a loud boom noise when the UFO took off.

The Donathans reported to the matter to the Police.

Hartford City, Blackford County, Indiana. 22nd October 1973. 9.45 pm. Monday. Gary Flatter and Deputy Sheriff Ed Townsend were in their patrolcar on State Road 26 when they had to suddenly brake hard to avoid hitting seven rabbits, a raccoon, a possum and several cats which were crossing the road. There was also a highpitched noise at the time. The animals had emerged from a nearby field. Flatter got out to investigate and glanced over a hedge after the Deputy Sheriff had gone back to town. A pair of four foot tall men were standing on the other side of the hedge. They were moving clumsily and wearing silversuits and they hhey had egg-shaped heads and were wearing gasmasks. The field had just been ploughed and the hominoids were ascending into the air and then descending again and were doing this very slowly and eventually they flew off. Strange heel prints were found in the area and occasionally a weird highpitched noise was heard as well. Flatter was answering the call from the Donathan family.

Sudbury, Middlesex County, Massachusetts. 22nd October 1973. A woman saw a shining globular UFO in the sky at the same time that she saw sparkling fibres on the wires and leaves. The woman collected them and put samples of them in a sealed jar in her refrigerator. Analysis showed that it was not spiderwebs and its' origin was unknown. The UFO vanished to the west in a clear sky and the sighting lasted half an hour. The fibres were sticky and became entangled when disturbed. In time the fibres shrank away or evaporated and no remains were found in the sealed bottle. Analysis at the University of Massachusetts confirmed that it was not spiderwebs.

Uniontown, near Greensburg, Fayette County, Pennsylvania. 25th October 1973. Thursday. 9.00 pm. Fifteen people saw a hovering red ball of light which landed in a field. The ball of light was the size of a barn and dome-shaped. A man and twin ten year old boys went to investigate the strange light that maade a noise like a lawnmower. One of the boys then saw a pair of eight foot tall Hominoids with glowing green eyes. The male witness fired a gun at them. There was also a smell of burning rubber and sulphur. The creatures whined together and were immune to gunfire and eventually the smell of Sulphur filled the air. The witnesses became physically distressed, lightheaded and had difficulty breathing. Then the older male witness temporarily went “animal” before passing out exhausted after running around the field growling as well as attacking two investigating witnesses. Other reports state that the man and the twins were watching the sphere when they saw two Bigfeet walking by a fence. Take your pick. It is not the first time for either combination, especially in Pennsylvania. Incidentally on 26th November 1956 a fireball had crashed into the same township and hit a gasoline line.

Skaneatles, Onondaga County, New York. 27th October 1973. Two men fishing in a Lake were disturbed by a large stone falling near them which was followed by a second and then a third falling stone. Each stone was progressively larger.They searched the locality with their torches and found nothing. A rain of small pebbles forced them to pack up and followed them as they ran to their car. Later, when they stopped to change their clothes a rock shower started again and also happened when they later stopped for a drink. They were bombarded as they left the bar. As they parted company in front of one of their homes the stones fell in torrents. Had anyone else seen or felt these stone falls? Were they game to report the fact? Was it one large shower that the men were actually traversing that only appeared to be selective at the time? There are no other witnesses though which one would expect if it were a geographically lengthened area of occurrence.

On 27th October 1973 the state of Florida was shaken by a skyquake that shook buildings in four counties. This was three days after skyquakes had struck Pennsylvania, Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana on 24th October at 9.00 pm when windows were rattled over a wide area. Earthquakes are rare in Florida due to its limestone foundation that cushions shocks.

Also on 27th October 1973 a building was hit by a falling meteorite in Canon City in Fremont County in Colorado. Had invisible meteorites or somesuch been causing the skyquakes?

Villa Bordeau, El Cholo, near Bahia Blanca, Argentina. 28th October 1973. 1.00 am. Dionisio Llanca, 25, a truckdriver, was fixing a flat tyre when the ground around him brightened up with a blue glow. Suddenly he was struck by a yellow beam of light that paralysed him. They were of normal height and had squeaky voices. Dionisio felt something prick his finger and then felt at peace. He was carried onto a strange craft on a beam of light and a blood sample was taken from his finger. Dionisio passed out and woke up three days later in a vacant field. He was taken to Hospital and was found to have traumatism of his skull and right temporal forehead along with total Amnesia.

Descending directly in front of her was a bright orange glowing honeycomb-like aerial object with a spherical shape that had an oval window. At the same time it was making a highpitched buzzing noise and Lyndia felt her body tingling as if she was going to sleep. Then a strange pulling force took over her body. She then saw a figure staring at her from a transparent section of the hovering craft that was covered with wrinkled grey skin and had large slanted eyes like cat. The body was darker than the face. Lyndia then heard in her head telepathy “Don’t be afraid”. There was a short point where she experienced loss of memory and then suddenly realised that her car was travelling at high speed and she was convinced that she was about to be captured. Her hands seemed to be stuck to the steering wheel but Lyndia covered her eyes and yanked the car wheel and swerved across the road onto the lawn of Mr and Mrs Beaudoin who sheltered her and also saw the craft in the distance along with Officer Daniel Jubinville who had responded to the call from the Beaudoin’s. When he had arrived he had turned off the lights and engine of Lyndia’s car which suggested that it had been abandoned quickly. He also noted in his report that the witness was badly frightened by something.

Rex had a .38 calibre pistol but was shaking too much to hold it and followed the dog into the house from where he watched the Hominoids through a window. The Hominoids had pointed ears, dark egg-shaped recesses for eyes and were 4.5 to five feet tall. The hominoids had large pointed noses, no mouths and wore Klan type hoods the same colour as their suits and were picking things from the garden and putting them in a silver bag with slow deliberate motions. An eerie glow filled the yard. Afterwards the hominoids walked off into the nearby woods. Rex and Theresa Snow were originally startled by a brushing sound against their window.

The hominoid wore a transparent globular helmet and had two very large oval-shaped eyes. There was a tube that ran from the rear of the helmet to a rectangular box on its' back. The hominoid also wore a belt as well as a small bright red sparkling square box on his stomach as well as baggy trousers that were tucked into their boots. There was a luminous halo around its' head and it held an instrument like a metal detector and was passing it over a heap of brick bats. The Hominoid waddled as the witness flashed his torch twice towards the Hominoid who turned his whole body around. There was no nose or mouth, pointed ears and a black face. The hominoid made a Vee signal with the index and second finger of his right hand before turning and walking up a wall and was then perpendicular to the surface of it. The hominoids legs were held stiffly as it walked up the wall which was three metres high. Four minutes later the witness heard a noise like a cricket. A round object was hovering above the wall where it stayed for four minutes. The craft was five metres in diameter with the upper part half orange and phosphorescent. A transparent cupola in its centre emitted a green light and the lower half was a dark claret colour.

Blue, yellow and red lights flashed on from its left in sequence three times and there was a shower of sparks on the periphery. There was a Hominoid in the cupola and below the cupola there was an emblem of a black circle traversed diagonally by a yellow lightning flash on an orange ground.At a height of twenty metres the craft began rocking gently and the chirring noise changed to a hiss. 1974

Warneton, West Vlaanderen, Belgium. 7th January 1974. 8.40 pm. The male witness, 31, was in a car when suddenly the headlights went out and the car engine cut out after misfiring. The radio died. The witness was about to step out when he saw an object 150 metres away on his right. The object had areas of orangish-white light and was standing on three legs resembling the tin hat that British Soldiers wore during World War One. Two Hominoids were standing thirty metres away from it and began approaching the car. They were walking rigidly and slowly and halted fifteen metres away before then continuing. There was a smaller hominoid like the man in the French Michelin advertisement. It wore a round helmet on its' head with a large window and held a ruler- like object with a pointed Pyramidal tip in its' right hand and pointed it at the car. The second Hominoid was taller at 1.2 metres tall and wore a cubic helmet over a head like an inverted pear. The skin was grayish with two circular eyes like marbles sunken into the eyesockets. It also had eyebrows, a small nose, a slitlike mouth with no lips and a face the same as the other hominoid. There were perfectly round eyes like agate marbles and they were deeply set. There was no tongue or teeth when the mouth was open and there was a black rectangular box beneath the chin. The hominoid wore a dull metallic grey suit that was onepiece including footwear like boots that were heavy and pointed. There was a tube above the cube helmet. The second Hominoid was athletic, broad shouldered, had narrow hips and wore a black belt at the waist with a phosphorescent oval buckle. There was a black strap from the belt to the left shoulder starting from the base of the helmet. There were two rows of buttons down each side of the shirt and its arms hung down to its knees. The Witness then felt a shock in the back part of his cranium and sensed a lowpitched modulated sound which grew louder. It was a loudening modulated sound. The Hominoids were now four metres away. There was a third Hominoid near the craft. Suddenly both Hominoids turned their heads towards the left and the sound stopped. Both Hominoids then pivoted on one leg and turned their back to the witness and set off briskly to the craft. They were unhampered by the wet sticky soil of the field and went into the craft which took off immediately. A car was approaching behind the witness whose driver also saw the Hominoids entering the departing craft. The second cars engine had faltered but not the lights. The witnesses car started again. The UFO was 2.5 metres high by seven to ten metres wide and was originally orange white, then reddish and electric blue till takeoff.

Fort Lauderdale, Broward County, Florida. 9th January 1974. In the early hours of the morning Richard Lee Smith reported in to the police that he had run over a giant black man seven to eight feet tall on Hollywood Boulevarde. Trooper Johnson was dispatched to the scene and examined the car the front of which was damaged and had bloodstains and coarse dark hair stuck to it. Smith told the trooper that he had overtaken a huge man wearing dark clothing and as he came alongside the man lurched in front of the car and rolled under the front. The driver stopped and whilst shocked saw the man rise up slowly to a height of seven to eight feet, make a roaring noise and lurch towards him. Richard jumped into his car and took off. Soon other police were receiving calls and there was a full scale hunt underway. At 2.12 am patrolman Robert Hollemayal saw a creature coming down the road towards him and leaving his car ordered it to halt. When he shone his light onto it he was amazed to see a manlike creature over seven feet tall, covered in dark grey hair and with long swinging arms. object was a blue-green streak of light travelling across the sky and looked like a great ball of fire that seemed to hang in the sky for the duration of the earthquake. No traces were ever found and it did not seem to hit the Earth though it appeared large enough and near enough. Police could not find any wreckage of a plane crash or anything else that could have collided with the mountain. Other reports state that the object crashed into the mountain. What was the connection ? Seismologists at the Insititute of Geological Science in Edinburgh reported an earth tremor in this area at magnitude 3.54 on the Richter Scale. The same type of event occurred again here on 6th August 1976.

Leek, Staffordshire, England. January 1974. 9.30 pm. A man, 20, and his Fiancee,20, were driving in their car near Werrington. The witnesses stopped the car and inexplicably got out. Above them hovered a black oval shape shining two lightbeams downwards. The green one lit the road and the blue one the car, an Austin 1100. The lights then drew together and encircled the car. The witnesses then panicked and dived into their car and took off. They followed the light and suddenly there was a bump when they crossed a cattle grate at Ilam in Derbyshire. It was now 1.30 am and they had no memories of what happened. A few minutes later there was another bump. They were now in Macclesfield in Cheshire and it was now 3.30 am. They were now twenty miles from the previous occasion. They then asked the Police to send a patrolcar around to the female witnesses parents' house to tell them they would be another hour. Several hours were missing.

three huge round craft came in over the Pilon's car and they broke formation. One went straight over the car and the other two went east and west. They flew out, regrouped and vanished over the Mountain Range over which they had first appeared. As the lead object passed over the Pilon's car the glow intensified and then diminished as the craft took off. This happened next to the New Jersey Power and Light Company Station.

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Lunham had three months of sightings of a UFO in connection with the lake since the November sightings. In mid-February 1974 they saw the UFO which they had been seeing almost nightly move over the lake and head towards their house. Midway the craft began to glow with a brilliant white light lasting a second or two and produced so much heat that the frost on the windows melted that were facing it. Mrs. Lunham went to wipe up the water but the windows were too hot to touch. Outside it was twenty degrees below zero. Over the three months of sightings the Boshkung Lake UFO was described as cigar and pollywog shaped and sometimes flashing amber, red, blue or white lights and would appear over the lake at sundown. Sometimes singly and sometimes in pairs which quite often appeared to be flashing to each other.

The hominoids made gestures as if to eat and the two helmets faced each other suddenly. They gave a piece of a substance to the witness who ate it. It was brown and tasteless and after eating it the Hominoids departed. Landing marks were found later with the grass all squashed and flat. avoid it. He recovered awareness later outside his home at Lindholmen. His wife found him upset with cuts and a slight burn and he was bleeding from a wound on his forehead. Only days later under hypnosis he remembered being abducted onto a landed UFO. Anders described being sucked up before hitting the ground and then arriving in a strange room with six foot tall entities. He had an instrument placed against his skin and a mental block preventing further recall except of a promised return visit. He was then dropped off at home. The ball was emmitting a series of subtle autonomous vibrations or possible radio waves and when placed on the edge of a rectangular table it would amazingly roll back in rectangular circuits until it came to rest in the centre of the table. It also rolled backwards, forwards, and sideways on the glass. The metallic ball was seamless and of a noncorrosive metal which under X-ray revealed four smaller balls strangely suspended inside. It weighed 1.3 kilogrammes. The ball also had magnetic poles and was perfectly balanced. The ball could chime in with a strummed guitar with metallic tones of its own. No one knew who manufactured it.

The Hominoids passed within two metres when he saw them. They were two metres tall, had arms and legs but he could not see their faces. After they passed him he returned to his truck. The Hominoids returned to observe him again and then returned to their craft and next day the Guardia Civil investigated and found a hole in the ground that the truckdriver said he had not made.

There were yellow, red and green lights rotating clockwise along its horizontal plane every twenty seconds. There were three Hominoids inside in front of the dome. They wore big greyish round helmets, opaque, at the base of which was a protuberance that Frogmen have. The front Hominoid looked at the witnesses. Suddenly three to four jets blazed out beneath the craft in phase with regular pulsating. The UFO suddenly made a whizzing noise and the light increased as did the speed of rotation as the craft took off to the northeast near the river Po towards Valenza-Milan.

Umvuma, Zimbabwe. 30th May 1974. 2.30 am. Peter and and his wife Frances were driving to Durban, South Africa. They were 400 kilometres from their home travelling via Beit Bridge when they saw a bluish tinge in the sky that was pacing the car. At first it was pulsing. First on for five seconds and then off for two seconds. Then the object closed in on them and as it approached their lights began to fail and the car turned very cold. Peter turned the heater on. Now there was an immense light around the car like Neon lights. Peter took his feet off the pedals but the car kept going as if under remote control. At one point they appeared to be driving through a landscape that they both knew did not exist along that route. They had passed only empty buses parked in laybys and there were no other vehicles. It was a holiday weekend and it was a main Highway yet there was no sign of the rest of the traffic to be expected. The UFO vanished as the witnesses pulled up in Fort Victoria for petrol at 4.30 am. It was a warm night but the car was still cold. They left at 5.30 am and the UFO reappeared with another one. They went through a Swamp for miles and the ground was wet though normally it was sparse and dry. It was normally very dry ground but looked lush and tropical. There were no engine noises and no insect sounds though the radio was still on. The car was doing 190 kilometres per hour and still seemed to be under remote control. The road appeared dead straight to Beit Bridge like it was a straight ribbon. It was normally winding. There was no dawn. It was just grey and the radio died by 5.45 AM. Frances fell asleep by 6.15 AM. The car lights were not onfor most of the trip. Frances woke 7.00 am. The clock in the border post showed 8.30 am yet the car clock and watches showed 7.30 am. The radio was switched on and the radio time check was 7.30 am. There was timeloss. The witnesses were still cold though the border guards were in Safari suits. The speedometer trip meter showed only seventeen kilometers though the trip was actually 288 kilometres. They had last tanked up at Fort Victoria yet it only took 22 cents worth of petrol at the bridge for less than two litres. The retreads on the car were not even worn. The witnesses had seen a Hominoid in a metallic suit at 2.30 AM ten kilometres south of Umvuma. The suit appeared plasticky but the witnesses could not account for the lost time.

It had not been working well since the last visit. The witness pulled up next to the Hominoids and was so close that they could touch paintwork. Again the witness felt a shock to the back of his head. There was a modulated sound for two to three minutes and then the Hominoids vanished as though disintegrating. After this the cassette player started on its own and the witness started the engine.there was no visible craft in the field.

Goulburn, New South Wales. Australia. 7th June 1974. 11.00 pm. An elderly farmer saw an object land and three to four men in silvery suits came out and unloaded items from the craft. She was only three feet from the diving platform when a huge heavy unknown bumped against her legs. She was suddenly startled and became frightened and lunged for the platform and climbed aboard. From there she looked into the clear water and saw a strange animal fifteen to twenty feet away. She could see a hump or coil which was eight feet long and four feet above the water and moving in a forward direction to the north. Five to ten feet behind the hump about five to eight feet below the surface she could see its' tail which was forked and horizontal like a whale's tail which was four to six feet wide. As the hump submerged the tail came to the surface and poked up one foot. The sighting lasted for four to five minutes. The creature was a very dark dull gray colour and moved in an undulating manner and the head seemed to join the body without a neck like a snake.

Harrison Lake, Westminster County, British Columbia, Canada. 18th July 1974. Wayne Jones and thirty youth project boys on camp. A seven to eight foot tall Hairy Hominoid approached to within twenty-five feet of Wayne. It wandered here and there for five minutes licking mud off its fingers as Wayne sat at the campfire. The older boys were tying up boats at the lakeside and when they returned they flashed their torches which frightened away the animal which made loud sounds as it crashed away through the undergrowth. It was hairy and seemed to have a wet look. The manbeast had a well rounded head, long ears and seemed more manlike than animal. Footprints were found the next morning that were 16 inches long by six inches wide.

It also emitted a foul smell that made one sick. The eyes were normal and the witnesses inferred from the eyes that it meant no harm. It also displayed timid behavior and avoided

The small Hairy Hominoid was five feet tall, had prominent cheekbones, had black hair below the waist and brown hair above and made an odd coughing sound. Altamont, Albany County, New York. 19th August 1974. 9.30 pm. Mrs Ruth Currie, director of a Nursing Home and her daughter Laurie Currie thought that a light that they were watching was a car on the road with red lights and other lights on the inside of the vehicle. It was several hundred feet across the road and looked like a golden glow and eventually straddled the road. There were red lights on the front and back like a trailer. The witnesses stepped outside of their home and the horses were whinnying and the dogs were going crazy. The witnesses walked to 200 feet from the object and saw that it was an oval disc with a large rounded window on top and a figure moving around inside it. Mrs Currie told Laurie to get Rose Curtis, an employee, who telephoned her husband. The three women went outside again. The craft was still there. As the witnesses walked back to the home they heard a whistling noise and then felt a chilling breeze followed by the sound of a whirring noise. They turned around as the object took off. The radar at Albany Airport had registered several blips becoming one as well. After a few minutes the blips separated and left in the direction from which they came. The first one swooped State Trooper Morgan who turned off the engine of the Patrol Car. Both witnesses were dazzled by the bright light. There was no sound. Then it passed over the nearby Police Barracks and then suddenly vanished as if a light had been turned off. Was it vanishing into another dimension?

The car unexpectedly lost power on a gentle incline and stopped dead. The headlights, radio, heater and dashboard lights all went out as well. Mrs Richards tried to start the car. After ten seconds a deafening vibrating noise enveloped car which lasted a minute. Simultaneously quite painful electric shocks began penetrating the bodies of all three occupants and the car was filled with an invisible choking smell. Mrs Richards and Janine jumped out of the car taking Kathleen with them and fled down the road to a house. The light was still visible in the sky. Later when they came back the car started normally. Next day the car was checked at a garage but no faults were found. Mrs Richards suffered a numb right side to her face as well as a five-cent sized mark above her right eyebrow afterwards. Between Didleum and Tayene Plains, Tasmania. Australia. 22nd September 1974. 5.20 pm. Fifty kilometres northeast of Launceston a female witness was parked in a car waiting for someone. A Radio announcer had just given the time when it suddenly developed a high-pitched whining noise. The surrounding area was lit up as a glowing orange and silver object approached slowly from the top ofa nearby hill. The object was the size of a large car and hovered fifty to 60 feet above the ground. The light was descending as the witness reversed her car up the road to get away. As she was trying to escape the witnesses' car went over the edge of the road and became bogged in mud. The hovering UFO swept around the road junction then back to the position it was first seen in. When it swept around the hill a tubular shaped thing on its bottom opened into sections and the UFO took off rapidly. Originally the object hovered at fence height thirty yards away up the road. It was domed with six portholes in a wide band with six to eight horizontal bands below it. Each band was five to six inches wide. At the bottom was a small revolving disc and there was a box or tube below this. The object then went away after dipping to the right. Sighting lasted three to four minutes and next day the bonnet of the car was found to be extremely clean whilst the rest of the car was filthy. Originally the bonnet had feline tracks all over it but was now clean. The witness became ill with nervous twists. The car radio sound was distorted. The witness had abandoned her car and ran a mile home. Later her husband and her son returned to the car but could find nothing wrong. The witness's hair had just been permed and had now turned straight. The female witness was shaken for days afterwards.

Then the creature started to scream and get vicious, kicking the policemen in the legs before jumping a fence and taking off down the street. Was it actually an Australian kangaroo or only something that stood like an Australian kangaroo which incidentally punches with its paws and attempts to disembowel with its massive feet. They don't kick you in the shins. Nor do they scream.

Instead of the usual blast the seven millimetre bullet left the gunbarrel without any noise and moved in slow motion before falling to the ground fifty feet away from him. Silence. Carl then felt a tingling up his spine and saw a Hominoid to his left. The creature was not Human. Its' face blended down to its' throat and there was no chin or jaw. It was six feet high and appeared to weigh 180 pounds. The Hominoid wore a onepiece suit with a heavy metal belt. The middle of the belt had an emblem and a sixpointed Star in its middle. There were also a couple of belts across the chest. The creature had yellow skin and no lips though it had three teeth on top and three on bottom in its mouth. There were no ears though it had extremely small eyes with no eyebrows. It had very coarse hair that was golden and like straw. Two rods were projecting above the head like antennae and stood two inches above the head. Approaching the witness the Hominoid said " How you doin?". The witness replied pretty good. The witness was then asked if he was hungry and the Hominoid directed a package towards Carl. The package floated over and had four pills in it. The Hominoid ordered Carl to take one of the pills that would last four days. Carl seemed to have no control over his actions and swallowed the pill. He put the other three in his jacket. Carl then saw an octagonal object behind the Hominoid that was shaped like a box. It was 4.5 feet wide by 5 feet tall. Carl then instantly found himself inside the cube and looked through a glass or plastic partition. Five Elk he had seen earlier were in there and they were all apparently paralysed. Carl was tightly belted to a chair and another being entered the room and a football-shaped helmet was placed on his head. Wires were attached to the outside of the helmet. Carl looked outside of the craft and saw a large sphere. The walls of the ship were transparent. According to Carl they landed on another planet. The Aliens said that it was 163,000 light miles from Earth. Carl saw features on the planet that were buildings. One was like the Space Needle. It was surrounded by intense rotating spotlights. Carl threw up his hands shouting that the lights were hurting his eyes and were burning him. One of the Aliens replied that your Sun burns us. Next instant Carl found himself wandering alone along an isolated dirt Road with his rifle in his hands. His eyes were tearful. He got back to his truck which was now in a ravine. A Rescue team used two trucks to pull it out. Carl was delirious. The bullet that the witness had originally fired was found later and shown to the Carbon County Sheriff. The bullet appeared to have been twisted inside out.

Aveley, Essex, England. 27th October 1974. 10.15 pm. John Day and Sue Day and their three children 10,11 and seven were in their car when they saw a strange light pacing them. The light was oval and pale blue and swooped the car before it vanished in nearby trees. The witnesses caught glimpses of it as they drove on. Eventually the Days could not hear the sound of the car engine or their tyres on the road. Upon turning a bend they saw a green mist that covered the road. The radio began crackling and smoking. John pulled the wires out and the engine died as the car jerked violently. The witnesses felt a tingling sensation as well as a sudden jolt. They remembered that they fog was cold. The next thing that they remembered was that they were now driving along the road again. They arrived home and turned on their television but they could not get any channels. The witnesses thought was that it was 10.30 pm but it was actually 1.00 am. Timeloss. John later had a nervous breakdown and Poltergeist activity started in the house. The witnesses went under hypnotic regression and remembered entering a green mist. There was a shaft or column of light and the car including the witnesses was taken inside it. The inside of the light shaft was like a large hangar. John stood on a balcony looking down at the car and standing next to him was his wife and their eldest son. Behind them was a tall creature that touched John on the shoulder. John lost consciousness and came to on a table. A device was moving along his body and he felt pressure on his skin. Small hairy ugly creatures controlled the device and were in the room. They saw two types of Hominoids and were medically examined. One group of hominoids was over six feet eight inches tall and human looking wearing seamless onepiece rubber suits which were like silvery coveralls which covered their heads and possibly mouths and noses. Their hands were larger than a human's hands and the eyes were visible. There were three digits on the hands and the skin was pale and nearly translucent. The other type had large triangular eyes, beaked light brown noses, slit mouths and had ears that were huge and pointed. Their hands were hairy and clawlike and they had bushy brown hair all over their faces and hands. Their hands had four digits and claws and wore white surgical gowns. They examined the witnesses on the bench with pencil-like instruments. The witnesses were also separated and shown through the craft and the witnesses were informed somehow that the hominoids had a Mask that helped them to see on Earth. The car was also on board the craft in an Amphitheatre-type room. The witnesses were also shown separately a hologram of grey metallic cones under a lurid sky and they were told that that this is what the Earth would look like after its destruction by pollution. They were also shown images of Solar systems like circles with lines connecting them. It seemed like the contents of an Encyclopaedia were pumped into his head. After the encounter they all became vegetarians except for the youngest child. Other messages were given as well that were undisclosed.

JerryWagner, Steve Morton and Shawne Clark, all seventeen years old, were driving along Shafer's Road when the car headlights picked up something standing in the middle of the road that looked like a full grown kangaroo that had just landed there before jumping a five foot fence and vanishing. The three youths reported it to the police.

Scottsdale, Tasmania. Australia. 4th November 1974. 11.00 pm. The lights, radio and motor of a Mitsubishi Colt cut out shortly after a witness had seen a huge flame-coloured glow lighting up the vegetation nearby. At 7.00 pm on 9th November 1974 in Carbondale in Lackawanna County in Pennsylvania a mysterious glowing object crashed into a small pond on the outskirts of the town. The object was seen by three teenage boys, Bill Lloyd, his younger brother John Lloyd and their friend Bob Gillette. Originally the object resembled a red fireball and approached from the east crossing over Salem Mountain and then hovering. An instant later it turned the colour of a bright star and crashed into the pond. Earlier there had been a phone call reporting a UFO to the police. Within the hour there were more calls and at 9.00 pm police officers John Barbaro and Joseph Jacobina went to the pond where they saw a glowing object in the water about twenty feet away. Eventually there were twelve officers at the pond from Forest City, Greenfield and Fell townships. Officer Jacobina shot at the thing with his service revolver and it moved. At midnight firefighters arrived with a huge net. At 2.45 am the net was placed over the object but it slipped out of the net and buried itself in the silt. Two professors arrived the following day and soon the local authorities had decided that it was a hoax and that a railroad lamp was responsible. Why was it not noticed as a railroad lamp initially? What about the independent UFO reports at the same time? Incidentally there had been a cloudless rain deluge here in 1922 as well as the fall of a silvery cigar into Harvey Lake in 1956 after it had been seen flying around for a while. Any relationship?

Savannah, Chatham County, Georgia, Savannah River. 12th November 1974. Spontaneous combustion. Jack Angel was inexplicably burned whilst sleeping in his motor home. He went to bed on November twelve and woke four days later. His right hand was burnt black and he was also burnt on the arm, chest, legs and elsewhere but only in spots. There was no trace of fire in the van which was dismantled to try and find the cause.

Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 15th November 1974. Friday. Morning. Joe Bernatus was in a train on the way to work when he saw a kangaroo through the window. The animal was five feet tall and black all over except for the stomach and face which were tan and it was standing in a vacant lot near Damen and Montrose Streets. Was this an escaped kangaroo? They are not exactly common in North America.

Angeles National Forest, Los Angeles County, California. November 1974. Val Stemler, Jim Mangano and three others were backpacking. Mangano went off to meditate and after thirty minutes seemed to be sleepwalking. He said that he was being compelled again. There were screams after 11.00 pm and soon after something crashed through undergrowth before a barrage of rocks began. This was a separate incident to the first.

The head was football-shaped with an antenna sticking up according to the first person to see it, a Seattle Grocer named Ernest Smith who was Deerhunting. The Thing gave off an iridescent glow.

Bald Mountain, Lewis County, Washington State. After 17th November 1974. Fifteen to twenty-five miles east of Chehalis. Shortly after the first sighting but before there was any publicity Mr and Mrs Roger Ramsbough of Tacoma were driving along State Route Seven one evening when they saw a dull glow near the side of the road. It was like a Neon sign in the fog but as they drew alongside they saw the same strange creature that Ernest Smith had only just seen.

Sheridan, Hamilton County, Indiana. 25th November 1974. Donald Johnson, a farmer, was driving down a deserted rural road when he slowed down at an intersection and looking to his right saw a kangaroo running on all four feet down the middle of the road. The kangaroo spotted Johnson and jumped over a four foot barbed wire fence and across a field where it was lost to sight. Kangaroos do not run on all fours at any time as they are incapable of running at all. Are we looking at a furry saurian? A furry two legged animal that resembles a kangaroo?

San Antonio, Bexar County, Texas, November 1974. John Martinez and his friend Rick whilst hunting rabbits saw a six to seven foot tall Bigfoot with long matted hair on its head. Their dog snarled at it.

The Sideling, near Scottsdale, Tasmania. Australia. November 1974. 11.00 pm. On his way home to Scottsdale a man saw a soundless object the size of an enormous building half a kilometre away to his left which was to the north. The car engine and radio cut out and the figures on his watch lit up brightly. The UFO travelled along and was last seen going straight upwards. The watch broke down shortly after the event. As well the left hand mudguard changed colour from red to orange and stayed that way.

On County Road W near Frederick, Polk County, Wisconsin. 2nd December 1974. William Bosak, 69, a dairy farmer, was in his car driving through patchy fog when he spotted something on the left side of the road. The headlights reflected from it revealing an object eight to ten feet tall. The object had a transparent glass area and there were no lights on the craft. William saw that it was a circular object and heard a soft whooshing noise. There was a hairy being in it that was seven foot tall and covered in fur and had calflike ears and hair sticking out of sides of its' head. The Hairy Hominoid then crossed the front of the UFO which was parked on the road. The Hairy Hominoid had a square head, long narrow ears, and hair sticking out of the sides of the head. The hominoid also had large protruding eyes and wore a skintight light brown collarless garment like a diver's suit. As the witness passed in the car the cars' interior went dark. The Hairy Hominoid was brilliantly lit up. It looked scared and it and the UFO vanished in a strange cloud of fog as the witness sped away. There's that fog again.

Richmondtown, Richmond County, Staten Island, New York State. 7th December 1974. Frank Pizzolato, 11, and Philip Vivolo, 12, were in the woods when they saw a six foot tall upright "bear" which roared at them. They did not think that it was a bear though.

The coyote hunter fired three times at it with his 30.30 rifle but it kept coming at him so he escaped in his car. The creature was seven to eight feet tall. Did he miss all three times? On a large target much bigger than a coyote? They are hard to find and impossible to shoot.

Near Port Angeles, Clallam County, Washington State, during December 1974 Richard Taylor and Larry Followell were driving at night when they had to swerve to avoid a Bigfoot on the road. The car was wrecked and the men were injured. The Bigfoot as usual got away.

McGregor, Clayton County, Iowa. 1974. A yellow tan-coloured big feline four feet long was seen. It did not resemble a puma though.

Near Castlegar, British Columbia, during 1974 a young couple who were out driving at night saw a Bigfoot standing beside the road.

Near Stone Park Jones County, Iowa in 1974 a man was reported to have wounded a Bigfoot with a deer rifle.

On the South Mountains, North Carolina, during 1974, a man whilst camping had his fourth sighting of a Bigfoot in twenty years. In this case a seven foot tall Bigfoot stood up by a camp fire but went away when fired at. They might as well be the size of a barn and you still can't hit them.

Also during 1974 on Jumonville Summit in Fayette County in Pennsylvania thirteen witnesses in a car chased a Bigfoot that had looked in at them and then hid behind a large stone. The creature seemed to move instantaneously from one side of them to the other.

Mount Hiba, near Hiroshima, Japan. 1974. Albert Kubo, a farmer, was out in his rice-fields spreading fertilizer when he saw a Hairy Hominoid called the Hibagon, standing in his path. Albert nearly passed out from the smell before turning and running away.

Broward City, Broward County, Florida. 1974. Several individual witnesses including one in a car made several sightings of a seven foot tall Hairy Hominoid that year. It was covered in hair and was not a bear and one of the witnesses had run into it with his car. The car was damaged but the Hairy Hominoid escaped. There was also severe destruction of the undergrowth and the finding of giant footprints. But the beast had gone. As usual.

Killarawarra, near Manning River, twelve kilometres upstream from Taree, New South Wales. Australia. 1974. 3.30 pm. It was a sunny afternoon and Mr Alwyn Richards and his sister were riding up a hillside when their horses baulked. Alwyn dismounted and led his horse with his sister following. He then saw a huge shaggy creature standing in a firebreak that was nine to ten feet tall, broad chested and muscular with a well proportioned body that was covered in long untidy hair. The arms were longer than those of a man and the creature seemed more human though than apelike. The creature had a black face and stared at the witnesses for several minutes. Alwyn went to thirty metres from it and noticed a terrible smell from it. It finally turned and walked away quickly. The creature stepped right over a four foot high fence. The witnesses went over to where it had been but there were no clear tracks though there were squashed plants. The ground was warm like where a cow had been lying down.

After the event an area of 7.6 metres by 4.5 meters was found of twisted and broken Wattles. The trees had been damaged at 1.2 metres above the ground and had then fallen over.

Bahia Blanca, Buenos Aires State, Argentina, coast. 4th January 1975. Carlos Diaz, 28, a young waiter, was walking home early in the morning when a beam of light hit him after he had just got off a bus. The light blinded and paralysed him and thee atmosphere started humming and vibrating. There was a whining like a radio wave and then Carlos felt himself being drawn up into the air to a height of ten feet before losing consciousness. It was like a current of air lifting him up. Carlos lost consciousness and later woke up in a bright glowing sphere. He tried to get up and his arms and legs would not work. The walls were translucent and the floor was of hard plastic. Small holes in the sphere allowed air to enter. Carlos felt ill. The room was nine to ten feet in diameter and the craft seemed to be moving at a high rate of speed. Carlos then saw three silent green-skinned creatures standing nearby who then approached him from behind. Two of the green creatures tried to subdue him and the third tried to pull hair from his head. They moved slowly and were very strong. As the struggle continued he felt very dizzy and passed out. Timeloss. Four hours later he found himself dazed on the side of a road just outside of Buenos Aires City, 500 miles from Bahia Blanca. He had been awakened by a man and taken to Hospital. He was interviewed by the Authorities. Carlos still had that mornings' Bahia Blanca newspaper in his hand which had not arrived in Buenos Aires yet. The Hominoids had plucked tufts of hair from his head but it did not hurt. Carloss was rushed to Hospital and was in good health but shocked. Doctors could not understand how his hair could have been tugged out of his head without damaging the roots.

South Webster, Sciota County, Ohio. 9th January 1975. Thursday. Hundreds of residents of the town observed that a strange low flying UFO was seen in the sky. From it was spewing forth a fog or cloud of gas that caused nausea, burning of the eyes, sore throats and skin irritation. The whole town was evacuated, over fifty homes covering two square miles, and the fog took five hours to disperse. The origin of the fog and the UFO were unknown. The craft was circling over the village and the gas coming from it was highly toxic Hydrofluoric gas.

North Hudson Park, New York City. New York. 12th January 1975. 2.00 am. Early morning. Off-licence Manager George O'Barski was taking a shortcut through North Hudson Park to get to an allnight diner. When his car entered the Park the car radio turned to static and then cut out. Suddenly he heard a droning noise like a refrigerator motor and saw a domed object shaped like a pancake drift past him and land in the Park. The object was thirty-five feet in diameter and seven feet high. It had stopped fifty feet away. There were several illuminated vertical windows that encircled it spaced about one foot apart that were one foot wide and four foot high. The craft was four feet off the ground. Then a square illuminated opening appeared and a ladder dropped to the ground. In amazement he watched ten little figures wearing uniforms come down out of the object and onto the ground. The hominoids were 3.5 feet tall and resembled schoolchildren wearing snowsuits. Their faces were hidden by round helmets. They held implements similar to small shovels and working like Beavers dug up turf and placed it into little bags. They then returned to the little craft and took off. The car radio worked again after the craft took off. Ten months later investigators saw twelve to fifteen little triangular holes in the ground. They had silted up in the rain but the grass had not rerooted.

Jersey City, Hudson County, New Jersey. 12th January 1975. A UFO landed in the grounds of Stonehenge Apartments. Nine witnesses, including the Doorman, saw the craft land in North Hudson Park. A hatch opened and small Hominoids dressed like Kids in snow-suits descended a ladder. The Hominoids dug around in the grass with shovel-like instruments, loaded samples into pails and then reboarded the craft. The UFO took off with a bright flash of light. It was a dark almost black sphere and made a droning noise like a refrigerator motor. This was the same night as a similar sighting in North Hudson Park in New York City. A shared remote hallucination with local characteristics? Sounds feasible but impossible.

Carlisle, Schoharie County, New York State. 12th January 1975. Sunday. 11.00 am. Leonard Tillapaugh was on his tractor. As he passed a tree an object fell from the sky and hit the tree before it bounced off, hit the tractor and ricocheted onto a patch of ice 2.5 inches thick a few feet away. The object melted its way through. Visibility was excellent and there were no aircraft in the sky. The object was golfball-sized and covered in a black brittle substance that broke off as leonard touched it. One end was rounded and the other end was jagged as if broken off like a ceramic. It was extremely heavy for its' size and upon examination contained Iron and was magnetic. The iron had rust and was not earthly. The object had also been exposed to severe thermal shock. There were also a few basic elements missing that should have been present. It was not a Meteorite and was like cast or Gray Iron.

At 2.00 am that morning the dog was especially restless so he let her out. Soon she ran back to the house and cowered beneath the car in the garage, her eyes wide with terror. Davis went out into the yard with a revolver and saw a nine foot tall Bigfoot with greyish brown hair and a flat face that was fifteen feet away. As the creature approached him he fired at it and saw the bullet enter the creature's chest. Davis intended to fire off the rest of the round but he found he was unable to pull the trigger. The creature had grunted and ran off. Later footprints were found on the airconditioner.

Cape Coral, Lee County, Florida. February 1975. Mr. and Mrs. Michalowski, who lived half a mile from Mr. Davis had been plagued by very foul smells near their house in the evening and there were large footprints on the outside airconditioner. Annadale, Staten Island County, New York State. 10th February 1975. 7.00 pm. Two boys testing ice on a pond for strength saw a huge orange ball that was football-shaped and twenty feet in diameter four hundred feet away. The sighting lasted ten minutes. Suddenly the outer edges of the ball began to converge on its centre and it shrunk to the size of a basketball and then vanished. The next morning several trees were found sheared off and above four feet were covered with a black carbonlike substance as if the trees had been struck by lightning. The substance tested came from a low intensity fire. Though there was no evidence of fire the trees were definitely affected by an aerial heat source which only burnt down to bark level. The silent oblate object that was twenty feet wide slowly diminished in size and vanished. Charred ground and snapped off trees were found the next day.

Annadale, Staten Island County, New York State. 10th February 1975. 7.00 pm. Antoine was left without speech and with poor vision for several days.

Kofu, Japan. 23rd February 1975. Two seven year old boys saw a light hovering in the sky and later saw it in a vineyard. The boys walked around and saw an odd craft with unknown Oriental characters on it. A ladder came out of it and an entity in silver came out. The hominoid had a large head with strange features. There was a second entity seated inside the craft with its hand on a lever. As the boys started to run away the entity spoke to them in a voice like a tape playing fast. The witnesses ran home and fetched the parents of one of them who also saw the light.

Enfield, Hartford County, Connecticut. 24th February 1975. 9.50 pm. Paul Rogers was driving home along Weymouth Road when he saw a hovering UFO at an altitude of sixty feet over a field to his left. The light was silent and then descended towards the ground and then moved off slowly in an easterly direction at five miles per hour. The craft had lights on it and interestingly enough a green Military helicopter was also seen during the sighting. Whose helicopter was this? Whose UFO was this?

Lake Sorell, Tasmania. Australia. 26th February 1975. Three men saw three UFOs as they camped by the lake. An intense light shone down on to the lake before the objects took off in a flash. One witness was ex-RAAF, Royal Australian Air Force.

The Police arrived but found nothing. After the lights were installed the monster was now being seen.

Elizabeth Cahill, 28, had just returned to her trailer at Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania in February 1975 when she heard someone rapping on a window. Thinking it was a neighbor playing a joke she opened the door but instead of a neighbor it was a gorilla-like creature that jumped out of the shadows and into the lights at the end of the driveway. The creature started advancing towards her and its eyes got shinier. Elizabeth rang her neighbors Maurice Hillier and his family who arrived with air rifles and their Irish Setter. They found nothing or any tracks. Elizabeth described the creature as the height of an average sized man covered with smooth-looking fur. The face was apeish and it stood with bent arms and legs.

Also in Elizabethtown, Lancaster County, Pennsylvania after the Cahill sighting but still in February 1975 another woman stated that a hairy gorilla-like creature had grabbed at her coat. The only way that she escaped it was by taking the coat off and leaving it in the creature's arms. We have no record though of a Bigfoot wearing a lady's coat afterwards.

His daughter, Jane Baker saw a landed UFO on the road and Phil went outside and also saw it. The craft was dome-shaped. It had a brilliant halo and bluish green lights and red lights around the outside. In the centre was a brilliant yellowish-white light. There was also a loud high-pitched whiny noise which soon died away as the lights dimmed. The craft made a noise like metal hammering. The rest of the family was now watching the UFO and Phil decided to ring the Undersheriff. Whilst on the telephone they heard a loud bang whilst the lights on the object faded off. Then the craft vanished!

Birch Hill, near Odena, Iron County, Wisconsin. 13th March 1975. Two Deputies on Highway 2 went to a tower to watch UFOs sixteen miles east of Ashland. There were several UFOs that were flashing low in the sky. One was lower than the other two objects and was green and white. The Deputies said blue and white. This light stayed stationary. A second light came up to it and was doing a circle moving from left to right. After twenty minutes the object north of the Highway started to move. One witness's radio went out as the craft swooped over him. There were six Police witnesses in total.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Niagara County, Ontario, Canada. 13th March 1975. A woman was driving along the shore of Lake Ontario when she caught a glimpse of a cluster of lights near the shore which were moving. They were too bright for a barge and were arranged in a triangular pattern of red and blue with the largest light silver at the bottom and close to the water. Off to one side was a set of gold coloured lights and above these were two lights that appeared to be rising and falling. The brightest light was swaying back and forth and was four times larger than the others and at times it vanished momentarily. Through binoculars each light was made up of two smaller lights closely spaced on a horizontal plane and when they faded out they were replaced by numerous small flickering lights of various colours arranged haphazardly. They were seen many times since and resembled sodium vapour lights, unlike aircraft. There were several other individual witnesses as well.

Trevor took himself to the top of Wilfa Hill and saw a large round object on the ground surrounded by lights studded into the base and separated by grooves. The colours were indescribable. There was a see-through dome atop the base and a piece of equipment in the middle of the dome and surrounding this two incredible creatures. They were shapeless, like lumps of jelly, translucent white, and filled with small circles like blood corpuscles, Trevor called them doughnuts. They were permanently changing shape with only the central part staying intact. Suddenly a panel opened slowly in the right-hand side of the object and one of the Jellymen started to float towards it and disembark. Trevor fled. He ran down to his father and then ran back up the hill, possible expecting his father to follow. The hatch was now shut and the Jellymen was now back inside. There was a noise like a soft engine and the light atop the object and inside the base began to glow and pulsate in a strange mixture of colours that exactly matched the scenery. This morass of colour expanded to envelop the object and the beings inside it. After a few moments it was not visibly there anymore. Trevor ran down the hill again. He was petrified and dragged his father up the slope. 24 hours later Trevor lost the power of speech. His family thought it was Tonsilitis as his brother had it. In mid-August Trevor lost the sight of one eye and suffered extreme insomnia. For a time he lost sight in both eyes and at times the blindness alternated between eyes. They seemed to be psychosomatic responses.

There was also a ladder and a long tube by which the craft was taking ion water. Suddenly a porthole in the upper part of the turret opened and a Hominoid looked out and pointed at the witness. Holoman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, Otero County, New Mexico. 13th August 1975. 1.15 am. Airforce Sergeant Charles L. Moody was watching a Meteor shower. He then saw a glowing metallic disc shaped object falling towards the ground 300 feet away. The glowing object was fifty feet long and eighteen to twenty feet wide. It wobbled on its axis as it descended till hovering at fifteen to twenty feet. It then began slowly and steadily moving towards Moody who jumped in his car but could not start it. The UFO stopped seventy feet away and was making a high pitched humming sound. There was a rectangular window in the side of the craft. Shadows resembling Human forms were in it. The noise stopped and Charles felt a numbness all over his body. He saw the object rising up into the sky. Moody then turned his ignition key and the car started. It was now 3.00 am. On the following day Moody felt pain in his lower back and within a few days a rash broke out over his lower body. Using self Hypnosis over a few weeks he remembered that after the numbness two Hominoids approached his car. They were gliding rather than walking and were six feet tall in skin tight black clothing. Charles had a scuffle with them and was rendered unconscious. Next thing he woke on a slab in the craft. Next to him stood the Alien leader who was five feet tall and wearing a silvery suit. The leader had a large hairless head like the others, a protruding brow, roundish eyes, small ears and nose and very thin lips. His skin was whitish-grey and he had a large forehead, no eyebrows and no hair and large dark piercing eyes. He had very thin lips and the Hominoid asked Moody using telepathy if he would behave peacefully . When the witness promised to not strike out at them he was shown the engines of the craft. The Hominoid applied a rodlike device to Charle's lower back and the paralysis ceased. Moody was then taken to another part of the ship and shown a drive unit which was a large rod surrounded by three glass canopied holes containing a central crystalline object with one rod on each side of it. One rod had a spherical head whilst the other had a T-bar on it. There was a sweet stifling odour. According to the Hominoids it was an observation craft from a larger Mothership 5000 miles away in Space and they were from a League of Space Races looking Earth over for possible future Membership. Moody was told that the Mothership was miles above Earth and was promised a future meeting with the Aliens. Close contact with Earthmen would not be attempted for another twenty years. The Alien told Moody that he would have no recall of the event for two weeks, placed his hands on the sides of Moody's head and rendered him unconscious. Moddy lost an hour and twenty minutes.

shotgun. When James and Ernest looked back the Hominoid was gone.

Lake Saratoga, near Albany, New York. 20th August 1975. Many people rang Police barracks, Newspapers and T.V.Stations in the Albany area. State Trooper Michael Morgan was dispatched to the scene of one UFO sighting. He met a Police Detective who was already observing a blimp sized object hovering at five hundred feet over the lake. A reddish glowing flashed on and off and two smaller objects approached and merged with it. Air Traffic Controllers were alerted and located the UFO on Radar. After a few minutes two smaller objects broke away and left in the direction from which they came. The first object moved towards the nervous Policemen and as it passed over them dazzled them with a bright white light shining from its base. Silently it turned and moved away. Then it disappeared. Albany Air Traffic Controllers watched it for 45 minutes before they lost contact with it. A short time later they received a call from a Military aircraft flying over the Albany area at eight thousand feet who had seen a red Fireball one thousand feet above him heading towards the Airport. The Air Traffic Controllers located the object just as it entered the fifty mile range of the Radar Scopes. It was travelling at 3,000 miles per hour and was five miles outside Albany when it vanished. It was not a Meteorite.

At the village of Ox they saw the village Church two kilometres away silhouetted against the enormous light in the sky which then vanished behind a Service Station. Then the Service Station's lights blinked three times and went out. The ball reappeared and went back towards the Church, passed behind the tower, flared up brilliantly and then died down. There was a flurry in the water and a long black shape was seen moving swiftly and easily. It had a great black back and was fifteen to twenty feet long. The girth as six feet and no more then two feet out of water travelling at a speed of ten miles per hour. There were two humps with one smaller than the other. Was it possibly Mum and baby? The boys, frightened fired at it with their rifles and it commenced to scream. Gerstmar nearly wrecked his Jeep in the panic to get away. The object was large enough to cover both lanes of the Highway. Eddie woke his sleeping wife who was also in the cabin of the truck. She could not see anything out of the rearview mirror. Webb then stuck his head out of the window to look behind and was immediately blinded by a bright flash. His glasses fell off. It was a very hot flash. Eddie stopped the truck screaming that he had been burnt and could not see. One of the lenses of his glasses had fallen out of the plastic frame and appeared to have been heated internally. Eddie's Forehead was slightly red as if he had a mild sunburn and he complained of pain afterwards that felt as if it were deep inside his forehead and eyes. Eddiead been driving at 55 to 65 miles per hour. The object was thirty feet in diameter and came up fast behind the rig. Next a searchlight appeared and the object rose higher into the air. He was with a crowd of people when his spotlight illuminated a 7.5 foot tall black, hairy creature with a black leathery face standing in the backyard. There was no neck and two of the upper and two of the lower teeth were longer than the others and the nose was flat. The Sergeant and the monster stared at each other and though Cooper had a shotgun with him he felt that the creature was too human to shoot. There was a noise to the side and a witness said that there was another Hairy Hominoid there as well. Cooper retreated and noticed steam coming from the bigfoots body. Later he found large tracks. Even later on the creature ran alongside his car and gave out a highpitched call.

Tripp Pond, Androscoggin County, Maine. Near Norway. 27th October 1975. 3.00 am. David Stevens, 21, and a male friend shared a trailer home. they were both shift workers and they were listening to music when they heard an explosion outside. They ran out and saw nothing. David then suggested that it was a good night for a drive. They decided to go along Route 26 to Lake Thompson and en route the car made a right turn onto a back road seemingly against their will. They covered five miles in two minutes. This would have been an average speed of 150 miles per hour. They passed through Oxford, down the eastern side of the lake. Cows standing in a field were shaking their heads from side to side. Just after this both witnesses saw two beams of light shining from a cornfield. The car slowed down and as the light rose up from ground Paul turned off the car engine. They expected to see a helicopter. There was no sound as a cylindrical shape rose up from behind the trees. It was surrounded by multicoloured lights that went out as the object lifted. The alarmed witnesses restarted the car and accelerated away after closing the windows and locking the doors. They drove south. Then an extremely bright beam of light struck the car and the witnesses lost their memories. Next they found themselves parked on a dirt road near the cornfield of the original sighting. The car windows were partly open and the doors were unlocked. Paul's eyes were orange as were David's except for dark pupils. The UFO though was still in the sky. Then the men drove on to West Poland, turned around and went back along the same road. After two miles the craft was gone. The witnesses were now travelling south again. On an unexpected impulse Paul turned off the intended Route and went onto a gravel Road leading to Tripp Pond. As they completed the Turnoff they saw the cylindrical object at an elevation of thirty degrees from horizontal 150 to 200 yards from them. The car's engine and radio died. The object was moving in an up and down fashion and took up position at 80 degrees elevation southeast at 500 yards. After the witnesses had been sitting in the car for 45 minutes two disc-shaped objects appeared that carried red, green and blue lights. They were quarter of the size of the cylindrical craft and made an aerobatic display then descended like falling leaves and skimmed the pond before ascending swiftly as though climbing a staircase. The Pond at this time seemed like an Ocean twenty to thirty feet away though it was actually half a mile away. Both witnesses saw what appeared to be an Island in the middle with the craft hovering over it. Actually there was no island there. A fog suddenly formed and approached and enveloped the car. The cylinder was still visible and when it took off the fog followed it and this was followed by two ducks, two geese, then two more ducks and cows that were also getting up in twos. All of the event seemed dreamlike. Suddenly the radio burst into life. At 6.30 AM Paul started the car. At 7.00 AM they arrived at David's family in Oxford. Later under hypnosis David described being taken into the craft and watching the car and Paul below him just after a lightbeam struck it. Inside was a room with curved walls. Then Paul was jumped by a Hominoid with three webbed fingers and a thumb on his hands. The hominoid had a mushroom shaped head, large slanted white eyes, a small nose and no mouth and wore a flowing black sheetlike garment. The hominoid used Telepathy and communicated by brainwaves. Paul was taken to another room and there were four similar Hominoids there. His blood was taken. David became violent when the Hominoids wanted him to lie down on a table and struck at them. Eventually he was released after being divested of his clothes and thoroughly examined from head to toe with a boxlike device. The Hominoids seemed friendly and both witnesses returned to the car. Paul was unaware that he had been away.

The campsite was intact and all was normal save for the absence of people. All personal effects, wallets, etc were still there. Mr Cowden had been in Copper,1 mile away, at 9.00 am to buy milk. There were no violence or scuffle marks and entire family were never seen again. They had disappeared yet absolutely nothing was out of place. Was a Bigfoot responsible? Or was it just one dang coincidence as we have seen throughout this text?

Nagle then flicked his light on and off few times and the cluster came closer towards the observers. Nagle turned off his light and the cluster of lights went back to its position half mile away over the powerlines. There was a red light, much larger than others on top and the object became a brilliant white colour every time it was close to the powerlines. The sighting lasted an hour and a half. The craft was huge and made twenty passes at the powerlines and then would zoom off very fast. When the brilliance died away it returned to the powerlines. Police radios as well as two truck radios would not work during the sighting.

It was a glowing golden light with a milky yellow glow. There was also the whine of machinery. The craft was solid with windows and was fifteen to twenty feet across and shaped like two piepans placed together with a smaller bowl shape on top. Suddenly Travis Walton jumped up from the wagon and ran close to the object that was now only one hundred feet away. Walton was bathed in the golden light from the craft. Then a blue ray of light flashed from it and Walton fell to the ground before being thrown back several feet as if having an electric shock and flew back ten feet and hit the rocky ground on his right shoulder. Then Travis vanished. Unknown to the others he was lifted off the ground, his body arched backwards, arms and legs outstretched. The other witnesses fled in the cart back to town and returned with the Police.

playing in the Lawson backyard which faced a ploughed field on Ed Carey Road in South Harlingen when they saw a horrible looking black Bigbird standing in a field one hundred yards away. It had a Gorilla-like face, was five feet tall and had wings bunched up on its shoulders. The Bigbird had dark red eyes and a thick six inch long beak. It left five three-toed footprints that were 8 inches across by 1.5 inches deep in the ploughed field. The bird obviously weighed over 200 pounds. The tracks went for a distance of eighty yards across a field. It made a shrill sound like “Eeeee!" and had a black head and shoulders three feet across. Tracy looked at it through binoculars and noticed that it was watching them with large red menacing eyes. Eventually it appeared to vanish and then reappeared a few minutes later on the northeast corner of the property peering at the girls from behind some bushes. This sent the two girls racing inside the house to wake up Tracey’s parents who had a previous evenings celebration and refused to go outside and investigate. The next day Jackie’s stepfather Tom Walden decided to have a look around and discovered some three toed tracks where the girls had seen the thing behind the bushes. The first three tracks were near a fence right behind the house with a fourth one twenty yards away and a fifth print another twenty yards behind that. The prints were squared at the head with a well rounded impression in the back and were twelve inches long by eight inches across sunk an inch and a half into the ground. Eventually the site was investigated by the sheriff and others.

That same night Stan, Tracey’s father, remembered how his dog had cowered in its kennel not wanting to come out and eat and at one point raced into the house and then had to be dragged outside. There had also been the sound of something scraping against one of the windows. Their neighbor Sergeant Sam Esparza of the San Benito Police had found that there were bloodstains on two of his sheets that he had hung out to dry. Mary Louise Smith, Mona Stafford, 36, and Elaine Thomas were returning home on Highway 78 at night after a Birthday dinner celebration when they saw an intense red glow in the eastern sky. The glow grew and hovered at treetop level near their car. All three witnesses saw a domed disc plunging towards them. It flashed three shafts of light onto the Highway. The massive object then stopped short and paced the car which became filled with blue light and a suffocating heat. The lights on the craft went out. Then Smith realised that they were racing down the road. Smith could not slow down the car as they were heading towards a gateway in a stone wall. They felt as if the car was being pulled. They got home. Smith, the driver, stopped the car and got out. Stafford pulled her back. Everything was silent. Smith, with tears down her face felt the onset of terrific headaches and the others felt the same. They were missing a period of one hour and twenty minutes of time. Strange red marks were found on their necks and back and cold water burned their skin. The following day they found that small areas of paint had bubbled away on the car as well. Under hypnosis they alleged that Stafford was taken from the car and found herself lying down in a hot dark room. White light forced her back as an eyelike device examined her. Several small creatures stood around wearing surgical masks and gowns. Thomas was in a chamber with a window.Four feet tall Hominoids with dark eyes set in grey skins stood around her. A cocoon was placed around her neck and she choked when she tried to speak. A bullet shaped object was placed above her left breast. Smith remembered being pulled backwards. She was surrounded by intense heat that burned her. The Hominoid had large dark slanted eyes with pupils. The witnesses suffered sun-burn and skin and eye irritation after the event. Under regressive Hypnotism all of the women, who were in their mid-thirties, indicated some type of medical examination had taken place. The witnesses had encountered the landed UFO on the Highway. car and drove it to a position where the headlights would hit where whatever it was hit the trailer. There was a Bigbird standing there that was four feet tall and staring at the witness who was terrified. Other reports state that it was as tall as a man. The Bigbird made noise as it backed off. It had a long beak, red blazing eyes, lots of feathers and made a horrible noise in its throat. It was a brown winged creature and the wings covered most of its body. The UFO landed 340 feet away and was forty to fifty feet in diameter. The bottom diffused a bizarre light which did not diffuse around it. The craft hovered and a door opened that was 6.5 feet high. Three forms in silvery suits appeared that looked like robots. These robots were 6.5 feet tall and had stiff motions, small legs and telescopic poles for arms. They also had square heads. About fifty to sixty metres away between the boat and the shore something moved under the water. It then came up, not with a splash but with smooth waves. Part of the body was twenty to thirty centimetres high and a metre long but from the amount of water displaced was much larger. It was like an upside-down boat and it kept swimming in half circles around the boat. Irene was pale as a corpse and wanted to return to the land. Rolf turned on the motor and as they headed for shore the lakemonster followed them and kept up to them at a speed of ten knots. The witnesses got to shore and could see the animals wake for five to six minutes it had submerged after the lake was so smooth.

The object was a blue-green streak of light travelling across the sky and looked like a great ball of fire. No traces were ever found and it did not seem to hit the Earth though it appeared large enough and near enough. Police could not find any wreckage of a plane crash or anything else that could have collided with the mountain. Other reports state that the object crashed into the mountain above Cadair Bronwen. What was the connection? The locals reported that the sky lit up brightly for several minutes above the Berwyn Mountains. The same type of event had occurred here on 23rd January 1974. Meteors are not supposed to return to the same places, shame our data often contradicts this.

The luminous object played a searchlight on the water for a while during which the witnesses watched it before they returned to shore. When on the shore their fire had burned down and the witnesses wondered how long had they been on water. Under hypnosis they had seen UFO two nights before. On the second sighting it came close to the canoe and played a searchlight across the boat before it vanished. It seemed one hour had gone. Timeloss. The witnesses also recalled that they had been taken from the canoe to the object by some hominoids. The hominoids were shorter than humans and had large heads, pointed chins and large dark eyes. Their heads were out of proportion to their bodies which were thin. Their arms and legs were very thin and their hands had four fingers that were semi-opposed. They were stripped naked and three of them sat on the bench while the fourth underwent medical procedures. Skin scrapings were taken, blood was drawn and semen was gathered. He then heard a strange humming noise that sounded like a swarm of bees in flight and saw a figure standing behind a farmgate ten yards away. The hominoid was seven feet tall and he thought that it was a farmer. Willy explained that he was only camping there for one night but there was no answer. The hominoid then shone a square torch from his chest onto the witness. The light was dark orange and Willy thought that the Hominoid needed to get new batteries. Willy then heard the humming noise again and saw a large shape lift up off the ground. There was a pink pulsating glow underneath it and the object disappeared across the field and lifted at a 45 degree angle to the ground. Willy assumed the farmer was towing something up a hill. Next morning Willy realised that there was no hill there.

The witness noticed the speedometer varying from Zero to 40 kilometres per hour even though the car was stationary. He checked under the bonnet and nothing was amiss. He grabbed his torch but it would not work and it would not stick to the car though it was magnetic. He fitted new batteries to the torch and it still would not work. On his left he saw a bright light heading his way which became brighter. After two minutes it was seen clearly. It was a roundish object hovering four metres off the ground and it passed directly over his car. As it did so it gave out a small amount of heat. There was no sound. Its speed was 40 kilometres per hour and it passed off into the distance. As the witness touched the fanbelt the engine started itself but stopped just as quickly. Then the headlights and the radio came back on. Finally all systems were operating and the witness drove off after the craft departed.

They were met by a third Guard who sounded the alarm. They searched the area with a German Shepherd dog. The dog showed no reaction until very localised blasts of air struck the group. The dog was sent into the bushes where the noises emerged from and the dog returned looking and walking seasick and trying to protect its ears from the noise. Then the dog began to circle them as it was trained to do when it sensed danger. The men swivelled around to be confronted by an eerie green glow out of which a misty figure appeared floating in midair with legs and other extremities not fully formed. The figure was very large. One Soldier attempted to fire his rifle but felt the strength drain from his body and he began to lose his eyesight. He cried out "They'll kill us. " as he collapsed onto the floor, conscious, but unable to move. His two colleagues fired off up to fifty rounds straight into the apparition that was right in front of them. There was a flash of light and the entity simply vanished. The effected Soldier later suffered severe head pains and spontaneous loss of vision. Despite a thorough investigation not a single bullet was ever found and no marks were ever found in the wall in front of which the entity had stood. Where did the bullets and the figure go? Through a wormhole?

It was a greenish black head supported on a long arched neck that was more slender than that of a seal. In the wave troughs four to five feet of neck was visible. The head was rounded with a blunt nose. At one point a gently rounded shiny black body broke the surface that was fifteen feet long. On top of the head there were two small rounded buds or horns. Both witnesses photographed it. David’s camera failed to wind on correctly and Doc’s showed little detail due to a wide angle lense. As he returned the bird took flight and landed north several hundred feet away circling briefly before rising above a ravine to the northwest before it landed on a limb of a hardwood tree twenty-five feet up. The whole tree shook and vibrated violently and the bird must have weighed one hundred pounds and was now one thousand feet from the witness who fired his gun at it and was amazed to see the bird drop at that range. The Expanded Final Hypothesis:

A million mutating questions and a constantly mutating answer.

In our data ranging from 1800 to 1977 we have met a lot of apparently conflicting items of information that seem to indicate the existence of various themes or subgroups of Phenomenal activity that initially would have been regarded as totally erroneous or false. If they were fabrications then they indeed indicated themes of fabrication that might have to open up whole new studies of conscious and subconscious visionary and delusional States. Many of these data were not psychological in origin though apparently belonging to psychologically interpreted subgroups.

Did these things actually exist, even if only for an instant or were they delusions, possibly triggered by minute variations in electromagnetic fields on the surface of the Earth?

These electromagnetic variations have been linked to types of Schizophrenia as they influence the very subtle electronics of the Human brain.

Are there transient episodes of schizophrenic delusional activity triggered by electromagnetism?

This could explain away such things as Ghosts and other boundary events that are not quite in our own reality.

But how do they explain away transient Phenomena that do indeed leave physical traces of their passing as well as other possible interactions on a physical level with their surroundings?

At the most basic level we have lights or shapes moving either on Earth, in the air or in the water or all three of the above. These shapes are witnessed and then interpreted by the witnesses. We end up with a variety of types of Phenomena that have been independently and group observed that appear to have symbolistic or cultural loadings.

Which then is correct?

Let us look at a brief rundown of our most common Phenomena as they interact with the witnesses, our World and possibly our entire dimension.

We have looked at the concept of Wormholes. What are Wormholes?

Wormholes are theoretically possible shortcuts through Time and Space where the concepts of Time and Space are detoured around completely. Sounds simple doesn't it? It actually is simpler than you at first may think.

What have all of these disparate and different items that I have listed to do with Wormholes?

Are there indeed Wormholes? Let the data draw you to its own conclusions. Our best clues to the positioning of Wormholes may be areas of anomalous activity on the surface of the Earth. These Wormholes may be where we witness things that are not of our own dimension or reality as they enter and leave either intentionally or accidentally. It could also be where we witness the creation or interpretation of matter into something that our subconscious requires to stay "normal" under normally impossible circumstances. Are we then creating or observing? Or both?

At Cherbourg, in the Manche of France on 12th January 1836, a large luminous body was seen in the sky. The luminous body was two thirds the size of the Moon and rotated on its axis. In the centre was a dark cavity and the luminous object was seen in the sky for a considerable period. This was definitely not a Meteorite. Is it not slightly odd that in 1905 the same or similar Phenomenon would be seen again in the sky above Cherbourg. Were we hitting something else's orbit? Indeed a very localised orbit of only a few miles variation if that though still over periodic or astronomic lengths. We have already seen recurring earthly positions receiving Astronomical debris or events such as five East to six East 44 North to 45 North amongst others. Do we have possible Wormholes or astronomic paths that indeed are very narrow and have very little variation so that instead of having error factors of hundreds of AUs or Astronomical units, each AU being the distance of the Earth from the Sun, to having error factors in occurrence width, the areas where they occur, to only a few degrees and possibly even down to a few miles. Are the orbits and rotations of the Universe far more exact than we would like to believe or scientists would like to have known. Or is it all just one incredible coincidence? Which is more rational? Blind chance or progression and determination? Patterns within patterns within patterns like wheels within wheels within wheels?

There were two independent reports of creatures and landed craft in Nebraska in February 1922. Both the craft and the creature were too similar to allow for coincidence. The independent witness in one of the sightings saw a large circular object land near their home and an eight foot tall being step out of it. Another discshaped object was hovering over the witness at the same time and there were voices coming from it. Eventually the being that had come out of the first craft retreated and vanished after walking right through a barbed wire fence leaving the wire cut as if by a welding torch as well as burning hot. The witness assumed that it was the Devil. The Devil arrived in Nebraska. Odd activity in Nebraska. The second encounter was almost the same. It is almost as if it were Nebraska's turn as the Phenomena causing or releasing energy or conjunctions moved on.

Physical charts that I created based on the collected data of the test period 1800 to 1977 indicated several different periodic sine waves oscillating over the Earth's surface relative to time. These might well be connected to the periodicities observed by Mr Illert based on my data. Theoretically due to the periodic nature of the sine waves we can well hypothesise that the periodicities may apply equally to forward progression as they are to reading from the data. This implies that we may be able to project where and when the next Phenomenal happenings may be optimally timed and placed to occur, as the periodic waves travel or open or occur along the surface of the Earth. What these may be may be more uncertain. We may merely be opening holes between different dimensions or states and forms of existence. Another postulate may be that we may be individually manifesting Phenomena using the periodic sine waves as a place of origin or a source of required free energy. This may then rule out multiple independent witnessing of similar Phenomena in the same time period though. It then may be as simple as finding Wormholes. The reason that we do not fall into them all the time is that they appear to move and then to open relative to Time and Space along the paths of the oscillating periodic sine waves. Wherever the Worm turns one could say. And the worms turn in sine waves.

On October 18,1927, Mr Richard Sweed, a Schoolteacher, was driving to Yuma in California. Near Bakersfield in Kern County, California, he saw a sixty foot diameter Airship take off from the ground. It had round holes or windows in it as well as ceramic or metallic protrusions that resembled lenses and were a bluish-grey colour like a metal that had been heated and then cooled off. The machine gave off a whining, humming, wheezing, swooshing noise as it rose up at an angle of 45 degrees. At the spot where the machine had been there was now a layer of crystallised sand that resembled glass. The source of the intense heat needed for this had to have come from above and must have been produced by the Airship or lightsource. Do these Phenomena lifting off or ascending follow similar micro-periodicities?A sort of Cosmic, possibly interdimensional, timetable of energies or coordinates necessary for the functioning, either intentionally or unintentionally, of the Phenomena. It may well be that the witness provides the identification, with all of its inherent and assumed subjectivity, but the coordinates indicate where and when relative to each other these micro-periodicities will occur so as to manifest or allow for the manifestation of Phenomena or the opening of interdimensional or inter-reality gateways. As regular and reliable as going to a Railway Station and then to a particular platform to catch a particular train. Wormholes need not necessarily be random. Nothing in the functioning of the Multiverse might be random. The Multiverse itself may be the most precise mechanism ever created and precise indeed to the nanosecond.

Around Inverness in Scotland in 1927 strange footprints were being found and sheep and goats were being slaughtered. A farmer killed a large fierce animal of an unknown species. Another animal similar to the first was then also shot a little while later. No, it was not the Loch Ness Monster from nearby when a third of these strange animals was shot and killed. It was identified as a Lynx, a large bobtailed cat native to North America. Lynx are not native to Scotland. Neither is a breeding colony of them. Did the Lynx even know that they were anywhere that was not where they were supposed to be? We have a theory of Wormholes through Space that avoid Time and Space. When we allow for micro-periodicity with its micro or smaller distances we can also allow for the existence of micro-Wormholes wherein creatures and objects can travel across, possibly even through, the Earth, at the same moments avoiding Time and Space as in the case of the larger Interstellar Wormhole theory. Can these micro-Wormholes even connect different dimensions or realities? Can we use them like tunnels to subway Stations that take us to Major terminal Stations? I hypothesise that we can!

In January 1928, many people were fired upon by a phantom marksman in Camden in Camden County in New Jersey. Bullet holes were found in vehicles but no bullets or projectiles were ever found. There were several dozen of these attacks. We had Micrometeorite showers here for the previous two years. How do we have a Micrometeorite showerlasting two years onto the one small place? Do we have the micro-Wormholes moving relative to positions and times on the surface of the Earth as we know it? Do they have differing micro-periodicities?

In 1930 at Campbell Lake in Campbell County in South Dakota, a strange creature was reported to be coming out of the lake and catching and killing sheep. The creature was supposed to look like a dragon and was huge. Interestingly enough the bones of a Mosasaur, extinct for 130 million years, were found on the lake shore. These bones were fresh though! Was he the last of the Mosasaurs or one of several still in the lake? Or had he taken a shortcut forwards through time? Whatever it was it did not know that it was meant to be extinct. Huge tracks were seen in the mud leading to the lake by a farmer who saw a giant fourlegged dragon like creature. Even some American lakes have them. From 1930 to 1934 there were Lakemonster reports and strange animal attacks on sheep around Campbell Lake. Then they stopped again. Once again the amazing appearing and then disappearing Phenomena. Are our creatures a little like stranded survivors of shipwrecks or abandonings? Or are they just lost? Somehow getting through microwormholes unintentionally? Wormholes that maybe go through time as well as space? Unlike others we may be seeing?

Even such anomalous activity as the falling of odd masses of ice may indicate the position of a Wormhole. For example a single block of ice three feet by three feet by two feet thick may suddenly plummet down from the Heavens. We have already met quite a few of these in our notes already. Maybe it was a baby ice elephant or a gigantic ice elephant dropping as we have referred to them! But where was its nursery and how long would a dust particle take to grow in the sky to this size? Maybe it was a dust boulder. And if so how did it get up there and more importantly stay up there? Remember that hail is ice that has condensed or accreted around dust particles. How long do these take to accrete when it involves sizes like this? And all this whilst plummeting down from the sky and being subject to friction which should be melting it? We have had no immunity granted here from the laws of gravity, have we? Is there somewhere else in the sky that these items develop in? In that it is there but it cannot be seen or felt or smelt or even sensed at most times. But sometimes it fills all of the senses and more. Read on. Do our Phenomena actually appear from not very far away at all?

Another reported anomaly is of non-Meteoric stones falling from the sky? Obviously illusions or existing stones that no-one had noticed on the ground before even though some of them are hundreds of pounds in weight. So easy to overlook one would think? And purely coincidental that there may have been a vision of stones falling down from the sky at the time and place of the assumed fall. Obviously a mistake or another hallucination. Maybe these were the nuclei for Ice elephants? So that is how they get there? But how do giant hailstones then create themselves around red-hot falling Meteors? This could not be the case so the stones must have been sucked up into the sky only to fall down again. Is this not ruling out the presence of gravity again or is there actually a gravity negating force at work here? Are there indeed winds that can suck rocks and stones into the stratosphere? Maybe they are not from here after all?

And why are there no large stones at the centres of giant falling icebergs anyway? Can they keep these now airborne objects up there for indefinite non-gravity defined periods? Or are they possibly falling from elsewhere as well? We cannot completely get rid of the laws of Physics even if we may have to adapt some of them.

We have a few examples of odd non-Meteoric stone falls. On 17th August, 1887, in Brixton, England, an oblate spheroid or roundish lump made of Iron, two inches across, was found lying in a garden after a storm. So ordinary. Can't people be a little more original with their hallucinations? It is as if they read them out of a set list of descriptions, oddly enough one that until now had never been thought to exist as this text is the first major one. This was the twenty-second Phenomenon reported to occur in that particular area up until 1887. Some areas are more prone to Phenomena than others? It is not supposed to be so though. If they are hallucinations or schizoid delusions then they should be spread randomly throughout the population. You cannot have great masses of them in the one spot or the entire population of that area was either hallucinating much higher than the average or was more prone to schizoid delusions than the rest of the population. Mentally abberative states do not tend to cluster and even if they did, obviously delusional people would not be taken seriously enough to warrant listing any of their reports as credible. We have reality and delusion colliding here.

Here is another example though and this is of a stone that has, we believe, a definite earthly origin. It's mode of transport is what is in question though. On June 6,1890, there was a fall of limestone pebbles during a hailstorm at Pel-et-Der in the Aube of France. The limestone was found to be the same as that from Chateau- Landon. The two towns are 139 kilometres apart as the Crow flies. More stones from the sky along with hailstones. Suddenly it does not seem so unusual. Almost expected. Remembering that none of these events listed are meant to have occurred. None of the events are scientifically verifiable. They are not supposed to exist yet as we progress they are becoming thematic and familiar. Is there a limit to Human imagination? Are there a number of set themes and styles that Human observation allows for or are there only a limited number of Phenomenal types to look for? The Human imagination is limitless as evidenced by our art and creative culture. Our boundaries for Phenomena are limited. They are not imaginative. They are not an inch on a good nightmare or even a bad dream. This could indicate that they are not necessarily imagination on its own. They are possibly outside of what we would normally call our imagination. Our witnessing of Phenomena is too rigid for imagination and this would also include symbolism whether conscious or subconscious.

There are so many examples of anomalous Phenomena. Millions of little black pebbles are not supposed to suddenly come plummeting straight out of the sky either but we have seen them do just that. Take Birmingham in England as an example. No one mentioned whether the stones that have fallen here were hot or cold though. If they were not hot then the story gets a little weirder. It means that the stones did not travel very far or very fast through our atmosphere. And this theory could apply to our falling icebergs as well by rights as they, after not having been formed to the sizes reported, should have melted on the way down from where they were high enough to stay in the sky so long as to form in the first place. We have had numerous pebble falls and oddly enough they tend to occur in the same place more than in scattered places. It is this particularity that is clashing with accepted physics. Birmingham and its environs indeed had numerous clashes with our falling Phenomena over the years and several times with falling black stones amongst other things.

What then of falls of objects that we insist have only earthly origins? An example being coal. Coal as we know it is decomposed and fossilized plant material from the Earth that is hundreds of millions of years old. In 1867 there was a fall from the sky of a single piece of coal that was eight per cent hydrocarbon onto the city of Goalpara in Assam, India. This was not the first though. The Goalpara coal fall was the sixteenth coalfall since Alais, France, in 1806. This was followed by Naples, Italy, in 1818, Christiania or Oslo, Norway, in 1822, Allport, England, in 1827, the Cape of Good Hope in South Africa in 1838, Tennessee in 1840, Genoa, Italy, three times in one month in1841, Kaba in Hungary in 1851, Hessle, Sweden in 1860, Cranbourne, Australia, in 1861, Montauban, France, in 1864 and Notting Hill, London, 30th June,1864 followed two days later by another fall in London. Obviously this was not the first fall of coal from the sky. Each time the fallen matter was definitely identified as coal which can only be produced by the very slow decay of Carbon based plantlife on a planet the same if not similar to Earth. Falling coal was not a one off. If this is coal then how would it get up into the air to fall down again? Why is it not burning up on re-entry into the atmosphere as coal does burn exceedingly well? Why is it not travelling at the velocity one would normally find falling objects travelling at? Are there or is there another Earth or planet, with coal that is very Earthlike indeed, just across the Rainbow as they used to say?

Old favourites still kept returning. On July 28,1885, a brown substance fell with the rain onto Val-de-Luchon in the Garonne in France. The substance was friable and gave off a resinous odour when burnt and was found to be carbonaceous material or coal. Falling coal may never cause shocks to reality but not electric ones. Places or phenomena? They all tend to repeat rather than stay single and isolated.

On August 10,1885, in Grazac in the Haute-Loire of France there was another fall of coal that even gave off a bituminous odour when burnt and was described as carbonaceous material. Falling bitumen? Interestingly from the same piece of orbiting airspace that deposited coal onto Val-de-Luchon or the two falls would not have occurred so soon after each other or so close. The Val-de-Luchon and Grazac are only four hundred kilometres apart. Remember that we are whizzing through Space at Phenomenal speed and mathematically the same spaceborne cluster or origin would have well and truly missed the Earth if it were coming directly from Space. We then might have to look for a closer place of origin though a little further away as we have no reports of gigantic bitumen clouds flying around in our atmosphere and crashing into hovering ice masses otherwise we would have reports of bitumen covered ice masses falling from the sky. Are there parallel worlds, a Multiverse of them, a negative reality possibly of them that becomes positive at times? There are so many questions and so many answers. We have to sift through all the material to find which is the nearest answer that we can obtain that will defy all other arguments.

We come to our next section. We have had ice and stones. What about mixed miscellaneous objects? There have been pinpoint falls of rocks, mortar and Charcoal onto and into homes and shops as well as a host of other buildings over the last two centuries. Rocks and mortar and other miscellanea come crashing through windows, even striking people at times. Even spreading to other houses or buildings in the neighborhood. Witnesses state that they could see where the rocks and such could be seen just materialising onto windowsills. Quite often gravity is not quite working and we have reports of apparently slow falls. Slow or not very far? Can the wind or any other invisible force keep the technically gliding or falling, for they are not self-propelled, flying objects up there indefinitely? Were the witnesses possibly all hallucinating or it might have been jokers or mischievous children? Maybe they were all being schizoid? But I am unsure as to why the people would hold themselves up to public ridicule over such banal matters if this were the case. Only genuine amazement or total stupidity would allow for the publication of such reports and the mass embarrassment that it would have caused to individuals as well as to whole communities would have been very effective filtering mechanisms for dissemination of information. The rocks and other objects are always being reported to have come down from the sky. They were also reported to have just appeared before falling or striking. Were they from elsewhere ? Had they possibly not fallen very far at all ? Had they possibly not fallen very fast at all either?

What about falling animate objects? No rocks or stones or even jellies. Only frogs and or toads falling and being seen by many bystanders after having been reported to have fallen out of single thick black clouds that had appeared suddenly in an otherwise clear sky or had tumbled down during storms. Our first answer is to state that obviously a whirlwind had hit a pond, sucked up all of the frogs or a goodly number of them, put them into a little black cloud that was scudding past and then deposited them elsewhere. There was no wind recorded though in many cases. Or other bits and pieces that we assume would also be in the contents of a freshly vacuumed pond. It was just Lucky I guess but at least this is a logical explanation. And as for the sucked up pond, who would have been looking for one to know if one was missing along with its frogs? They must have gotten separated somewhere along the way. And the little black cloud? It must have been a coincidence too. As would be the gathering of toads as they are solitary and not communal creatures.

The multiple falls of frogs over time onto Toulouse in France must have just been purely coincidental as well.

As have been the multiple toad Falls wherein as we know toads do not congregate in colonies or communities but tend to be loners. This would have been a very clever selective whirlwind. With a penchant for toads.

An example of an anomalous animate object fall follows. There was a Frogfall at Wigan on the same day as a fall of Jellyfish onto Bath in Avonshire in England, jellyfall capital of the World it would seem. Thousands of one inch across Jellyfish or jellies fell from the sky in Bath. Nothing else fell. The jellies or Jellyfish, which as we know are Bath's speciality, were the size of a shilling piece. Amazing, though impossible how some areas even specialise in Phenomenal types. Impossible as it is the Phenomena do appear to cluster as well. Clustering and specialization and in fact repetition are not supposed to be standard features of mentally induced or imagined Phenomena. Remember, none of what we have observed is believed to exist therefore it is all mentally induced, a diary of delusions, a menagerie of mirages. And yet by the acts of repetition, the clustering and the specialization we are led to believe that there is indeed a certain slowly dissembling pattern to all of this and on a planetwide basis this could surely not be the result of coincidental mental aberrations. There are just too many of them and we have still only scratched the surface. Gelatinous worms had fallen in Bath in 1871 on 24th April , which by 27th April , had turned into chrysalids. In 1894 thousands of one inch Jellyfish would fall here.

What is it about Bath and Jellies? Toulouse and frogs and Bath and jellies. Coincidental at all?

It is this synchronicity of Phenomena or Incidentallity that I prefer to call it that is scary. Phenomena tend to follow places and not necessarily the same Phenomena though this on occasion does occur. As surely as day follows night, or so we are led to believe.

On Friday. 20th March ,1886, at 3.00 pm daynight fell onto Oshkosh in Winnebago County, Wisconsin. There was thick cloud cover but no eclipse or smoke. Reports of an approaching daynight came in from the west where towns had already been effected. The daynight lasted ten minutes and there was no wind at all and the cause was unknown. Was it the shadow of something very big and very high up? The daynight had been as dark as Midnight. This is our sixteenth daynight thus far where day becomes like night. In this case the daynight travelled from west to east or at least something casting a very big shadow was travelling above the cloud cover. Not too high though or it would have blacked out vast swathes of the Earth. This swathe was narrow indicating a lower altitude or a smaller size. Previous daynights were Granada, Spain in 1804, Palermo, Sicily, in 1817, Montreal, Canada, on 8th November and 10th,1819, Brussels in the Brabant in Belgium in 1839 as well as Comrie in Scotland, Forest Hill, Arkansas in 1847, Baghdad, Iraq, in 1857, Fort Klamath, Oregon in 1867, Naples, Italy, in 1872, the New England region of the United States from New York to Albany in 1881, London, England, in 1882, the Midlands of England in April 1884 and around Colchester, England, in June Also in 1884 as well as Preston and Liverpool. What was passing over? Was it actually passing over here whilst being here or was it not quite here as well?

What then of odd objects hovering or coursing through the sky? I started the listing of data at 1800 for one primary reason. There were no modern excuses that could be used to explain away or normalise the situation of luminous aerial objects travelling in an erratic or nonastronomical manner. Things with lights on them in the sky were not aeroplanes and in the Nineteenth Century there were not that many balloons either as these were very rare and a big event if one was seen in the sky. Many of these aerial craft or Airships as they were described and reported had bright flashing lights as well as in many cases searchlights. How do we get lights to flash? With liquid fuel lamps we have to manoeuvre and manipulate shutters or louvres and the lights are far from bright. With electricity we turn the current on and off or use louvres or shutters or electric pulses. In 1813 we have oil lamps which produce very dim light. There is no electricity. There is therefore no electronic machinery or electric light. Balloons were not flown at night if they were around in that period either as it was too dangerous. It was too dark to see. Something was up there though apparently manipulating a light source for Meteors and their kind do not flash. Nor do they hover. Nor do they return to the sky from the ground or stay over an area for an indefinite period of hours or days. Our earliest hovering light is from 1800 over Baton Rouge in Louisiana. Our first flashing light is from 1813 over Tottenham in Middlesex in England. We know that these are not balloons. Our first periodic mass of lights in the local sky was over Piedmont in Italy in 1808. They are hovering and therefore are not Meteors and their kind. What are they if they are anything at all?

What then of odd aerial devices that apparently have no possible Meteorological explanation? Hovering lights could still be misidentified Stars or other Phenomena. We have already met numerous disc-shaped luminous objects shooting up out of fields and vanishing into the sky at tremendous speed. Witnesses are sometimes woken by loud humming and other noises as this occurs. Sometimes witnesses are swooped by these aerial lights. Meteors that are not seen coming down but instead are seen going up. Meteors cannot hum but are heard humming. Nor do they rise up out of paddocks or fields. Maybe some of them do not know this? Shame that returning Meteors have been seen worldwide or we could conveniently disregard them as abberations. Abberations are much harder to disassociate from or deny the existence of when they start occurring in masses or themes. Maybe the giant wind, the Frogsucker, was sucking the falling Meteors back up? Why is it that the logical answer for one problem becomes an absurdity when applied to another problem? The mathematics are indeed the same.

The constants are the same. Only the objects being described are different. Why then should this make a difference in our appreciation of the Phenomenon? Why allow for a Frogsucker and not for a rocksucker?Especially a rising and falling luminous rock sucker.

We also have the sudden appearence of Phenomena, especially aerial Phenomena which in many cases are literally of the now you see them and now you don't type. One day in 1819 in Angouleme in the Charente, France, at 6.00 am a strange sight suddenly appeared in the sky. This was a spindle-shaped object that was 7,500 feet long and was inclined towards the Earth emmitting a very strong light. What is a spindle? Technically a spindle is a long piece of turned wood like an old spindlechair leg. This means that the object allegedly seen in the sky over Angouleme was like a row of lumps in a line stretching for 7,500 feet, well over one mile. It was also heading towards the Earth very rapidly. One is sure that the residents would have been very interested in exactly where it would crash and would have investigated. There is no report of a Meteor crash and Meteors, as far as I know, are never spindly. The object had also just appeared suddenly. There was no gradual descent from the Heavens. It was just there!. What was it and where had it come from? Had it arrived from Space, from whence one would have surely seen its descent, especially being that size, or from elsewhere, by simply appearing? By suddenly flashing in from another dimension? How would one fail to notice the descent from the sky of an aerial object 7,500 feet long that was apparently heading towards you? Even the stupidest of you would have noticed and would have noticed if it had landed at all.This one just appeared in freefall and then vanished. Were we viewing another reality in collision with ours? Like looking into a fishbowl? And how did it vanish without being observed. Did it suddenly reverse at a speed faster than the Human eye can catch and do this whilst travelling in the opposite direction? Or had we viewed something passing by that might not even have been here? Or did it pop in and out of the wrong reality and just manage to pop back in the nick of time before it collided with our physical reality. There was no noise therefore indicating no friction. Mass produces friction in movement. Did the spindle have no mass then? Was it surrounded by an area of no mass? Was the humming the sound of an electrical field?

On November 21,1883, a light in the sky that looked like a Comet or Meteor was seen over Humacao in Puerto Rico. This odd flying light was seen for the next three nights in succession. This first night was the same night as the appearence of an odd aerial object over Sulphur Springs in Crawford County, Ohio. Something was interested in some places other than others. What were they searching for? Or was it an opening of something at one or several fixed points relative to the Earth? What connection was there between Puerto Rico and Ohio as this was the second synchronous sighting of this type? Now we have two of them. Or one of them still but viewed from two different locations. But why no viewings from in between?

That the same first night a torpedo shaped object was seen over Sulphur Springs in Ohio. The aerial object had a nucleus and at each end was a tail. It was not a Comet. If these were Celestial objects they would have wider areas of appearance due to their high positions in the sky. These appearences are localised only indicating very low altitudes or they would have been reported from Puerto Rico to Ohio in one long line at least. Which is it? Very high up or two localised ones? Or two suddenly appearing very low ones?

Occasionally we have variations but almost always on the already emerging themes. On July 7,1885, Mrs Popham was seated upstairs in her house sewing when suddenly a blinding flash of light lit the house up. A huge mass of fire was descending diagonally outside. Simultaneously Mrs Popham received a paralysing electrical shock from head to foot. Other people in the village also received electrical shocks at this time. This was in Lachine, Quebec in Canada. Do all falling Meteorites produce electric shocks? Usually not. There was no record though of anything hitting the ground. Did this dissolve as well like the alleged Benkelman Airship that we have already met or did it just vanish like our Angouleme spindle? Remember that all of our sightings are alleged. None actually ever occurred according to scientific truth! Where did the fire go? Once again it seemed to have vanished just before hitting the ground.

What then of sightings that involve a number of complex non-Meteoric objects in the sky? In several of our sightings these aerial objects seemed to fall in a falling leaf motion or like a disc falling in water. It was not falling in water but only looked like it was. Is the air thicker to a descending unknown or is it made to appear thicker as it descends? Is this the action of a braking system or a natural Phenomenon? Are we even looking at the same air or the air somewhere else, with even a different gravity, though for a limited period actually visible to us here on Earth? It might not be here but it still could be seen from here for a moment? Remember the Astronauts on the Moon leaping around? Was there a difference in gravity? How close do our next dimensions get?

On August nineteen,1887, a strange circular object flew over the city of Marseilles in France. The object was one tenth of the Sun's in diameter and was observed during a Solar Eclipse. Such common nonexistent things as circular flying objects. What genius thought that one up? Considering that this is actually UFO sighting number 155 since 1800, approximately, it was a while ago. In fact the first disc-shaped and described as such flying object was seen to shoot up out of a field during a series of anomalous activities in northwestern Italy in April 1808. This was at Torre Pellice in Torino on April 18,1808. Had anything changed in the previous 79 years? In 1871 and 1883 there were also sightings of strange aerial craft in the sky over Marseilles. Why Marseilles? Why then?

All of these sightings are getting so tedious. Remember that we have not even entered the Flying Saucer or flying disc age yet and we are seeing them almost around every corner. During September and October 1887, the towns of Tywyn and Aberdovey in Gwynedd in Wales were visited by a mass of lights that would at first appear over the Dysinni River estuary. The lights would move in formation and were several colours and would appear every evening. Generally they went out to sea but sometimes they hugged the shore vanishing at high speed in the direction of Aberdovey.

Our Phenomena were everywhere. Travelling faster than the news. In the sky over New Zealand on May 4,1888, something was seen in the sky that had an oval nucleus, streamers with dark bands coming from it and lines very suggestive of structures. This was no Meteor or balloon. Oh no! Oval shapes! In the sky! When were the first oval shapes seen that were described as ovoid. It was in Madisonville,Kentucky in 1880. Why not trapezoids or inverted cubes? Or rhombuses? Or tetrahedrons? Only discs and ovals and later triangles along with the very occasional oblong.

During February 1897, there were several sightings of an Airship in York, York County, Nebraska. There had been Meteor sightings before this.This was the first sighting of the alleged great 1897 Airship flap. Was this also a Meteor but misidentified? Can witnesses lock their own cultural loadings onto their observations? Meteorite or Airship? We have previously had different witnesses describing an aerial sighting as a flying Serpent with hot breath whilst other witnesses referred to it as the Airship. This was at Crawfordsville and well before the term Airship was part of the vernacular. The great Airship flap of 1897 was just beginning. Which was the first sighting? The Meteorite near Tombstone on January 24,1897, or the Airship above York in mid-February? Were all of the rest of the sightings of April to June 1897, all misidentifications of naturally occurring aerial Phenomena as well? Or was this another type of naturally occurring Phenomena that we initially did not recognise. Were we viewing energy forms that we did not know existed?

On 20th August ,1905, at 1.30 am several individual witnesses including Mr J. A. Jackson ran to the home of Mr W. E. Wilsie and woke him up in Silshee, Imperial County, California, to tell him about a bright light that had appeared in the sky. At first it was a bright light and soon after it assumed the form of an Airship that was seventy feet long with a searchlight in the front end and several other lights behind. The craft seemed to be heading for the witnesses and seemed to be propelled by wings alone and rose and fell as the wings flapped like a giant bird. There were no balloon attachments and that night there was no Moon. Several strange lights were also seen manoeuvring over the Mountains nearby and one group of witnesses stated that it in fact was a titanic white bird when seen at a distance of five miles. How come witnesses rarely agree? At least here it was seen as an Airship. It is quite amazing how varied the witness reports of the same sightings can be.

On September 2,1905, at Llangollen in Clwyd in Wales during an earthquake a very strange sight was seen in the sky. There was a slow-flying black object in the sky that was ten foot long and appeared web-footed. The creature was travelling at twenty miles per hour and apart from having short wings and four legs resembled a flying pig. The witnesses used fieldglasses to see it as it was two miles up in the atmosphere. As for pigs flying, you yourself can attempt to explain it. Do the witnesses actually see different things when they are all watching the same thing or are they seeing the one thing manifesting in many different ways or are the witnesses actually translating their memories of the event in a manner recognisable to themselves? If any of these questions were the case then how did a host of witnesses either interpret or see a flying piglike creature? Who said that pigs cannot fly? All of the witnesses saw the “flying pig” and described it as such!

There were many sightings of odd lights and Airships in the sky over New Zealand in July and August 1909. For example at Kelso in Otago on August 3,1909, an Airship was seen rising and falling like a bird. Still they came for there were now so many descriptions that they were not possibly just one flying object for there were so many variations in witness descriptions. From thin to broad to torpedo-shaped to Railway-engine like. If we are arriving on another World billions of miles from our own we would not come in a host of different craft merely for observation purposes. Economics, even in Space travel, dictates that the most economical Route and style be chosen meaning that there would be a minimum of craft for especially long trips and that they would tend to look the same, not be as wildly customised as a custom car rally. For if this were the case we are either dealing with a horrendously wealthy civilisation or a very close one or possible witness misinterpretations of the subjects seen. I call them subjects because they are creators of emotional stress thereby changing from objects to subjects and being subjects witnessed under stress then there can be wild disparities in observable differences as the stress itself may alter the descriptions. But were the observations of the one subject altered by the witnesses own perceptions? Can witnesses alter, either consciously or subconsciously, their own perceptions? Was a technical loading relevant to the current culture loaded onto the observations? Were the witnesses translating the Phenomena into subjects with appropriate cultural and technical loadings for their day so as to make them understandable individually to them? If we remove the cultural and technical trappings what do we have left? We have a moving object, usually luminous, in the sky. No more and no less. Was the actual subject of the sightings descriptionless in itself? Was it so unidentifiable that the observers had to adapt their own recognisance of the Phenomena so as to suit their own cultural, unconscious and conscious needs?

On August 13,1909, several responsible residents of Glen Innes in New South Wales, Australia, saw an object like a balloon moving in a northerly direction. A night glass was obtained and the object was found to be shaped like an inverted top. The lower portion was lighted and as the body revolved a light like a small flashlight kept turning on the land beneath. The upper portion was in darkness and the object kept drifting in a northerly direction. A very odd shaped Will'o' the Wisp? Once again a technical interpretation of possibly something else. Is the culturally and technically loaded subjective interpretation of the Phenomena a natural Human Defence to the unknown? In prior times it was Angels and Demons being seen but now that we have "grown up" it was technical and scientific rational Mumbo Jumbo. The Phenomena were staying the same, unidentified sources, quite often of energy, but the descriptions kept adapting. This would give the impression that they were always one step down from "God" or "Science" but one step up from Humankind even if at times the apparent Technologies visible at the time probably could not fly or perform their apparent allotted tasks even if one could build one of them. It was all appearences. The odds are that nothing was seen that we know of but a lot was subjectively observed and reinterpreted that we could not comprehend. The brain had to quickly reinterpret the witnessing of the Phenomenon so as to make the situation as normal as possible so as to stop us going completely mad, though at times it is apparent this did not work too well at all.

On October 25,1909, Mrs A. J. Roe, wife of the Manager of Minderoo Station, Australian for ranch, near Onslow in Western Australia saw an aerial object in the sky that was compact like a dirigible balloon but squarer and more like an aeroplane. The Sun shone on it and flashes came from it as though reflected from something revolving or from metal work. Three Station hands also saw the Airship. Our problem is that witnesses state that they have seen things. This is beyond doubt unless the majority of witnesses like being made the laughing stock of their communities. Most people do not. So we have something being seen and we allow for possible misinterpretation of natural events. Granted these might well be a large number of sightings. But our mystery is the duplication of the fantasy if it is a byproduct of imagination or Technological and /or cultural interpretationof the Phenomena. What I mean by this is that possibly there is synchronous duplication of witness statements and descriptions, within relatively narrow definitions, of Phenomena. They are metallic. It was circular. It revolved. It looked like an earthly nonexistent Airship. Everyone suddenly knew what an Airship looked like but none existed for them to have any idea of what they should look like yet within a short time even with the very slow communications media of the time, the same type of Airship or other Phenomenon was seen over a wide area. Are the witnesses drawing on a set number of subconscious images to help identify the Phenomena which are inherent within us like the theory of Jungian symbolism or are the Phenomena capable of producing sensory manifestations, sights, sounds, feelings, that are similar or familiar to the observer? Or is this process a little more complex and involving an evolving range of subconscious images created by our own cultural loading and constantly being updated by the individual witnesses within parameters evolving as Society, culture and technology progresses whenever the sightings are made or not? That there is an evolution of interpretations of Phenomena that otherwise have no descriptive ability in so-called normal terms but have to be adapted by the observer so as to fit in with previous cultural, Technological and at times spiritual belief systems. To explain Catholics see the Virgin Mary, Hunters see hairy Monsters, Fisherfolk see watermonsters and the scientific amongst us see little men, and big women, from Mars and Venus and possibly elsewhere.

December 1909, around Christmas, was busy in New England in the United States. There were numerous sightings of Airships over places as divergent as Boston in Massachusetts and other places from Marlboro in Middlesex County to Pasque Isle in Dukes County as well as many other places. After this great rush there was nothing, well virtually nothing, in the area until 1965 to 1968 when there was another great flap, though not as big as the 1909 one. Why the explosions of activity? Does this tally with my hypothesis of recurrence and incidentallity? When we allow for substantiation of my findings by Christopher Illert then we can reasonably well say Yes. Are these flaps as they are called in UFO parlance larger openings between dimensions or larger misinterpretations of periodically recurring masses of energy that are as yet unknown? Are the masses of energy part of the interdimensional experience?

At Cova de Iria near Cabeco in Portugal on October 13,1917, seventy thousand people were gathered at the spot where originally three children, Lucia Abadoro, Jacinto and Francisco, had been meeting on the thirteenth of every month for the previous five months after having claimed to have been visited by the Holy Virgin or Madonna. There was a heavy rain falling at the time and the ground was a sea of mud. Many witnesses had still cameras and handcranked movie cameras. It was just after noon and the children were with their parents in front of the tree of the original visitation by the shining being when Lucia gasped and went into a rapturous trance. Lucia saw a female being arrive holding an infant in its arms and declaring herself to be the “Lady of the Rosary”. The Lady declared that the war was going to end soon. This was apparently in reference to World War One. Suddenly the crowd screamed and fell to its knees in the mud. A huge rapidly rotating silver disc plunged down towards them through the clouds and Angelhair or white fibrous filaments fell from the sky. The disc whirled and bobbed faster and went through a spectrum of colours passing low over the terrified crowd. The revolving wheel did this for ten minutes and appeared to be ready to crash to Earth and crush them all. Its colour was now reddish and bloody and it was so big that it could be seen forty kilometres away. Just when it seemed ready to crush all of the crowd a wave of heat hit them completely drying their rain-soaked and also mud-soaked clothes. Miraculous healings were also said to have taken place. The events then finished. There were hundreds of photographs taken as well as metres of moving film. None show the strange disc but do show the crowd bathed in a radiant light and looking upwards as well as of cameras being aimed Skywards taking pictures. The Major prophecies were never revealed at the time though a minor one of the two other children dying soon after the event did come true. Lucia shut herself up in a convent and hid herself from the World. From hereon this event would be described as the Miracle of Fatima. Now we have masses of witnesses and the one central theme of Fatima as it would be known is that there was no central visible theme. Many of the witnesses disagreed about what they saw and all through the miracle as it was called only the children could see the Hominoid or Virgin at all. To most of the witnesses the lit up sky and the swooping revolving wheel were all they saw and even that was in disagreement. Were the witnesses even now putting their own cultural loading onto an unfathomable event so as to make sense of it? There had been strange cannonlike sounds nearby in Lisbon during an earthquake in 1816 wherein an incredible Meteor appeared in the sky six hours later.The light of Fatima was no Meteor though. It just vanished near ground level after being seen hurtling down from the sky! Now this is becoming a common theme that we have met before.

During August 1920, two aircraft were sent out to look for the missing Schooner “Amelia J” in Bass Strait in Australia. There were lights like rockets seen in the sky at the time. The pilots of the two planes were Major Anderson and Captain W. J. Stutt with his mechanic Sergeant Dalzell. Major Anderson saw Captain Stutt’s plane fly into a large cloud and never come out again. No traces were ever found of the plane or of the missing Schooner.

Carnivorous clouds? Rocket like lights? A disappearance after a disappearance? Is there something special about Bass Strait? In 1881 there had been sightings of a fiery ghost ship here and in 1897 there had been strange Airships seen in the sky. In later sightings in the area there would be abnormal electromagnetic activity as well as well as other disappearances. We are linking electromagnetism with our Phenomena a lot as well.

On February 22,1922, near Hubbell in Thayer County in Nebraska at 5.00 am Mr W. C. Lamb was following strange tracks on the ground when he heard a crackling noise followed by a highpitched noise. He then saw a hovering circular object above him and masking the Stars. Mr Lamb hid. The object was dark and suddenly lit up and landed. A magnificent flying creature appeared and landed like an aircraft and left tracks in the snow. The creature was eight feet tall and came towards Mr Lamb, passed by and then vanished. Out of curiosity Mr Lamb followed the tracks that it left for five miles. Like giant men with wings that leave tracks in the snow? And circular aerial craft? What had Mr Lamb imagined or had he not imagined it as it was to occur again?

There was a second report of a similar creature near Lincoln in Lancaster County in Nebraska as well in February 1922. The witness saw a large circular object land near their home and an eight foot tall being stepped out. Another discshaped object was hovering over the witness at the same time and there were voices coming from it. Eventually the being that had come out of the first craft retreated and vanished after walking right through a barbed wire fence leaving the wire cut as if by a welding torch as well as burning hot. The witness assumed that it was the Devil. The Devil arrived in Nebraska. Odd activity in Nebraska. It is almost as if it were Nebraska's turn as the Phenomena causing or releasing energy or conjunctions moved on. Physical charts I created based on the collected data of the test period 1800 to 1977 indicated several different periodic sine waves oscillating over the Earth's surface relative to time. These might well be connected to the periodicities observed by Mr Illert and based on my data. Theoretically due to the periodic nature of the sine waves we can well hypothesise that the periodicities may apply equally to forward progression as they are to reading from the data. This implies that we may be able to project where and when the next Phenomenal happenings may be optimally timed and placed to occur, as the periodic waves travel or open or occur along the surface of the Earth. What these may be may be more uncertain. We may merely be at the opening of holes between different dimensions or states and forms of existence. Another postulate may be that we may be individually manifesting Phenomena using the periodic sine waves as a place of origin or a source. This may then rule out multiple independent witnessing of similar Phenomena in the same time period though. It then may be as simple as finding Wormholes. The reason that we do not fall into them all the time is that they appear to move and then to open relative to Time and Space along the paths of the oscillating periodic sine waves. Wherever the Worm turns one could say.

Sometime in 1924 a farmer saw a plane crash into the woods near Gem in Braxton County in West Virginia. Planes were rare then and this one did not have wings, made no noise and was as big as a battleship. A party of men including the local Sheriff searched the woods and found the wreck. Already there were five or six men there in a clearing. They wore black business suits or coveralls made of shiny material and looked Oriental. In fact they were all under five feet tall. They spoke a foreign language and only one spoke English and told the Sheriff that nobody was hurt and that he would call on the Sheriff later and make a full report. One of the witnesses picked up a small souvenir of the 75 foot long object and took it home. At 3.00 am the following morning there was a pounding at his front door. An Army Officer was there who resembled the men in the suits, being of Asiatic appearence. The Officer asked for the souvenir back and the witness gave it to him. A few days later the same witness went back to the crash site and found no traces of anything there at all. Only crushed grass and bushes. This area had already had various big bird attacks and sightings as well as a child being taken. This would be the first of the UFO sightings, and quite Phenomenal ones at that, that would occur here in the future. The Phenomena mutate and change. One day giant birds. The next day

UFOs and their occupants. And possibly even the legendary men in black. It is like Mythologies colliding and being created at the same time.

It is one of the great mysteries of my research in that the Phenomena attempt to duplicate the cultural and Technological expectations of the time. Take 1897 for example. Out of the masses of Airship reports at the time there is one machine that has big cogs and a propellor. It is in the shape of what we assume the Airships of the late Nineteenth Century were meant to look like. We tend to forget that there is no actual Airship of this period, only an assumption based on witness observations, that agrees with the witness's expectations. Namely a large ovoid or blimp with fantastic, for its day, technology on board that flew through the sky with great propellers on its back to move it forward or huge wings with which it lifted itself up. Unfortunately theHuman race has never built an Airship like this with its giant propellers, or its giant wings, even in the heyday of the Airship in the 1930s. Airships indeed do not even need large propellers to move them forward as small ones are quite adequate due to the minimal flying weight of the craft. Nor do they need giant wings which would tend to be a hindrance rather than a help. But here it was, crashed into the ground in Benkelman, Nebraska, in 1884, the forerunner of many more sightings, with its giant propellers and its' lighter than normal metals. And its jellylike pools after the metals dissolved. Like Ectoplasm in an earlier period. Maybe this is Spiritism for the scientific rationalists? This was no misidentified Comet or Meteor orAsteroid. But was it still mis-identified? What had been a huge aerial craft crashing into the ground in 1884 over only a few days dissolved into nothingness, possibly where it had come from initially.

On the same day as a sighting of an odd Airship over Saint Louis on 28th July , 1880, at Louisville in Jefferson County, Kentucky, between 6.00 pm and 7.00 pm, a being like a man was seen in the sky surrounded by strange machinery that the Hominoid was working with its hands and feet. The craft appeared to be ascending and descending under intelligent control. The craft vanished with the cover of darkness. The object had been moving in many directions as well as ascending and descending at low altitude. The Hominoid also had small wings or fans on his back that he was flapping busily to stay aloft. This one was nothing like a balloon. An amazing observation with the research is how the technology tends to mirror how the observers would have created the observed technology if they were capable at all of creating it. These seem to be blueprints of illusions and dreams come to life. How much of this is true. Are these observations a form of our planet dreaming? Are our witnesses dreaming? Even en masse?

On 28th July ,1880, the same day as Louisville, at Madisonville in Hopkins County, Kentucky, something strange was seen in the sky that had something like a ball at each end. The object sometimes appeared in circular form and then changed to an oval before passing out of sight. Why the constantly changing appearences?

Still in Louisville and late July that same year where there are several reports of a strange Hominoid wandering around that is as agile as a Monkey.The Hominoid had a long nose, pointed ears and long fingers and wore a uniform of shiny material including a long Cape and a metallic helmet. Under the Cape was a large very bright light with which he would scare people, particularly women. The Hominoid even got so familiar as to pull off their clothing while they were stunned. His favourite method of escape was to Spring smoothly over high objects like haystacks or wagons and then vanish on the other side to the bewilderment of those brave enough to persue him. This is like Springheeled Jack in England. The Hominoid confronted the victim, usually an attractive young female, opened his Cape and flashed his light at which time a blue ball of flame usually hit the victim's face. There was no apparent victory other than shock though. In the ensuing confusion he would leap away. A very Springheel Jack type of figure. Was he the strange figure seen pedalling through the sky on 28th July , over Louisville? Had Springheel Jack immigrated from England or had he never been a British citizen to begin with?

During the relatively unknown but large United States West Coast Airship flap of November and December 1896, on the early evening of November 25,1896, Colonel G. Shaw, a former member of staff of the “Evening Mail” of Stockton, California, was on horseback with a companion, Miss Camille Spooner, when his horse stopped suddenly and gave a snort of terror. They were near Lodi in San Joaquin County in California. They then saw three Hominoids nearly seven feet tall and very thin who looked Human nearby. They did not seem hostile and Shaw attempted to communicate with them. The three Hominoids warbled amongst themselves in a chantlike monotone. They were naked and covered with a natural growth as soft as silk to touch. Shaw touched one. The skin was like velvet. The faces and heads were without hair and the ears were very small. The noses were like polished ivory and the eyes were large and lustrous. They had small mouths with no teeth and small nail-less hands. They had long narrow feet. They were nearly weightless and they tried to lift Shaw. They could not budge him. Then they flashed lights at a nearby bridge where a large Airship was hovering and walked towards the craft using a swaying motion and touching ground only every fifteen feet or so. With a little spring they rose up to the machine, opened a door in the side and vanished. What’s this? A difference to the story?Were they used to a different gravity? Like our Moonwalkers? Were they naked or in skintight clothing? Were they actually there? The witnesses reckon so. All through this book the witnesses reckon so. But how far are we to believe the witnesses? Is all we see actually what we see or only a seeing modified to suit the observer or those being seen?

During the great American Airship Flap of April to July 1897, at 6.00 am on the morning of 19th April, a most unusual event is reported as having occurred at Aurora in Dallas County in Texas. Initially an Airship was seen sailing over the town square, travelling at ten to twelve miles per hour and dropping in altitude. The craft was travelling due north and continued sailing over the public square. Above the north part of the town the Airship suddenly collided with Judge Proctor’s windmill and went to pieces with a terrifically loud explosion that scattered debris over many acres of ground. The windmill, a watertank and the Judge’s flower garden were wrecked. The disfigured remains of the Pilot were found and they were regarded as being not of this World. Mr T. J. Weems, the U. S. Signal Service Officer and an authority on Astronomy gave the opinion that the Pilot was an inhabitant of Mars. Papers in unknown writing were also found on the Pilot's person. The fragments of the ship resembled a mixture of Aluminium and Silver. The Pilot was buried on 20th April , the following day, in the local Cemetery and the story was published in the "Fort Worth Register" and the "Dallas Times Herald". The grave of the Airship Pilot was visible for many years in the Cemetery. The headstone was of crude rock and later half the grave marker was broken off and is now missing. On the remaining half was an etched design that resembled a large V lying on its side. Inside the Vee were three small circles. It resembled one end of an Airship or a Flying Saucer to some observers. Even the reported death of an Alien along with a grave. This incidentally was the sixth Airship crash reported in the Nineteenth Century, though the first reported fatality. As usual what little evidence there was has disappeared and this was in a period of hundreds of Airship and numerous Airship Hominoid reports.

At 6.00 pm on April 22,1897, Captain James Hooton was the Railroad conductor on the "Iron Mountain Railroad" near Homan near Texarkana in Miller County in Arkansas. Mr Hooton was out hunting when he heard a sound like a locomotive when there should have been none nearby. Then he saw an Airship land in a clearing. There was a mediumsized man on board. The man was wearing sunglasses and tinkering. The witness was dumbfounded as the Hominoid spoke to him saying "Good day, Sir. Good day". Hooton replied " Is this the Airship?". The Hominoid replied "Yes, Sir". Three or four other Hominoids then appeared out of the keel and Hooton saw that the keelwas in two parts. The front was like a knife-edge and the side of the ship bulged towards the middle. Three large wheels were along each side. They became concave as they moved forwards and to Hooton sounded like Westinghouse Airbrakes. Hooton was told that the craft was propelled by the use of condensed air and aeroplanes as the craft's party vanished below. A two inch tube began to spurt air and the three large wheels commenced revolving. The ship rose with a hissing sound and the aeroplanes suddenly sprang forwards turning the sharp end of the craft Skywards. The ship veered from side to side and the sidewheels revolved so fast that one could barely see the blades. The craft rose into the sky and vanished out of sight. If we tried to build a craft on these specifications it would not fly. It is as if the Phenomena are trying to appear as normal as possible but are strangely subject to misinterpretation in the design stage as they are never quite right or correct for their period. Remember that this is 1897. There are no Airships around let alone Monsters the size of those reported. There is obviously another origin. Even if it is to explain the variety of craft around. The first possible explanation is that the craft are not from very far away at all as there would be too high a cost in sending a myriad of varied craft across the far reaches, or even the near reaches of Space. Any fuel and construction costs would be high irrespective of what type of economic system was in existence. It is cheaper to send one or two craft possibly with the purported ability to disguise themselves. But we have different groups of pilots all indicating different origins. Why was the Earth then, if we allow for the Interstellar theory to exist, so popular in 1896-1897?

This extremely advanced technology was also extremely backward as well if we are to believe some of our correspondents. On April 26,1897, a group of churchgoers at Merkel in Taylor County in Texas saw a most unusual sight. The noticed a heavy object being dragged along by a rope that was literally hanging from the sky. They followed the rope until it trapped itself in the railroadline and looking up saw the dim shape of an Airship. Light was coming from the windows and there was one bright light in front like a locomotive. After ten minutes a man was seen descending the rope. The man was wearing a light blue sailor suit and he stopped when he saw the group of people at the end of the rope. At this moment he cut the rope below him and the Airship sailed off to the northeast. The group of witnesses took the strange object which resembled an anchor to the local blacksmith’s shop where it was put on exhibition. Hundreds of people saw the odd object. This is anchor number three incidentally. There is too much mixing of Technologies here from falling stones to turbines to giant flaps. It does not seem true and yet it is attested to in many eye-witness reports. Were the Phenomena revealing themselves according to assumptions of the technology of the time so as to hopefully blend in or not to be ridiculed, in any way, so to be quickly forgotten or hopefully not noticed at all? Are we looking at presumptions of what a technology could be instead of perceptions of what a technology was? We have an inference instead of an observation? Or were they deliberately looking absurd so as to consistently discredit any witnesses? If one were to make one's appearence as ridiculous as possible but within certain guidelines of normality then one could get away with almost anything as witnesses would in many cases be too embarrassed or scared, in the case of religious Phenomena and such, to say anything at all.

On June 16,1897, in the sky above Marshall in Harrison County, Texas, a flying cigar with great wings was seen. The Airship had two searchlights and was flying southeast. After a short rest the craft were now suddenly back over Texas.

16th June , was shaping up to be a memorable day. At Ennis in Ellis County in Texas the same flying cigar with great wings was seen in the sky as had been seen at Marshall, Texas, the same day. This too had a pair of searchlights and was travelling southeast. All over Texas.

The same craft was seen heading in the same direction over Beaumont in Jefferson County, Texas, as well as Fort Worth in Tarrant County, also in Texas. Were they looking for their compadre that had met its end over Aurora? That it had taken from 19th April, that year, to get a message to the rescuers and it then took them less than two months to get here? If we are even allowing for technology equivalent to ours then we are looking at a base on the back of the Moon or in a similar orbit. It takes several years to even get to Mars, our closest Neighbour.These craft were suddenly all over Texas and nowhere else. They appeared to be looking for something. They had come from two months away. Not on Earth but not anywhere else that we presently know of. The Route the craft took was to first visit Fort Worth, remember that it is recorded as travelling southeast, passed to the northeast of Ennis and then the southeast of Marshall and was last seen heading for the Gulf of Mexico southwest of Beaumont. It passed between Ennis and Marshall indicating that it was not travelling too high but not too low either as these two towns are approximately 230 kilometres apart indicating that the craft or whatever it was travelling at an average middle distance from each of 115 kilometres and was still visible. Aurora and Fort Worth are only 36 kilometres apart. Was there an opening in the sky above the area of Fort Worth-Aurora in Texas that craft or Phenomena were entering from with the craft at Aurora having a degree of difficulty in its approach? Are some of our areas entry only or exit only? Had we met a moving exit ramp to an Intergalactic Freeway?

During July 1900, a female witness aged twelve was walking back to her family's farm at Caddwst in Merioneth in Wales. It was dusk. Suddenly something came soaring over her head scaring the daylights out of her. The swooping object looked like an inverted sugarbowl and was fourteen feet by ten feet in size and more round than high. The craft then rose twenty feet to thirty feet and sailed across a meadow before it vanished. The only sound was the whoosh of displaced air. This is our sixth swoop by an unknown aerial Phenomenon even before they were supposed to not exist officially. The third swoop by a flying disc. Remember the Wright brothers did not get off the ground until 1903. We had our first people swooped on in April 1808 by flying discs in Piedmont. Thanks be to whatever there is where-ever he, she, it or they is or are or even aren't that these things don't exist. Remember that this is a catalogue of witnessings, not necessarily of sightings.

On October 18,1927, Mr Richard Sweed, a Schoolteacher, was driving to Yuma in Arizona. Near Bakersfield in Kern County, California, he saw a sixty foot in diameter Airship take off from the ground. It had round holes or windows in it as well as ceramic or metallic protrusions that resembled lenses and were a bluish-grey colour like a metal that had been heated and then cooled off. The machine gave off a whining, humming, wheezing, swooshing noise as it rose at an angle of 45 degrees. At the spot where the machine had been there was now a layer of crystallised sand that resembled glass. The source of the intense heat needed for this had to have come from above and must have been produced by the Airship. Do these Phenomena lifting off or ascending follow similar micro-periodicities? A sort of Cosmic, possibly interdimensional, timetable of energies or coordinates necessary for the functioning, either intentionally or unintentionally, of the Phenomena. It may well be that the witness provides the identification, with all of its inherent and assumed subjectivity, but that the coordinates indicate where and when relative to each other these micro-periodicities will occur so as to manifest or allow for the manifestation of Phenomena or the opening of interdimensional or inter-reality gateways. As regular and reliable as going to a Railway Station and then to a particular platform to catch a particular train. Wormholes need not necessarily be random. My research indicates that they are periodic and predictable both in time and in Space. We are witnessing energy flares of the type that we possibly might never have comprehended before. That energy has been misinterpreted for generations and clouded with superstition. There is no magic! There is actually only Science waiting to describe and explain the indescribable!

Sometime in 1933 at Discovery Well on the northern edge of the Great Sandy Desert in Western Australia, an Aboriginal woman claimed that her tribe had been frightened off the well when a large shiny egg suddenly came down from out of the sky. It was broad daylight and the egg flew low over them. The egg then landed. Several grey-skinned manlike beings came out of the egg and stunned the woman with an object that one of them was carrying. The woman was then carried into the egg and she was strapped to a shining table and experimented on. No cultures were exempt it seems. What in Aboriginal culture would produce this type of symbolism or is the symbolism Universal? Is it not symbolism then what is it ? If it is preloaded symbolism and Universal then how come it mutates and evolves as we have seen especially with our Technological references? In fact even with our watermonster references as well but we must not rule out other animal Phenomena either, the Jersey Devil and its manifestations being a case in point. This then rules out preloaded symbolism. The symbols then come from outside and are not inherent. The symbols are loaded in somehow and are not inbuilt or they would have to be to evolve. Are they symbols mutating at all? Or are they real until we know of a better term? This then brings us to questions of reality and its purported existence. Reality by reality or by cultural and assumed loading? Can we separate the two? How do we define reality? Is it by interpretation? If it is by interpretation then why the same or similar interpretations worldwide? Why the same themes with very few variations?

What then of lights in the sky in conjunction with earthquakes? Mysterious lights are seen in the sky and afterwards, before or during, or all of the above, there is a sound like thunder for some time or unexplained aerial lights or both. This shock is so strong that it shakes buildings and can be heard for many miles. The light is so strong that people can see each others faces. There is no scientific connection between lights in the sky and earthquakes! Obviously no one had informed the millions of witnesses of these events or the reports over the years. The aerial lights linger far longer than Meteors as well. Some have been hovering for days. Just ask the population of Saint Louis, Missouri, in 1857. Other Meteorites only hovered in the sky for a few hours. It is a very long flypast even at two hours considering that the average Meteor is gone in an instant or in just a few seconds. The temptation to succumb to unscientific satire is great. We need to see the gaps and twists in logic and mathematics and to see what will fit into them in a logical and sane manner. It is a bit like algebra. We have to divide our Phenomena into their common characteristics or constants and ignore the extraneous variables. We have a luminous source in the sky during what is perceived to be an earthquake. Sometimes there is noise as well. Sometimes we have heat manifested by the light. This gives us an aerial heat and light source. Nothing less. How many times though have we seen strange aerial cannonlike or explosive sounds in connection with earthquakes as well as the logically impossible . Many people in earthquake situations are very well aware of what the normal behaviour of an earthquake is and this is not ordinary behaviour for an earthquake. Once again another incredible coincidence. The noises, the aerial lights and the earthquakes all coming together. And we find in our research that this type of Phenomenon becomes tediously commonplace instead of exceptionally rare or possibly nonexistent.

At other times we have total confusion. Over Copiapo in Chile in 1868 a giant bird was seen in the sky. To some witnesses the bird was a metallic bird and more like a machine. This was shortly before a series of Major earthquakes and earthquake related Phenomena in the region. We are really starting to mix up our identifiers. It might be alright to mistake a giant bird in the sky for a metallic luminous craft. But when we have earthquake and earthquake light activity in conjunction with it or in a relatively short time before or after then we are starting to see linkages that at first we would have thought impossible. Nothing is necessarily impossible. The appearence of the metallic bird was followed shortly after by a deluge, an earthquake and coincidental lights in the sky. On August 13,1868, in nearby Peru during an earthquake the sky appeared on fire whilst a deluge fell. Cities were flung into the sea which then came back onto the ruins. The sky appeared literally ablaze and people thought that a volcano was erupting where there was none.

Also on that same day, 13th August ,around the bay of Arica in Chile, the sky was ablaze as fields poured over cliffs into the sea during an earthquake. A deluge fell at the same time. What an amazing coincidence.

On 19th August, six days later, in Peru the sky appeared on fire again during an earthquake whilst another deluge fell. This had happened previously on 13th August . And there is no known connection at all between aerial Phenomena and earthquakes. The fire must have been below the cloud cover as well. Otherwise there would be a very great chance that the other incidences of earthquakes occurring with luminous aerial Phenomena as well as other odd Phenomena that I have recorded might then possess some validity. Let me list just a few examples. In Apt, France, in 1803 there was an earthquake preceded by a fall of stone. There were 22 other earthquake Phenomena not including aerial lights in the sky in the intervening period. The first were in Pinerolo, Italy, in 1808 and there were 24 more events of this type after this. Various examples of both types are listed here. In Granada, Spain, in 1804 there was an earthquake preceded by a dark mist that made day like night. In Pinerolo, Italy, in 1808 there were spontaneous fires occurring during an earthquake as well as strange noises in the sky as well as the sounds of stones falling. This was followed shortly after by the fall of a stone from the sky in Borgo San Domino during an earthquake accompanied by cannonlike noises in the sky. This was during a flap of unusual aerial occurrences over Piedmont in 1808. In Mito, Japan, also in 1808, there was a great luminous Phenomenon seen in the sky during an earthquake. In 1810 Borgo San Domino in Italy had its last encounter with strange aerial noises during earthquakes that had been occurring since 1808. At New Madrid, Missouri, there were cannonlike noises during the Great Earthquake of 1811. At San Juan Capistrano near Los Angeles in 1812 there was a rushing sound coming from the sea shortly before an earthquake. In Lisbon, Portugal, in 1816, there were cannonlike noises coming from the sky during an earthquake followed six hours later by the appearance of a great Meteor. At Comrie in Scotland, also in 1816, there was a large luminous crescent shaped appearance in the sky during an earthquake. The light was seen from Dunkeld to Edinburgh, both many miles away. Comrie is 70 kilometres from Edinburgh and 33 kilometres from Dunkeld. Dunkeld is northeast of Comrie and Edinburgh is southeast. In other words anywhere in between Dunkeld and Edinburgh,74 kilometres, would have seen the strange light which was to the east of Comrie. In Palermo in Sicily in 1817 there was an earthquake preceded by a strange dark mist that made day like night. This is the same as in Granada, in Spain, in 1804. In Inverness, Scotland, there was a fall of hot rain after an earthquake in 1817. In Montreal and other parts of Quebec in Canada in November 1819, there were several earthquakes along with black rain, black mists making the day like night, and strange aerial displays of lights and cannonlike sounds from the sky. This included freak lighting displays. At Naples, Italy, there was a great Meteor seen in the sky during an earthquake in 1821. In 1830 in Kyoto, Japan, an earthquake was preceded the night before by bright lights in the sky. In 1831 the Thuringerwald in Germany hosted the appearance of a great Fireball in the sky before an earthquake. Shinano, in Japan, in 1847 had aerial lights during an earthquake. In the Caucasus in 1856 on two occasions the Sun rose red and there was an earthquake. For something different in Singapore in1861 there was a fall of fish during an earthquake. Unlike Manilla, in the Philipines, in 1863 with its aerial lights during an earthquake. Fort Klamath, Oregon, had an aerial visitor followed by a cloud of smoke coming from Klamath Swamp during a severe earthquake in 1867. In 1868 there were the two Peruvian earthquakes with their attendant aerial lights. Shall we go on? There are even areas that are even more earthquake Phenomena and earthquake light prone than others. Comrie in Scotland could be a book unto itself with the giant aerial crescent of 1816, cannonlike noises from the sky during an earthquake in 1822, a stonefall during an earthquake in 1830, strange skies and black powder falling from it in1837, but no earthquake, the day becoming like night during an earthquake as well as a fall of black powder in 1839, cannonlike noises from the sky in 1840, coloured rain during anearthquake in 1841, the night becoming like day due to intensely bright aerial Phenomena during an earthquake in 1842 and the appearance of a Meteor during an earthquake in 1854. Almost a textbook on earthquake related Phenomena and their types over one small area. In Irkutsk in Russia there was a fall of stone as well as an earthquake in 1824 and this was followed in 1829 by another earthquake and a fall of stone. In 1830 more stone fell in Irkutsk during an earthquake. In 1841 there were three falls of an oilish substance as well as sand and bitumen onto Genoa in Italy from 17th February to February19th. On 18th February there had been a fall of coloured rain during an earthquake. You are right. There probably is no connection at all between earthquakes and aerial or other Phenomena if you remain restricted to traditional Science. But why then is it that many areas that have earthquakes in their histories also have greater incidences of supposedly unnatural Phenomena? Naples in 1818 had a fall of coal from the sky and in the future would have several other bizarre Falls. Remember in real Space Time every spot on Earth should be equally capable of hosting delusions, apparitions and hallucinations, yet they aren't. Is this the even more bizarre linkage with the luminescent Phenomena both seen and unseen that attends earthquakes? What is the mystery linkage with this previously disregarded earthquake energy? And thus far we had only made it to 1868. What is the linkage between earthquakes, and in particular earthquake zones, and our Phenomena? Is it the piezoelectric surge or energy that acts as a fuel for the visions? Does the piezoelectric surge effect the electromagnetism of the Human brain so as to cause visions and hallucinations similar to schizophrenia? This has been postulated but there is still one problem. There cannot be millions of schizophrenics present at major earthquakes where piezoelectric luminous Phenomena are seen. Hallucinations cannot leave physical trace evidence and cannot be multiply seen. A hallucination is not a mirage or reflection off an inverted air layer. An hallucination is very personal and not very public at all. You cannot share a hallucination!

At times we are even confusing Astronomical Phenomena with earthquakes. On September 5,1868, a great Meteor was seen over Zurich in Switzerland. The great Meteor appeared to be near Jupiter. There was an earthquake and a huge cloud in Peru and Meteors seen in the sky the following day. How could there possibly be a connection between earthquakes and the position of a great Meteor in the same spot in the sky relative to the Earth's surface that we would regard as being near Jupiter?

The same day at Tremont-sur-Saulx, in the Meuse area of Lorraine, France, a great Meteor was also recorded as having been seen in the sky and this Meteor was also recorded as being near Jupiter. Numerous witnesses agreeing on the site of origin of the Phenomena but not on the Phenomenon itself.

A great Meteor seen in the sky over Bergamo in Italy also that same day was also seen near Jupiter. This Meteor too was blazing under or in the direction of Jupiter? How close are we to each other in real Space and real Time that we have patterns of repeated Phenomena that race across the surface of the Earth?

Tremont, Bergamo and Zurich could all be placed on the one great curve over the surface of the Earth. Was the light in the sky travelling in front of Jupiter relative to these three places so that it was only seen from places on the great curve as it progressed either North or South? This would give it the illusion of being in front of Jupiter as it travelled at a low altitude over the Earth.This is similar to the Great Serpent that terrorised Bonham in Texas and Fort Scott and Fort Riley in Kansas on July 5,1873. The Phenomenon was rapidly travelling north. Was the Earth moving relative to it as the site of its occurrence was moving relative to the Earth? Do we have short term as well as long term sites of occurrence relative to the Earth?

Now we are rapidly approaching the Great Charleston Earthquake, or series of them, of 1886. We are in Srinagar in Kashmir on the opposite side of the Earth to Charleston in South Carolina ? Why are we here? Because this might be where the start of the great Charleston Earthquake might actually have been. On 20th August ,1886, there were Fireballs seen in the sky over Srinagar, Kashmir, during an earthquake. We know that there is no scientifically acceptable connection at all between lights being seen in conjunction with earthquakes. And these lights were not described as upward glares like traditional or piezoelectric surges but as Fireballs in the sky. Piezoelectricity is regarded as Earth-energy, easily enough produced one would assume when we rub two rocks together which is precisely what happens in an earthquake when massive potential energy is converted into kinetic or movement energy. But energy should not be producing glaring lights in the sky. Are air masses rubbing together? My God, this could explain lightning! Or does it since new research indicates that lightning coming down usually has a corresponding bolt of lightning coming up from the ground? Which causes which then? Can we even be this deterministic? Do we have micro-earthquakes during Lightning storms wherein the earth is vibrating or rubbing enough at a micro-level to produce an electrical discharge that will come up from the Earth to meet a corresponding electrical discharge on the way down? Not all lighting comes down. Much of it goes up and meets a lightning bolt on the way down. How do they meet? Random chance would indicate that when shooting electrical discharges into the air en masse the odds of hitting a corresponding lightning bolt coming down would be minimal at least. Therefore there must be a common medium or force at work that ensures that the two bolts meet. This indicates that there must be positive and negative discharges like North and South poles of a magnet that are always attracted to each other and that is how lightning bolts complete themselves. We therefore have an electromagnetic attraction that completes the circuit! We could then infer that the electrical discharge coming down is composed of negative ions or magnetism and that those in the ground are positively charged. On meeting they would complete the circuit, possibly negating the action of the positive magnetism, and would continue the descent to earth. Or does the positive lightning bolt retreat back to earth bringing the linked up negative and descending lightning bolt with it? So many mysteries.

On August 27,1886, seven days after Srinagar, there was a glare like a volcanic eruption over Greece during an earthquake. There was also a thick black cloud over the eastern Mediterranean that assumed a reddish colour. The volcanic glare is more than likely piezoelectric energy discharge but the cloud, and they are not unknown with earthquakes either, is not. Or is it as well? Is the cloud composed of water particles in the air that have been agitated by the same electromagnetic discharge that is occurring in the earth. Remember that water has two boiling or steaming points. Around freezing and at Boiling Point. The sky is generally not at the temperature of Boiling Point therefore our function must be occurring at the lower temperature in the sky of approximately Zero degrees Celsius. So if we are having a strange fog during an Earthquake something in the earth or sky is causing water vapour to become agitated at a cold temperature. If we allow for the agitation to continue we should have a cold plasma energy release. We cannot just have solidity followed by sudden instability of the structure of water without continued destructuring of the water? The water scenario is unique in that we have a reversal of ordinary thermal effecting of solids. The standard procedure is that the solid is agitated by heat to become liquid followed by steam, semi-liquid gas, followed by gas followed at extremely agitated speeds up to Plasma and then to Quasar Vacuum. With water we have ice which becomes liquid above Freezing Point yet at the same time is agitated into becoming a fog or semi-gaseous state. At only a few degrees above zero our gaseous state is gone and we are left with liquid form only until we reach Boiling Point when once again we have fog, in this case steam or hot fog. Why should water be the exception? Why does it produce cold steam at Freezing point?

Eleven days after Srinagar in Kashmir on August 31,1886, at Charleston in Charleston County, South Carolina, during an earthquake the setting Sun was eclipsed by inky black clouds that caused daynight. There were thousands of witnesses of Fireballs flying around as well as a strange red glare in the sky. If the Fireballs were forms of lightning then there must have been cloud cover. There were also luminous clouds scudding around. This must have all been happening under the cloud cover and there must have been different windspeeds and concurrent different wind directions as well as the luminous clouds which were flying in different directions. As were the Fireballs. Some of the clouds and some of the Fireballs were seen to scud against the wind. The glare might be piezoelectric but were the clouds and Fireballs or were they only present due to the massive piezoelectric discharge? Was the piezoelectric discharge a natural fuel source for unnatural Phenomena? Is it still? There has been speculation that piezoelectric discharge might cause hallucinations similar to schizoid delusions that could well be triggered by electrical impulses in the brain. The only question is what happens when the event leaves physical proof or multiply independent witness reports or both? It may account for some but not for all of the Phenomenal sightings.

Nearby on the same day an occurrence of earthquake lights was happening at Cape Romaine in Berkeley County, South Carolina as well. Soon we would have a cluster of them as well as other supposedly unrelated Phenomena. That night an unusual fall of Meteorites was seen in the sky here during an earthquake.

On October twenty 1886, during an earthquake at Srinagar in Kashmir there were Fireballs seen in the sky. This had previously happened on 20th August , that same year. Interestingly enough there is only one and a half degrees of difference in latitude between Srinagar and Charleston. Do our Phenomena travel on latitudinal or longitudinal paths only? Do our Phenomena travel on very narrow paths ? In a lot of cases it appears to be “Yes”. Quite often there are very small variations in latitude between our areas of Phenomenal involvement. This indicates that whatever we are meeting or colliding with for want of better terms are also travelling on orbital paths, either from east to west or West to east as in the case of daynight that recently happened over Oshkosh on 20th March , that same year. Most of our Phenomena seem to indicate orbital movements, possibly with the Sun at the centre. Very rarely do they travel from north to south or vice-versa. Meanwhile on the other side of the World nothing unusual was happening? Well, nothing unusual for this particular area at this particular time. Literally all Hell was breaking loose.

During other Charleston earthquakes in this period there were the appearences in the sky of at least fifty Meteors. During other earthquakes there were falls of stones from the sky as well as showers of point-rainfall with no clouds. These events were seen by thousands of witnesses. The connection of earthquakes with Meteors is hard to make but must be more than mere synchronicity, being such a regularly observed Phenomenon in conjunction with earthquakes that one can almost guarantee the co-occurrence of them. Incidentally if the Meteors were actually pure energy such as a luminous form of anti-matter or energy that may not exactly be in our dimension at the time but may only appear to be there, could these Meteors be capable of travelling through the Earth to get to the other side? What is matter if it indeed does not matter? If it was antimatter it would travel through the Earth from Charleston to Srinagar or vice-versa in a very short Space of time. Maybe some of our Phenomenal triggers do this but others have also indicated movement across the surface of the Earth in patterns resembling sine waves of varying durations, all of which incidentally follow regular curves relative to regular periodicities on the Earth’s surface. So we are travelling across the Earth’s surface with occurrences resembling sine waves when graphed. These occurrences then in some cases travelling in energy wave format would explain why we do not always have them occurring in very straight lines as they pass over the planet. Do they pass over or do they pass through? Do they do both at times? This is a huge question, it may not have only one answer. Is this Cosmic Resonance, music after all is merely the triggering of auditory energy waves, the actual music of the spheres as mentioned in legend? A system of Cosmic vibrations and counter vibrations and possibly even great orchestral chords that tick away to a Universal Metronome in amazingly tight timing. We have indicated before how similar our Phenomena are in basic appearence, no matter where they occur, is the timing of them as equally simple? As I have asked all along is the timing and placement more important than the actual Phenomenon? Are the great curves that we have noticed many of our Phenomena to be seen on parts of greater curves across the face of the Earth where Phenomena can manifest? I believe so!

There were also single blazing Meteors seen in the sky for the duration of many earthquakes. Were the quakes not real earthquakes at all but the changes in ground pressure as the energy waves necessary to create the luminous Phenomena moved through and then burst into the sky as the pressure against them changed? So many questions.

Then we suddenly shift across the Atlantic. On December 17,1896, an earthquake in Worcester in England was preceded by a great Meteoric light in the sky. The light traversed a large part of the afflicted area. It was a severe earthquake and the light was described as a great blaze in the sky that lit up the area like day for a considerable period. There was a series of earthquakes and the Meteor exploded exactly when the greatest of the shocks occurred! More Earthquake Lights? Over Worcester again?

At 5.30 am that same day at Hereford in England there was a large luminous object seen in the sky that traversed a large part of an earthquake afflicted area. This was a Meteor that was so bright and extraordinary that one could pick up a pin off the ground if one were there. Exceptionally bright! Were these really earthquakes caused by Earth movements? Could there be other forces that appear every now and again that cause the same effect as of the Earth moving? Could these be luminous energy forces striking our planet like a stone hitting a millpond? We inhabit a Universe where we as humans do not see everything around us. There are a multitude of colour spectrums that we cannot see. Are there also other types of wave spectrums that we normally cannot feel as well? Vibrations of feeling are still energy waves bouncing off us so like sound and light there would be masses of different vibratory energy forms as well.

On 12th January 1916, there were flashes of light in the sky before an earthquake in Cincinatti in Hamilton County, Ohio. There was an explosion in the sky during the earthquake. The force was so strong from the aerial explosion that buildings were shaken. This was the first of many sightings of unusual and quite varied Phenomena in the Cincinatti area to come. Had a window suddenly become open? Opening with a bang and not a whimper? How violently do our windows open? Do they at times have to be blown open or are they blown open?

Now we come to another bizarre and even deadly event that may indeed have Astronomical origins as well. On October 8,1871, a fire cyclone appeared from nowhere and razed the town of Peshtigo on Green Bay in Marinette County, Wisconsin, killing one thousand of the two thousand population and destroying four hundred buildings. This all happened in an instant and not a single structure was left standing. The cause of the fire was totally unknown. Witnesses reported a great flame to the west and suddenly countless fiery tongues struck down from the sky with a deafening roar. There were blasts of electric flame as well. Burning buildings were lifted whole into the air before exploding into flame. And what happens when youhave fire from Heaven? You have a cataclysm of unprecedented and deadly proportions. There had been an exceptionally hot Summer. All was indeed very parched. Peshtigo though was only one of many points over many hundreds of miles that appeared to explode into flame at almost exactly the same moment in the states of Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois. Fires, even huge ones, and I come from a country renowned for its massive firestorms and even firecyclones, still need time to traverse Space. From surviving witness accounts these fires did not! They just appeared suddenly and flamed down from the Heavens!

At 9.30 pm the same night as Peshtigo, there was a fall of fire onto Manistee in Manistee County, Michigan. Fire was seen to fall from the sky.

This fire from Heaven also fell onto Holland in Ottawa County, Michigan, at the same time as it also fell onto Menkaune in Michigan as well as Williamsville in Livingston County in Michigan as well.

Even as far west as Brown County in Illinois the fire fell at 9.30 pm as it spread over a huge area. This area that was attacked at precisely 9.30 pm stretched from Brown County in Illinois to numerous towns and villages on the shore of Lake Michigan and covered four hundred square miles. The area was swept bare by a whirlwind of flame and at least 750 people died outright, not including those in Peshtigo and one other area. Survivors reported that they heard a terrible roar as a tornado of fire crashed through the forests and the sky burst into flames. The fire did not come from burning trees or other objects but came as a great whirlwind of flame in great clouds from above the tops of the trees which fell upon and totally enveloped everything. Even people in the open were suddenly burnt where nothing burning could have crashed down onto them. It was as if the fire was coming down from the sky. In many cases it was as if there were no visible traces of fire nearby or on many of the corpses, even on huddled masses of people who died together en masse in the open away from any fire. They looked as if they were asleep. Metal objects found on some of the bodies were partially fused or melted yet the bodies were undamaged by the flames or heat. The fire appeared to be dropping down out of the Heavens consuming everything that it touched. Sand was also reported to have fallen. Great balls of fire were seen unrolling and shooting forth in streams. How do we explain the fall of fire from the sky? The sand in the fall might be a clue. Were there any stones? Or rocks? Were we witnessing an horrendous Meteor shower coming blazing down out of the Heavens? Or was it merely just a phenemenally huge and coincidental series of forest fires during a fall of sand from the sky at exactly 9.30 pm and over a very large area?

The other major fire of note for this night of October 8,1871, was in Chicago, Illinois. Some reports mention a fall of fire from the sky as 3.5 square miles of the city was destroyed by fires which were continuously breaking out! The sky over various portions of the city had an electric-blue or pink glow at times and there was a similar flourescence at ground level. Many witnesses saw something like flame falling out of the air or out of the ground even and lightning fires seemed to have erupted out of nowhere until the city was ablaze. Buildings seemed to explode into flame from their interiors and strange fantastic fires of red, blue and green flames raced along the tops of buildings. Even fireproof materials melted. Near the Railway Station hundreds of tons of stacked Pig Iron melted into one mass though it was nowhere near any burning building capable of generating the necessary amount of heat to do this. Hundreds of people died. What was the origin of the mysterious fire from the sky that consumed major cities as well as towns and villages in Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan that night? Was Mrs O'Leary's cow kicking sand around as well? Are we living on a totally different planet than scientific consensus would have us believe? It may have to be time to accept the Phenomena that have been swept under the scientific carpet for too long and by accepting them we can then study them in a realistic and hopefully rigorously scientific or at least logical manner. How are these Phenomena all related? Are they related? Is our future survival dependent on what we do with the results of these studies? We are at the Borderlands of New Science that is of the utmost importance to us as a people and a a species!

On 12th November 1902, the densest fall of dust and mud fell from the sky onto most of Australia except for Queensland. This densest of blacknesses was lit up by glares in the sky as if fires were falling from the sky and fires in fact were actually reported to be falling down from the sky! We appear to have hit a Meteoric dust storm accompanied by Fireballs. The Fireballs passed over Victoria in the south of the continent and were seen over Boort in Victoria where fire fell from the sky and set fire to houses which it also did in Allendale, Wycheproofe in the Mallee, Langdale and Chiltern in Northern Victoria and Deniliquin, just over the border in Southern New South Wales. This was a flight over a very large but geographically narrow area like a giant flight path. There were also reports of dust and mud from the sky indicating that in some areas water vapour or rain may have converted the dust into mud.

That same day there was smoke in the sky over Java in Indonesia that caused daynight during an earthquake and in Kamsagar in Mysore in India a great Meteorite was seen to fall.

On 13th November, there was a rain of dust and mud followed by daynight over Queensland. Fire was also reported to have fallen from the sky as well. November thirteenth was not much different to November twelth except that the Phenomena had moved northeast to Queensland.

That same day there was a massive fall of sulphurous ash onto most of New Zealand.

In Australia things had not quietened down that day either. In the sky above Parramatta in New South Wales there was a Meteoric explosion seen in the sky above the city. The Phenomena were falling northeast of where they started in the Western Districts of Victoria and were now in the eastern half of New South Wales where dust and Fireballs were now falling.

Over Carcoar, also in New South Wales, a Fireball fell and exploded terrifically into the town as red dust fell in Queensland. Ashes were also falling onto Queensland like a light grey fluffy material. This fallof ash then spread over the rest of Australia.

In Tasmania there was a rain of matter from the sky that had lasted two days, from the thirteenth to the fourteenth. Then it was quiet.

On November 18,1902, there was a dustfall onto Murrumburrah in New South Wales during which a large Fireball fell into the Township.

On 19th November, a seismic wave or tidal wave crashed upon the coast of South Australia.

On 20th November ,1902, Sir Charles Todd of the Adelaide Observatory saw a large Fireball moving so slowly that it was watched for four minutes.

On 21st November, a strange Fireball was seen passing over the Township of Towitta in South Australia. The light was so strong that it illuminated everything like day. The light was the size of the Sun and illuminated several other towns nearby as well. The Phenomenon, which must have been enormous, had been travelling from west to east over a period of two days. This was the second day but even a period of days is far too long for visiting Astronomical events. The orbit of the Earth should have shot out of range or duration in a very short time. Instead the Phenomena stayed around or were so enormous that the entire rest of the World should have been engulfed by them! But it was not thereby indicating that the Phenomena bringing the dust and Fireballs was of very narrow, geographically speaking, incidence, in a path only a few hundred miles wide, and travelling at the speed of the winds, generally three days from Adelaide in South Australia to the eastern Australian seaboard. Dust might be wind propelled but Fireballs generally aren't. Something was moving slowly over the surface of the Earth and it was releasing dust and Fireballs over only the region of southeast Australia and then eastern Australia. Where it came from and where it went to is unknown. It kissed the surface of the Earth whilst passing and was travelling at the same speed as the weather of the Earth before departing. It had lasted six days thus far but it had not departed yet. The following January it would be back and following the same path.

And we go from the huge to the invisible. The only common origin being that both Phenomena came from the sky. On October 2,1875, a man with two partners was trundling a cart along a street in Schaffhausen in Beringen, near Limburg in Germany when his right arm was perforated by an invisible missile that went right through it from front to back. The stricken man had heard a whirring noise but his two partners had seen and heard nothing. The hole was the size of a musket ball but was not the type of wound that a musket or any other conventional weapon of that period could produce. There was also no-one else within musket range. Was it a Micrometeorite? Was it an impossibly fast musket ball of greater velocity than any known in this period? Did anyone still use muskets in this period? Was it antimatter? Was it anything? Did the event occur at all? Did any of these events occur at all? Remember, all that is in this book is supposed to be nonexistent, probably fantasy and delusion, creations of the mind. That is the perplexing part. If indeed they are creations of the mind then why do they follow particular themes in particular places and particular times so habitually? Do times and places effect minds or effect reality? Or is there a linked effect of and on both? Multiple independent witnesses often having the same delusion or illusion?

On November 23,1886, a man and his three sons were pulling corn in a field near Edina in Knox County in Missouri when suddenly there wasa flash of lightning. The farmer was injured as was one son and the second son was dead. The third son had disappeared. A Micrometeorite? A burst of antimatter? Merely an act of lightning?Or coincidence? There was no lightning storm at the time. Are we discussing energy forms that can travel through the Earth with only slightly less difficulty than when they travel through the air? After all lightning comes up from the ground as often as it comes down from the sky.

Was this imagination? On March 16,1891, two men were suddenly lifted bodily through the air by an unseen force at Wilkes-Barre in Luzerne County, Pennsylvania. Nothing else was effected and the two men were carried a considerable distance.

Was this imagination as well? Only a couple of degrees away as well on that very same day, March 16,1891, at 2.00 am Mr Smith Morehouse and Mr William Owen were walking in Vanderbilt Avenue in Brooklyn, Kings County, New York State, when both men were momentarily blinded by a terrific explosion in the sky. Morehouse’s face was covered with what looked like powderburns and his tongue was pierced by a metallic splinter as an explosion occurred close to his head, momentarily stunning and blinding him. Morehouse’s hat was also pierced in six places. Owen was merely stunned. No other person was within one hundred feet and neither man was carrying weapons. It was the same day as the attack in Wilkes-Barre. Was a Micrometeorite or antimatter responsible for the two attacks that geographically were quite close together and astronomically at the very same spot? Or was it something else? The two attacks were only 43 seconds apart in latitude and approximately 180 kilometres in distance. These attacks were not imagination.

On October 4,1909, Mrs W. Burns was watching Barefoot children playing on the beach in front of her house at Santa Cruz in Santa Cruz County in California. She then noticed that they were playing and walking and running in a most peculiar manner. Mrs Burns went down to them and asked them why and they replied it was because theair was full of electricity and that hot shot was falling from the clouds.Mrs Burns then noticed a clattering sound from the rooftops and looking in the direction of the grandstand of the Casino ball grounds where she saw little white threads of smoke rising from the roof wherever the little red hot globules struck the damp boards. Every roof in the vicinity showed the same condition. This occurred from 2.00 pm to 4.00 pm with one little boy being burnt on the finger whilst others were burnt on the feet. Mrs burns saved a few of the pellets that were the size of number eight shot and resembled lead. In Santa Cruz, California, Micrometeorites were spitting down from the sky. Was there a connection between the Micrometeorite shower and the Airship sightings that same year? Had natural Phenomena been misinterpreted into technology or were they concordant with each other?

Early in February 1916, in Glassboro in Gloucester County, twenty miles south of Camden, New Jersey, the house of Charles Repp was the recipient of a fusillade of unknown type. The object left occasional holes in windowpanes and the sounds of glass breaking. No projectiles of any type were ever found though and to make holes in glass requires high velocity impact, usually caused by a gun, but these weren’t bullet holes as they were too small. There had been previous similar falls in Cold Harbour, Virginia in 1900 and Brooklyn, New York, on March 16,1891, the same day as two men were lifted bodilyby an unseen force at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. Were the two events related? Was this a pinpoint Micrometeorite fall? A pinpoint Micrometeorite fall that would recur thereby indicating that the origin of the fall was travelling relative to the Earth so as to stay in the same spot relatively speaking.

During the Winter of 1927 and 1928 scores of people in Camden, Camden County, New Jersey, were fired upon by a phantom marksman. Bullet holes were found in vehicles but no bullets or projectiles were ever found. There were several dozen of these attacks. Can many of our Phenomena be directly attributed to periodic exceptional Astronomical Phenomena that have been misinterpreted or misidentified? Or are our Phenomena more a part of another periodicity that meshes into the Astronomical periodicity? Being thatone is enmeshed in the other like different cogs in a gearbox or a clockwork motor. I am not discussing astrology here or any other arcane sciences. I am after a scientific rationale for these Phenomena when our own rationale or scientific cultural loading comes to a standstill or enters the land of logical absurdity and is no longer viable, though logical in the extreme, as an explanation. We have noticed a particularity as well as a possible periodicity to Phenomena. By particularity I define the localised recurrence of the same or differing Phenomena to the one specific area. Astronomically speaking a localised area is anywhere in our part of the Solar System as far as Comets, Planets, Asteroids and Oort Cloud fragments go. But these often Astronomical Phenomena hit localised areas that are apparently localised on our planet as if they are in micro-orbits inside larger orbits. We then have to postulate as to whether the cogs of the Universe have much less error in their revolutions and rotations to allow for pinpoint accuracy instead of the general theory in Astronomy that anywhere within one hundred Astronomical units, each unit being the distance from the Earth to the Sun, is good enough. If we allow for Astronomical pinpoint accuracy, the Cosmic machine being actually very finely tuned and run, then it would allow for one of our more obvious Astronomical peculiarities. Why do Meteors quite often return to the same place? The example we can use is the area around Flagstaff, Arizona where the Great Meteor crater sits. What is less well known is the preponderance of other Meteor craters of different ages around the main Meteor crater and the continuing Meteoric bombardment of the same area. Under normal “loose” Astrophysics Phenomena would not continually hit the same small isolated area repetitively over any period of time. The Phenomena would strike the Earth erratically in an area of noncomputational interference that would be impossible to predict as the Earth moves through Space relative to the Sun, the other planets, the Moon, other outer Solar System bodies and the Galaxies themselves. Allowing for these vast distances we then postulate that there is a field of interference or mess called “noise” that is apparently too confused to interpret as the variables and projected paths involved are too small compared to the great scheme of things to be computational. This theory indicates that no Astronomical Phenomenon can repeatedly strike the Earth at the same place over different times. Around Flagstaff we have many Meteor craters around the main crater. Many of different ages striking the same small area. We might have to allow for computation inside what was originally regarded as “noise” so as to detect minor Cosmic movements and trajectories inside what would be called micro-periodicities. The “noise” could well be composed of a multitude of minor periodic patterns all trying to speak up at the same time. We just have to find their individual voices. We are looking for the soloists when we have always only been looking at the orchestra. There are many individual instruments in the multidimensional orchestra.

In January 1928, many people were fired upon by a phantom marksman in Camden in Camden County in New Jersey. Bullet holes were found in vehicles but no bullets or projectiles were ever found. There were several dozen of these attacks. How do we have a Micrometeorite shower lasting two years onto the one small place? Do we have the micro-Wormholes moving relative to positions and times on the surface of the Earth as we know it? Do they have differing micro-periodicities?

On Feburary,8,1928, Mr William Turnbull, a stockbroker, was sitting at the window of his house in Camden in Camden County in New Jersey when he was sprayed with glass specks. No projectiles were ever found though the window was perforated with tiny holes. Something has to be either very fast and very hot to produce holes in cold glass. There is no mention of damage to walls or brickwork thereby indicating that the micro-Meteorite shower was the circumference at most of the window. Was it possibly a small shower of miniscule particles travelling at very high speed and with great heat?

Also during February 1928, the Phantom Marksman was still on the loose in Camden as well. The showers continued into February For three months the one small area on the surface of the Earth was bombarded with micrometeoric material. This indicates that relative to the Earth moving through Space the shower paced the Earth at slightly faster velocity than that of the Earth itself, otherwise the Earth would constantly escape it, and relative to the curvature of the Earth as it rotated still managed to hit the one small spot of Camden, New Jersey.Was the Earth hitting the stream of Micrometeorites or the Stream hitting the Earth? Was the spot where Camden is situated driving head on into the very thin Micrometeorite shower? This was at the tail-end of two years of the same birdshot like Phenomena.

Even with disparate Phenomena such as odd animals or birds our Phenomena seems to continue in the same type of patterns as the so-called Meteoric and geologic Phenomena that we have already discussed. We are having greater degrees of incidentallity of Phenomena. Not necessarily the same Phenomena over the long term but a propensity to have an unequal share of Phenomenal events compared to other places over time. Illusion and reality are starting to have a rough time of it as well as each vies for equal place. What about strange creatures on land? Why aren't they normal? We have descriptions of weird dogs attacking animals. Sheep and cattle being found with their jugular veins nipped and the blood sucked out. Later a strange type of dog is shot in a cornfield or somewhere nearby and the killings suddenly stop. Case closed. Normally though dogs butcher their prey and do not make neat surgical nips from which they drain the blood. The “”Devil's Menagerie”” is pretty large but surprisingly not that varied. In fact some areas at times seem more prone to incidences of Phenomena, not only of particular types, than others. The areas remain rather stable but the Phenomena themselves have a tendency to change though within seemingly rigid guidelines. Quite often the identifier of “dog” is an inferred one as no one is actually sure. It just looked like a “dog”. So we have water and land monsters with very vague identifiers at times. They are creatures being seen and in many cases leaving traces of evidence, such as dead sheep, or odd tracks, and yet we cannot positively identify them. Does the same go for our other animals as well? Do we still have this confusion of identifiers?

What do we do with strange attacks on people or animals or both? What of out of place big birds? In 1838 in Valais, Switzerland, little Marie Delex, five years old, was with her playmates when a big bird swooped down out of the sky and picked up the unfortunate Marie in its talons and carried her away. The giant bird appeared Eagle-like but Eagle’s claws are normally too soft to carry away anything as large as a small child. Two months later Marie’s small corpse was found by a Shepherd half a League away from where she was allegedly taken. The pathetic remains were frightfully mutilated and lying upon a rock. The bird had obviously been feeding. A tragic high Victorian fate for a pre-Victorian event.

What sort of birds are these when Eagles cannot lift anything much larger than a small Lamb? Let alone a little girl. Yet is this the same or similar type of large and unknown bird that over one hundred years later struck another little girl only a short distance away geographically in Sarca in the Appenines of Italy,10.52E,45.52N, in October 1966 when one of these monstrous birds attempted to lift three year old Flavia Vidoli to her doom? Barely eighteen seconds south and approximately three minutes across. Flavia would not even have known of the big bird attack 128 years before in the same region. What other inhabitants are there of the “Devil’s Menagerie”? And this is not the only big bird that I would keep away from the children. They would be well known to be attracted to children at many other times as well.

On 1st February ,1895, Landy Jenkins, ten years old, disappeared in Webster County, West Virginia. Her footprints stopped in the open in the snow and there were no other Human or animal prints anywhere near her. It seemed as if she was looking up into the sky and walking around and around in a circle whilst looking up. There was nowhere that she could have gone except for upwards. Landy's mother had sent her to the neighbours and a search party found her tracks leaving the path and going into an open field. And then stopping. No traces of her were ever found. There had been reports in the area of a giant bird being seen with a fifteen to eighteen foot wide wingspan and a body the size of a man but this had been laughed off. This was no Micrometeorite! Landy was looking up at something big that was possibly looking down at her and then she disappeared. Shame that whatever it was that was looking at her does not exist according to conventional Science. This was the first in a cluster of unusual bird and as well as UFO and UFO Hominoid sightings in the particular area over the next seventy-two years.

On February 7,1895, still in Webster County, Deputy Sheriff Rube Nihiser and his son were near Owl Head Mountain when they saw a giant Eagle carry off a fawn. They heard strange screams that were not those of any Eagle that they knew of coming from it. The wingspan was fifteen to eighteen feet and the body was as large as a man. Is a fawn the same weight as a small ten year old girl?

Back in Webster County, Virginia, on 12th February,. Mr Peter Swadley, a bearhunter, was assaulted by a giant bird which badly injured him and then to add insult to injury carried off his bearhunting dog. This dog would not have been a Maltese Terrier or Chihuaha we would assume.The bird dug its talons into Peter's back, probably trying to lift him, and the dog made for the bird. The bird ripped open the dog's stomach with one sweep of its claws and then flew off with it. A very big hungry bird that did not like dogs. Not many of our odd creatures do like dogs except as possibly lunch.

Also in February 1895, sheep had been taken from a shed via a hole in the shed roof by a giant bird on the farm of Hans Hardrick in Webster County in West Virginia. Our bird loved sheep. And then was not heard of or seen again. The next cluster of Phenomena in the same area would still be aerial but of a different type. In fact there would be three different types of aerial Phenomena in the same area at three quite definite and separate times. Where do the Phenomena go in the meantime? Why do they change when they return? Act two, change costumes.

What of other questions? Giant turtles and Serpents and Plesiosaurian Creatures have been seen in the sea and in lakes and also in rivers across the surface of the planet for millennia. Why is it that there is a mass public image of Plesiosaurian creatures in lakes when we Humans are not supposed to have ever seen Plesiosaurs to begin with or even Lakemonsters that could even be interpreted as Plesiosaurians? But the image keeps coming along just by uttering the word Lakemonster. Lakemonster equals Plesiosaur but we only discovered the Plesiosaur in the Nineteenth Century and the Plesiosaur was supposedly extinct since well before man, and woman, first made theirappearence on this planet. This being the case, why then do old rock carvings and mythological and folkloric descriptions quite often mention Plesiosaurian creatures in the water, irrespective of whether it is the sea or a lake? Amazing how whole groups of new species can suddenly appear and then disappear with very little or no continuity. A bit like giant birds and weird animals. Mind you there are exceptions and even they in many cases appear and then disappear often in areas where they cannot hide to begin with. These creatures are often huge and yet cannot be identified as belonging to any particular group of creature. Local fisherfolk who have scoured the waters for generations are repeatedly stumped by the appearence of these things. Yet modern Authorities remote from the occasion state that the simple peasant folk or whatever patronising term they can find for them had merely misidentified something. Wouldn’t the local fisherfolk still have some idea that what they had found was no fish, rare or not? That some other animal, rare that it is, was the interloper, even if at times the descriptions clash completely. Something described as having six paws or arms or wings or built like an armoured Serpent two hundred feet long instantly becomes the rare basking shark. Doesn’t look like it but it will do.

Another problem with strange aquatic creatures appearing en masse is that quite often they are described as belonging to different types of species completely. I don’t mean different types of species from what is supposedly normal to be seen but different types of species to each other. In some cases one group of witnesses sees a large Plesiosaurian with a small head on a long neck and the usual assorted humps behind, another group sees a gigantic armoured turtle from the age of the Dinosaurs and a third group, even a fourth, will see a huge coiled serpentine creature. All in the same patch of sea or Lake and occasionally River. This happened in Summer,1808, around Rhum and Canna in the sea north of Scotland as only one example. This is too much witness variation yet it continues on from places as varied as the north of Scotland and Loch Ness to the Wild West of America.We have oversights in watermonster descriptions. One group of witnesses will not mention something glaringly obvious or even absent that should have been there. Sometimes other witnesses forgot to mention that the Seaserpent had a mane and paws as well. A significant oversight in anyone’s language. We have lots of oversights. The people of Piedmont in 1808 after all could not see thunderclouds that logically should have been there if it was only stormy weather creating the luminous aerial Phenomena that were reported there. Funny how at Rhum and Canna three totally different species suddenly appear in the one small area at the one small time. Were the witnesses adapting the Phenomenon to suit their own tastes either consciously or unconsciously, was the one Phenomenon visible in a variety of forms or had two oceans intermingled for one interdimensional moment? The concept of seas and lakes washing between dimensions?

If for example the aquatic Monsters are products of absurd imaginings and schizoid visioning then why are there consistent themes in their appearence, as well as their appearences? Why isn't there a multitude of flying, singing, screeching, winged and barbed, vibrantly hued denizens of Hell instead of aquatic light bottomed, darktopped, eel-like, serpentine, Otterlike or Saurian creatures? What has the potentiality to become your worst nightmare or at least could resemble a medieval grimoire instead resembles an exotic, though not really very exciting, eel catalogue. It is this banality that makes the sightings so credible. We never see any flying Lakemonsters or Seamonsters. If we have not seen it and are not supposed to have seen it why then when we describe watermonsters we invariably think of Plesiosaurs and then possibly Seaserpents? Why Plesiosaurians? They have been extinct since before man was first ever on this planet, haven't they? Quite often you get several Lakemonster reports over the years in the same lake. Mind you Lakemonsters do tend to occur in the same lakes. But what gives the lake the ability to support a Lakemonster that apparently eats nothing, and appears at random. These are generally not wee Beasties but great marine Monsters that are not easy to misplace or forget in a hurry. Are they always here? Is anything always here? Something the size of a house cannot necessarily hide in a shallow reedsoak for ever? But was it ever hiding there at all or did it just appear from there, from over in that direction and then disappear into that direction again? We are gettinga limited variety but a variety indeed even if still within what appear to be preset limits. And yet with this limited variety at times as we shall see later we end up with differing descriptions of these watermonsters even among the same groups of witnesses. Even descriptions as various as the different postulated and theorised types of watermonsters that one can imagine there to be in the one Lake or area of water. Far too many varieties for one area.

Lakemonsters and other movable creatures though should not be part of the equation or theorem that I am developing. They should merely be, if they exist, very rare creatures that Science has overlooked and will one day recognise when we catch a sufficient quantity of them. We have already had reports of the catching of watermonsters or the finding of dead ones but these seem not to have counted in the eyes of Science. The frustrating thing about the Lakemonsters, which we normally assume are abnormal inhabitants of some large bodies of water or nonexistent, is that even with their bulk and appearance as described, they are never there when we need one. They just appear and disappear and quite often they are not witnessed for long periods. The lakes even dry up and the creatures are still nowhere to be seen, such as Lake Elsinore in California, but as soon as the water goes back in the Lakemonster makes a reappearance. Granted, they could change lakes but we rarely if ever see them in other lakes that in local mythology are designated as Monster Free though we do spot them wandering across land in the dead of night. There should be breeding groups. There should be fish depletion, shoreside scarring and matting as the creatures are reported to be seen basking. But very few groups have been seen. It is the basic principle of biology, that apart from a very few single cell exceptions, you need at least two creatures to mate so as to procreate so as to create successful longterm breeding communities or relationships. And if there are groups or pods then we should statistically have even greater chances of seeing them. We only see them at random. The question then becomes where are they the rest of the time and do they only visit us occasionally or accidentally? Is there another Earth with a different Zoology that occasionally bumps into our own? Heaven is just three inches further than your outstretched finger according to the old saying. It might be the same distance for Hell as well.

The Seamonsters also have almost boringly familiar descriptions. Though these are all errata as the old scholars used to say there is now a boring familiarity starting to appear in them, no matter what type of Phenomena they are. These previously disregarded one-offs are indeed quite numerous and quite often belonging to tediously similar groupings. Repeating the descriptions of many of them ad nauseum would drive anyone to distraction. The important thing to remember here is that there appears to be a higher probability of Phenomena occurring based on reported incidences and there appears to be a propensity for Phenomena to cluster at times and places even when they appear unrelated. The common themes seem to be that there are explosions of Phenomenal activity at particular places for particular periods irrespective of the actual Phenomena. Then it stops again or ceases to be reported. The patterns seem to indicate that the Phenomena actually cease in that locale for good or for limited periods and in many cases do not relate to population densities at all. Are people in lesser populated areas more prone to delusions and hallucinations or are they less distracted by greater day to day ephemera around them so as to notice erratic phenomena more easily?We have found that this is an invalid proposition as the number of Phenomenal sightings around the Great Glen of Scotland, not one of the greatest populated areas of our planet, and that of London, are very similar.

Do even such regulars as Nessy belong to our Interdimensional Visitors Club? In 1880 Mr Duncan McDonald was diving on a sunken ship near the mouth of the Caledonian Canal near Fort Augustus, at the southern end of Loch Ness. Soon after being lowered into the water he sent up a distress signal to be immediately pulled out. Duncan's face was as white as chalk and he was trembling so violently that he could not speak. When he had recovered his senses enough to speak he stated that he saw a large unknown animal lying on a shelf of rock where the wreck had gone down. It was an odd looking Beastie that looked like a huge frog! There seem to be unwritten rules that state that Lakemonsters must always resemble Lakemonsters. But so manyvarieties in the one Loch? And this not the only report of the froglikeone.

Still in Loch Ness and still in 1880. Mr Alexander MacDonald, a Mason at Abriachan Pier saw a Lakemonster playing on the Loch early one morning. Mr MacDonald travelled daily by steamer between Abriachan Pier and Inverness. He saw the Lakemonster many times and called it the "Salamander". The Captain and crew of the steamer also saw the Lakemonster and described it as a furry animal with legs and not an amphibian or a Salamander. This is not the giant frog of the previous report. Not matter how many times we report them there are quite often subtle and sometimes even striking differences in descriptions.

What about the same creature being sighted but a few problems still occurring with what actually was seen? Mr Roderick Matheson, owner of the steamer "Bessie" often went through the Caledonian Canal where he saw an enormous eel with a neck like a horse and a mane as well. Now it's an eel? Again and again and again there are reports of sightings but so often of different things and yet these different things all seem to belong to familiar groupings of the unknown. We still know them though we are never meant to have seen them. Does the Human brain alter the perception of the Phenomena to fit into its own view of the cosmos?

1880 seemed to be one huge year for sightings of the Loch Ness Monster. Near Drumnadrochit Mr E. Bright was walking with a cousin when the Lakemonster emerged from the woods and waddled to the waters edge on four legs. The body was grey and it had a long neck and a small head that looked like an elephant's trunk. The Beastie left a tremendous wash when it entered the water. Several two pronged footprints were found as well leading to the Loch. Is there a whole new Zoology with many variations under the brooding surface of the Loch or is this a witnessing Phenomena so as to normalise the event thereby making it easier for the brain and the witness to cope? Or is it that when the portals between dimensions open then we can expect anything? If this is the case then our witnesses are still adapting the Phenomena sightings for the same reasons either consciously or unconsciously? The only problem with witness variation of sightings is where physical traces are left of the actual Phenomena or where there are multiple and multiple independent witness sightings. Yet as we shall see there will even be variations between witnesses in single groups about what was seen and even if anything was seen at all. Is it all ultimately up to the observer or is it a little bit of each?

The last of several Loch Ness sighting for 1880 was of a Monster seen in the Loch that had a long neck topped by a small head as well as a very bulky and heavy body. Only one out of these four sightings is the usual Plesiosaurian type. If it is a lone Plesiosaur and it then looks like a Plesiosaur then why don't the other witnesses describe it as a Plesiosaur? Are we having trouble with our picture?

Hang on, the Loch Ness monster sightings were not supposed to start until the 1930s, though there is an odd carved stone depicting a medieval saint and the monster, but we can disregard this as well.

During 1927 a witness was camping on the Home Farm of Loch Ness in the early morning. He heard a noise like splashing and snorting in the river and looking out of his tent he saw what appeared to be a large seal playing on the surface with a fish in its mouth. The creature had a flat head as well as a body of great size. This time Nessy looks seal-like. Once again we have evolving descriptions as has happened with other Phenomena like the Jersey Devil. We have a long-term manifestation but at times totally different descriptions of the same identifiable manifestation. We know that it is the Loch Ness Monster but it is different. We cannot have a multitude of different Monsters in the one Loch no matter how large the Loch. They have to eat so the food source has to be larger. Due to greater numbers they would be more obvious. They would have to breed to continue on. They would require territory like any animal that is not a herd or group animal, and sometimes these require territory as well. We disallow the existence of one creature in the Loch, it must be immortal if it is in fact one, for you still need two to breed and it has even been described as a protozoan or even as a giant slug. The question then becomes do we have different animals sharing the Loch or one type of Phenomenon manifesting itself and being viewed in a variety of forms? Are these forms the product of the observer or of the Phenomenon? Or is it something far simpler but more difficult to comprehend at the same time? Is the manifestation of the Phenomenon a combination of both?

Is it a giant slug?

One evening during July 1930, Mr Ian Milne and his friends, a party of anglers, saw a Lakemonster surface in Dores Bay in Loch Ness. The creature made a splash of spray and moved in semi-circles before sinking. It was 22 feet long and had two to three shallow humps and seemed to move in an undulating motion like a gigantic snake. This one resembles a giant snake or remember that the theory is that we have a Lakemonster in the lake that generally resembles a Plesiosaur. An 1872 description calls it a great log on the surface. An 1879 description refers to it as a longnecked small-headed creature that waddled on land. An 1880 description by a diver refers to it as a Beastie that resembled a huge frog. Also in 1880 it was referred to as the Salamander, a lizardlike creature, and the Captain and crew of a steamer regarded it as a giant furry animal with legs and not an amphibian. Another sighting in 1880 regarded it as an enormous eel with a neck like a horse and a mane. A group sighting also from 1880refers to is as long necked, small headed and resembling an elephant. In 1889 it was seen as a very fast Serpent racing through the water. In 1912 a group of witnesses saw a humpbacked longneck with long legs wading into the water. In 1919 it was seen as a cross between a camel and an elephant and had a long neck. In 1923 it resembled a cross between a frog and a Hippopotamus with webbed feet, short legsand its belly trailing on the ground. In 1927 it resembled a large seal with a flat head and a body of great size. The majority of sightings are different. Why is this so? There cannot be a large population of several types of Lakemonsters as more sightings of each type of watermonster would be reported just due to greater numbers and larger foraging territories. There would hardly be a fish alive and the shore would be constantly trampled.

Even some American lakes have them. In 1930 at Campbell Lake in Campbell County in South Dakota, a strange creature was reported to be coming out of the lake and catching and killing sheep. The creature was supposed to look like a dragon and was huge. Interestingly enough the bones of a Mosasaur, extinct for 130 million years, were found on the lake shore. These bones were fresh though. Was he the last of the Mosasaurs or one of several still in the lake? Whatever it was it did not know that it was meant to be extinct. Huge tracks were seen in the mud leading to the lake by a farmer who saw a giant fourlegged dragon like creature. From 1930 to 1934 there were Lakemonster reports and strange animal attacks on sheep around Campbell Lake. Then they stopped again. Once again the amazing appearing and then disappearing Phenomena. Are our creatures a little like stranded survivors of shipwrecks or abandonings? Or are they just lost? Somehow getting through microwormholes unintentionally? Unlike others we may be seeing?

As well in 1934 at Campbell Lake in Campbell County in South Dakota a farmer on his tractor was forced off the road by a giant fourlegged dragonlike creature. The farmers digestive system was severely upset by this. Mine would be too! Sheep and small animals were found to have disappeared around the lake for a few years previously and strange footprints had been found leading into it. Was it ready for fighting or mating? Was there or is there a dragon in Campbell Lake?In 1930 the remains of an extinct Mosasaur were found on the edge ofthe lake. They were fresh. Were there still other Mosasaurs still alivein the lake? Or just visiting?

In 1934 a boy named Donald Neff discovered the bones of a Mosasaur, extinct for 130 million years, on the side of the Elk River in Meade County in South Dakota. These bones were not 130 million years old though but quite recent. Haven't we met fresh Mosasaurs before? The fresh remains of a Mosasaur were found on the banks of Campbell Lake nearby in South Dakota in 1930. If two sets of remains have been found so close to each other in such a short time span then we have to allow for time windows of opportunity for areas.This is especially so when we have an area with no history of Phenomena, suddenly erupting into Phenomena, and we know that Phenomena can leave physical traces at times, and then the Phenomena stop again with no further history. The Elk River and Campbell Lake are only approximately 150 miles apart. Was it one long distance travelling Mosasaur? No, there were two bodies.

During Summer,1921, there were numerous reports of the Tatzelwurm around Rauris in Austria. This mythical Worm is a light brown colour and has three-toed feet and a mouth full of sharp teeth as well as a forked tongue. The creature is on average only 2.5 feet long but can leap twenty-five feet at a height of nine feet towards witnesses according to one witness who was attacked by it and fled. The Tatzelwurm is also called the Springworm and is believed to be a variety of aggressive hole-dwelling Lizard that lives in the Swiss, Bavarian and Austrian Alps. It is also called the Worm with feet and attacks cattle. Some have been reported as being as short as eighteen inches whilst others were up to three feet long. The creature has a cylindrical shape with two or four short stubby legs and a blunt and heavy head. How does a stubby footed thing leap? Does it recoil its body like a snake? Is it built like a Spring? Does it just Spring in and out of our reality? Yes, we could just say that these creatures are just little-known earthly creatures that we rarely see let alone have the opportunity to study. That they appear and dwell all over the planet. All part of a hidden Biologica, going about their own normal day to day affairs. Like British Pumas of which one has been caught. This was by Ted Noble in a trap in his Cannich, Invernesshire, farm on October 29, 1980. The Puma was around six years old. How did it get there? If this be the case then how and why did the reported occurrences of even these living Phenomena form patterns of peak and ebb periodicity as evidenced in Mr Illert's exponential projection based on my data? If they are all day to day random events then they cannot in themselves form parts of a large periodic pattern. If this were to be the case then all other forms of activity, namely life, on our planet, would also form patterns of periodicity. Do they? If so, then we can say goodbye to Chaos theory as it would keep reverting to ever different but regular periodicities. Random events should not be capable of forming patterns unless they are not random to begin with or end with as well. Once again we need to listen to the individual instruments in what is normally regarded as "noise". All of my data are "noise". The patterns of occurrence that they form are also defined as "noise" as they are apparently too hard to define or isolate. But that is like a clockmaker only making hour hands on clocks or watches. We can do better. We can isolate the individual units and periodicities inside the "noise".

In July 1924, a Police Patrolman in West Orange in Essex County in New Jersey rang in after seeing an unknown type of animal with the head of a Deer, running like a rabbit and with flaming red eyes. The creature had been seen by Mrs Clyde Vincent and others initially and independently whilst picnicking and it had jumped over her and her group. Was this the Jersey Devil? The Jersey Devil has quite a few differing incarnations in a multitude of forms from Dinosaurian and leatherwinged to kangaroolike but aggressive to flaming eyed deerheaded rabbit running creatures. We could put it all down to delusion if it were not for the fact that different witnesses refer to the same descriptions at that particular time. The place is the same. The date is different and we find the Phenomena then become, in some cases, different as well though still multiply independently witnessed.

How different are other anomalous animals such as the fabled big cats? In the United States near the town of Russellville, Logan County, Kentucky, in 1823, two marksmen as they were described out of a group of four witnesses pumped twelve rounds of gunfire into a brindle coloured Tiger at a distance of fifty yards. None of these hits seemed to effect the tiger at all. This unusual kitten had unusually large eyes, a most terrific front to the body, a furious look and an appalling brow. I would not be happy too if people were shooting at me. This look and that fact that the tiger stood its ground frightened two of the unarmed witnesses who were so terrified that they fled. The tiger itself eventually fled with the twelth round fired. The North American Cougar, Puma and Mountainlion, all being the same animal, is tawny and has a Plain coat with no decoration. No Tabby markings here. The Puma also tends to die when shot with twelve rounds of ammunition unless it can run away first. It does not tend to stay around to be shot at. It is too smart for that. This is the first of our unexplained big cats that do not resemble or behave like ordinary cats.And twelve shots should have scared any cat off, even from the primitive weapons of the period. We will eventually find that many conventional weapons do not act conventionally when used on our particular stray cats and demonic dogs or is it that the animals do not react in the conventional way to the weapons. Is it a question of recognition? Who isn't recognising what?

In June 1945, a woman sitting with a baby in a shack in Abesville in Stone County, Missouri, heard a scratching noise at her front door. The woman opened the door and a huge catlike Beast was standing upright there and staring at her. It had a long tail and big teeth. The woman slammed the door shut and the big cat attempted to break in for a few minutes. The creature returned the following night and several neighbours saw it. One of the neighbours fired a gun at it with little effect. Upright standing cats? Catmen? Werejaguars? Is there a more bizarre reasoning behind many myths than we at first wish to acknowledge? Are we looking at a whole new Zoologica as well as a whole new Astronomica? Do we have to rewrite much of everything?Are there valid reasons for the sightings of whole genera of strange and unusual animals? That they actually, or at least in parts, exist? Existence being a somewhat nebulous quality though in their connection. Let us say that they were more apparent in their physicallity to the observers. Whether this was for a minute or a day is unimportant at the moment. They were seen, in a variety of recognisable forms, the majority clearly belonging to various definite groups, and many times they were either multiply witnessed and/or left physical trace Phenomena that was quantifiable, namely could be touched or recorded. They left behind traces of the unknown. Maybe we need to realise that the unknown is not that unknown after all and is quite often already here but not being recognised. After we lift off the thin veneer of normalisation off the Phenomena we still have over five thousand reports over one hundred and seventy-seven years that are beyond repudiation in their entirety.

In late June and still in Abesville after many sightings of a huge catlike creature that occasionally walked erect Mr Warren was driving a truck when he saw a Pantherlike creature that sprang at his truck crashing against it several times. The big cat was trying to get in. This was no ordinary Panther. We have multiple witness sightings including trace evidence, damage to trucks, dwellings and probably witnesses' mental state and yet one thing is even more mysterious than the reports. The giant Abesville cat had never been seen before this rush of sightings and was never reported again. Quite often nothing is ever reported outof the ordinary before a rush of events or after it. There is no approach or onset to the Phenomena. Now you see them and now you don't. Almost as if they had never actually been there. Only the witness reports refute this. For a limited duration of time only and only over a very specific area or place we get flooded with sightings. Suddenly we open into the unknown and more than likely it opens onto us. Rarely is this permanent though there are rare exceptions that may require a slightly differing explanation. Let us put it a little differently. Now you see this form of the Phenomenon, now you don't. Later you might see another form of the Phenomenon if it is witnessed at all. Or if it reappears. It has to reappear to be witnessed. It has to be seen again. Some areas continue opening up can we say to Phenomena over long periods, sometimes of smaller periods, whilst for others it is once only. No coming, no going. No passage or evolution. We do not see them approaching or departing whether in time or in Space. Suddenly they are here and equally as suddenly they are gone. And many times they look like they should even if they actually don't exist.

Are there connections between what appear to be totally different and totally unrelated Phenomena? We have met Lakemonsters and vast differences in witness descriptions. What then about Hairy Hominoids such as Bigfoot and his kind where there is very little description variation. Let us visit Gallipolis in Gallia County, Ohio. A name that would come back to visit us much, much later on numerous occasions.Out of our small sample so far we are still having too high a return rate for probability. Anyway, read on. Sometime during January 1869, a man and his daughter were driving in a carriage when a Hairy Hominoid appeared out of nowhere and pulled the man from the carriage and pushed him to the ground. The daughter repelled the Hairy Hominoid and caused it to retreat when she threw rocks at it, one of which hit it on the head. Now the Hairy Hominoids are gettingrestive. This was Ohio's first and he was certainly a memorable one. The score up to 1869 for sightings. New South Wales, Australia, at Sydney-1800 and 1822, Bells Mountain-1844, Quirindi-1844, on the banks of the Cordeaux River near Wollongong-1865. New York State, near Ellisburgh-1818. The Himalayas and Nepal-1820 and 1832. Arkansas, namely Saint Francis County-1834, Poinsett County-1834, Greene County-1834 and 1851. Fouke in Miller County in1856. Idaho, Salmon River-1842. Berezovo, Siberia, in 1845 where a Hairy Hominoid was killed. Victoria, Australia, at Philip Island-1849. Louisiana, Caddo County-1856. British Columbia, at Yale-1864. Kansas, Crawford County-1869. Ohio, Gallia County, at Gallipolis-1869. In the 1960s there would be a Major flareup of UFO and Gargoyle reports here. There are still many more of these illusions to come clambering out of the woods yet. This was the reported total up until 1869. How many were unreported let alone never seen?

On a rainy July night in 1901 three coon Hunters, Milton Brint, his brother Taylor Brint and Tom Lukens were in Stewart's Woods outside of Pennsbury Township in Chester County, Pennsylvania. Suddenly their hunting dogs fell silent and virtually flew out of the woods with their tails between their legs, whining and growling in terror before cowering in a huddled heap near their masters. Eventually the dogs led their masters to a cedar tree where nothing could be seen. All that could be noticed was an odd low dismal sound coming from the top of the tree. Then the tree began to shake as if something was climbing down it towards the ground. Whatever was climbing down must have tripped for in the next instant it came tumbling down out of the tree. At the same time the bullseye lamps were extinguished as a creature with the head and neck of a man and the body of a Beast came down out of the branches. The Hunters fled and the dogs returned home half-starving one week later.

In July 1901, Lewis Brooks and Jack Murphy were riding in a wagon at night near Pennsbury Township in Chester County, Pennsylvania when something with a manlike head and an animal-like body crossed the road directly in front of them. The creature walked on all fours and the witnesses saw it pass directly through a fence as if it was not there. Brooks emptied a revolver into it, or so he thought, but with no effect. You never hear or see one and suddenly it seems as if they are everywhere and then they're gone again. Where is the consistency? The only constant is the place at different times and even the times aregetting to seem familiar. Now you see them and now you don't. We keep getting weirdness to our Phenomena. That is what is often different.

The only things that are unusual about the next two sightings is the coincidence of the subjects of the Phenomena rather than the phenomenon itself. On February nineteen,1888, in Colchester, they're never far away are they, the remains of an old Soldier were found in a hayloft. The body had been consumed by great heat but the hay had not even been singed. The old man had been sleeping off a bout of drunkenness. You are in Colchester in England which has had more than its fair share of weird happenings over the years. In 1869 there had been earthquakes along with cannonlike noises from the Sky and it was the earthquake light capital of England in 1884.

Also in February 1888, in Constitution Street in Aberdeen, Scotland, the remains of another old pensioned off Soldier were also found in a hayloft. He had been resting on a beam of timber and had been incinerated at temperatures high enough to make bricks. The floor under him had been burnt away but the bales of hay that surrounded him were unscorched. No fire was seen and no screams heard and from the preserved features of the face no pain was felt. It was as if a bolt of heat from nowhere had struck him. Both hands and the right foot had been burnt off and fallen through the floor into the stables below. The features of the face were represented by a greasy cinder retaining the cast of the features. The case was investigated by DoctorMackenzie Booth. February 1888 was not a good month for old alcoholic Soldiers in the United Kingdom, neither in Colchester or Aberdeen. If we allow for synchronous patterning to several of our spontaneous combustion reports the shorter odds are that the two consumptions by fire probably happened on the same day. If we refer to 1938, April seventh, particularly in connection with the Irish Sea, Upton-by Chester in England and Nijmegan in Holland this will be quite obvious. Patterns keep turning up whether we want to believe in them or not.

We have had some very unusual humanlike visitors as well. In October 1837, several witnesses in Thameside, London, in England, saw a Hominoid wearing a cloak as well as a tight-fitting one piece garment over the body. There was also a transparent globe over the head as well. Not an ordinary Gentleman he was described as having a pair of burning eyes, a prominent nose, bony fingers like claws and the pointed ears of an animal. The odd Hominoid was also seen at times with a strange type of lamp strapped to his chest and was seen around the area. Where this strange traveller had come from who knows. The locals would eventually call him Springheeled Jack. Even he would keep returning. London,0 West 51 North and 0 East 51 North, had 163 reported Phenomenal events occuring over a period of 177 years. This is the highest incidence of Phenomenal reports in the World.

We could probably blame it on population density. The second highest area was four West,57 North, around Loch Ness with very low population densities at 147 reports. The rest of our very highreadings are in mixed areas of population densities. Springheeled Jack would appear and disappear on several occasions. We would meet him again as well as on the other side of the Atlantic Ocean.

The variety of sightings seemed incredibly varied until we looked closely at it. Quite often they are the same thing. In the following example it is now October 3,1843, and Mr Charles Cooper as well as another individual witness six miles away, near Warwick in County Wicklow in Ireland saw a strange cloud as white as snow in the sky. Three perfectly white Human beings were standing under it and seemed to be moaning. There was a rumbling sound in the sky at the same time. Two witnesses. One Phenomenon. Anyone for whingeing Angels? Shared hallucinations? As far as we know though it is impossible for two separate people at two slightly distant locations to have the same hallucination. Something had to be seen, the differences if any being in the interpretation by the witness. We have a site of observation, a shared time and an observation no matter how bizarre. There is now a degree of tangibility to the event that removes it from schizoid delusions and other forms of hallucination. It is a shared sighting that cannot be a mirage or hallucination. What was it then?

Is a shared illusion still an illusion or through being shared by others a reality? Especially when that reality leaves tangible evidence of its passing. What we are dealing with here in parts is possibly the passing of illusions that leave tangible evidence. Where does the illusion stop and the tangibility begin? Is there a fine line or a blurring or a transition? Where and when does the illusion begin to be a reality and what process might bring this new reality into being? All we catalogue so far are dreams, fantasies and sometimes nightmares that have become multiply witnessed or left tangible remains. It is like observing mathematics and after removing the dross finding the mechanical parts that are the only real and true parts of the equation. The rest might still be all illusion. Or sugarcoating.

Have we actually seen our Phenomenal objects in States that might not exactly appear solid and three dimensional? Over London, England, on March 29,1845, a stationary orange object like a luminous mist supported by four bright lights like Stars was seen hovering for a considerable period in the sky. Meteors, repeat after me, are not stationary. Nor do they normally have four heads or bright lights on them. Neither do balloons. When something is misty can we say that it is still in a process of undergoing transformation from one form of matter to another such as gas to liquid or liquid to solid? Remember, water steams twice. Once at Zero Celsius and again at Boiling Point. Does matter alter as we enter and leave the Interdimensional Wormholes?

Sometimes we are find it hard to differentiate various Phenomena. We even have many cases of witnesses being unable to agree on descriptions ofPhenomena. Is it a bird or is it a plane and it is definitely not Superman. Sometime during April 1868, at 5.00 pm a group of miners at Copiapo in the Atacama region of Chile saw a gigantic bird in the sky. The miners were waiting for supper after work and saw thebig bird fly in from the direction of Ternera. The bird flew rapidly in a dead straight line from northwest to the southeast and had immense wings, grey plumage and eyes like burning coals. At the same time though it appeared to be covered with strange bristles all over its body and made metallic noises when it turned or moved. Was it a bird or a machine that looked like a bird? The body was elongated like a Serpent and some witnesses stated that it had brilliant scales which clashed together with a metallic sound when it moved its wings. Sounds more like an album cover for Metallika or any other heavy rock group, not the aerial sighting of an unknown Phenomenon. Was it a dragon? But then they do not exist, and neither does anything else that I have described thus far and will continue describing to the very end of this work.

The Copiapo creature or machine returned as well. Back in Copiapo, Chile, which we had only visited two months before, an aerial construction emmitting light was seen in the sky during July 1868. The construction was making obvious metallic noises as well. If this was a machine then whose machine was it as no one that we know of on Earth at the time could build such a thing. Do we have to look elsewhere? We were still experimenting with balloons. The Metallika bird was back again.

Now we meet our confusion about animal or machine again. A sort of Celestial animal, vegetable or mineral but with an uncertain outcome. On July 5,1873, a man living about five miles from Bonham in Fannin County, Texas, saw something like an enormous Serpent floating over his farm. Had the Ratibor and Rybnik red objects seen earlier in 1873 then flown over North America to release the serpents of Hell themselves?

Later the same morning as the man witnessing the enormous aerial Serpent, workers in a cotton field near Bonham in Texas were terrified by a shiny serpentine object that swooped down out of the sky again and again. This scared the horses so much that one team threw their driver and he was crushed under the careening wagon wheels. Had the Bonham aerial Serpent arrived from near Mars or only a spot that seemed near to the patch of the sky that Mars was occupying at the time? Meteors don't swoop!

That the same morning at Fort Scott in Bourbon County, Kansas, all of the inhabitants of the Fort-Township saw a huge silver Serpent flying through the sky about halfway above the horizon. The shape of the aerial object was that of an apparently perfect huge Serpent. Was this the same flying Serpent that had terrorized Bonham, Texas, that the same morning? And then flown to Fort Scott? Followed by Fort Riley?

Also in Kansas, that the same morning, at Fort Riley in Geary County, the assembled troops on the parade ground saw a huge silvery Serpent that repeatedly swooped down out of the sky onto the parade ground causing such chaos that the parade had to be abandoned. This was approximately one hour after the strange happening at Bonham that caused one death. Whatever was the silver Serpent agitated about, or was it braking very hard as it reversed its thrust or its dive? How would you feel if you suddenly came crashing down towards another reality? I would put on the anchors myself. Just because we have not mastered the art of interdimensional travel does not mean that others haven't! That is if interdimensional travel indeed exists or is possible. And others might not have mastered it yet either. They were still trying. But there has to be an origin or starting off point for many of the Phenomena and it usually does not appear to be where they are first sighted.

On September 4,1891, a most unusual sighting was made above Crawfordsville in Montgomery County, Indiana. A group of witnesses described a living creature like a white Serpent flying in the sky that was twenty feet long by eight feet wide. A very fat Serpent that had flapping fins and was circling and squirming as if in agony. Once it swooped low over the witnesses who stated that they felt its radiated hot breath. At 2.00 am on September 5,1891, and still in Crawfordsville, Indiana, two icemen and the Reverend G. W. Switzer, independently, saw a twenty foot long by eight foot wide object in the sky that seemed to be propelled by finlike attachments. It moved towards the two icemen and they both then departed as what they thought was an Airship seemed to sail away. The Airship though was making enough noise to wake up the Reverend Switzer, Pastor of the Methodist Church, who saw it circling in the sky. Other witnesses had described it as a living creature. Were they all seeing the same thing? A flying Serpent, making it number seven, or a large Airship making a loud enough noise to wake up the Reverend. I suppose its all up to your individual viewpoint. Or is it? Why the differing descriptions of what are supposed to be the same Phenomenon?

Some Phenomena are just unearthly to say the least. On the evening of December 29,1875, at London in Middlesex County in Ontario, Canada, a Mr J. J. Cornish had baptized Mrs John Taylor and Miss Sarah Lively in the Thames River. Suddenly a beautiful light appeared and hovered over the group. The light was brighter than the Sun at midday and came down with a sound like a mighty rushing wind. The light was round and straight up and down like a lightshaft. As bright on the inside edge as it was on the outside. After the baptism the light gradually rose up. Was it really God? Was it an hallucination? A product of a religious ecstasy? Was it actually there? Was it a subjective interpretation of an ununderstandable Phenomenon that was converted into easily understood symbolism? The problem with this theory though is that there are groups of witnesses. There are photographs of Phenomena. But is it still reinterpreted symbolism of difficult to comprehend Phenomena? By an act of vision being created in the actual plane of reality so as to be observed by others? Are there primary witnesses in a group responsible for subconscious actualisation and interpretation of the Phenomenon so as to metamorphose it in to an understandable reality and then secondary witnesses who see the result of the subconsciously created actualisation? For example Catholics see the Virgin Mary sitting in a tree. Hunters see Hairy Hominoids. scientists see UFOs. Etc etc etc etc ! Does anyone see anything actually at all?

Do our sightings occur as a result of a greater percentage of population in the area? London in England had 163 sightings in the areas 0 East 51 North and 0 West 51 North in 171 years from 1800 to 1970. Not our greatest number of sightings relative to one area but still a phenomenally large number of sightings when you consider that these Phenomena are not supposed to be sighted at any time let alone regarded as ever existing in the first place! The largest number of sightings, for one latitude longitude area, London in fact is two, is four West 57 North, or the area around the Great Glen of Scotland, otherwise known as Loch Ness with 147 sightings starting in 1815, and incidentally not all of them involving a certain difficult to catch aquatic creature, or so it seems. The latitude longitude area next door is four West 56 North and it is in our top thirteen with 31 sightings. If we argue that this is to do with population densities then our argument falls on deaf ears as the population density difference between London at any time in its' history and that of the Great Glen of Scotland are total opposites. In London we could say that it is too many possible witnesses. Lots of Loonies! But in the sparsely settled Highlands of Scotland the opposite is true unless we have to speculate that there are a lot of mad Scotsmen and Scotswomen about. One answer cannot negate the other though and only one can be true. This is still too great for probability. After all even when we are chasing allegedly sighted Lakemonsters and other Phenomena we must still be logical and realistic in our expectations.

There do indeed seem to be areas where there is a greater opportunity to sight Phenomenal activity, far too high for even probability or randomchance. If the reported events were randomly generated, possibly mental aberrations or hallucinations, then they would be random and could not form patterns. They should not be clustered! The greater the incidence of clustering then the lesser dependence on random chance or indeed the lesser probability of random chance being involved. At the same time as the clustering increasing relative to time or place then the odds of random chance occurring become astronomically higher. They become too high for probability because they are no longer random but in patterns or sequences. This makes random chance technically impossible. The odds then stipulate that the Phenomenal events are indeed noticeable in patterns and if they form patterns or are part of patterns then we then have a calculable degree of probability that the pattern, being a pattern, is then repetitiveas all patterns, no matter how complex, always are. Let us still continue. Patterns cannot be random because a pattern primarily is a repetition. Speaking of repeats again let us remember Irkutsk in Siberia on March 8,1829. There was a rain of stones over all of the city during an earthquake. There had been clattering sounds in the sky beforehand as well as something in the sky that was moving about. Incidentally we have a date repeat for March 8, for on this same date in 1824 and also in Irkutsk, there had been three aftershocks of an earlier earthquake which was also reported in conjunction with a stonefall. Were the stones colliding as they fell so as to cause the clattering sounds? When was Irkutsk's last Phenomena? Out of so many places on Earth's surface for Phenomena to occur we are finding our small and early selection being frontrunners. But how long does the window of opportunity last? Do these areas of opportunity last Forever or is it all over in a few acts? In 1805 on April 6, there was a fall of two non-Meteoric stones in Irkutsk and in 1824 on 11th February there had been an earthquake and on 18th February , the same year, a five pound stone had fallen from the sky. On the 8th of March following, also in 1824, there were three more earthquake shocks. And now we had moved on to March 8,1829 to the last Irkutsk event. We had a twenty-four year window of opportunity.

Would Phenomena continue into the future? During 1879 there was a heavy shower of fish onto the Oddfellows Cemetery in Sacramento, Sacramento County, California. Nothing else fell. Is there a local Lakemonster near Sacramento? Not that we know of but there have been some very weird events, once again localised. It is very hard to get the Phenomena to spread out. They like to repeat themselves though their forms may change. Sacramento had already had falling lizards, like Montreal, in 1870 as well as a rampaging Hairy Hominoid. Later it would have discoid objects in the sky twice in 1896 as well as naked UFO Hominoids and there were aerial craft near Lodi which is nearby, falling stones and metal in 1946, strange aerial explosions in 1951, hovering UFOs over Rio Visto nearby in 1964 as well as Hominoids attacking a witness near Truckee that same year followed by a hovering saucer over Rio Vista again in 1965. Particular areas do not attract more Phenomena than other areas? I am not so sure if this is the case rather than the exception.

If we have numerous witnesses having visions then the variety of creatures and events visible or visitant would be greater than in many medieval grimoires or bestiaries. Not the same or usually similar. The commonality of the Phenomena is the keypoint. The descriptions border generally on the banal, at times rivettingly boringly familiar, thus making them more credible. It is as if many of the witnesses had a Monster catalogue and were ordering basic models from it with very few extras. The hard part is separating what is actually an overlooked actual Earth creature that has been consigned to legend, even if these exist at all, or what is seen and its probable origins elsewhere from us.How they get here is the next question. If we were all hallucinating orfantasising then why do our descriptions tally so well? Do humans have collective, boring but similar hallucinations? Are Lakemonsters and Seamonsters merely Jungian symbolism manifested into reality? Like having physical visitors from a Jungian collective subconsciousness? Is it not easier to imagine that the witnesses were merely seeing fleeting glances of otherwise reclusive creatures from the depths of the sea, and in many cases lakes and possibly in some cases from elsewhere?

We have so many mysteries but why after a little research they become so boringly familiar in detail if they are meant to be illusions or misinterpretations of existing things?

We know that many of our Phenomena have a basis in fact. We see interaction between Phenomena and our physical environment where physical proof is left behind or evident.

There are examples where a Phenomenal event has interacted with creatures other than the witness. I am quite sure that a herd of Grampusses would not be scared by Jungian symbolism! The Grampusses, Killer Whales, in one of our examples thought that the creature was real that was chasing them. But then they might not believe in modern Zoology. Or even read any books denying the existence of that which was scaring them. Maybe they were scared off by the then future concept of Universal Jungian Subconscious Symbolism. I know that the first time that I had to read about it I was too. Here we indeed did have interaction with our own nature of reality.

The confusing part is the sudden appearance of various types of aquatic creatures, as well as other creatures or events in the one area, and this is not the first time this has happened as it has happened before as it did north of Scotland in 1808. It could almost be alright, even normal, if we had tallying eye-witness accounts during these time-clusters. Sure, they see Lakemonsters for example but they see several types. One cannot possibly have suddenly appearing, diverging and then disappearing species. Especially in such short periods of time. In simple terms you cannot have a horde of different creatures suddenly descending or in this case surfacing and then submerging again. A sudden flood of different types of watermonsters.

Why aren’t the Phenomena even with this early sample not spread evenly over the surface of the Earth. One would believe that hallucinations and deranged mental States were Universal in occurrence. As an example we had already had strange lightning storms and green clouds in Montreal in 1819 and in the 1880s there would be another cluster of Phenomena occurring there as well.

Why then do some places become more prone to Phenomenal activity than others? And why only for particular periods of time? A glaring example of this is Comrie in Scotland. For about one hundred and twenty years starting in 1816 this area would develop a very odd reputation. In 1816 during an earthquake a massive light was seen in the sky that stretched over the Heavens like a gigantic crescent that was seen from as seen as far away as Dunkeld and Edinburgh. Shadesof Geneva in 1811. The light there too was crescent shaped. Twice in five years we have a crescent shaped light filling the sky but still only at a local level. There were no reports further away than Dunkeld or Edinburgh of the Comrie sighting. Peasant witnesses. What would they know? But what of the residents of Edinburgh? They could notbe ignorant peasants as well could they? Possibly not. Maybe something was up there in the sky. Something that gave off a lot of light and of unbelievable size that by all rights should not be connected to an earthquake at all. But as we have seen the Phenomena, though varied, tend to group rather than occur individually. Is there a reason for Phenomena to gather together both in place, details and time? Is time and place more important than the actual event itself? Does time and place form part of a pattern whereas the Phenomenon or Phenomena are only indications of a possible pattern occurring? Merely symptoms of where and when the pattern was making itself known. For the next one hundred and twenty years Comrie would be plagued by earthquakes and their attendant lights and noises as well as other Phenomena.

On October 13,1872, many villagers in Soko-Banja in Serbia found an unknown type of stone that by all reports had fallen from the sky. Thisparticular type of stone is only found on one place on Earth and is named Banjite after the place where it fell during, oddly enough, an earthquake, named after the village of Soko-Banja. And we do know by now that stones do not fall during earthquakes or even in connection with them. Even if it is the same time and place.

It is all coincidental or better still, never happened at all. That rules out any probability at all of further serious study or research. What though if later in the piece there were times when the same object came from the same patch of the sky onto the same handkerchief of Earth but at different times? We would have to say that statistically this is impossible and therefore disregardable. All I can say is to watch this same Space and many others like it. The Phenomena, though varied, tend to home in, rather than to spread out. Why would this be so? It is as if the same piece of the sky follows the same piece of Earth at times. Possibly several bits of the sky following several bits of Earth.

On December 1,1889, during an earthquake there was a fall of a single stone from the sky onto Jelica in Serbia. This stone was of a type called Banjite and the only spot that Banjite has ever been found on the face of the Earth was at Soko-Banja, also in Serbia, where the only previous specimen had fallen from the sky on October 1,1872, during an earthquake. Earthquakes and falling stones again. The same rare mineral fell in the same area seventeen years apart. Technically impossible as the Earth whizzes through Space. Yet Banjite has only ever been found at Soko-Banja and Jelica, both in Serbia, both times after earthquakes. Our biggest mystery is that of repeat Phenomena or indeed repeat positioning of different types of Phenomena in the same place over and above what would be expected of normal erratic behaviour or Phenomena. This is precision repetition of Phenomena and must allow for the nonexistence in current rational belief systems for the Phenomena to begin with. For example at Chambery in the Savoy of France on 20th August ,1819, at 2.00 am, a luminous Meteorwas seen which looked like a globe of fire crossing the sky. This light turned night into day and the population was terrified thinking that it was the “End of the World”. A single bright nocturnal light over a single pinpoint area does not seem unusual at first until one realises that on three other separate occasions during the next 23 years the same or similar sighting of a hovering luminousity would be seen overChambery again. Irkutsk’s period of activity was 24 years. Any connection? As our Earth hurtles through Space it is in constant movement. It is never in the same spot twice. The Earth rotates, tilts and revolves around the Sun which does the same as its own little Constellation flies around and around the Galaxy which does the samearound the Universe. Allowing for the enormous mathematics and frightening speeds involved in all of this then the odds are that no event of Celestial creation can appear in the same particular bit of the sky over Earth several times in a short period of time. Unless that Space of the sky is travelling along with us. Or opening up and then closing again as it travels with us. Even Meteors in their relatively fixed orbits around the Sun relative to the Earth cannot do this so the odds of a single site having a multiple of Meteoric Phenomena in itself over time would be mathematically and astronomically unheard of. There can be only one other explanation. The sightings never occurred. This last answer may be erroneous. There are too many sites of Phenomena both spatially and temporally that rebuff the non-validity of the Phenomena even on mathematical grounds alone. Let alone to do with probability. If an action is repetitious and non-random then there is a greater probability that it validates the existence of non-random Phenomena both in Time and Space. Once patterns of existence and occurrence occur then it is beyond random chance and has the ability to be validated thus disproving the non-existence of Phenomena theorem because random happenings would not be occurring in patterns too complex for random chance or Human fabrication over time. If the clusters were random chance or Human fabrication then they should not be parts of larger mathematical repetitions or they would invalidate their own existence. Unfortunately what do we do with large mathematical repetitions? Generally we try to ignore them. As we progress we may not be able to. We might have to use them. And they can be used!

And Science still states that we have not had repeated anomalies? Anomalies literally were falling from the sky as well. And there have been repeat falls. One example alone was on May 1824, in Orenburg in Russia The same little rusty Iron objects of the fall of January 25,1824, are falling here again! In four months the position of the Earth relative to where it had been in Space would be totally different. Yet the same Celestially originated phenomenon reappeared over the same destination point. Was there a position in Space that was staying fixed in the sky relative to Orenburg? Had this window only a limited period of opportunity both spatially, in Space, and temporally, in time? Astronomically speaking it should have already missed the Earth by thousands of miles if it was the same Phenomenon on the same trajectory as the first occurrence. The Earth moving on relative to its original position would now be very long gone. The window of opportunity had to stay still relative to the Earth all the time to stay active above only the one area. Was this a one off Phenomenal Time and Space linkage or would we be meeting it again and again? In fact repetition of Phenomenal occurring spots, not necessarily of the same Phenomena, would become the norm rather than the exception.

The returns are returning too often for any computable odds for returning Astronomical Phenomena if that is what they actually are. In the shortspace of twenty-nine years we are seeing preposterous returns of Phenomena to particular places, not just to the Earth at large. In Chambery, Savoy, France, on January 6,1829, at 5.30 pm, a luminous Meteor was recorded as having passed over at a low altitude. The luminous object was travelling from north to south. This Meteor was unusual though in that it had quite a large oblong or rectangular shape and was leaving a trail of sparks in its wake like rockets. Were all of that area's inhabitants all delusional? Remember that the Saarbrucken aerial object was oblong in shape as well in 1826. Similar had occurred in Chambery previously on 20th August , 1819 and at Embrun nearby on September 7,1820. Well we have had cubic ice masses falling from the sky, why not oblong bolides. Funny how we have had a particular fascination for this particular areathough. Is there or was there a hole here that Interstellar objects would find easier to slip through than most other places on the surface of our planet? Even oblong Meteors? Do these holes move and how often and where if they do move? We seem to be detecting movement and in some cases also stillness.

Some sites of Phenomena kept returning to the same place. And not necessarily the same Phenomenon as before. In 1830 we meet Orenburg again but this time it's not small symmetrical pieces of rusty Iron like it was on both occasions in 1824. Now it's an out of season insect fall of a multitude of small black insects like Gnats but with Flea-like motions that fell with the snow in 1830. What is it about Orenburg? First there were falls of rusty Iron objects twice in 1824 and now fleas. What the connection is between fleas and falling ironmongery is bewildering if still unknown. Should there actually be a connection between Phenomena or between the occurrence and the placement and the timing of the Phenomena? The actual Phenomenon being a sort of free radical. This would be the last that we would ever hear of Orenburg again. There was a sudden burst of activity followed by quiet. This would happen over and over and overagain in many other places!

Were we hitting something else's orbit? Indeed a very localised orbit of only a few miles variation if that though still over periodic or astronomic lengths. We have already seen recurring earthly positions receiving Astronomical debris or events such as five East to six East 44 North to 45 North amongst others. Do we have possible Wormholes or astronomic paths that indeed are very narrow and have very little variation so that instead of having error factors of hundreds of AUs or Astronomical units, each AU being the distance of the Earth from the Sun, to having error factors in occurrence width, the areas where they occur, to only a few degrees and possibly even down to a few miles. Are the orbits and rotations of the Universe far more exact than we would like to believe or scientists would like to have known? Or is it all just one incredible coincidence? Which is more rational? Blind chance or progression and determination? How many intersecting orbits are there like wheels within wheels within wheels?

Out of all of the tens of thousands of places in the World why then are we repeating places where we have already met phenomena when we have an entire planet to choose from? And as we have seen it is not necessarily the Phenomenon that repeats itself, quite often it is only the time and the place where different Phenomena have a tendency to occur. And then as suddenly as it would start it would suddenly stop after a few different events at the same time and place. In only a short time it seems that we already have quite a few regulars.

More regulars? On August 9,1837, at 9.00 am there was a fall of warm rain from a cloudless sky onto Geneva in the Vaud of Switzerland. The fall occurred for one hour and started at 9.00 am The only clouds sighted during the cloudless rain were on the horizon. Geneva on the other hand had a propensity for warm rain. There were warm showers in1838 and 1842 as well. There were UFO reports in 1811, 1841 and with occupants in 1954. In 1922 there had been an insect fall. What makes Geneva so popular? To add to the consternation thearea around Geneva within the latitude of six degrees East and 46 degrees North is very popular as well. There were unidentified objects over Rousses and Morez in December 1841, a fall of insects in Savoy in 1869 and several unidentified landed and flying objects along with occupants in 1954. Some areas, and it is not relative to population density as we have seen, are or have been more prone to Phenomenal events than others.

It is funny how some places have a predilection for certain Phenomena. Or even just Phenomena. As usual now we mention Chambery which had a similar Celestial visitor in 1819,1829 and 1841. The odds of Astronomical Phenomena striking the same place on the surface of theEarth as it hurtles through Space is probably less than nil. The Earth isnever in the same area of Space twice. The Phenomena though quite often are. Quite often three or four times. Some are over one hundred.Even if they are all merely Meteors the same odds still apply.

The regular areas, against all probability, just kept on returning. Sometime during December 1842 at Claveaux, in Livet-et-Gavet in France, twolittle girls discovered a shower of falling stones in the woods near their home. They returned with their parents and the stones were still falling though very slowly. There was also a strange upward current that was trying to drag the two little girls up into the sky. The parents grabbed the girls and managed to stop this happening. There was not a giant bird in sight so they cannot be blamed. Slowly falling stones?Is there something wrong with our gravitational hold? What was it though that was trying to take the little girls up into the sky? There had been a lot of it going around though. Three recorded events in that one year. Liverpool in England on 11th May Cupar in Scotland on 30th June and Clavaux in France in December And in the same area to a degree of many unexplained Phenomena over the preceding few years. It had been really busy in five East 45 North. Gravity seemed to be on the blink more times than we can give it credit for. It does not seem to be an absolute.

Do some areas just naturally repeat? On July 17,1860, on the other side of the World at Dharmsalla in Himachal Pradesh in India many witnesses saw spherical stone objects coming from the sky. At the same time there was a luminous object in the sky that appeared to be nine foot long by two feet wide. If they were stones falling then surely the thousands of witnesses would have called them stones, not spherical stone objects, which indicates an artificial origin. Indeed a very non-natural origin if they did indeed fall down out of the sky. As for the light in the sky at the same time maybe it was a door or the edge of an Interstellar or interdimensional carpet which these spherical stone objects were being rapidly swept under. This fall was followed shortly after by another fall in the exact same place. On Friday. July 28,1860, an ice-coated Meteor fell from the sky. It was so cold when it landed that it numbed the hands. This was reported by the British High Commissioner for the area. This was followed by the appearence of lights in the sky as well as the falling from the sky of spherical stone objects that resembled cannonballs. These spheres were picked up immediately by passing coolies and were so cold that they benumbed the Coolies' fingers. The cold stones also fell with little or no velocity, in other words slowly, and were accompanied by very loud noises in the sky. At last! Ice coated spheres! Ice structures based on spherical or dustlike forms. There are several minor problems though. The icespheres are the size of cannonballs and to compound the craziness there are corresponding stone spheres the same size crashing down to Earth as well. Oh Dear, did I say crashing down? Well they came down, none too fast according to the reports. Okay, the anti-gravity machine was not working too well up there. And there were a few stray stone cannonballs falling, even if slowly. And they were so cold that they numbed the hands of the coolies that picked them up. A few minor idiosynchrocies. Including the observation that the same, without the ice spheres, had fallen in the same spot only eleven days earlier. But in eleven days the Earth has moved thousands of miles in Space and the odds would be Astronomical that a travelling group of bolides and ice chunks, apparently spherical, would hit the Earth at the same place but at different times. Unless the Phenomena came from within the Earth's atmosphere or somewhere else nearby but still within the gravitational pull of the Earth. In simple terms the Phenomena would have to be travelling with the Earth, not towards it from elsewhere or it would have to be travelling towards where the Earth would arrive at later to be exact for the duplication of the event to occur and in the three hundred and sixty degree area of Space this is literally impossible. We have had multiple astronomical events over long periods of time before which should also be impossible. One would have to aim for the right Space at the right time as the random or multiple coincidentallity of the events would be outside any calculableprobability and we have had too many of these grouped events for them to be totally improbable. For example we have Chambery in France, Comrie in Scotland and Piedmont in Italy to name but a few thus far. There are many more to come. Individual areas of frequent impossible probability. These multiple longterm single destination Astronomical or Skybased events are all outside the pale unless we arelooking at close by sources for events. But how close by? If these things are falling from the sky then where have they fallen from? If the specific sitedness of the events indicates that they could not have come from Outer Space then we would have to logically assume that the objects appear from the local sky. Knowing as we do that the local sky does not appear to be an everpresent teeming mass of icechunks, flying rocks, fish, toads and other sundry items seemingly too numerous to mention then we might have to postulate another nearby source. We have had slow ice falls before. We have had the falls of stones with ice. If a stone is falling from the sky and it is not supposed to have been up there then it does not matter at all how big itis if it is not meant to be falling or having fallen. As for the lights in the sky, were these other stone spheres burning up on re-entry? At Ballvullich Farm on August 13,1849, there had previously been thunderous claps when ice fell from the sky. These could not have been Sonic Booms though for the ice would certainly have been steaming at that speed if not melted up completely. Not stone cold. Another indication that the objects had not travelled very far. The cloudless thunderclapping noise might be the rending of the Heavens. Or the collapsing of some modern scientific answers.

What is it about specific sitedness? We might have to allow for the repeat of a Phenomenon from the sky onto the same area as being impossibleunder normal conditions of Time and Space. The many different objects that fall from the sky must have come from elsewhere. We have had slag, ice, possibly frogs and toads as well as metallic objects falling from particular parts of Space and onto very, very particular parts of the ground over differing periods of time. Very few of these, with the exceptions of some falling stones and jellies have ever been described as burning up or melting in freefall as would be expected. Even our ice masses aren't melting.

Remember, events coming from Outer Space or the sky in relation to the Earth travelling through Space by the study of probabilities alone cannot occur in multiples on the one single spot on the surface of the Earth. In the case of Dharmsalla again we have multiples. We need to look at different theories. Maybe indeed we need to develop totally different theories or at least to allow for differing theories to evolve from the data and its own intrinsic patterning by itself.

As another proof for specific sightedness on 12th April 1864, there was a fall of non-Meteoric stones onto Nerft in the Courland of Latvia. More stones. There had previously been another fall of non-Meteoric stonesover Buschof nearby in 1863. This is almost exactly the same site in Astronomical terms. Even Pillitsfer in Latvia in August 1863, is astronomically the same site but it is impossible for all three falls to occur in virtually the one small spot over such a long time. Namely from 12th June 1863, to 12th April 1864. Yet they did.

Whose orbit are we colliding with? Are we closer to parallel dimensions than we at first think we are?

Reappearances kept reappearing. In 1867 in Vence in the Alpes-Maritime inFrance, fiery spheres of dazzling brightness were seen to emerge from a strange single cloud that moved around over the area. Ten years later this same cloud would reappear in the same area. Meteors do notsubdivide, nor tend to explode, nor gently separate. They burn away due to friction with the atmosphere and the original Meteor is gone in seconds not minutes, or in some of our cases, days. And Meteors do not tend to be cloudlike. In archetypal UFO lore this would be called a Mothership. And Meteors do not return ten years later as well. Or do they? New Mexico was thought to be an exception. It might in fact be the new yardstick. You shall discover this later.

Particular places still? On May 24,1868, a woman was walking down a lane in Birmingham and was hit on the head by a falling stone The stone must not have fallen from very far away or the woman's head would have exploded from the impact. Birmingham and its environs are unusually active in the falling stone stakes. Was the stone fallen or thrown? We would have assumed thrown if it were not for the fact that this is Birmingham and it was stonefall season.

Still particular places again? On May 29,1868, at Stourbridge in the West Midlands of England there was a fall of frogs from the sky. The Birmingham woman would probably have preferred one of these to have hit her. Messy but possibly not fatal or very injurious. We know that frogs exist. That is definite. We do not believe though that they can fall from the sky. We also know that Meteoric stones can fall from the sky therefore if frogs are falling at the same time then they must be Meteoric frogs seeing that we know that both exist. We have a whole quandary of unusuals multiplying here. If they were ordinary stones and not Meteoric were they then ordinary frogs? Did anythingfall at all? If it didn't then it was recorded to have not fallen in the area several times. Therefore we must conclude that a falling was indeed happening and if the frogs had fallen from too far up then they would be flatter than roadbase on contact with the Earth.

Were we passing through an Interstellar cloud of little black stones? Why do they often fall during electromagnetic storms though? Is the electromagnetic energy release incidental or incremental? That same day, May 29,1868, there was a fall of thousands of small black stones during a thunderstorm in Italy. This isn't Birmingham? More stones. These ones have precedents in the Midlands of England in 1858.

And also on that same day more masses of small black stones fell onto Hungary during a thunderstorm. This was one of only two Phenomenal occurrences in this area. The first had been an icefall in 1802.

In Switzerland on the same day there was a fall of small black stones as well and also during a thunderstorm.

And of course when we talk falling black stones by the bucketload, how can we ignore Birmingham in England. On that same day as the falls in Europe, May 29,1868, between 9.00 am and 10.00 am there was a massive shower of small black stones. And Lo and Behold! We have gone full circle and are back in Birmingham but ten years later. The original Birmingham fall was on 12th June 1858.

On June 1,1868, another woman out walking, this time in a field near Birmingham, was struck by a falling stone that injured her hand severely. Another closely falling stone or this woman like another Birmingham woman walking only recently would have had no hand left if it was a true Meteoric impact. All stones that fall from the sky may not necessarily be Meteoric. The problem is that a stone that has been flying with thousands of its own kind through the fastnesses of Space and then hits the friction of the Earth's atmosphere should have literally caused the woman's head or hand to explode. It did not whichbegs us to ask again whether the Phenomena come from very far away after all? They do not possess the speed or indeed the velocity of Interstellar Meteoric particles. There should have been small Meteorite craters stretching from England to Hungary via Switzerland and Italy. Do we have enough proofs for incidentallity or specific sitedness?

Speaking of return rates and indeed return Phenomena? The next years on May 25,1869, many black stones fell from the sky during a storm. Preposterous! Who ever heard of black stones falling from the sky? Especially near Birmingham? Seeing it is Birmingham then it must be true. Why black stones? Why in the majority of stonefalls so far over the Birmingham area are the stones black? The two previous Birmingham black stone falls were in 1858 and May 29,1868, the same day as in Italy, Hungary, and Switzerland. A Blackstone Meteor shower perhaps? But how would this account for another Blackstone fall almost one year later? Why black stones in the Midlands? Why not red or yellow or mixed?

As we can see repetition is the norm rather than the exception, even if it might be only for a very limited period. On May 27,1869, there was a fall of large hailstones that had long protuberances on them that resembled icicles onto Tiflis, in Georgia, in the former USSR. We have not met iceblocks bearing icicles before and this is the first of several more to come. Meet the icicle bearing iceblocks. How long does it take for ice to develop icicles?

Fourteen days later we are back to Tiflis in Georgia where on June 10,1869, large hailstones fell that had protuberances like icicles hanging off them. This had only previously happened in the exact same spot on 27th May, that same year. We know how hailstones form. Ice accretes around a dust particle. Or in some cases large spherical stones or pebbles. Or in some of our reports seemingly rocks and boulders. How do icicles form? The general theory is that the incredibly cold water-ice in its descent from the structure that it is clinging to freezes before its intended free-fall due to the effects of gravity. Instead of falling it stays where it last was. This does take time. The longer the icicles the longer the time. Here we have large hailstones falling that have icicles hanging from them. Were the icicles all hanging in the same direction, as one would allow for gravity or worse still, as far as the present laws of physics are concerned, were they sticking out in alldirections? This would mean that they were tumbling very slowly indeed. And only over one particular area. Even stranger. Even weather moves. Or it is supposed to? Maybe Tiflis is a little like Derby, the icy weather tends to come to it.

Once again we meet regular areas. We can say “Oh it’s that place again!” but according to random chance we do not have occurrences repeatingor sites repeating. But in our newly perceived reality we possibly do. On July 28,1880, an Airship was reported over Saint Louis in Missouri. Another alleged Airship in the pre-aeroplane age? These are getting to be more numerous as well. Why Saint Louis again instead of somewhere new. Always the regular haunts or so it seems. In 1857 there was a stationary Meteor seen in the sky over here for three days whilst a series of earthquakes occurred and in future there would be everything from little men in flying machines to gigantic unknown birds flying around. The area around Saint Louis would serve as a Phenomenal focus several times more than the average for most places which is generally just above nil.

Now let us return to specific synchronically and specific incidentallity at their most basic. A light falling from the sky. It does not matter whether it is UFOish or Meteoric. What is astounding and against all laws of probablility as well as Astrophysics is the specific sitedness return rate. Let us start. Sometime in 1897 there was an aerial explosion over Yarnell in Yavapai County in Arizona. There were noises from the sky during the period. Meanwhile in Yarnell there were odd occurrences in the sky. Incidentally these had happened nearby before and would be quite prolific in the future. It seems that this area near Flagstaff Meteorite crater is a magnet for other Meteorites in greater numbers than the normal average. This is our original theme. Why are some areas more prone to Phenomenal attack than others? Why in some respects are some times as well?

On 12th September 1898, at Yarnell in Yavapai County in Arizona, there wasan aerial explosion over the town and a deep thundering noise was heard. The noise seemed to proceed from the Granite Range on the Yarnell side of Prescott. A large Meteor had been seen in the sky and appeared to have struck the Earth at this time by all accounts. Another Meteor hitting the Earth near Yarnell? It sure is! The second of even more to come and only a small time period to repeat in as the previous aerial occurrence in this area was only in 1897. Groups of Meteors cannot take over one year to finish a single fall in one small area.

On March 8,1899, Doctor Warren E. day reported seeing a luminous disc travelling with the Moon all day over Prescott in Yavapai County in Arizona. At its earliest it had been very near the Moon. On 12th September 1898, the previous year, a Meteor had been reported to have crashed into the Granite Range between Prescott and Yarnell, also in Yavapai County. The previous year there had been a Meteoritefall near Yarnell as well. It is this incidentallity of place that is really confusing

On January 15,1904, two of Mr Barringer's employees heard a loud hissing noise and saw a Meteor falling north of the then-named Barringer Meteor Crater near Flagstaff in Coconino County in Arizona. The particular Meteorite was found on 24th June,1905. If everything is random and the Earth is hurtling through Space, never actually occupying the same area of Space twice relative to itself, then how and why is the area around the Flagstaff-Barringer Meteor Crater in Arizona so popular for Meteor falls of indeed all sizes. Is it as if there is a homing Beacon there near the enormous crater produced twelve thousand years ago or is it just a magnetic attraction or merely coincidence. Coincidence might have to be ruled out though as the odds of Astronomical objects repeatedly hurtling through Space and colliding with the one lone pocket handkerchief sized window area on Earth is beyond any probability. There had been Meteor and stonefalls around here before. Once in 1897, once in 1898 and twice again in 1899. Well above any probability. You cannot have a continuous Meteor shower for six years or can you?

On 19th July, 1912, there was a loud detonation like a cannon in the sky over Holbrook in Navajoh County in Arizona. Then fourteen thousand stones of different sizes fell from the sky. There was an earthquake in the same area one month later on 18th August. Falling stones in Arizona? This was the sixth time. It is a very popular place for stones to fall. If all places on Earth are theoretically equal as far as the receiving of falling Astronomical Phenomena goes then there should be equal distribution of Meteor crashes all over the face of the Earth. Why is there not then? At Irkutsk in the early Nineteenth Century there were stonefalls associated with earthquakes. In Arizona you have the same sometimes even with the disproportionate amount of recurring stonefalls onto the one small area.

During Summer and Autumn in 1936, a Prospector saw showers of stones and weird lights near Howells in Yavapai County near Prescott in Arizona. Did we say Arizona in connection with falling stones and weird lights in the sky? Apart from six other times, this has never been reported happening before in Arizona. You are still saying that Phenomena cannot return, and not to large areas of Space and Time, but to small points of Space and Time as well? We are increasingly finding that they can so we must deduce then that the precision movement of objects and energies in Space is much sharper and more specific than originally postulated. Previously there had been an exploding flying object seen over Yarnell in 1897 followed by a similar aerial explosion, also over Yarnell, in 1898 that was attributed to an alleged Meteor crash into the Granite Ranges this side of Prescott. There had been showers of stones from the sky near Prescottfrom Summer 1936 onwards to Autumn. This is enough on Meteorites.

What of our smaller Phenomena? Around Inverness in Scotland strange footprints were being found and sheep and goats were being slaughtered. A farmer killed a large fierce animal of unknown species. Another animal similar to the first was then also shot a little later. No, it was not the Monster from nearby Loch Ness when a third of these strange animals was shot and killed. It was identified as a Lynx, a large bobtailed cat native to North America. Lynx are not native to Scotland. Neither is a breeding colony of them. Did the Lynx even know that they were anywhere that was not where they were supposed to be? We have a theory of Wormholes through Space that avoid Time and Space. When we allow for micro-periodicity with its micro or smaller distances we can also allow for the existence of micro-Wormholes wherein creatures and objects can travel across, possibly even through, the Earth, at the same moments avoiding Time and Space as in the case of the larger Interstellar Wormhole theory. Can these micro-Wormholes even connect different dimensions or realities? Can we use them like tunnels to subway Stations that take us to Major terminal Stations? I believe that we can!

For example let us look at New Jersey and how some sites have a greater apparent inclination towards the manifestation of Phenomena. The example being from Erial in Camden County where two male witnesses during 1930 saw a creature with the body of a man, the head of a cow and large Bat wings as well as big feet. The strange bird flew off into the sky and its dragging feet, or so it seemed, cut off the tops of trees. The Jersey Devil is back in another incarnation? This time with the body of a man, the head of a cow and large Bat wings. In 1880 the Jersey Devil was described as a manlike creature with batlike wings. In 1900 it was a small screaming Kangaroo. In 1909 it was like a large crane that gave off a glow like a firefly and had a ramlike head with curled horns, a long thin neck that was thrust forward and long thin wings. Other witnesses at the same time referred to it as having a head like a horse, wings like a Bat and a longrat like tail somewhat resembling a Pterodactyl. Other witnesses stated it looked like it had the face of a German Shepherd dog with large sparkling eyes. In 1924 it had the head of a Deer, ran like a rabbit and had flaming eyes. In 1925 it was seen as the size of a fullgrown Airedale dog, with Astrakhan like fur, hopping, whose forequarters were higher than the rear which was always in a crouchedposition and the hind feet had four webbed toes. It also had yellow eyes. Take your pick but like the Loch Ness Monster we keep having continuing changes in our descriptions. Do entire menageries get through our Wormholes? Or is there constant mutation of one single basic Phenomena? Who is mutating what? The Phenomenon or the observer?

Lets look at another example of this mutation of Phenomena. In 1945 at Upper Pottsgrove Township in Schuykill County in Pennsylvania many witnesses saw a strange hairy manlike creature roaming around. Have we had incidence here as well? In 1892 there had been a fall of worms over Lancaster County. In 1945 and 1946 there was an onrush of Hairy Hominoid sightings as if from nowhere. In 1957 there was an unexplained icefall and in 1973 there was one lone Hairy Hominoid report. Is there patterning to these Phenomenal sightings or is it random? Are they part of larger patterns that can only be seen in their whole entirety? Are they random or are they repetitive? Not necessarily the Phenomena which could be subjective but the occurrences in Time and Space which are objective. We could not fix the sightings visually as there were so many variations so we needed other types of constants. These are time, for they need the passage of time to be viewed and time is part of a larger assumed pattern or passage and they needed a place to occur or be witnessed. What if we looked at time and place only and reduced the Phenomena seen to a common constant, that they were reported to be seen and not what was reported to be seen. And then we could see if there were any repetitions or if they were all totally random. If they were random then they were of no consequence and could be discounted as not being validation of my hypothesis. They could be caused by any random events from individual mental illness up to group hallucination. If they were not random and were part of a larger pattern and indeed formed larger patterns then we have a new mystery to top off all of our little mysteries. For if there were patterns of time and place they would have to be repetitive so as to form the pattern in the first place. If they are repetitive in regard to time and place then they are predictable. If they are predictable then they can be approached in time and place and possibly examined whilst they are occurring. Remember we are only looking at incidents of witness reports over time and place. We are looking at witness reports, not what has been reported. We may be very close to the unknown and being able to enter it under controlled circumstances. Then we might be able to determine what actually is the unknown! Or is the unknown merely the Unsuccessfully Explored?

Even the most amazing Phenomena might be related in some way to each other! Even totally bizarre sightings such as the next one that I am about to mention. On November 23,1904, Mr Geoffrey Anderson saw a vague black shape about four foot long by

2.5 feet high rising up out of a gutter in Edinburgh in Scotland. The creature was shaped like an hourglass and moved like a huge caterpillar and sprang at the throat of Mr Anderson's horse which reared up in terror. The mutant caterpillar then vanished. The Killer caterpillar of Edinburgh? Had the Springworm left Austria? Maybe it was a giant leech? You see it once and then you never see it again. So anomalous it should be inadmissable. If it were not for the fact that when a periodicity test was done on the incidences of all of the Phenomena in this book, the test sample being all documented anomalous Phenomena from 1800 to 1977, a definite set of patterns emerged that were all interdependent on each other. This periodicity test was subject to the conditions of entry to this book for data. Conditions being that only Phenomena that had been multiply independently witnessed or had left trace evidence in our physical dimension could be included. These items of data had to come from at least three separate sources as well and their location had to be known down to a few miles. The minimum detail in time was that I had to know the year that the event occurred and that is why I have not included a lot of anecdotal evidence of Phenomenal happenings as they are very hazy on time and time is as important as place as they are the only three constants that we know of for the Phenomena. The periodicity test was performed by the renowned Plasma Physicist Mr Christopher Illert and showed that there was a recognisable periodicity to peak incidences of reported phenomena that was closely synchronous to the periodicity of the planets of our Solar System and then possibly some. The planetary periodicities were so close to the Phenomenal periodicities that a periodicity of 512 years discovered in the Phenomenal periodicities could well reflect a planetary periodicity therefore indicating the possibility of a planet at a distance of 512 Astronomical units from theSun. It seems as if the planetary periodicities equalled out at one year of a period being roughly equivalent to one Astronomical unit in distance. An Astronomical unit being the distance from the Earth to the Sun. Incidentally the outer-Plutonian planet known sometimes as Persephone or Proserpine was deduced to be in existence at an Astronomical distance of around 500 Astronomical units by

Astronomers at Siding Springs Observatory in Australia, in 1992, several months after my periodicity tests were done by Christopher Illert and the possible location of an outer-Plutonian planet, as distinct from the Oort cloud, was deduced from the Phenomenal data periodicity. Our periodicity also indicated an overlapping of orbits by Neptune over Uranus's periodically indicating a gravitational deflection by a source somewhere in the area of 500 Astronomical units from the Earth. We deduced from my data that the planet was at a distance of 512 Astronomical units from the Sun. To ascertain the periodicities Mr Illert reduced all of my data to an exponential projection based on the decay rate of subatomic Alpha particles as the constant. The exponential projection flattened out the peaks and troughs of a histogram that Mr Illert had originally constructed based on the data that I had given him. Thus from what at first appeared to be random data or the ravings of lunatics there appeared to be a periodic repetition very similar to that of the planets, most known, one unknown, one possibly missing, in our Solar System? Is everything in the Universe linked in one interdependent set of waves that lock into each other like wheels within wheels? How amazing is it that thePhenomena are seen to occur in Synchronicity, to a great degree, with the positions of the planets in our Solar System. This is not Astrology though some would like to call it such. Here we are indeed discussing the incidences of conjunctions and suchlike but merely as time markers rather than as personal influencers. When this conjunction occurs for example we might have peaks of Phenomenal sightings, for others a decrease. We are using planetary positions relative to each other as markers. Maybe there are unknown energies in our Multiverse that we still do not know of that might effect Humanperception on Earth. Are people more responsive to imaginary visions, many of them of a mass nature, or psychotic imaging at particular times as a byproduct of piezoelectric or otherwise known or unknown energy sources or do the energy sources help stimulate parts of the brain responsible for imaging? Thus allowing for multiple independent witness reports as well as physical trace evidence left at the sights then we may even have to overlook this psychological explanation. Postulating further can we then hypothesise that the periodicity of Phenomena into cluster periods or areas may be more physical events set in time periods that we are only now becoming aware of. Times and places change and when they don't the Phenomena often still stay in the same place. They appear and then they disappear over and over again. If a thing has a pattern then it can be repeated.

As we go forwards we seem to go backwards while at the same time actually standing still as far as the relationship of the Phenomena and its observation to the observer goes. The observation is not necessarily only Technologically superior but different and more powerful to the ordinary whether it is a Seamonster or a flying ship or even Elf and Fairy sightings of earlier periods. The object of the phenomena is always unidisputably more powerful or significantly greater than the observer. It is always one step beyond our cultural expectations though not necessarily in any definite direction. Nebulously beyond might be one way of putting it. Are the Fairies back? What exactly is forwards and backwards anyhow? The Phenomenon is always more powerful or apart from us. Is this where we originally obtained our concept of God from? That which is more powerful than us?

Sometimes we come upon some of the most Phenomenal coincidences so to say but I am now not too sure as to the coincidence of coincidence though I prefer to call the Phenomena ones of particularity and incidentallity. But are they? On April 7,1938, at 1.14 pm John Greeley, the Helmsman of the "S. S. Ulrich" was incinerated at the wheel of a ship in the Irish Sea just off the Irish coast. Nothing else was burnt and he did not cry out according to the witnesses around him. The dead man's shoes were untouched by the flames that consumed his entire body. It was a clear day and there was no lightning. Coincidence is an amazing thing. Mr Greeley was incinerated at 1.14 pm.

On April 7,1938, at 2.14 pm at Upton-by-Chester in Wirral in England, MrGeorge Turner, a lorry driver, was found totally incinerated in his lorry, truck, cabin. The upholstery was not even singed and there was no damage to the interior. At the temperature needed to cremate a Human there should have been no truck left.

The clock on the truck stopped at 2.14 pm. The cushions on the truck seats were unsinged. The truck had run off the road. Mr Turner was incinerated in his lorryor truck at 2.14 pm.

At 3.14 pm in Nijmegan in Gelderland in Holland Mr Willem Ten Bruike was found totally incinerated in his car. There was minimal damage to the interior and the upholstery had not even been smudged. April 7,1938, was a strange day. Nijmegan was not the only place to have acase like this on this day. The same thing happened at Upton-by-Chester and Nijmegan. Mr Ten Bruike was incinerated in his car at 3.14 pm. How amazing. Three hours apart on the same day. What a fantastic coincidence! Even more so when we realise that on the curved face of the Earth, the Irish Sea, Upton-by-Chester and Nijmegan are approximately one hour apart in time. This actually means that the incinerations all occurred at approximately the same time, in fact did occur at almost exactly the same time as there is no room for time error in this at all. It would appear that something swept across the Irish Sea on to Upton-by-Chester in England and then onto Nijmegan in Holland at such fantastic speed that it hit all three locations in under one minute and incinerated three people that we know of in its line of movement. There could have been others that we do not know of. Anti-matter? A Micrometeorite? An incredibly high frequency but very narrow vibration? A mystery. Or so we believe it to be but there may be more to this and other incidentsof synchronicity or coincidentallity than previously thought possible. We have met these happenings before. Remember that all movement requires energy. Previously there had been a possible Micrometeorite attack on a man trundling a cart at Schaffhausen nearby in 1875 whose arm was perforated by an invisible falling musket-ball sized object, in 1882 a green cigar-shaped object was seen in the sky, there was a fall of material resembling glue over Sart in Belgium in 1901 and in 1903 there was a fall of organic matter that was not sand from the sky nearby in Belgium. Nothing is ever the same.

Also on 11th June 1938, nine Airmen were killed when their bomber plane crashed into an invisible in midair. There was a sudden crash with nothing visible and the plane fragmented over Delaware in Illinois. After the impact the wreckage looked as if it had hit a glass wall. Did the aeroplane crash into an invisible or into a solid away from our dimension of sight. Maybe it was a flying iceberg that the hapless aircraft had collided with?

On June 24,1938, there was a monstrous explosion over Pittsburgh in Alleghany County in Pennsylvania that city scientists estimated was equivalent to ten thousand tons of T. N. T exploding twelve miles up.Something unknown had actually exploded twelve miles up. It was attributed to an exploding Meteorite but no traces were ever found. Another invisible? Was it similar to the first? Were these explosions possibly not quite in our present dimension?

On July 29,1938, Mrs Mary carpenter, her husband and her children were on a cabin cruiser together on the Norfolk Broads in England. Suddenly Mary was engulfed in flames and she was reduced to a charred corpse in only a few seconds. Nothing else was burnt. Her husband and children watched on helplessly as the unspeakable happened in front of them. Were the explosions above Pittsburgh and the fatal midair collision that had occurred recently related to this as well? Was it an invisible antimatter shower? Was the Earth passing through an invisible storm? Are there energy storms, previously undetectable, that race through Space itself?

Also on July 29,1938, globes of fire drifted down from an overcast sky onto the village of Parajaevara in Lapland. The falling fiery globes set fire to everything that was combustible and one person was incinerated and several other people were badly burnt. Five dwellingswere destroyed. There were no explosions. The objects just drifted down. Were all four aerial Phenomena between 11th June and 29th July , all related? And were they all related to the synchronous Phenomena of April seventh? Apart from the odd crocodile were they to continue?

Also on August 27,1938, in Chelmsford in Essex Miss Phyliss Newcombe,22, was dancing in a crowded dance in the Shire Hall on a Saturday night. Suddenly, and to everyone’s horror, she became covered with blue flames whilst dancing and within minutes became a pile of blackened ash on the floor. This happened at Midnight. The crinoline dress had become a mass of flames and no cigarette butt or anything else that would have been handy would have been capable of doing this. Were these after effects of the huge Meteor fall in Guiana in November 1937? Was it an aftereffect of something else in the fastnesses of Space? Were they all related effects?

In 1938 a Meteorite fell through the roof of Mr Ed. McCains garage and then through his automobile roof in Benid, Illinois. Are all of these previous Phenomena related?

Do previously unknown energy forms travel in orbits in our Solar System and indeed throughout the Universe, often travelling with Comets, Meteors and Asteroids? Do we have visible as well as invisible Cosmic debris hurtling though Space, something akin to negative or dark planetoids or Cosmic debris?

During March 1945, the Captain and crew of the “U. S. S. Delarof” were off Adak in the Andreanof Islands near the Aleutian Islands in the north Pacific Ocean at sunset when they saw a dark spherical object emerge from the sea only one mile away. Once it was in the sky the object circled the ship and then flew off. This was no plane. The in diameter was 150 to 250 feet and as it went to the southwest there was no sound. There were then three flashes of light from the area where it was last seen and the odd aerial object abruptly vanished. It is common knowledge that some Meteors must rise out of the sea otherwise there would be no explanation for lights rising out of the sea and in many cases lakes. Either this or they are very small volcanoes with very limited windows of opportunity and also capable of leaving no traces. Both of these explanations appear to be quite invalid so other explanations may have to be in order. Can our energyforms come out of water as well as out of the sky? Can these energy forms transcend matter itself at times or are they capable of duplicating it? Can these forms of matter appear to be intelligently controlled and guided? It circled the ship much the same as many other unidentified aircraft up until now. The only minor problem is that we have not reached the official start of the age of the saucers yet.Were the flashes of light energy expension, or releases of energy, for intentional interdimensional travel so as to duplicate natural conditions that I may postulate do occur already in conjunction with the Plasma State occurrences and the Quasar Vacuum? Please read on for an explanation of the Quasar Vacuum.

We have reports of craft or objects in the sky that make loud noises and others that make no noise at all. Noise in the sky is a product of friction with the atmosphere. The faster the friction the louder the noise. An example being Sonic Booms as the object breaks the SoundBarrier. If there is no noise it means that the craft is either travelling very slowly and if it is travelling very fast then it is not creating friction. The craft might not actually be here but might only be visiblefrom here. Or it is frictionless. It can only be frictionless if it has no mass. If it has no mass it has to be in a Plasma State or carry a PlasmaState around it. The only state with less mass than a Plasma State is that of the theoretical Quasar Vacuum where matter is oscillating so fast that the internal bonding has broken down completely. Some physicists postulate that this state of matter occurs in two realities or dimensions at the same time. How is our projection going? Working backwards in nuclear Physics we have Quasar Vacuum breaking down into Plasma State and then to gas and then to liquid and then to solid?Where is liquid? It too would occur in the transformation. The liquid state might be where we cannot agree on a shape or a size. It is changing. All is changing. There have been several cases where the objects appeared metallic or liquidy. This might actually be the case. The matter of our observation might be in constant flux or change as it transcends various forms of being from the Quasar Vacuum down through Plasma State to gas and liquid and then to solid.

Are Lightwheels also massive electromagnetic fields? With form but massless? If so could we then postulate that these electromagnetic entities might still be inside the Quasar Vacuum and are not really here at all but only appear to be here. The electromagnetic side-effects are merely indications of energy output to get through the Quasar Vacuum? We have massless frictionless illuminated objects that possess massive electromagnetic fields. The observer possibly fills in the gaps according to their conscious and/or subconscious personal belief systems possibly as a way of normalising or comprehending thePhenomena.

If something is coming out of a Quasar Vacuum could it be possible that something passing by could also be drawn in? If a Phenomenon could be seen on Radar as they sometimes are, usually before they disappear from it, then there is a very small degree of mass present after all for the Radar to detect it. Is this minimal mass then capable of causing the air displacement that we have also had reported with some of our Phenomena? Mass is a byproduct of the decreasing of movement of Electrons and Subnuclear particles. As the speed of these items decreases then we have greater solidity and density as the Electrons oscillate closer and slower to the Proton-Neutron core. Can we manipulate matter so that it loses and gains mass? Try boiling and freezing water. Happens all the time. But for the form of the object to stay intact we might be more successful if we are in electromagnetic form as an oscillation or a pattern. Bear with me as we are close to a quantum leap in my hypothesis. Mass is a loss of movement or a decrease of the release of energy. The greater the energy release the faster the movement. That is why we have until recently observed matter in Plasma State in nuclear explosions only. But we also have results of testing of Cold Plasma States where our mass becomes Plasma without the massive and heat filled energy release of a nuclear explosion. We are talking transformation of matter at normal temperatures and in apparently normal conditions.

Is the cloud so often seen as part of many UFO sightings part of the process of materialisation and dematerialisation through the Quasar Vacuum?

Is this lack of definition also a feature of having traversed the Quasar Vacuum, the same as the clouds and the fog so often reported? Even the Angelhair?

How many times have we had reports of UFOs dropping filamentary material, the so-called Angelhair? If we allow for a materialisation and a corresponding dematerialisation process as our flying objects change form from Plasma to gas to liquid and then to solid after goingor coming through the Quasar Vacuum then is Angelhair a byproduct of this? Is it the same as the alleged Ectoplasmic material of the Spiritualists in the Nineteenth Century?

Are we talking related Phenomena? That for Phenomena to occur interdimensionally in some cases there is the production of a shortlived byproduct known asAngelhair in UFO terms or Ectoplasm in Spiritualist terms? Is this free matter that is capable of transforming into anything whilst in the Quasar Vacuum state or at least a residue of it?

Is the production of Angelhair part of the transmogrification process as an object passes through the Quasar Vacuum? Can an object only be capable of passing through the Quasar Vacuum if it is in the form of pure energy and the Angelhair is part of its reconstruction into hard matter again?

Could our short-materialisation-span Ectoplasm or Angelhair be involved with our numerous conflicting Lakemonster and animal and UFO reports? Is the material of our Phenomena so loosely constructed or bound together that it can at times be so unstable after metamorphosing through the Quasar Vacuum that its shape holding abilities or shape-reforming abilities are limited or nonexistent and so we have confecting descriptions from witnesses or descriptions of sightings mutating in full view? Can they sometimes just explode into multiple particles thereby causing such Phenomena as sprays of luminous aerial explosions of flying objects or luminous aerial Jellyfish or our falls of gel from the sky? Our Phenomena in many cases only have a very limited timespan as well as physicallity, time of being physical, span before they deconstruct. This still might not invalidate our original hypothesis that the physical structure of the Phenomena are linked to a precise temporal and spatial periodicity and that the Phenomena in many cases if not all are manifested in forms or viewed as forms that the witness can understand from a Universal Cosmic Symbology. The very loose bonding structure of the Phenomena either as an intentional or unintentional byproduct of passing through the Quasar Vacuum might be influenced either consciously or unconsciously by the observer so as to assume a familiar form. That is why many of our Phenomena have a so-called Imaginary feel to them, as if they are just ahead of the Human race Technologically or stronger physically or more monstrous or whatever it is that makes them better or stronger or whatever form greater or more powerful than us. It also allows for the frequent elements of the absurd that appear in the reports that at first make them seek nonsensical but in fact are the true humanising touches of the Phenomena. This is proof of a humanising influence to the Phenomena whether it be a potato or a rock being thrown from a UFO or an Airship or bizarre Monster activity then it indicates that the Phenomenon has been humanly influenced and seeing that the observer is the only Human present then the observer is influencing the form of the Phenomena right down to possibly how the phenomena manifests itself in the first place. We go back again to ouroriginal hypothesis of Catholics seeing Virgin Marys in trees, Hunters seeing Hairy Hominoids, Fisherfolk seeing Lake and Seamonsters andthe scientifically inclined seeing Techno-Supreme Folk and craft amongst many things and all of this following a very complicated but rigid periodic and spatial path. You might need to digest all of this now. We, the observers, might be responsible for how our Phenomena actually appear. How does a sceptic see a Lakemonster? They might not!

Not being qualified witnesses people tend to misinterpret aerial Phenomena. Obviously a Meteor was passing by when a blackout occurred. Or I could pull the other leg. Once again an object in the sky, this time luminous, in proximity to an electromagnetic malfunction. Do these aerial explosions or implosions of electromagnetic energy relate to what we have already discussed about the Quasar Vacuum? The entry points or interdimensional doorways might not necessarily always be at ground level. What we might be seeing are energy flares produced by the entry or exit of the Phenomena.

Humans tend to use imagery and analogy in their interpretation of the Worldaround them. We have UFOs described as having the sound of a swarm of bees amongst many examples. Is there a place in our symbolistic imagery section that allows for archetypal interpretations of bright lights on or near the ground, with or without Hominoids, to make noises of different types? In this case the sound of the swarm of bees? This bee sound has also been reported in association with religious Phenomena as well such as sightings of the Virgin Mary. We have linkages thus far with early demonology and with religion. The Phenomena merely is seen to have changed its appearance or has changed its appearence on its own. Which is which? Remember back to the animals reacting to various Phenomena? What did they see? If the manifestation of sightings is defined by cultural loading and subconscious symbolism then why did we not have a vast disparity in descriptions of what was sighted? Why not a plethora of winged Beasts and Airships and different styles of craft? Did our collective subconscious dictate that there would be only one generic description suitable only to a limited number of interpretations? Or the simpler explanation? The craft only looked like what it was? A large bright light in the sky which could scare animals and humans. Possibly one of our electromagnetic pulses or whatever. One of our Quasar Vacuum doorways. This is not what the witnesses saw though. In one case the witnesses, girls, saw a landed hollow saucer 16 feet wide and somebody attempting communication with them. Not a bright light in the sky. The girls saw the man first before they saw thecraft. Who or what was the man? The Devil in disguise or the Archangel Gabriel? Or somebody or something capable of being both? Somebody or something capable of being whatever we might want or not want them to be. We still subconsciously dress the event based on our inherent symbolism according to our cultural loading butthe core of it is not created by us at all. The core of it is possibly a pure energy source far more powerful than we can comprehend. It can light the sky and make the noise of a million bees. It can burn people up or heal them. It can do anything dressed up in our symbolism. What can it do once we undress it? Once we intentionally go to where it is to manifest? We now have reason to believe, according to Mr Illert's testing of the periodicity of the Phenomena, that the Phenomenal events are possibly triggered by forces unknown at present that follow set paths in the shape of sine waves across Space and possibly time. I postulate that when various of these pathways intersect as they constantly move there is an energy explosion or resonance that liberates an unknown form of energy that we deduce may activate a Cold Plasma State produced by an intersection of energy travelling along these sine waves into a Quasar Vacuum. There has to be another constant and the only constant at any of these sightings is the actual observer themself! We may infer that the observer is the missing element or part of the equation and thepart of the equation that brings it to life so to say. One is dependent on the other and that is possibly why the Phenomena represents itself as a subconscious symbolistic interpretation. Goblins need us as much as we need them. There is no sighting if no one has been seen. What do the cows and other animals see though?

For example our witness sees an Aluminium illuminated trailer-like object on the ground. There are two small silvery creatures grunting near it who run to it at the approach of the witness. Our witness is a modern man. No Fairies or Goblins for him! Now it is alleged Space creatures. That is what a modern man sees! And spacecraft! But allhe saw was an Aluminium luminous trailer-like object that little silvery Hominoids ran into that shot up into the sky at his approach. Did it go into Space? This is only an inference. It could have gone anywhere in the sky. It could have gone into another dimension. It could have disintegrated. It could have transmogrified. It could have done anything. It might not have gone into Space. It might not have even actually been there. Did it even resemble an Aluminium trailer or was this all conjured up subconsciously by the observer according to rules of expectation and normality, even allowing for the non-normal? Was it merely a light with shadows racing towards it? The analogy being that if it or they are apparently running for the light source then they are animated thus making them animals or Hominoids and seeing that we have a light source that we have inferred as a machine then these shadows must be the pilots. What we possibly have is a translated and normalised description of energy forms in movement. The observer might be the only thing to give the Phenomena a form of stability. It might remain in energy form all along. You cannot see God if you cannot focus on God. The problem is the observer’s interpretation of God and the form of God.

We have other examples that when reduced to basics depict an aerial or grounded luminous power source that gives the witness an electric shock. The witness’s car also receives an electric shock as well that causes its' engine to stall and the headlights to die. Did we sight a Hominoid from a UFO or did the shock trigger parts of the Human brain responsible for delusions similar to those of schizophrenics? OrOption two. The energy source is the state of the craft as it entered via the Quasar Vacuum before it slows itself down to assume a so-called solid state of matter. The Hominoid is sighted and actually exists. Or is it both? How solid is solid? That the aerial luminousityaffected the car indicates that it was not a product of subconscious symbolism as the car has no ability to react to symbolism in a direct manner only via the medium of its operator. In this case the car is reacting to something that is tangible and not via the medium of its operator indicating that the aerial object is not symbolistic. It is still indefinable but it is apparently actual.

Intense heat or light are common features. Is the heat or light a byproduct of the transfer through the Quasar Vacuum? A sort of electromagnetic residual effect or the energy source itself?

Do we or do we not have Hominoids? Are they shadows? Are they creatures? Are they hallucinations? Are they real? Are they all of the above?We have an increasing number of reports of them as well as increasingly better described reports. If they are travelling through theQuasar Vacuum are they ever actually here or are we witnessing holograms or successful teleportations for that is what is needed to theoretically get through the Quasar Vacuum to here? Or do we still have shadows that are translated by the observer into recognisable forms?

We have reports of craft or entities or animals and according to the witnessessuddenly it or they are gone. Were they actually here? Had they actually arrived totally here or were they still in transition through the Quasar Vacuum? If we have civilisations or cultures capable of consistent transfer through the Quasar Vacuum as effortlessly as we drive motor cars today then we might have to expect that with familiarity they become casual or less alert and they might have a few car crashes and sudden U-turns of vehicles as well. After all, Aliens might only be people, not necessarily humans, too! Any form of sentience has the ability to be fallible relative to the complexity of its surroundings, both mental and physical.

What of witness descriptions of sensory interactions with Hominoids from these alleged craft? They have heard them, smelt them, felt them, even had sex with them. Or did they dream it? Or were they having a schizoid episode with all sorts of hallucinations triggered by electromagnetic radiation from the Phenomenon?

In some cases different witnesses describe the Phenomena in different colours. One group sees a UFO as multicoloured and one individual sees it as luminous green for example. Which colour is correct or are both? Did the UFO view out as a constantly colour changing object in the sky? These colour changes would be consistent with the changing of the vibration rate of the craft or an electric field or shield around the craft's nucleus as it moved faster to get ready to travel through the Quasar Vacuum or merely to negate the vibration rate of gravity allowing for gravity to be a harmonic or sine wave oscillating at a fixed, at present unknowable, frequency. This is all regarded as imagination after all so we can have any options that are still valid in scientific terms for if they were not then their existence would definitely have to be negated by being in a position of not possibly being able to exist at all.

Did we also along the way mention Leprechauns or Goblins as well as Hominoids and Extraterrestrials? Outer Space leprechauns or next-door Space? Remember that we are possibly dealing with other dimensions here, not great distances, just beyond your outstretched finger. These interdimensional openings possibly being triggered to open or naturally occurring or both or a combination of both when various energy lines or points that I have postulated coincide at a particular point of Space and Time on the surface of our planet. If we remove the passage of time to the equation of travelling from one dimension to another then we remove the effects of what would happen during the passage of time. If our craft or object is in a different time and dimension to that which it is travelling through, as if in an energy cocoon, then it would not suffer the effects of travelling through that time or dimension unless it is transitioning through both at the same time, which is the principle of the Quasar Vacuum. If there is no time in this transitional Space then the physical effects of travelling through the Quasar Vacuum would not be felt as these would require time to manifest themselves. The only dangerous point would be where we are transiting in or out, where we are accelerating or decelerating through time. Here we would need the electromagnetic cocoon travelling at the opposite speed to that of whatever we are travelling through so as to neutralise it. This is where we would manifest colour changes apparent in the outer electromagnetic cocoon as its vibration rate increased or decreased. That is if the Phenomena follow this scenario! It might be an explanation for the apparently Technologically derived Phenomena such as UFOs and their kin but does it explain the appearence and disappearance of animals? Have we any reports of these Alien animals being seen arriving or departing? Or have we only seen thembefore or after arrivals or departures? Have they fallen through the cracks? Were they stowaways on the craft or released or lost pets? Many of these animals possess the now you see them, now you don't signature. Much like most of our Phenomena. Were they in fact the pilots?

Many of our aerial craft make movements that are theoretically impossible for objects with mass that are reacting to gravity and momentum. But we have many reports of sudden right turns in the sky at impossible speeds or sudden decelerating stops and reverses. Are we actually viewing moving energy filled spaces and that due to them being spaces we have no friction? Would this also account for the generallyregular Angled or circular shape of our UFOs? On their sides they appear ellipsoid but flat-on they are circular? If this be the case where the depth is far less than the width is there also a point in Time and Space where there is no depth but only width and that this would be the in the Time and Space or non-space where we travel through the Quasar Vacuum? The apparent width being the Corona or energydischarge created or needed or both to get through the Quasar Vacuum. This energy Corona need only be an Electron thin and any width. Remember that we are dealing with a postulate here that what we are observing and calling UFOs in many cases might actually be holes in Space with energy coronas around them.

Can we have simultaneous schizophrenic attacks resulting in the same hallucination? Or hallucinations that are similar? Or one person hallucinating a sighting into reality? Is this as far fetched as it seems?Maybe not. Earlier on we discussed the preponderance of Phenomena to assume culturally and Technologically recognisable forms. The data had already been shown to have periodicity rather than random sourcing. We indicated that the Phenomena are indeed cyclically recurring in most parts and the sightings were possibly influenced by the cultural and symbolic interpretation of the witness. This was not necessarily the interpretation of the actual sighting but the actual sighting itself which possibly took on a recognisable form to the observer. If we have totally chaotic atomic structure coming out of a Quasar Vacuum can the Human observer influence this atomic electromagnetic bond-free anarchy to the degree where the hallucination assumes a temporary reality? This is where reality might well still be an illusion. If this be the case then an observer could well have had a schizoid episode triggered by the electromagnetic field and through my theoretical Quasar Vacuum hallucination Amplification effect created that vision or hallucination into a temporary reality that others could make sensory contact with aswell. This would also explain why sometimes in a group of witnesses to the one assumed Phenomenal event there are a variety of descriptions and some witnesses who do not sensorily react with anything at all. The reality is still literally an hallucination and still possibly prone to witness re-interpretation so as to normalise the eventat the same time as it is triggering off parts of the electrical circuiting of the brain of the observer so as to create sensorily reactive appearences of reality. To some people it might not do anything. Some might not even see the colour spectrum of the electromagnetic Phenomena in the first place yet the electromagnetic event might be what triggered everything off in the first place. If this were first seen by a cow then what would a cow manifest? Do all of the cows in a herd of cows see the same Phenomena or do they only see what the basis of the Phenomena is? Do all of the cars in a fleet of cars react to an event? Generally “Yes” in the immediate time frame of occurrence. Cars do not symbolise. Cows might. There is no way of testing.

At times we have Phenomenal events that are composites of other Phenomenal events, sometimes all occurring at the same time. There could have been no prewarning of the witnesses by media or other sources. How then do we hallucinate strikingly similar themes the following day or even the same day, before even the media could disseminate the information, even if it bothered to? Could it be that the incoming visitors from through the Quasar Vacuum are manipulated into recognisable form by the observers? If this were thecase then the visitors could not return to whence they had come from for their technology would have changed to that of the observers’ expectations both culturally and symbolically. Or does it appear to change to fit the observers’ cultural and symbolic expectations? Are we talking camouflage at a cerebral level where electrical stimulation from the electromagnetic field that has travelled via the Quasar Vacuum stimulates the observers’ brain so as to cloak the actual event into that of what one would assume that the observer would assume to be occurring? Do we have very advanced chameleons that use our own cultural and symbolistic expectations as their own camouflage? God is always unknowable, that is why one cannot look at the face of God, for it is always changing. Maybe there is something to these old myths and legends after all? But who creates whom? That these physical hallucinations are induced by various Phenomena is certain and that their reactivity with observers is often erratic is also certain. What is uncertain with these interdimensional chameleons is how theycloak themselves. Part of the hypothesis is that they stimulate either intentionally or unintentionally parts of the Human brain that are responsible for schizoid delusions and reactions. Through the agency of the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Effect all or part of these delusions is temporarily made manifest or made real for a time. Does a fear reaction in the observer produce the Phenomena of superiority wherein the Phenomena are more powerful or advanced or more capable than the observer themselves? Possibly this reaction of Phenomenal superiority, which is Universal in all Phenomenal events, namely that the events are of a greater magnitude or parts of an action or agency of greater magnitude, for example God or the Virgin Mary or wise Elders from Space as well as their opposite numbers, the evil grey ones or the Devil and the Demons themselves down to bleeding Madonna statues et al, is intentionally introduced by the Masters of the Phenomena so as to brook little or no opposition amongst those who have been involved in actual observations or interactions with the Phenomenal events.

Are there Masters of the Phenomena? Are there sentient, thinking, consciousnesses that travel the Multiverse in the form of pure energy, only assuming physical form when needed or do they only assume theform of pure energy whilst traversing the Quasar Vacuum so as to travel between the dimensions of the Multiverse? The energy levels needed being supplied by the use of Cold Plasma explosions that trigger the Quasar Vacuum. The reaction of Technological superiorityor greater power is therefore a fear reaction produced by the observer that keeps self perpetuating in accordance with the observer's personal belief systems. Remember the giant swooping disc at Fatima? That these Phenomena seem to be controlled is the question. Controlled by whom, the observer or the Phenomenon? Or is it both? We know that with the ability to return to whence they came that the technology, for want of a better term, of the Phenomena is not effected by the observer, only the outward appearence is, in a situation similar to that of Hypnotism, which incidentally can also be produced by the use of flashing lights, especially when the mental defences of the observer are down, such as when they are very tired and driving very late at night or early in the morning making them more susceptible to reactionary situations rather than logically analyzed situations. A lot of our Phenomenal events, and incidentally a lot of our other so-called psychic events such as haunting and witching also occur in this period.

Are the observers being hypnotised by the coloured and flashing lights, which are incidental in a lot of cases to the Phenomena as well as to the use of the Quasar Vacuum, and via a medium at present unknown had the part of their brain responsible for delusional behaviour stimulated itself so as to cause hallucinations that are sensorily registrable at all levels? Then through the agency of the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Amplification Effect then been responsible for the outward appearence of the Phenomena as registered by the observer or observers. If there are Masters of the Phenomena then this natural reaction coupled with the fear reaction produced by the initial shock to the observer would be the most effective way to cloak their arrival and departure, allowing for the supposition that they arrive anddepart in the way that we understand arrival and departure. As I have postulated before they might only be seen to be here, though in many forms, but like a remote controlled robot sending back a television signal to another Station, might not be here at all. Only the appearence of form might be sent through the Quasar Vacuum.

But you say that the events in many cases have indicated that they have mass and that mass is more than form. Mass and form might well travel through the Quasar Vacuum but the form and mass might be totally different to that which is registered by the observer. We have a chameleoning technique at work. The perfect camouflage that is always in the grounds of ridicule but still very close to reality.

Any connection between psychic Phenomena and other Phenomena? Can all or most of these Phenomena be due to the power of the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Amplification Effect?

So often we have electromagnetic effects in connection with earthquakes. Are these at times natural electromagnetic Phenomena or interdimensional? A byproduct of earthquakes and piezoelectricity or the Quasar Vacuum opening? Or all of the above?

Other questions remain though. What of our Alien animals as some might call them? If these creatures are so apparently common how come they are still unfindable. How can we find Gorilla troops in the wilds of Rwanda and strange Antelopes in Vietnam but we cannot find any of these devilish denizens when we want to and lots of them have been reported! And we are not in isolated areas. Many of our recurrent creature and Hominoid sightings are in highly populated areas and yet these supposedly relict populations are unable to be found. It is as if these creatures are visiting in many cases rather than inhabiting. It is as if we share Fauna and possibly Flora with differentdimensions at different times. That is why nothing seems real. Because in many cases it may not be really here but only viewable from here. It is like a holographic window. It may look, smell, sound,feel and even taste like it is here but it may be in fact a constructed limited term pseudo-reality created using the Free-Form power of the Quasar Vacuum and the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Amplification Effect. Namely the multi-dimensional image is projected through the Quasar Vacuum in a variety of forms, quite often being camouflaged by the observer into a recognisable reality based on their own personalor group symbolism and their initial fear reaction, and by impacting through the uses of all of the senses like virtual reality can assimilate data that can be sent back and used. For all intents and purposes you may travel the Universe without leaving wherever you are. This may account for the dreamlike status of so many of our sightings. They actually are not real and never were in a continuous sense though all of the observer's reactions were.

One example for instance of independent reactive pattern creation. The Hairy Hominoids especially in the eastern and central United States have a predilection for sneaking up on young lovers in isolated places.Does the scent attract them for it seems unusual for young lovers to have much more on their subconscious than what they were actually doing or wanting to do? Do the energy levels produced by the young lovers do it? Therefore we have a separate pseudoreality. After all we might not be the only creators of this apparent reality. It might well be camouflage for something or someone else. Travel via the Quasar Vacuum might not be all accidental or unintentional. It may be a very old and well versed lore.

What can we say of events that have left physical trace evidence? All of theclassic elements are here as well as trace elements left over such as Silicone and ground calcination. But was it what was seen that left these elements? We might have to allow in our thinking for things that look like this to actually look like something else that we cannot comprehend that can still leave the same physical traces. Quite often on the same day the virtually identical craft lands elsewhere. If the second craft was virtually identical to the first craft, even down to unusual details such as shape or paintwork, then we may have to rule out inner witness symbolism creating the pseudoreal construction of the landed UFO as the odds should be near impossible for the two to match or so we should think. Or are there generic symbolisms to draw on like virtually identical packets of soap powder? Do we also need to allow for how many other references there are by Authors and researchers who knowingly or unknowingly attempted to validate their own pet theories by altering descriptive data. This can be done quite easily and quite subconsciously when one only wants to see what one wants to see, a bit like the nature of the viewing of the Phenomena themselves. Were the markings, undescribed, actually thesame? Or was it the observation that markings were seen or left in thesecond sighting then tied in with the occurrence of the first sighting and assumed to be identical?

Was there actually a third identical sighting or a third assumed identical sighting? Quite often there are. If the sightings are identical then we appear to have a Major quandary. We may have to allow for variationof sources for Phenomena as well. We have a concept of a Multiverseof dimensions, possibly of many differing types. In many cases Phenomena just appear to slip through, just a step out of time and place. In many other cases we appear to have deliberate and intentional arrivals and more than likely departures and in many cases accidents as well. Do our slip throughs occur along with the intentional crossovers? Either accidentally or intentionally or both? We allow for the cross dimensional travel to be facilitated by the intentional or unintentional use of the Quasar Vacuum triggered by Cold Plasma explosions or vibratory activations. The concept of vibratory activations is evidenced by graph data showing that the Phenomena when pointed onto a graph where x=-180 to +180 including a positive and a negative Zero column and Y=time travelling forward and only longitudes are plotted appear to be occurring on a variety of intersecting sine waves with varying periodicities. The same occurs when we use another sister graph where x=-90 to +90 including a positive and a negative Zero column and y=time travelling forward and only latitudes are plotted. These two graphs cannot be overlaid and can only be viewed separately as they are truly separate graphs indicating the movement of sites of Phenomena relative to the Earth's surface over time in one dimension only. As evidenced by the Illert Exponential projection based on my data from 1800 to 1977 we have apparent periodicities in an observable state. These periodicities allow a further method of observing Phenomena over time therefore giving us a way of plotting and verifying the precession of phenomenally-prone points of time and place on the actual surface of the Earth.

How many times have we heard witnesses state that it looks like a totally different creature or craft or whatever. We have had this problem with Nessy and the Jersey Devil and a few others as well. Either there are vast varieties of them in single pockets or they shapeshift. My God, its back to Demonology again. Or it is a result of transmogrification via the Quasar Vacuum. Sometimes it might not just work out quite right when you get to the other side. Or it actually might if we allow for the visible appearences merely being chameleonlike camouflages for something unknowable that wants to remain unknowable. What better disguise to create than that created by the witnesses themselves!

In some cases the animal observer sees the Phenomenon first. How it is interpreted by the animal is unknown but in many cases the animal is not in a relaxed state. Usually the opposite. The Human sees something and interprets it and reacts to it, and not necessarily in that order. Do cows and humans share the same symbolistic imagery or is there a separate cow one and a separate Human one? The Human and the cow were both frightened. They both saw something and we have seen many animal-Phenomena interactions before to validate that Phenomena can be seen by animals as well as humans. What we cannot ascertain is what they see or even if it is a shared imagery. When a dog is being hurled through the air by a Bigfoot is it a Bigfoot that it is seeing? If it is initially leaping for the throat or face of the animal at the same height where the face is to the Human observer then we may have to allow for both creatures, Human and dog, to be seeing the same sized thing, more than possibly the same thing. After all we have physical traces of the Phenomena such as hair, dung and footprints in many cases seeking to validate that during the period of the sighting or the existence of the Phenomena relative to the Earth and the observers the same type of creature was seen. We use machines to travel and observe from. The ultimate machine is an animal in many cases due to its being most suited to its environment. Bigfeet for land, Pterasaurs or Hombirds for air, Lakemonsters or Seamonsters for water, UFOs and Ufohoms for Space for example. Can a civilisation reach a point where it can observe and explore usingpseudoreality or physical reality broadcast beings via the mediumship of the Quasar Vacuum? No longer machine bound but observing with all of the senses of an animate but still pseudoreal being? A mobile virtual reality with a remote observer? No time gaps of hours, days, weeks or even years as time has been avoided as has distance by using the Quasar Vacuum where there is no time or Space. Therefore immediate communication, in fact no communication in the accepted terminology as the observer is also the craft or the Pilot whilst still remote from it. The nature of the Quasar Vacuum is that the subatomic particles are travelling or vibrating so fast that they are always in two dimensions at once. If we expand on this postulate then we can theoretically expand the equation to an infinite number of vibrations therefore having our subatomic particles in an infinite number of dimensions at once. Somewhere someone may in fact be God, observing and interacting with all. Or the opposite or all of the above. There is an infinity of infinities of possibilities.

What then of mixed Phenomena. Luminous aerial Phenomena in an area where it is normally another type? We have had aerial Phenomena over lakes.

Was it visiting the local Lakemonster or delivering it? Was it a UFO as such though or a misidentification of an energy flare produced by a break in the Quasar Vacuum which would enable objects and creatures to voluntarily or involuntarily travel through to and from different dimensions thus avoiding Time and Space altogether as we know them?

How related is everything? If something happens on one side of the Earth is it connected to something happening on the other side of the Earth? What was the connection if any? Can some energy forces allowing for the diversion around Time and Space via the Quasar Vacuum also allow for a detour around or through matter as well? The energy beam or wave actually continues travelling through the Earth itself? Is this similar to how we expect non-matter to collide or are we looking at a whole new realm of physics?

At times we have met craft and even had alleged contact with the alleged Aliens or pilots and our observation has been that the technology would be unworkable in retrospect if these were craft that travelled through Space. Some of our later Twentieth Century craft were described as being composed of honeycomb. Did we say honeycomb?More air than metal? Like solidified bubbles? As if a metallic solution had bubbled up and then started decomposing? The mass of the metal would be very minimal in total as the bulk of the object would be comprised of whatever gas was inside the honeycomb itself. If we had a very strong lightweight metal we could do the same even to the point where the equalisation of airpressures inside the craft to outside would act as a buffer to outside forces inside the very thin cocoon walls. If by using the Quasar Vacuum we are eliminating the concept of travelling through Time and Space then we would not needvehicles that could travel great distances over incredible periods. Little vehicles for travelling short distances would be fine as long as they contained the ingredients for life support for the occupants in many cases. The honeycomb filled with a super lightweight gas, possibly as yet undiscovered, would possibly keep the craft aloft for observational purposes, as well as provide a buffer with outside atmospheric forces once through the Quasar Vacuum. This book is full of theories. If these are only short distance craft then we would and could have a variety of them, time and distance, the most expensive part of any travel plans, are now absent.

What of spontaneous teleportation? Urban legend or strange truth? After all if we are postulating that there are Quasar Vacuum induced naturally occurring Wormholes through Space as a naturally occurringconsequence of Cold Plasma explosions then we can also postulate or hypothesise that there are little Wormholes as well. Have we had occurrences where people or animals went into a pinpoint Wormhole of very limited spatial and temporal duration? If Wormholes occur as a consequence of flaring up of Cold Plasma so as to induce a Quasar Vacuum then allowing for our previously introduced concept of movement of Phenomenal points over the Earth's surface in periodic patterns based on a Sine wave then as the Cold Plasma builds up it would appear to jump from place to place as it flares up and then flares down whilst at the same time following the projected paths based on periodicity studies of the Earth's surface as discussed earlier and tested by Mr Illert. The Cold Plasma flare might well be triggered by multiple sine waves integrating to produce a chord, similar to a musical chord, that resonates at a particular pitch or tone. Each sine wave is an oscillation therefore when we have multiple sine waves integrating they would produce a chord that would produce a large Cold Plasma increase as the chords became more complex. As the pitch becomes full due to the apparent hopping of flares, merely the pitch increasing or decreasing, then we have chords produced as long as they occur at the same time in the same place. This would explain why Phenomena are not consistently ongoing like a giant snake of energy travelling across the planet, possibly even through it, but instead tend to flare up and then die down. Our Phenomenal points would appear to move on recognisable paths but in a Leapfrog manneras they peak and trough as they travel along the various sine waves. It is only when they are conjuncted or colliding that we have a mass or chord resonance that activates the Phenomena, the possibility being that the more intersectors occurring at the one point the greater the Cold Plasma outburst facilitating the break through the Quasar Vacuum as well as the Quasar Vacuum Amplification effect to take over.

Are these Quasar Vacuum Amplification effects occurring in conjunction with other phenomena or are they a coexistent electromagnetic phenomena occurring in conjunction with seemingly normal astronomical phenomena. Our phenomena seem to occur at certain peak times or periods. For example November and July A lot more people might be out during July being Summer in the Northern Hemisphere but how many are out in November yet for unidentified astronomical phenomena November, especially early November, is a peak viewing period?

Now follow two examples. November,1957, and July,1959. November,1959. is quite a long example over two continents and July is short and sweet but both may be indicative of peaks of electromagnetically induced phenomenal reports in conjunction with known Meteoric phenomena. What did the Chinese mean when they stated that strange stars in the Heavens were indicators often of strange tidings?

At Gaydon Warwickshire, England, during October,1957. a UFO and a RAF, Royal Air Force, fighter had a near collision There was no other air traffic in the area and the UFO was also seen by the ground crew who could not recognise it. These are experienced witnesses of different types of aircraft. This was not one of the aircraft that the ground crew had been trained to identify?

On the other side of the Atlantic Ocean at Clovis, Curry County, New Mexico on November 2, Saturday. 8.00 pm. A UFO was seen in the sky. Something was about to happen in the area.

Amarillo, Potter County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. 11.20PM, Amarillo Air traffic Control Tower saw a blue UFO hovering in the sky. And it was on its way to Levelland.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Pedro Saucedo and Mr Joe Salaz were in a truck four miles west of town on Route 116 when they suddenly saw a blinding radiation on a collision course with them. The object passed over the truck with a great sound like thunder and a rush of wind. The truck was rocked back and forth by the blast. The object had originally appeared from a field and was a bluish green torpedo 150 to 200 feet long that was seen flying close to the ground for two to three minutes. It changed to a red colour and the headlights and motor of the witness's truck died and the interior of the truck had got very hot. Saucedo got out to investigate as the UFO passed directly over him. There was intense heat coming from it and Saucedo threw himself to ground. Both witnesses fled from it. UFO was doing 600 miles per hour to 800 miles per hour . This was the start to a very busy period around and above Levelland.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Jim Wheeler was in his car four miles west of town. When he almost drove into a blazing eggshaped object that was 150 to 200 feet long on the Highway! The headlights and the engine of Jim's car died and he got out of the car. At the same time the UFO ascended into the air as the glare was swiftly decreasing and then vanishing. The car headlights and the engine thencame back on again. These may seem to be standard symptoms of UFO contact.

Witharral, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Jose Alvarez was driving his car on Route 51 twelve miles north of Levelland when a blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long was seen by him on the Highway. The headlights and engine of Jose's car died. This was the second sighting on the same Highway. A lot of it was going around.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. 12.00 am. Mr Newell Wright,20, a Student at Texas Tech was driving on Route 116 ten miles east of town when he found the lights and motor of his car fading to inoperation. he got out and lifted the hood to check the wiring and battery, slammed the hood down and turned around. Before him and occupying the centre of the road was a one hundred foot wide vessel of a luminous greyish blue tone. Startled, Newell got back into his carand attempted to back it away. There was no response. Soon the UFO took off silently and was gone and the car started and Newell drove home. Midnight madness around Levelland.

Canadian, Hemphill County, Texas.1957.November 2, Saturday. Three miles west of Canadian civil and Military sources reported the landing of a submarine shaped object eight foot high and three times longer than a normal car in a field. There was a Hominoid standing near it who flashed a light in the direction of the witness and the UFO then took off into the sky.

Midland, Midland County, Texas. 1957. November 2, Saturday. A large flying object with blue light seen in the sky.

Deming, Luna County, New Mexico.. November 3, Sunday. A UFO was seen over the town.

Abilene, Taylor County, Texas.1957. November 3, Sunday. There was a report from Dyess Air Force Base of the landing of a UFO in the area.

White Sands, Otero County, New Mexico. 1957. November 3, Sunday. There was a report of the landing of two UFOs at White Sands Stallion Missile Site. Even above places where normal air traffic was never allowed to go they appeared with apparent immunity.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 12. 5AM. The driver of a car saw a blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long on the Highway. The headlights and the engine of the car died. The UFO looked like a glowing loaf of bread on the road ahead and vanished after a few minutes. The vehicle disrupting Phenomenon kept on occurring.

Witharral, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 12. 15AM. A man driving nine miles from Levelland came upon a hovering UFO which banked its radiance rising to intense brilliance and then subsiding to complete invisibility. The car headlights fluctuated to this pattern and after a while the UFO gave off a thunderous roar and the car started again.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 12.45AM. Ronald Martin in a medium sized truck on Route 116,4 miles west of town. saw a large bright rustcoloured object on the road before him that blocked the road. The electrical system of the truck then died. The object became bluish green on landing and changed to the original rust colour when it took off. Meanwhile back in Levelland as well as Witharral all was normal.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 1.15AM. The witness was in a car when the car died. A blazing egg shaped object 150 to 200 feet long was seen on Highway. The headlights and engine of witnesses car had died. The object was as bright as a Neon sign.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 1.15AM. James Long was in a car on a secondary road north of town when he found it blocked by an ovoid UFO on the road ahead. When the UFO took off car started again.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 1.30 am. Sheriff Clem and Deputy McCullough were in a Patrol Car on Oklahoma Flat Road four miles from town when they saw an enormous egg of light like a brilliant sunset across the Highway 1,000 yards ahead of them. The light lit up the area for two seconds. The car did not stop though.

Levelland, Hockley County, Texas.1957. November 3, Sunday. 1.30 am. Fire Marshall Roy Jones was in a car which wavered but did not stop on sighting a UFO.

Fort Itiapu, Sao Vicente, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 1957. November 3, Sunday. 2.03AM. The two sentries on duty saw a brilliant light larger than a DC-3 rapidly descending onto the fort. The light stopped at 150 feet. and was circular and 100 foot in diameter. A hum came from the disc and a blistering heat suddenly struck as an orange glow came from the machine. The electric clocks in the fort stopped at the time of the occurrence. The two sentries felt like they were on fire and one collapsed in pain. Both men were seriously burnt and hospitalised with heat collapse and burns. There were many witnesses as a blackout occurred as the machine hovered and before the heat began. Both sentries received first and second degree burns mostly on areas protected by clothes. November 3, 1957, continued its' hectic pace even in South America. A blackout and a heat-attack at the same time as the appearence of a luminous lightsource in the sky? Were the two sentries exposed to a massive electromagnetic source? How did they manage to get burnt underneath their clothes? Was it a microwave source?

Abilene, Taylor County, Texas.1957. November 4. A UFO landed at Dyess Air Force Base and was seen by Sergeant Jack Waddell. Do we have showers of electromagnetic forces or forms that continue periodically like Meteor showers? Are they random if we postulate that they exist? Christopher Illert's periodicity testing of the data from 1800 to 1977 indicated that there certainly was periodicity to the occurrence of Phenomena even if we are unsure as to what the Phenomena are.

White Sands Stallion Missile Site, Otero County, Nevada.1957. November 4. 3.00 am. A landed UFO was seen.

White Sands Stallion Missile Site, Otero County, Nevada. 1957. November 4. 8.00 pm. A landed UFO was seen again. Was it the same one that had appeared here at 3.00AM that morning?

Orogrande, Otero County, Nevada.. 1957. November 4. James Stokes and several other people were in a car. They halted the car as a huge pearly object passed over Highway 54. There were massed sightings of luminous electromagnetic objects moving around in the sky as well. These Phenomena indicated that they could move down as well as up therefore indicating that they could equalise or neutralise gravity. These Phenomena were normalised by the witnesses so as to make sense of them. This is a feature of the Human brain that attempts to adapt the occurrence of Phenomena into recognisable forms so as not to distress the observer completely. It does not work satisfactorily all of the time.

Elmwood Park, Chicago, Cook County, Illinois. 1957. November 4. Police Patrolman Joseph Lukasek, Police Patrolman Clifford Shau and Fireman Robert Volt were in a Patrolcar investigating an open store window when they saw an object 250 feet up. They turned the spotlight onto it and the object puffed out and went 200 feet to the west. The witnesses tried to follow it with the lights off until it stopped by a dead-end street. They lost sight at 3.22AM when the object seemed to fold inward on itself and then vanish. These energy sources even travel sideways.

Lake Baskatong, Labelle County, Quebec, Canada. 1957. November 6. 9.00 pm. North of Ottawa. Mr JacquesJacobsen and three friends discovered that there was strong interference with their battery powered radio. They then noticed a brilliant yellowish white sphere larger than the Moon that hovered over a hill three miles away at an altitude of only a few hundred feet. Conical beams of light fanned out from it, illuminated trees and the undersurface of clouds and the short wave radio cut out except on one signal that was heard. This signal was very strong, modulating, and saturating all the other signals and was like Morse code but was not. By 9.30 pm both radios were working again after the UFO took off. And we have reason to believe UFOs can also effect radio waves as well as other energy sources.

House, fifteen miles northwest of Meridian, near Dyersburgh, on Mississippi State Highway 19th.. 1957. November 6, Wednesday. 7.25 pm. Mr Malvan Stephens,48, was on his way to Memphis in Tennessee when he saw a large egg shaped UFO drop out of the sky and land directly in front his truck on the Highway. At first he thought that it was a weatherballoon though there seemed to be propellers on either end of the machine as well as on top. Malvan left the truck and was confronted by two men and a woman who were 4.5 feet tall, had pasty white faces and wore grey coveralls. They seemed friendly and they tried to communicate in a rapid fire language with Malvan. One even tried to shake his hand. They then got back into their craft after having finished their onesidedconversation and it took off into the sky. The contact lasted two minutes and the witness was visibly shaken and white as a sheet. Did Malvan see anything other than a large energy source? Did the truck stop on its own or as a result of proximity to the energy source? Knowing as we do that these energy sources can influence electric fields then could it also be possible that the very fine electromagnetic tuning and configurations in the Human brain and sensory organs can be effected as well? We have seen paralysis in association with many of the Phenomena which cannot be directly attributed to the energy sources physical appearence. By this I mean that Klieg Conjunctivitis and sunburn can be directly attributed to very high energy sources but not necessarily paralysis. Recent research into schizophrenia and other brain disorders indicates some malfunctioning of electrical circuiting in the brain which has a tendency to induce hallucinations both auditory and visual, and possibly tactile. Are some of our witnesses prone to disassociative disorders prior to the witnessings or does the Phenomenon trigger these episodes in witnesses that have never had the problem before? Or is it both?

Merom, Sullivan County, Indiana.. 1957. November 6. Wednesday. Eve. twenty-five miles south of Terre Haute several witnesses including Mr Rene Gilham saw a UFO hovering 200to 300 feet up. It was silent and thirty to 40 feet in diameter and beams ofbright blue light started projecting down from it. All of the witnesses went inside except for Rene who stood in the light for ten minutes. The UFO then made a whizzing noise and took off. By Friday Rene's face was swollen and itchy. By Saturday the top of his head was swelling and reddening and he went to a Doctor and eventually recovered. Rene was literally sunburnt through exposure to a high energy source. The whizzing noise could well be as prosaic a thing asan electromagnetic hum.

Vista del Mar, Playa del Ray, Los Angeles County, California.1957. November 6, Wednesday. 5.40 am. Mr Richard Keyhoe was in a car on a Highway when the engine stopped as did the engines of the other three cars that were also on the same stretch of the road. The drivers then noticed a strange eggshaped, tan or cream coloured object with two metal rings upon which it rested in a blue haze on the beach. Out of it came two yellowish-green skinned figures onto the Highway. They wore black pants, white leather belts(?) and light coloured jerseys. They then spoke to the three drivers in broken English asking questions such as "Where werethey going? " "What time was it? " "Who were they ? " and so on. Mr Ronald Burke of Redondo Beach was one of the other drivers as was Mr Joe Thomas of Tarrance who called the Police. When Hominoids got back into the craft the cars started again.

Can we have simultaneous schizophrenic attacks resulting in the same hallucination? Or hallucinations that are similar? Or one person hallucinating a sighting into reality? Is this as far fetched as it seems?Maybe not. Earlier on we discussed the preponderance of Phenomena to assume culturally and Technologically recognisable forms. The data had already been shown to have periodicity rather than random sourcing. We indicated that the Phenomena are indeed cyclically recurring in most parts and the sightings were possibly influenced by the cultural and symbolic interpretation of the witness. This was not necessarily the interpretation of the actual sighting but the actual sighting itself which possibly took on a recognisable form to the observer. If we have totally chaotic atomic structure coming out of a Quasar Vacuum can the Human observer influence this atomic electromagnetic bond-free anarchy to the degree where the hallucination assumes a temporary reality? This is where reality might well still be an illusion. If this be the case then an observer such as Mr Keyhoe could well have had a schizoid episode triggered by the electromagnetic field and through the Quasar Vacuum Hallucination Amplification effect created that vision or hallucination into a temporary reality that others could make sensory contact with aswell. This would also explain why sometimes in a group of witnesses to the one assumed Phenomenal event there are a variety of descriptions as well as some witnesses who do not sensorily react withanything at all. The reality is still literally an hallucination and still possibly prone to witness re-interpretation so as to normalise the event at the same time as it is triggering off parts of the electrical circuiting of the brain of the observer so as to create sensorily reactive appearences of reality. To some people it might not do anything. Some might not even see the colour spectrum of the electromagnetic Phenomena in the first place yet the electromagnetic event might be what triggered everything off in the first place.

Montville, Geauga County, Ohio.1957. November 6, Wednesday. A large UFO was seen to land in a field. It was circular with a pointed dome. The site was later found to be highly radio-active. There were also six strange footprints in the field as well as two strange fresh holes three foot in diameter. Mr Olden Moore was driving from Painesville when he saw a blue-green flaming object fly over the Highway at Midnight. It was as large as a house and loomed up in front of the witness. It then split apart and one section vanished into the sky as the other landed in a field. The witness pulled over and turned off the ignition and watched the object for five minutes. He got out of the car and walked towards the craft but heard a ticking sound. He then went back to the car to get his wife. Suddenly the UFO was gone. It had been fifty foot in diameter and shaped like a saucer with an inverted saucer on top of it. The dome was coneshaped and came to a point on top. The dome also glowed brilliantly. Was the manifestation of the Phenomenon so strongly created by Olden that it even left landing marks and footprints? Whose footprints though for Olden did not recall meeting anyone? Is part of the Schizoid event missing or blacked out? Or is it still in continuous creation and reinterpretation?

Everittstown, Delaware Valley, Hunterdon County, New Jersey. 1957. November 6, Wednesday. Mr John Trasco, a farmer, went outside to feed his dog named “King”. He then saw a bright glowing eggshaped object hovering near his barn and from it a three foot tall being with frog like eyes and wearing a green suit and a green cap approached him. It had a putty coloured face and communicated to John. “We are a peaceful people. We don’t want notrouble. We just want your dog”. John, taken aback, snapped “Get the Hell out of here!”. The little man scurried off to the object which ascended rapidly into the sky. John’s wife saw the UFO and not the Hominoid. Before the Hominoid left John tried to grab him and got green powder on his wrist and under the nails. The Hominoids suit had shiny buttons, the cap was Medieval and the Hominoid also wore green gloves with a shiny object at the tip of each. Aliens or Pixies? Aliens or Pixies with 1950’s modern American inflexions and linguistics? Whose hallucination is this anyway? It is Mr John Trasco’s and it was possibly shared with his wife. What “King” thought of it we do not know. Remember at the start of this book we agreed that nothing was real in it anyway.

Kearney, Buffalo County, Nebraska. 1957. November 6, Wednesday. Mr Rheinhard Schmidt’s car stalled on the Highway. He then saw a UFO parked in a nearby field.4 Aliens glided over to him and spoke to him in fluent German and then took him over to the ship and gave him a tour. The UFO was cigar shaped and the Aliens walked as if on rollerskates. There were two men and two women on board and they appeared normal. There were glowing tubes of coloured liquids in the craft and overall it was stark and simple. After thirty minutes the witness asked to leave. The repairs to the craft had been finished. There was purple liquid on the ground where the UFO had been as well as imprints of landing gear. Within 24 hours the witness was locked up in nearby mental Institution. The purple liquid was Silicone. Thank God Mr Schmidt could speak German or another witness might have thought that it was Venusian, or Martian. A very person-specific sighting. Too much so? Silicone again?

Seoul, Korea.1957. November 6. Military personnel saw a white luminous object hovering above the ground that suddenly vanished like a lightbulb being turned off. Something normal again and we have only made it to November 6.

Dante, Knox County, Tennessee, near Knoxville. 1957. November 7, Thursday. 6.30 am. Everitt Clarke,12, got up to let his dog “Frisky” out. He saw a strange glowing object in a field 300 feet from the house and went back to bed. He thought that he was dreaming. A few minutes later he went out again to call the dog. The object was still there as well as several of the neighborhood dogs as well as “Frisky” barking at it. Two men andtwo women were also there. They were trying to grab “Frisky” who growled and backed away and the Hominoids sounded like they were talking in German. A man did catch one of the dogs but let it go after it snarled and snapped at him. Then the four Hominoids seemed to walk right through the glass wall of the oblong craft. One of the Hominoidssaw Everett watching and beckoned him. Everitt refused. Everitt was hysterical for several days after the incident. The grass in the area was flattened in an area 24 foot by five foot . The elongated impression was found in a field by a reporter. The grass had been pressed down in a 24 foot by five foot area. Everitt had called his grandmother immediately after the incident as both parents were at work. This is a compilation of Mr Schmidt’s German-speaking Aliens and Mr Trasco’s dognappers just one day after the event!

How then do we hallucinate strikingly similar themes the following day, before even the media could disseminate the information, even if it bothered to? Could it be that the incoming visitors from through the Quasar Vacuum are manipulated into recognisable form by the observers? If this were the case then the visitors could not return to whence they had come from for their technology would have changed to that of the observers’ expectations both culturally and symbolically.Or does it appear to change to fit the observers' cultural and symbolic expectations? Are we talking camouflage at a cerebral level where electrical stimulation from the electromagnetic field that has travelled via the Quasar Vacuum stimulates the observers' brain so as to cloak the actual event into that of what one would assume that the observer would assume to be occurring. Do we have very advanced chameleons that use our own cultural and symbolistic expectations as their own camouflage? God is always unknowable, that is why one cannot look at the face of God, for it is always changing. Maybe there is something to these old myths and legends after all? But who creates whom?

Waterloo, Blackhawk County, Iowa. 1957. November 8, Friday. A glass topped UFO was seen hovering over Mr Paul Rutledge's garage. There were two humanoid shapes walking around in it. It was thirty feet long and had a shiny bottom. Did anyone else see the same thing?

Edinburgh Lothian, Scotland. 1957. November 8, Friday. Fourteen witnesses in the back of a truck saw a green light that swept in from the direction of the north sea. It grew larger and hovered over the group of 14 people in the back of the truck as a high pitched humming noise started up and the back of the truck was filled with a green glow. The people shouted to attract its attention. The craft then sped off leaving two vapour trails. The craft was round with a red top and a green bottom. There was also something like a cupola on the upper side. Previously unknown type of electromagnetic field?Alien craft? All of the above?

Chicago, Cook County, Illinois.1957. November 8. A luminous object was seen hovering over a Cemetery. It interfered with radio transmission and the electrical system of the Police Patrol Car pursuing it as the object headed south. Strange radio signals were picked up by Richard Gerdes of Joliet, Illinois, at the same time, like several channels of communication open at once that was like a telemetry signal. Several times we have observed radio-like emissions coming from the UFOs. We know that these emissions can interfere with radio frequencies and with some motor vehicles. Possibly even with aeroplanes. Is this intentional or nonintentional?

Lake City, Independence, Jackson County, Missouri. 1957. November 9. Saturday. 1.00 am. A UFO appeared fifty feet above the ground and the motor of the car of the witness died. When the UFO vanished the car started again. The UFO was elongated. Over and over the same electromagnetic effects. The previous sighting around here had been a dog-killing Hairy Hominoid at Sedalia in 1946 preceded by a fall of frogs onto Kansas City in 1873.

Crownsville, Maryland. 1957. 13th November ,Wednesday. A UFO was seen hovering above the State Hospital grounds. A burned piece of metal was seen to fall from it and was found in the Hospital grounds.We still haven't left the first part of November yet. Now there is another fall, this time of metal.

Had a temporary window opened up in this part of the month of this particular year for things to come through? Like an Intergalactic Wormhole that is only open for limited periods for particular places. This particular Wormhole was moving South, starting on November 2, from 103w34n through 102w33n to 100w35n and on November 3, still centering on 102w33n its left axis was now on 107w32n across to 99w32n crossing over 106w32n and 102w33n. On November 4, it had moved down to 106w32n as its Major focus andstretched to 99w 32n. Another axis was appearing at 87w41n on November 4, which by the following day stretched from 118w33n (a continuation of the previous days axis?) through 99w40n,88w32n, 87w39n,81w41n,75w46n to 75w40n. 88w 32n might have been the far right axis of the previous days sightings. 99w40n to 75w40n being a new axis. The following day this had enlarged to 92w42n at its left and 87w41n at its right and was heading for 93w38n. Does it all sound and look like gobbledegook? It certainly does. But that did not stop it or them to keeping to appear to be moving. In fixed directions, like southwards moving hurricanes rotating to the left. Theopposite to the Coreolis effect for the northern Hemisphere.

Kermit, Winkler County, Texas.1957. November 13.12.15AM.. Mr Frank Williams saw a bright eggshaped object on the road ahead as his car died at the same time. Do we have electromagnetic energy storms that though forming spirals tend to travel contrary to the Coreolis effect?

Tamaroa, Perry County, Illinois. 1957. 14th November, Thursday. Whilst there was a UFO hovering over the city there was a blackout that covered an area of four square miles for ten minutes. And these storms are periodic as illustrated by the Illert Exponential and its confirmation of my sine waves?

Alamogordo, Otero County, New Mexico. 1957. 16th November, Wednesday. Many drivers and passengers of vehicles on Highway 24 saw a 500 foot long UFO that was hovering above it. It was an elliptical shape and was between White Sands and the missile centre. The radios and ignition systems of the cars cut out and then a wave of heat hit the witnesses in the cars. One of the drivers received a severe sunburn yet the event happened at night. Any coincidence that during this energy storm or shower we had concentrations of sightings near missile testing centres?

Maracaja Matto Grosso, Brazil. 1957. 18th November, Monday. 10.30 am. Mr Joao Ernani and Pedro Zilli heard a strange hum and then saw a pair of Aluminium discs hovering just above the ground. They also saw six medium sized men whose dark grey suits seemed to be glued to their bodies. The Hominoids were of a slim build and returned to their discs which were hovering ten feet off the ground. The discs were ten foot wide and rose with a whistle which bent the Palm trees double. Three other UFOs appeared as well and all four took off over the South Atlantic. They were only 700 feet from the witnesses. And now they were occurring in South America and we still had not left November November had always been a Major month for Phenomenal showerings. It was coincidentally the same time as the biannual reappearence of the Taurids Meteor Shower that also appears between 24th June , and July 6. The Loveland sightings started on 2nd November, just before the Taurids usually appear. Maybe they were early or the Phenomena were travelling with them? Are these periodic Meteor showers used as camouflage for Visitors from Space? Are we misinterpreting natural Phenomena? Is it both and do we have energy storms when these showers occur that are normally invisible to normal human senses?

Mogi Mirim, Sao Paulo, Brazil. 1957. 25th November , Monday. Whilst three UFOs were hovering over the city all of the city lights failed. The three UFOs were heading southeast. The Taurids are over-extending themselves.

Between Tonopah, Nye County, Nevada and Las Vegas, Clark County, Nevada. 1957. November A soldier in a car saw four discs on the ground and observed them for 20minutes. The UFOs took off with an unbearable humming sound when the witness approached too closely. We do not have exact dates in November for these but we are pretty sure that they would fit in for they are in the same general area as the events of November three to November 4. Random events are not supposed to fit into patterns! These appear to.

Amarillo, Potter County, Randall County, Texas. 1957. November. An auto engine failed as something hurtled overhead.

Seminole, New Mexico.1957. November. A car stalled near the town when a light dived at it and then vanished into the distance.

Such was November,1957, and it was a doozey as they used to say back then.

What about July,1959?

Salta, Salta Province, Argentina. 1959. 22nd July, Wednesday. Whilst there was a UFO seen in the sky a blackout occurred. Summer might merely be busier though because more people are outside. If that is the case then should we exponentially enlarge the number of sightings for the rest of the year if the Summer sightings are in reality the closer to actual sightings due to the greater availability of witnesses out for longer in the much longer days? We also might have to allow for witness misinterpretation of the Taurid Meteor Shower that occurs twice a year, between the 24th of June and the 6th of July And later in the year between the 3rd and the 15th of November We have already discussed various theories concerning the Taurids. There are also other regular Meteor showers that collide with the Earth’s Atmosphere, and occasionally with its surface. Do we have invisible to the human eye energy showers arriving and then departing at the same times?

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. 1959. Summer.1959. July Skyblasts occurred over a three day period over San Francisco as well as at Roswell, New Mexico and Amarillo, Texas. Invisible explosions occurring in the sky but resonating down to Earth? Coming from our dimension where the sources cannot be seen in our dimension or coming from another dimension still invisible but momentarily sending shockwaves to us? From San Francisco to Roswell to Portales to Amarillo and to Pampa the invisible aerial explosions kept occurring. What was I saying about invisible energy forms that travel with regular meteor showers?

Roswell, Chaves County, New Mexico. 1959. July1959. Summer. Skyblasts occurred over three day period. Same time as San Francisco and Amarillo.

Portales, Roosevelt County, New Mexico. 1959. July A series of severe explosions rocked the area. They originated in the sky.

Amarillo, Potter County, Texas. 1959. July Skyquakes shook area. Same time as Roswell and San Francisco.

Pampa, Gray County, Texas. 1959. July Skyquakes shook the area though were not registered on any seismograph. The blasts were so strong that they cracked the wall of one building in downtown. Pampa is 55 miles from Amarillo.

And on to Henderson, Warren County, North Carolina. 1959. July1959. Summer. This was after San Francisco. There were two unexplained detonations in a 29 hour period over Henderson in North Carolina? This rules out the incidence of the Skyquakes in a straight line stretching from San Francisco in California to Pampa in Texas. We have a cuckoo in the nest. Henderson is not on the straight line though the others are. We could quite easily postulate that the aerial detonations that Summer were during early July, the same time as the appearence of the Taurids

But can the Taurids and other rational Celestial phenomena be the only answer?

The Expanded Final Answers to the Hypothesis.

What then is my Hypothesis after all of this? My Hypothesis is that there is a periodicity to Phenomena as evidenced by Mr Illert's observations of my data using an exponential projection based on the decay rate of subatomic Alpha particles as a constant. Therefore my data was not erratic or random but occurring in periodic peaks and troughs that resembled the periodicity of major planets of our Solar System as well as a postulated Trans-Plutonian planet as distinct from the Oort Cloud at the edge of our solar system. My observations of the Phenomena based on a pair of flat charts where the x constant is latitude or longitude relative to time, the Y constant, indicated Phenomena travelling on paths resembling sine waves travelling through Time and Space. Sine waves by their very nature are regular and predictable. On the surface of the Earth in real Space and Time they would resemble great curves on the Earth's surface similar to the curve over the Earth of the spontaneous combustionings of 1938, only becoming sine waves when stretched out through time with latitude or longitude as a constant. The nature of the Phenomena indicate that in many cases the Phenomena change relative to the observers though remaining within seemingly set bounds. Watermonsters changed form and aerial craft changed from balloons to Airships to flying discs and other craft. Looking at constants we only have the appearence of energy forms that are deduced to be what they are by the witnesses. All of these witnesses add their own culturally loaded symbolism biased by their initial fear or emotional reaction onto the event which is subjective as it cannot be immediately viewed as objective as it impacts so strongly onto the witnesses' consciousness. They always end up subjectively viewing the event and then in many cases possibly translating the event into their own level of normality.

What is the event? The event is an energy discharge or formation occurring regularly relative to Earth, Time and Space. We know where it has been, and whilst it is occurring where it is, and being periodic we should be able to work out where it will be again. Seeing that many of our Phenomena have an ability to return with pinpoint accuracy to sites that they have previously occurred or manifested at or in then we can deduce that there is very little error factor in possible Formulated projections for future Phenomena. We have a constant periodically returning energy form that sensorily, primarily visually, manifests in many different forms relative to the observer and the environment. This form issues light and heat and possibly other energy waves that we have not considered or detected. The Phenomena appear to be of numerous forms but of limited types. This cannot be only due to cultural or Jungian type inbuilt symbolism as these energy manifestations leave physical proof of their passing and interactions that tally with the witnessing of the Phenomena. We also have interactions with animals, who might not possess subconscious symbolism, and with motor vehicles and aircraft that do not possess subconscious symbolism at all. For example UFOs leave traces or vitrified ground marking . Animals leave tracks. Some sites leave miracles. The list goes on and on. We at our simplest level may postulate or Hypothesise that we are witnessing energy forms that may not necessarily be the Phenomena themselves but the way of passage that the Phenomena take to occur in our physical reality. The energy forms are the fuel and they are in place relative to the Earth's surface and follow a very fixed and very precise periodicity. Indeed moving to a very rigid and precise particularity. What they are is unknown.

One hypothesis developed according to this logic is that to travel between dimensions one must be able to travel through the Quasar Vacuum which is a state where matter is so loosely bonded at the subatomic level that it vibrates so fast that it is in what is called the Quasar Vacuum which is an area of reality where matter is in at least two dimensions at the same time due to its incredibly high vibration rate.What causes this incredibly high vibration rate? High vibration rates are normally associated with incredible thermal discharge or heat such as the centre of a nuclear explosion. Nothing that we know of would survive this. There has been a lot of theorising about Cold Plasma, wherein we have the same energy discharge as a nuclear explosion but no heat. The subatomic particles are still loosening their magnetic bonds so to say but there is no heat output. In this way we could have the elevation of the vibration rate of matter or subatomic particles towards the speed necessary to pass through the Quasar Vacuum. By observation in regard to periodicity we might well have Cold Plasma inducing magnetic or previously unknown energy fields on the face of the Earth and indeed throughout the Universe or Multiverse that facilitate Cold Plasma transfer through dimensions, and this includes time and distance, via the Quasar Vacuum. Plasma to help clear things up in nuclear physical terms is that state of subatomic matter where gases actually break up due to extreme energy discharge and become a state called Plasma which is the state just before the Quasar Vacuum and seeing that Quasar Vacuum is in reality two States at once and Plasma is next to it then we can safely deduce that Plasma is itself starting to vibrate through the Quasar Vacuum otherwise as you cannot be next to something that is only half there. Part of you has to be there in transition as well. Are we witnessing intentional or unintentional trans-Quasar Vacuum travellings? Or both? There might be two types of Cold Plasma explosion wherein the cold Plasma explosion is that of water unfreezing at around freezing point and Hot Plasma at Boiling Point.

We have also seen that many of our phenomena occur during astronomical event periods and may even in many cases be misinterpreted misidentifications of otherwise normal astronomic phenomena such as the Taurids Meteor showers that occur in November and July. But there are many that fail this simple test by leaving trace evidence or multiple witnessings of the same or similar phenomena. Quite often though similar and not the same. Similarities must then be subjective interpretations of the events but of events that are being interacted with. We understand that normal meteors, apart from possible initial sensory reaction value, do not influence us in an major way unless they land on us or near us. Yet during these periods, that are cyclic and predictable and periodic, we have multitudes of phenomenal reports with amazing details. Is there an energy source travelling with the astronomical travellers that is invisible to our present technology which can influence the observations of the witnesses, possibly even manipulate them, either intentionally or unintentionally ? Is this energy source in connection with our Quasar Vacuum Amplification Effect and indeed mutually dependent on each other? Does some other intelligent form of creation know how to manipulate this phenomenon that occurs naturally in the Multiverse so as to travel the Multiverse with the absence of time or distance in the actual travelling?. Or is this an automatic system that continues like Cosmic Clockwork forever and that anyone can ride? You just have to know where the stations are and when the next arrivals and departures are and then continue on through the Mulitiverse. Far easier to travel across when you remove the twin hurdles of time and distance/space.

Take for example Poggio-d'Ambra, Cennina (Cenian),near Bucine, Arezzo. 1954. 1st November . 6.30 am. Mrs Rosa Lotti,40, was carrying a bunch of carnations to the altar of the Madonna Pellegrina when she saw a barrelshaped object in a clearing like a six foot long spindle. It was as if two bells were joined together with a leatherlike exterior. A pair of Hominoids suddenly came from behind it. They were like men but the size of children and had friendly expressions. They wore one piece grey coveralls that covered their entire bodies including the feet as well as short cloaks and doublets fastened to the collars with Star shaped buttons. They also wore helmets and were vigorous and animated. They spoke like Chinese according to Rosa. They also had intelligent eyes, upper lips that slightly curled in the centre and protuberant teeth that made their mouths appear rabbitlike. The older looking Hominoid grabbed the carnations and threw them into the craft after giving Rosa back two carnations and as the Hominoid stepped away to fetch two packages from inside the craft Rosa escaped and ran away. Some village boys had come to her rescue when they had seen the craft and the Hominoids. Did we say leprechauns? Outer Space Leprechauns or next-door Space? Remember that we are possibly dealing with other dimensions here, not great distances, just a little beyond your outstretched fingers.These interdimensional openings possibly being triggered to open or naturally occurring or both or a combination of both. If we remove the passage of time to the equation of travelling from one dimension to another then we remove the effects of what would happen during the passage of time. If our craft or object is in a different time and dimension to that which it is travelling through, as if in an energy cocoon, then it would not suffer the effects of travelling through that time or dimension unless it is transitioning through both at the same time, which is the principle of the Quasar Vacuum. If there is no time in this transitional Space then the physical effects of travelling through the Quasar Vacuum would not be felt as these would require time to manifest themselves. The only dangerous point would be where we are transiting in or out, where we are accelerating or decelerating through time. Here we would need the electromagnetic cocoon travelling at the opposite speed to that of whatever we are travelling through so as to neutralise it. This is where we would manifest colour changes apparent in the outer electromagnetic cocoon as its vibration rate increased or decreased. That is if the Phenomena follow this scenario! It might be an explanation for the apparently Technologically derived Phenomena such as UFOs and their kin but does it explain the appearence and disappearance of animals? Have we any reports of these Alien animals being seen arriving or departing? Or have we only seen them before or after arrivals or departures? Have they fallen through the cracks? Were they stowaways on the craft or released or lost pets? They all possess that now you see them, now you don't signature though. Are they lost or camouflaged visitors?

Goshen, Elkhart County, Indiana. 1955. 24th June. A perfect disc shape was seen in the sky that moved in a series of circles and gave off a metallic glare. There was no noise. Noise can be a byproduct of friction. Was there no friction here? This and the other noiseless UFO sightings would indicate an interference with friction or the UFOs reaction to its environment. This indicates that there might be a barrier or non-barrier as the case might actually be around the UFO such as a different dimension or a magnetic field that the solid particles cannot collide with so as to cause friction. Maybe the portion of our dimension that the craft was seen in was still in another dimension with its own physical laws, for example it might have been in deep space where there is no sound, whilst being viewed from our dimension? This could explain sudden almost impacts of aerial craft that mysteriously appear in the sky and then just as they are about to hit the earth vanish. They were not really here at all.

Buffalo, Erie County, Lake Erie, New York. 1955. August. The witness was fishing one afternoon when he was startled by a brilliant light that rose up from behind a factory on the shore and approached the witness's boat. As the glow drew closer the witness saw a bellshaped object inside it. The craft hovered a few feet above the water and was travelling very fast on a collision course with the boat. Suddenly the light made a sharp rightangle turn just before the boat then vanished into the distance. If it was the same type of bell-shaped craft as was seen earlier that year over Paris, Illinois, in March then the Fisherman should be thanking his Lucky Stars that he did not crash or collide into or through it. Who or what managed to evade who though? Are we actually viewing moving energy filled spaces and that due to them being spaces we have no friction? Would this also account for the generally regular angled or circular shape of our UFOs? On their sides they appear ellipsoid but flat-on they are circular? If this be the case where the depth is far less than the width is there also a point in Time and Space where there is no depth but only width and that this would be the in the Time and Space or nonspace where we travel through the Quasar Vacuum? The apparent width being the Corona or energy discharge created or needed or both to get through the Quasar Vacuum. This energy Corona need only be an Electron thin and any width. Remember that we are dealing with a postulate here that what we are observing and calling UFOs in many cases might actually be holes in Time/Space with energy Coronas around them. They could be witnessing of transfigurations of alleged craft themselves.

Alltsaigh, Loch Ness, Highland, Scotland. 1962. 11th May. Friday. Mrs Christie saw the Loch was very calm when suddenly there was a massive commotion in part of it.There was a foaming and spraying of water and an eggshaped head on top of a four to five foot long neck appeared. The neck stood up like a mast and appeared in the midst of the commotion. Further back at intervals of six feet there were humps that were greenish and black and two feet long. The creature was travelling faster than a quick motorboat and seemed to be doing the breaststroke. Was 60 yards from shore and 160 yards from the witness and moving North up the Loch parallel with the shore. Had terrific bounding motion. A big something in that thar Loch. The question remains though that if these creatures are so apparently common how come they are still unfindable. How can we find Gorilla troops in the wilds of Rwanda and strange Antelopes in Vietnam but we cannot find any of these devilish denizens when we want to? And we are not in isolated areas. Many of our recurrent creature sightings are in highly populated areas and yet these supposedly relict populations are unable to be found. It is as if these creatures are visiting in many cases rather than inhabiting. It is as if we share Fauna and possibly Flora with different dimensions at different times. That is why nothing seems real. Because in many cases it may not be really here but only viewable from here. It is like a holographic window. It may look, smell, sound, feel and even taste like it is here but it may be in fact a constructed limited term pseudo-reality created using the Free-Form power of the Quasar Vacuum. Namely the multi-dimensional image is projected through the Quasar Vacuum in a variety of forms, quite often being camouflaged by the observer into a recognisable reality based on their own personal or group symbolism, and by impacting through the uses of all of the senses like virtual reality can assimilate data that can be sent back and used. For all intents and purposes you may travel the Universe without leaving wherever you are. This may account for the dreamlike status of so many of our sightings. They actually are not real and never were in a continuous physical sense.

Holmes County, Ohio. 1953. October early. 12.15 pm. Aaron Wust,18, saw a discshaped object travelling slowly but high up. It had a peculiar up and down fluttering motion alternated with high bursts of speed. It was a perfectly round object and would manoeuvre so that it became visible edge on in the clear sky. It had dark and light circular spots and the sighting lasted fifteen minutes. There was no sound coming from it at all. Noise in the sky is a product of friction with the atmosphere. The faster the friction the louder the noise. An example being Sonic Booms as the object breaks the Sound Barrier. If there is no noise it means that the craft is either travelling very slowly and if it is travelling very fast then it is not creating friction. The craft might not actually be here but might only be visible from here. Or it is frictionless. It can only be frictionless if it has no mass. If it has no mass it has to be in a Plasma State or carry a Plasma State around it. The only state with less mass than a Plasma State is that of the theoretical Quasar Vacuum where matter is oscillating so fast that the internal bonding has broken down completely. Some postulate that this state of matter occurs in two realities or dimensions at the same time. How is our projection going? Quasar Vacuum to Plasma State to gas to solid? Where is liquid? It too might occur in the transformation? The liquid state might be where we cannot agree on a shape or a size. It is changing. All is changing. There have been several cases where the objects appeared metallic or liquidy. This might actually be the case. Is the apparent Angel Hair often witnesses during these sightings part of the transfiguration?

Holmes County, Ohio. 1953. October early. 6.00 pm. Mrs Mart Unger and her daughter Rose Unger were riding together in a horse and cart. They noticed what appeared to be many discs joined together in the sky which created a mass that retained a great amount of flexible motion. They were dark grey with lighter circular areas and the UFO came very close to the ground. There was no noise. We've had UFOs that resembled two discs joined together but not many that resembled many discs joined together. How would this travel through normal space and time let alone through atmospheres and the attendant friction and heat? Not the most airworthy design. We must remember that the alleged space craft still have to get through our atmosphere to us, not just through space and that requires some design features that many of these alleged craft do not possess if they are actually space craft.

Bonnieure, Charente, France.1953. November 2. A reddish light was seen flying over the area at great speed and travelling from southwest to northeast. The speed of its progress caused a great wind to lift several roofs which were carried hundreds of yards. The reddish light was either very close or very fast. In the first scenario the roofs were damaged by air pressure expansion or movement. In the second possible scenario the damage was caused by silent Sonic Booms or very fast air vibrations. In either case can a frictionless object, if we assume them to be frictionless, still cause air displacement? Or do they commence to produce friction as they emerge into our reality from whence they came. As their atomic state slows down they commence to be far more physical.so we have apparent transition from frictionless to impactive to our environment. The electromagnetic bonding is slowing down or in laymans terms the object is becoming more solid.

Gjersjoen Bridge, Norway, 1953, November 3. Witnesses in a car saw a UFO ahead in the sky. It was manoeuvring and suddenly made an abrupt turn and headed straight for the car where it stopped short just over the road from the car and hovered whilst swaying back and forth. The object had the form of a plate with a dome in the centre and glowed like the setting Sun. The object got brighter after a few minutes and took off climbing over a nearby lake. When the driver returned home he found that his watch was not working and the colour of the car had changed from beige yellow to a brilliant green. The greenish colour faded away as the days passed. I have never heard of cars changing colour but I have heard of watches stopping due to the presence of UFOs and other Phenomena. This is also a common side-effect of electromagnetic radiation. Can we then deduce that we might have a frictionless object giving off a massive electromagnetic field? If the object itself were an electromagnetic field then it indeed would have no mass and would be frictionless. The rest might be up to the effects of the sighting on the observer. The witness might well be viewing an electromagnetic field that is deduced to be an object. Or is it an object in a state of transition?

Gulf of Oman.1953. November 5. Armin Roth, Second Officer of the “M. S. Olympic Challenger” saw a Lightwheel that was hovering one metre above the surface of the water. Suddenly there appeared moving bands of light that were like searchlights and extended two nautical miles in length whilst moving with a rotating motion whilst wheeling round from right to left. They passed the ship at regular intervals. The Centre was one nautical mile from the ship. Are Light-wheels also massive electromagnetic fields? With form but massless? If so could we then postulate that these electromagnetic entities might still be inside the Quasar Vacuum and are not really here at all but only appear to be here. The electromagnetic side-effects are merely indications of energy output to get through the Quasar Vacuum? We have massless frictionless illuminated objects that possess massive electromagnetic fields. The observer then fills in the gaps according to their conscious and/or subconscious personal belief systems. Or something else does? Once again a single dimensional appearance.

Keeweenaw Point, Keeweenaw County, Michigan, Lake Superior. 1953, 23rd November, Monday. Many witnesses including Jet Pilot Felix Moncla and Radar Officer R. R. Wilson in an F-89C jet as well as ground crew and Radar witnesses. An F-89C Interceptor was scrambled at Kinross Air Force Base and was to check on a reported UFO over the Soo Locks. On Radar its passage was watched until the jet and an unidentified blip seemed to merge. The F-89, the crew and the UFO were never seen again. There was not even any wreckage. What happened to the two Airmen in the plane at a distance of 160 miles from Base at an altitude of 8,000 feet? The vanishing occurred 73 miles from Keeweenaw Point. If something is coming out of a Quasar Vacuum could it be possible that something passing by could be drawn in towards it? If it could be seen on Radar then there is a very small degree of mass present after all for the Radar to detect it so that the signal bounces off it. Is this minimal mass then capable of causing the air displacement that we have also had reported? Mass is a byproduct of the movement of Electrons and Subnuclear particles. As the speed of these items decreases then we have greater solidity and density as the Electrons oscillate closer to the Proton-Neutron core. Can we manipulate matter so that it loses and gains mass? Try boiling and freezing water. Happens all the time and water does it twice. But to stay intact we might be more successful if we are in electromagnetic form as an oscillation or series of oscillations or patterns. Like an electromagnetic binary code similar to that used in computers. We have conversion of data into binary one primarily for computers what then if we have a similar base language for conversion of matter into other states and forms including sine waves and other electromagnetically charged forms. Electromagnetically charged forms might lose their mass but with the correct frequency or frequencies, or even magnetic fields, applied do not lose their shape. If a single sine wave is equivalent to a zero or a one in binary code then we can combine sine waves, this allegory is for demonstrative purposes only, into forms that possibly display mass in three dimensions as well. We would create solids from the interactions of harmonics or frequencies of oscillation in masses. As a single computer programme can be exceedingly complex it is still based purely on yes or no answers to true or false questions converted to binary one code. Too much to digest? Bear with me as we are close to a quantum leap in my hypothesis.

Hubbard, Marion County, Oregon.1964. May 19th, Tuesday. 7.30 am. Michael Bizon,10, leading a cow. At first the cow refused to enter a field. Was extremely and unusually nervous.Normally went in with no problems.Then the witness noticed what the cow was watching. In the middle of the field was a square object 4 foot high. Was silver colour. Had four shiny legs and made soft beeping noise and slowly ascended to the height of a telephone pole. Then shot off. Left behind smell of gas fumes. The witness by now was half frightened and crying. Later an area of wheat was found flattened three to four feet across. The wheat was pushed out in a flower shaped pattern. Grain appeared to have been pushed down. There were also three spots pushed down into the Earth that were 36 inches apart. Were these imprints of landing pads? Do cows and humans share the same symbolistic imagery or is there a separate cow one and a separate Human one? The Human and the cow were both frightened. They both saw something and we have seen many animal-Phenomena interactions before to validate that Phenomena can be seen by animals as well as humans. What we cannot ascertain is what they see or even if it is a shared imagery. When a dog is being hurled through the air by a Bigfoot is it a Bigfoot that it is seeing? If it is initially leaping for the throat or face of the animal at the same height where the face is to the Human observer then we may have to allow for both creatures, Human and dog, to be seeing the same sized thing, more than possibly the same thing. After all we have physical traces of the Phenomena such as hair, dung and footprints in many cases seeking to validate that during the period of the sighting or the existence of the Phenomena relative to the Earth and the observers the same type of creature was seen. We use machines to travel and observe from. The ultimate machine is an animal in many cases due to its being most suited to its environment. Bigfeet for land, Pterasaurs or Hombirds for air, Lakemonsters or Seamonsters for water, UFOs and Ufohoms for Space for example. Can a civilisation reach a point where it can observe and explore using pseudoreality or physical reality broadcast beings via the mediumship of the Quasar Vacuum? No longer machine bound but observing with all of the senses of an animate but still pseudoreal being? A mobile virtual reality with a remote observer? No time gaps of hours, days, weeks or even years as time has been avoided as has distance by using the Quasar Vacuum where there is no time or Space. Therefore immediate communication, in fact no communication in the accepted terminology as the observer is also the craft or the Pilot whilst still remote from it. The nature of the Quasar Vacuum is that the subatomic particles are travelling or vibrating so fast that they are always in two dimensions at once. If we expand on this postulate then we can theoretically expand the equation to an infinite number of vibrations therefore having our subatomic particles in an infinite number of dimensions at once. Somewhere someone may in fact be God, observing and interacting with all. Or the opposite or all of the above. There is an infinity of infinities of possibilities.

La Pampa Province, Argentina.1962. 24th May , Thursday. Woman and husband witnesses. Woman taken to Hospital in shock. Saw two robot-like creatures came out of a landed disc that was a machine. The witnesses had been frightened by the manlike robots and the UFO had left an eighteen foot scorched circular mark on the ground. If we are a form of projected pseudoreality then how do we create leftovers in our own physical reality like odd metal blocks and eighteen foot scorch marks? The pseudoreality interacts with our reality as if it were real. Any interactions capable of permanent detachment from the original pseudoreality may be able to be left in our dimension. For example the heat produced by some of the pseudorealities could scorch the Earth, our eyes, and even our skin, common side-effects of Phenomenal interaction. The leaving of solid objects or traces is also commonly reported. These things may have detached themselves from the pseudoreality and then been stranded in our dimension. Some melt over time like our Angelhair and even some of our craft. Others have longer duration spans. Could these be various side-effects of the transmogrification through the Quasar Vacuum?

Greenbank, near Ipswich, Queensland. Australia.1966. November 10.00PM. Farmers had seen bright glow in night sky. Then saw and heard fragments hitting ground which were collected. No known alloy. Honeycomb material. Mrs Joan Fraser saw light size of train approach her house from the west. Within one kilometre it hovered over pinetrees. Light went out on landing. Appeared to change colours from orange to blue to green. Exploded. Reeds found flattened and browned. Six metre scorched area in diameter at spot. Thousands of fragments found. Not metallic or known and subject to great heat stress. Once again the honeycomb construction that we have met before. We are starting to get more consistencies amongst our various themes. Not many of them but enough. The technology always appears higher than ours or stranger. As do the creatures associated with it. It almost always associated with highpitched soundwaves that effect the ears of the witnesses as well as high intensity ultraviolet light waves, visible or invisible, that can effect the eyes. We have even had some cases where cancers have been arrested or the thyroid effected indicating large radiation-like sources though not necessarily radio-active though there have been some cases where radio-active traces have been found. The few traces of craft or residue from craft are either in an unknown honeycomb structured alloy similar to Aluminium with or without Silicone or in a foam-like form usually referred to as Angelhair that disappears, or disintegrates, in a short period of times. Is the Angelhair a total decomposition of the honeycomb metallic structure so that if craft were indicated in accidents they would simply vanish leaving no evidence of their existence at all? We might also be indicating biological craft as well that we rarely if ever seem to find the remains of.

Vukovar, Croatia. 1961. November 10. Broadcasts of radio Station interrupted suddenly. Electric lights failed or flickered for thirty to 40 seconds. Instruments recorded appreciable rise in level of static electricity. Same time dark grey cloud drifted over the town but was soon blown away by the wind.At the same time several Sodium lamps on a shelf completely isolated from any electric apparatus or electric cable began to glow. Can we have remote energy transfers or interferences? It is all theoretically possible. If you have enough electrical energy floating around through the air you certainly can. As an experiment stand under a high tension energy line with a thirty six watt fluorescent tube and pretend to be Darth Vader. The tube will glow and it will not need to be plugged into anything. God knows what it would do to you longterm!

San Francisco, San Francisco County, California. 1959. Summer.1959. July. Skyblasts occurred over a three day period over San Francisco as well as at Roswell, New Mexico and Amarillo, Texas. Invisible explosions occurring in the sky but resonating down to Earth? Coming from our dimension where the sources cannot be seen in our dimension or coming from another dimension still invisible but momentarily sending shockwaves to us? From San Francisco to Roswell to Portales to Amarillo and to Pampa the invisible aerial explosions kept occurring. What was I saying about invisible energy forms that travel with regular meteor showers?

Seattle, King County, Washington State.1959. 1st April .10.00 pm. The entire City area was shaken by a mysterious explosion. There was some damage reported and there were independent witnesses of UFOs in the area. But does the impact of Micrometeorites cause earthquake like sensations? Generally not. Are the Micrometeorites only physical expressions of a larger blast field or energy field that accompanies them or that they accompany?

Are they remnants of an explosion that continues travelling through Space unhindered long after it has occurred until it meets something in its path? Why do only clouds colliding cause lightning, though we now know that lightning is also seen rising up from the ground, why then cannot different pressure masses cause explosive sounds and lights as they collide? This is after all how sound travel works!

We cannot discount the proposition that these energy waves or blasts are not connected to anomalous weather phenomena and indeed to earthquakes on our planet as there have been several incidences of earthquake-like activity in association with our phenomena.

So in a rather large nutshell we have observations of phenomena that appear primarily as light sources creating reactions with observers in our reality. These lightsources initially do not appear to be interacting with our environment though eventually they do. We start getting noise from friction with the atmosphere plus what appear to be electromagnetic phenomena such as sore eyes, weird noises and sometimes sunburn. Eventually there are traces found on the ground or colliding with our reality such as scorched ground and angel hair amongst others. Eventually we have apparent sightings of alleged occupants or bystanders to these electromagnetic phenomena and even interactions between observers and these alleged occupants who appear with or in a massive variety of alleged craft and in numerous forms, though on the whole recognizably from observable subgroups. This is the same when encountering aquatic animals, land animals and aerial animals that appear to only interact with our reality on occasion who also belong to recognizable sub genera though technically nonexistent. Are the witnesses creating the reality of the observation and interaction or are the items being observed creating their own reality inside the consciousness of the observer or observers? Who is responsible for which? Is it a mixture of the above? Is the matter so loose electromagnetically that when inside one of our sine wave intersections it assumes a form that we can recognize and classify according to our reality or is it prebuilt or programmed into the item or animal beforehand? Is it a matter of camouflage? These are postulates. The reality is that there are sine wave apparent electromagnetic energy flows across the face of our planet that manifest a multitude of apparently non existent phenomena. The analysis of the data indicates this. That is why the phenomena are unimportant relative to where and when they have and will occur. Capturing the where and when is the important part. Whether this is a willingly manipulated phenomena or an unwillingingly encountered phenomena is a matter of conjecture. The nonconjectural part is that we have mapped energy fields travelling in sine waves where the reported phenomena occur. Being based on sine waves relative to time that are periodic would postulate that they are repeatable and predictable. This is the true secret behind all of these numerous different types of phenomena.

We need to map this predictable pattern. We just have to be there. All we have to do is make that first step. We now have the timetable. We merely have to find the destination directory. We have many times in our past met the passengers, both willing and sometimes unwilling. The first step awaits us. We have seemingly had huge signposts to follow that we did not even realise were actually here and not there.

We are now leaving the Universe. Welcome to the Multiverse.

We may also meet traffic coming the other way, the Chameleons, the Masters of the Phenomena and we may become like them.

What if in this Multiversal transit system there were others who are able to use this system. Others who have mapped or continue to map this multidimensional system? What if one of the effects of travelling through this system where one momentarily becomes pure energy or appears to have become pure energy as one breaks through the QuasarVacuum that one's appearence at the other end is dictated in physical terms by the observers at the other end? Or is this camouflage? Who or what will we resemble when we too make this breakthrough journey? We might well become Chameleons as well?

What did the old scripture say when it stated that we could not look upon the face of God? Was this because the face of God was always in our image or in the image of our creation?

Secondly after having allowed for previous energy and astronomical collisions and explosions in the past which might also travel on these same periodic paths, could we also use these geologically indicated and archeologically verified past events to postulate that we may be in danger of another cosmic collision, either visible or invisible in the near future?

And how close a future?

By using these wormholes recorded throughout history could we indeed avert Armageddon?Or the alleged negative influences of 2012?

And avert it very closely indeed?

The Exponential Analysis

There were many original map plottings based on the data that when transposed onto a grid with the width indicating the latitude and the length indicating?. Only mathematics could tell with so much data. It certainly appeared so. The area covered was 180 degrees west to degrees 180 east with a negative 0 and positive zero in the middle. There is no north-south as the constant is time relative to latitude or longitude. Never latitude or longitude at the same time. It certainly looked promising.

I then contacted the noted author and Physicist Mr Chistopher Illert and mentioned my theory of non-random occurrences of phenomena possibly being based on repetitive sine waves. Mr Illert tested my data using an exponential graph based on the decay rate of an Alpha particle as the constant.

After many months of my once weekly entering of my data into a data program Mr Illert had designed several projections based on the data contained in this text that indicated repetition or periodicity.

The first finding was that of the data curve that we called the Proserpine or Persephone curve with a time length of 550 Earth years or Astroanomical Units. This was extrapolated after the exponential projection based on the decay rate of the Alpha particle was made. Later when we compared periodicities of our phenomena with the periodicities of the major planets in our Solar System we had a great surprise. The yearly periodicity was also approximate to the period of Sidereal Revolution of the major planets or the time that it takes them to get around the Sun on their elliptical orbits. If this sub-hypothesis was valid then we could effectively postulate that there was a planetary mass as distinct from the Oort Cloud at the edge of our Solar System that had an orbit around the Sun of 550 years. At first we thought that it was a rogue moon of Uranus as it was quite close to it at times but on closer examination we found it to have a transit much further out but coming close to Uranus twice in in its periodic cycle. Remember that orbits are elliptical and not circular. Our supposedly random or nonexistent phenomena had periodicities, not necessarily those of the major planets but still indicative of periodicities which by their features are repetitive and ongoing. Our data, or at least the energy force behind them, was not random at all but predictably regular.

Pluto has a cycle of 225 years and is half that of the Persephone Cycle. It was not worth graphing as it was too large and would show no detail. The detail only emerges when we reach the Neptune Cycle of 112.5 years. The actual sidereal path of Neptune around the Sun is 164 years but for ease of mental convenience we use the name of the planetary object with the nearest cycle. It is just very interesting that there are cycles so close in time as well as positioning in our Solar System.

The next graph is that of the Uranus Cycle with a periodicity of 90 years which is not much different to that of the Sidereal path of 84 years that Uranus actually travels on.

The next graph was of the Saturn Cycle with a periodicity of 38 years, actual Sidereal Time of 29 years. This is the smallest cycle that Mr Illert could deduce from the data as the rest of the cycles disintegrated into noise and were too difficult to differentiate. Remember that our data is supposedly random and possibly only a core sample with many other reports either not reported or missing, especially in the Nineteenth Century examples so our smaller cycles would be very hard to get a mathematical fix on. But so far we have periodicities that are strikingly similar, in fact similar enough to postulate the existence of a transPlutonian planet from.

So far we have Persephone or Proserpine at 550 years, Pluto at 225, Neptune at 112.5, Uranus at 90 and Saturn at 38 years compared to Persephone at unknown due to its accepted nonexistence, Pluto at 248 years, Neptune at 164 years, Uranus at 84 years and Saturn at 29 years. For supposedly nonexistent phenomena it is still amazingly coincidental that there are even any similarities at all. Periodicities or no periodicities, there was still provable regular mathematical proof the timing of the phenomena were of a regular nature and that is all that I wanted to have deduced from the data. Was it random or was it regular? Random and it is not worth pursuing as any multitude of reasons from schizophrenia to misidentification could be the causes of our phenomena. But with a mathematically determined periodicity we now have sequential events that even if we cannot determine their origin we at least now know that they are definitely not random.

You be the Judge!
